The lawyer is part of a judicial system charged with upholding the law. One of the lawyer's functions is to advise clients so that they avoid any violation of the law in the proper exercise of their rights.

The observance of the ethical obligation of a lawyer to hold inviolate confidential information of the client not only facilitates the full development of facts essential to proper representation of the client but also encourages people to seek early legal assistance.

Almost without exception, clients come to lawyers in order to determine what their rights are and what is, in the maze of laws and regulations, deemed to be legal and correct. The common law recognizes that the client's confidences must be protected from disclosure. Based upon experience, lawyers know that almost all clients follow the advice given, and the law is upheld.

A fundamental principle in the client-lawyer relationship is that the lawyer maintain confidentiality of information relating to the representation. The client is thereby encouraged to communicate fully and frankly with the lawyer even as to embarrassing or legally damaging subject matter.

The principle of confidentiality is given effect in two related bodies of law, the attorney-client privilege (which includes the work product doctrine) in the law of evidence and the rule of confidentiality established in professional ethics. The attorney-client privilege applies in judicial and other proceedings in which a lawyer may be called as a witness or otherwise required to produce evidence concerning a client. The rule of client-lawyer confidentiality applies in situations other than those where evidence is sought from the lawyer through compulsion of law. The confidentiality rule applies not merely to matters communicated in confidence by the client but also to all information relating to the representation, whatever its source. A lawyer may not disclose such information except as authorized or required by the Rules of Professional conduct or other law. See also 0.2 Scope.

The requirement of maintaining confidentiality of information relating to representation applies to government lawyers who may disagree with the policy goals that their representation is designed to advance.

Lawyer's Assistance Program

Information about a lawyer's or judge's misconduct or fitness may be received by a lawyer in the course of that lawyer's participation in an approved lawyers' or judges' assistance program. In that circumstance, providing for the confidentiality of such information encourages lawyers and judges to seek help through such programs. Conversely, without such confiden-ality, lawyers and judges may hesitate to seek assistance, which may then result in harm to their professional careers and injury to their clients and the public. The rule therefore requires that any information received by a lawyer on behalf of an approved lawyers' or judges' assistance program be regarded as confidential and protected from disclosure to the same extent as information received by a lawyer in any conventional attorney-client relationship.

Authorized Disclosure

A lawyer is impliedly authorized to make disclosures about a client when appropriate in carrying out the representation, except to the extent that the client's instructions or special circumstances limit that authority. In litigation, for example, a lawyer may disclose information by admitting a fact that cannot properly be disputed, or in negotiation by making a disclosure that facilitates a satisfactory conclusion.

Lawyers in a firm may, in the course of the firm's practice, disclose to each other information relating to a client of the firm, unless the client has instructed that particular information be confined to specified lawyers.

Disclosure Adverse to Client

The confidentiality rule is subject to limited exceptions. For instance, in becoming privy to information about a client, a lawyer may foresee that the client intends to commit a crime. To the extent a lawyer is prohibited from making disclosure, the interests of the potential victim are sacrificed in favor of preserving the client's confidences even though the client's purpose is wrongful. However, to the extent a lawyer is required or permitted to disclose a client's purpose, the client will be inhibited from revealing facts which would enable the lawyer to counsel against a wrongful course of action. A rule governing disclosure of threatened criminal activity thus involves balancing the interests of one group of potential victims against those of another.

Generally speaking, information relating to the representation must be kept confidential, as stated in paragraph (c). However, where the client is or has been engaged in criminal or fraudulent conduct or the integrity of the lawyer's own conduct is involved, the principle of confidentiality may have to yield, depending on the lawyer's knowledge about and relationship to the conduct in question, and the seriousness of that conduct. Several situations must be distinguished.

First, the lawyer may not counsel or assist a client in conduct that is criminal or fraudulent. See Rule 1.2(d). Similarly, a lawyer has a duty under Rule 3.3(a)(4) not to use false evidence.

This duty is essentially a special instance of the duty prescribed in Rule 1.2(d) to avoid assisting a client in criminal or fraudulent conduct.

Second, the lawyer may learn that a client intends prospective conduct that is criminal. As stated in paragraph (d)(4), the lawyer has the professional discretion to reveal information in order to prevent such consequences. It is very difficult for a lawyer to “know” when such a purpose will actually be carried out, for the client may have a change of mind.

Third, the lawyer may have been innocently involved in past conduct by the client that was criminal or fraudulent. In such a situation the lawyer has not violated Rule 1.2(d), because to “counsel or assist” criminal or fraudulent conduct requires knowing that the conduct is of that character. Even if the involvement was innocent, however, the fact remains that the lawyer’s professional services were made the instrument of the client’s crime or fraud. The lawyer, therefore, has a legitimate interest in being able to rectify the consequences of such conduct, and has the professional right, although not a professional duty, to rectify the situation. Exercising that right may require revealing information relating to the representation. Paragraph (d)(5) gives the lawyer professional discretion to reveal such information to the extent necessary to accomplish rectification.

The lawyer’s exercise of discretion requires consideration of such factors as the nature of the lawyer’s relationship with the client and with those who might be injured by the client, the lawyer’s own involvement in the transaction and factors that may extenuate the conduct in question. When practical, the lawyer should first seek to persuade the client to take suitable action making it unnecessary for the lawyer to make any disclosure. In any case, a disclosure adverse to the client’s interests should be no greater than the lawyer reasonably believes necessary to the purpose. A lawyer’s decision not to make the disclosure permitted by paragraphs (d)(4) and (d)(5) does not violate this rule.

Where the client is an organization, the lawyer may be in doubt whether contemplated conduct will actually be carried out by the organization. Where necessary to guide conduct in connection with this Rule, the lawyer may make inquiry within the organization as indicated in Rule 1.13(b).

Paragraph (b)(5) does not apply where a lawyer is employed after a crime or fraud has been committed to represent the client in matters ensuing therefrom.

Dispute Concerning a Lawyer’s Conduct

Where a legal claim or disciplinary charge alleges complicity of the lawyer in a client’s conduct or other misconduct of the lawyer involving representation of the client, the lawyer may respond to the extent the lawyer reasonably believes necessary to establish a defense. The same is true with respect to a claim involving the conduct or representation of a former client. The lawyer’s right to respond arises when an assertion of such complicity has been made. Paragraph (d)(6) does not require the lawyer to await the commencement of an action or proceeding that charges such complicity, so that the defense may be established by responding directly to a third party who has made such an assertion. The right to defend, of course, applies where a proceeding has been commenced. Where practicable and not prejudicial to the lawyer’s ability to establish the defense, the lawyer should advise the client of the third party’s assertion and request that the client respond appropriately. In any event, disclosure should be no greater than the lawyer reasonably believes is necessary to vindicate innocence, the disclosure should be made in a manner which limits access to the information to the tribunal or other persons having a need to know it, and appropriate protective orders or other arrangements should be sought by the lawyer to the fullest extent practicable.

If the lawyer is charged with wrongdoing in which the client’s conduct is implicated, the rule of confidentiality should not prevent the lawyer from defending against the charge. Such a charge can arise in a civil, criminal or professional disciplinary proceeding, and can be based on a wrong allegedly committed by the lawyer against the client, or on a wrong alleged by a third person; for example, a person claiming to have been defrauded by the lawyer and client acting together. A lawyer entitled to a fee is permitted by paragraph (d)(6) to prove the services rendered in an action to collect it. This aspect of the rule expresses the principle that the beneficiary of a fiduciary relationship may not exploit it to the detriment of the fiduciary. As stated above, the lawyer must make every effort practicable to avoid unnecessary disclosure of information relating to a representation, to limit disclosure to those having the need to know it, and to obtain protective orders or make other arrangements minimizing the risk of disclosure.

Disclosures Otherwise Required or Authorized

If a lawyer is called as a witness to give testimony concerning a client, absent waiver by the client, paragraph (c) requires the lawyer to invoke the privilege when it is applicable. The lawyer must comply with the final orders of a court or other tribunal of competent jurisdiction requiring the lawyer to give information about the client.

The Rules of Professional Conduct in various circumstances permit or require a lawyer to disclose information relating to the representation. See Rules 2.2, 2.3, 3.3 and 4.1. In addition to these provisions, a lawyer may be obligated or permitted by other provisions of law to give information about a client. Whether another provision of law supersedes Rule 1.6 is a matter of interpretation beyond the scope of these Rules, but a presumption should exist against such a supersession.

Former Client

The duty of confidentiality continues after the client lawyer relationship has terminated.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.6 is similar to Model Rule 1.6 and Rule 4 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. However, there are some important differences between the revised rule and the Model Rule. The Model Rule permits disclosure of confidential information to prevent a crime likely to result in imminent death or substantial bodily harm, whereas Rule 1.6 permits disclosure of information necessary to prevent any crime. Rule 1.6 also permits disclosure to the extent the lawyer reasonably believes necessary to rectify the consequences of a client's criminal or fraudulent act in the commission of which the lawyer's services were used. Neither the Model Rule nor Rule 4 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct contains this provision. Finally, the Model Rules do not expressly prohibit a lawyer from using confidential information for his or her own advantage or for the advantage of a third person as does Rule 1.6(c)(3). The Model Rules only condemn use of such information to the disadvantage of the client or former client. See Model Rules 1.8(b) and 1.9(c).

the duty of confidentiality to the minor and may only disclose confidential information to the minor's parent, without the minor's consent, if the parent is the legal guardian of the minor and the disclosure of the information is necessary to make a binding legal decision about the subject matter of the representation.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 20. Opinion rules that, subject to a statute prohibiting the withholding of such information, a lawyer's duty to disclose confidential client information to a bankruptcy court ends when the case is closed although the debtor's duty to report new property continues for 180 days.

Rule 1.7. Conflict of interest: General rule.

(a) A lawyer shall not represent a client if the representation of that client will be or is likely to be directly adverse to another client, unless:

(1) the lawyer reasonably believes the representation will not adversely affect the interest of the other client; and

(2) each client consents after consultation which shall include explanation of the implications of the common representation and the advantages and risks involved.

(b) A lawyer shall not represent a client if the representation of that client may be materially limited by the lawyer's responsibilities to another client or to a third person, or by the lawyer's own interests, unless:

(1) the lawyer reasonably believes the representation will not be adversely affected; and

(2) the client consents after consultation which shall include explanation of the implications of the common representation and the advantages and risks involved.

(c) A lawyer shall have a continuing obligation to evaluate all situations involving potentially conflicting interests, and shall withdraw from the representation of any party the lawyer cannot adequately represent without using the confidential information of another client or a former client except as Rule 1.6 allows.

COMMENT

Loyalty to a Client

Loyalty is an essential element in the lawyer's relationship to a client. An impermissible conflict of interest may exist before representation is undertaken, in which event the representation should be declined. The lawyer should adopt reasonable procedures, appropriate for the size and type of firm and practice, to determine in both litigation and non-litigation matters the parties and issues involved and to determine whether there are actual or potential conflicts of interest.

If such a conflict arises after representation has been undertaken, the lawyer should withdraw from the representation. See Rule 1.16. Where more than one client is involved and the lawyer withdraws because a conflict arises after representation, whether the lawyer may continue to represent any of the clients is determined by Rule 1.9. See also Rule 2.2(c). As to whether a client-lawyer relationship exists or, having once been established, is continuing, see Comment to Rule 1.3 and 0.2 Scope.

As a general proposition, loyalty to a client prohibits undertaking representation directly adverse to that client without that client's consent. Paragraph (a) expresses that general rule. Thus, a lawyer ordinarily may not act as advocate against a person the lawyer represents in some other matter, even if it is wholly unrelated. On the other hand, simultaneous representation in unrelated matters of clients whose interests are only generally adverse, such as competing economic enterprises, does not require consent of the respective clients. Paragraph (a) applies only when the representation of one client would be directly adverse to the other.

Loyalty to a client is also impaired when a lawyer cannot consider, recommend or carry out an appropriate course of action for the client because of the lawyer's other responsibilities or interests. The conflict in effect forecloses alternatives that would otherwise be available to the client. Paragraph (b) addresses such situations. A possible conflict does not itself preclude the representation. The critical questions are the likelihood that a conflict will eventuate and, if it does, whether it will materially interfere with the lawyer's independent professional judgment in considering alternatives or foreclose courses of action that reasonably should be pursued on behalf of the client. Consideration should be given to whether the client wishes to accommodate the other interest involved.

Consultation and Consent

A client may consent to representation notwithstanding a conflict. However, as indicated in paragraph (a)(1) with respect to representation directly adverse to a client, and paragraph (b)(1) with respect to material limitations on representation of a client, when a disinterested lawyer would conclude that the client should not agree to the representation under the circumstances, the lawyer involved cannot properly ask for such agreement or provide representation on the basis of the client's consent. When more than one client is involved, the question of conflict must be resolved as to each client. Moreover, there may be circumstances where it is impossible to make the disclosure necessary to obtain consent. For example, when the lawyer represents different clients in related matters and one of the clients refuses to consent to the disclosure necessary to permit the other client to make an informed decision, the lawyer cannot properly ask the latter to consent.

Lawyer's Interests

The lawyer's own interests should not be permitted to have an adverse effect on representation of a client. For example, a lawyer's need for income should not lead the lawyer to undertake matters that cannot be handled competently and at a reasonable fee. See Rules 1.1 and 1.5. If the probity of a lawyer's own conduct in a transaction is in serious question, it may be difficult or impossible for the lawyer to give a client detached advice. A lawyer may not allow related business interests to affect representation, for example, by referring clients to an enterprise in which the lawyer has an undisclosed interest.

Conflicts in Litigation

Paragraph (a) prohibits representation of opposing parties in litigation. Simultaneous representation of parties whose interests in litigation may conflict, such as coplaintiffs or codefendants, is governed by paragraph (b). An impermissible conflict may exist by reason of substantial discrepancy in the parties' testimony, incompatibility in positions in relation to an opposing party or the fact that there are substantially different possibilities of settlement of the claims or liabilities in question. Such conflicts can arise in criminal cases as well as civil. The potential for conflict of interest in representing multiple defendants in a criminal case is so grave that ordinarily a lawyer should decline to represent more than one codefendant. On the other hand, common representation of persons having similar interests is proper if the risk of adverse effect is minimal and the requirements of paragraph (b) are met. Compare Rule 2.2 involving intermediation between clients.

Ordinarily, a lawyer may not act as advocate against a client the lawyer represents in some other matter, even if the other matter is wholly unrelated. However, there are circumstances in which a lawyer may act as advocate against a client. For example, a lawyer representing an enterprise with diverse operations may accept employment as an advocate against the enterprise in an unrelated matter if doing so will not adversely affect the lawyer's relationship with the enterprise or conduct of the suit and if both clients consent upon consultation. By the same token, government lawyers in some circumstances may represent government employees in proceedings in which a government agency is the opposing party. The propriety of concurrent representation can depend on the nature of the litigation. For example, a suit charging fraud entails conflict to a degree not involved in a suit for a declaratory judgment concerning statutory interpretation.

A lawyer may represent parties having antagonistic positions on a legal question that has arisen in different cases, unless representation of either client would be adversely affected. Thus, it is ordinarily not improper to assert such positions in cases pending in different trial courts, but it may be improper to do so in cases pending at the same time in an appellate court.

Interest of Person Paying for a Lawyer's Service

A lawyer may be paid from a source other than the client, if the client is informed of that fact and consents and the arrangement does not compromise the lawyer's duty of loyalty to the client. See Rule 1.8(f). For example, when an insurer and its insured have conflicting interests in a matter arising from a liability insurance agreement, and the insurer is required to provide special counsel for the insured, the arrangement should assure the special counsel's professional independence. So also, when a corporation and its directors or employees are involved in a controversy in which they have conflicting interests, the corporation may provide funds for separate legal representation of the directors or employees if the clients consent after consultation and the arrangement ensures the lawyer's professional independence.

Other Conflict Situations

Conflicts of interest in contexts other than litigation sometimes maybe difficult to assess. Relevant factors in determining whether there is potential for adverse effect include the duration and intimacy of the lawyer's relationship with the client or clients involved, the functions being performed by the lawyer, the likelihood that actual conflict will arise and the likely prejudice to the client from the conflict if it does arise. The question is often one of proximity and degree.

For example, a lawyer may not represent multiple parties to a negotiation whose interests are fundamentally antagonistic to each other, but common representation is permissible where the clients are generally aligned in interest even though there is some difference of interest among them.

Conflict questions may also arise in estate planning and estate administration. A lawyer may be called upon to prepare wills for several family members, such as husband and wife, and, depending upon the circumstances, a conflict of interest may arise. In estate administration the clients are the estate as an entity and the personal representative in his or her official capacity. The lawyer should make clear the relationship to the parties involved.

A lawyer for a corporation or other organization who is also a member of its board of directors should determine whether the responsibilities of the two roles may conflict. The lawyer may be called on to advise the corporation in matters involving actions of the directors. Consideration should be given to the frequency with which such situations may arise, the potential intensity of the conflict, the effect of the lawyer's resignation from the board and the possibility of the corporation's obtaining legal advice from another lawyer in such situations. If there is material risk that the dual role will compromise the lawyer's independence of professional judgment, the lawyer should not serve as a director.

Conflict Charged by an Opposing Party

Resolving questions of conflict of interest is primarily the responsibility of the lawyer undertaking the representation. In litigation, a court may raise the question when there is reason to infer that the lawyer has neglected the responsibility. In a criminal case, inquiry by the court is generally required when a lawyer represents multiple defendants. Where the conflict clearly calls into question the fair or efficient administration of justice, opposing counsel may properly raise the question. Such an objection should be viewed with caution, however, for it can be misused as a technique of harassment. See Scope.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.7 is similar to Model Rule 1.7 and Rule 5.1(a), (b), and (c) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. In addition to prohibiting the representation of interests that are directly adverse to those of another client as does the Model Rule, Rule 1.7 also condemns a representation that "is likely to be" directly adverse. Rule 1.7(c) expands upon Model Rule 1.9(c) to state clearly the lawyer's continuing obligation to a former client to avoid the use of confidential information.

CASE NOTES

Conflict of Interest Not Shown. — A law firm which represented an insurance company in securing information to bring the insurance company back into compliance with North Carolina law and in rehabilitation proceedings was not prohibited from representing minority shareholders of the company in a derivative action against the company's directors. Swenson v. Thibaut, 39 N.C. App. 77, 250 S.E.2d 279 (1978), appeal dismissed, 296 N.C. 740, 254 S.E.2d 181 (1979).

Conflict of Interest Shown. — The attorneys for the plaintiffs could not represent the receivers of a group of corporations who were appointed to preserve assets of all the corporations when the plaintiffs were seeking to have assets transferred from some corporations in the group to other corporations. Lowder v. All Star Mills, Inc., 60 N.C. App. 275, 300 S.E.2d 230, aff'd in part, rev'd in part, 309 N.C. 695, 309 S.E.2d 193 (1983).

In a suit against the United States to recover losses resulting from an airplane crash, representation by the Department of Justice of both the United States and individual air traffic controllers would create a conflict of interest and would prevent adequate representation of the individual controllers. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. v. United States, 438 F. Supp. 886 (W.D.N.C. 1977), rev'd, 570 F.2d 1187 (4th Cir.), cert. denied, 439 U.S. 821, 99 S. Ct. 87, 58 L. Ed. 2d 113 (1978).

Consent Procured Without Advice of Disinterested Counsel. — The consent of an individual litigant to representation by counsel with a potential conflict of interest cannot be presumed to be fully informed when it is procured without the advice of a lawyer who has no conflict of interest. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. v. United States, 438 F. Supp. 886 (W.D.N.C. 1977), rev'd, 570 F.2d 1187 (4th Cir.), cert. denied, 439 U.S. 821, 99 S. Ct. 87, 58 L. Ed. 2d 113 (1978).

Potential Conflict Not Sufficient to Interfere with Right of Counsel. — A potential conflict of interest, as distinguished from an actual conflict of interest, is not sufficient to warrant the State's interference with the constitutionally guaranteed right of a criminal defendant to retain and be represented by counsel of his choice. State v. Yelton, 87 N.C. App. 554, 361 S.E.2d 753 (1987).

Although defendant claimed that the joint representation of two accomplices created a conflict of interest between their attorney and the public's interest in the fair administration of justice due to what he labeled as the artificial conformity of the testimony of the accomplices, defendant's interests were not sufficient to overcome the accomplices' rights to representation by counsel of their choice where defendant failed to show that the potential conflict of interest prejudiced his rights. State v. Whiteside, 325 N.C. 389, 383 S.E.2d 911 (1989).

Hearing on Conflict of Interest. — Once a motion by the State or the defense, or the court on its own motion, raises a possible conflict of interest in a dual representation situation, the trial court must conduct a hearing. State v. Yelton, 87 N.C. App. 554, 361 S.E.2d 753 (1987).

The attorney represented the seller in commercial real estate transaction while he was also general partner of the buyer. The attorney also improperly directed a $165,000 credit to the buyer and a corresponding debit to the seller at the closing of the transaction without the seller's consent and paid himself $150,000 in attorneys' fees from funds held in escrow, in violation of the escrow agreement. Three-Year Suspension. 92 DHC 16.

Attorney, who obtained a judgment on a debt, purchased property at the execution sale on the judgment through a corporation controlled by attorney without the informed consent of the attorney's client. Six Month Suspension, stayed on certain conditions. 93 DHC 15.

Attorney made unwanted sexual advances to several female clients and thereby engaged in conflicts of interest and conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice. Disbarred. 95 DHC 13.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

I. GENERAL CONFLICTS.

99 Formal Ethics Opinion 14 — Opinion rules that when an insured fails to cooperate with the defense, as required by the insurance contract, the insurance defense lawyer may follow the instructions of the insurance carrier unless the insured's lack of cooperation interferes with the defense or presenting an effective defense is harmful to the interests of the insured.

2000 Formal Ethics Opinion 2 — Opinion rules a lawyer who represented a husband and wife on a joint Chapter 13 bankruptcy petition may not continue to represent only one of the spouses after the other spouse disappears or becomes unresponsive.

CPR 9. An attorney may not give a title opinion to an individual and then represent another person in a boundary dispute against that individual.

CPR 15. A lawyer/guardian may not give a title opinion to the purchaser of his ward's property.

CPR 46. Once it is determined that attorneys from same firm have undertaken to represent adverse parties, one must withdraw and the other may continue only with the consent of all involved.

CPR 55. An attorney appointed as examiner of title is not prohibited from representing petitioners or respondents in actions unrelated to the Torrens proceeding.

CPR 147. An attorney cannot defend an action brought by a former client when confidential information obtained during the prior representation would be relevant to the defense of the current action.

CPR 171. A part-time county attorney may not serve as guardian ad litem if official duties include advising Department of Social Services.

CPR 179. An attorney may not represent a municipality and a distributee of an estate suing the municipality.

CPR 216. An attorney may not serve as receiver and as attorney for a judgment creditor.

CPR 249. An attorney who owns an insurance agency may not represent claimants against persons insured by companies his agency represents.

CPR 255. An attorney who is employed by an insurer to defend its insureds on a regular basis represents the insurer and the insureds and, if a conflict develops between the insurer and an insured, the attorney has a duty to advise the insured to seek independent counsel. The attorney may represent a plaintiff against the insurer, but he or she should notify the insurer and have the informed consent of plaintiff.

CPR 281. An attorney may sue another attorney for malpractice on behalf of a client even though the attorney for the plaintiff owns stock in the defendant's liability insurance company.

CPR 286. An attorney may participate in a mediation service with marriage counselors but should not later represent either party in domestic litigation.

CPR 317. An attorney appointed to represent a state official or agency may not represent other clients in a suit against the same official or agency, another official or agency under the jurisdiction of that same official or agency or another official or agency with authority over the official or agency. Nor should an attorney represent one official or agency while representing other clients against another official or agency if both of the officials or agencies are under the jurisdiction of the same official or agency.

CPR 323. An attorney may not act as a friend and attempt to mediate a domestic problem and later represent the wife in domestic litigation.

CPR 344. An attorney for a school board is not automatically disqualified from representing criminal defendants despite the school board's interest in fines and forfeitures.

RPC 18. An attorney may not simultaneously represent shareholders in a derivative action and the corporation's landlord on a claim for back rent.

RPC 22. An attorney may not represent the administratrix officially and personally where her interests in the two roles are in conflict without the consent of the heirs.

RPC 24. An attorney may not purchase his client's property at an execution sale on his own account.

RPC 28. An attorney may represent the estate of pilot and the estate of passenger in a wrongful death case against the airplane manufacturer if attorney is convinced that there was no pilot negligence and if the representatives of both estates consent.

RPC 53. A lawyer may sue a municipality his partner serves as a member of its governing body. (But see RPC 160.)

RPC 54. A lawyer who represents a criminal defendant from whose possession property was seized may not without consent seek the property as a fine or forfeiture on behalf of the local school board.

RPC 55. A member of the Attorney General's staff may prosecute appeals of adverse Medicaid decisions against the Department of Human Resources, which is represented by another member of the Attorney General's staff.

RPC 56. A lawyer may represent a plaintiff against an insurance company's insured while defending other persons insured by the company in unrelated matters.

RPC 59. A lawyer may represent an insurer and its insured as co-plaintiffs in a declaratory judgment action.

RPC 60. Subject to general conflict of interest rules, a lawyer may represent police officers who are referred by a professional organization of which they are members on a case-by-case basis and also represent criminal defendants.

RPC 65. The public defender's office should be considered as a single law firm and staff attorneys may not represent codefendants with conflicting interests unless both consent and can be adequately represented.

RPC 72. An attorney hired by the Bureau of Indian Affairs to prosecute criminal charges before a tribal court may represent defendants in state or federal court despite the fact that the defendants have been arrested by members of the tribal police force.

RPC 73. Opinion clarifies two lines of authority in prior ethics opinions. Where an attorney serves on a governing body, such as a county commission, the attorney is disqualified from representing criminal defendants where a member of the sheriff's department is a prosecuting witness. The attorney's partners are not disqualified.

Where an attorney advises a governing body, such as a county commission, but is not a commissioner herself, and in that capacity represents the sheriff's department relative to criminal matters, the attorney may not represent criminal defendants if a member of the sheriff's department will be a prosecuting witness. In this situation the attorney's partners would also be disqualified from representing the criminal defendants.

RPC 74. A firm which employs a paralegal is not disqualified from representing an interest adverse to that of a party represented by the firm for which the paralegal previously worked if the paralegal is screened from participation in the case.

RPC 91. An attorney employed by the insurer to represent the insured and its own interests may not send the insurer a letter on behalf of the insured demanding settlement within the policy limits.

RPC 92. An attorney representing both the insurer and the insured need not surrender to the insured copies of all correspondence concerning the case between herself and the insurer.

RPC 95. An assistant district attorney may prosecute cases while serving on the school board.

RPC 100. An attorney serving on a hospital ethics committee is not automatically disqualified from representing interests adverse to the hospital or its staff physicians.

RPC 102. A lawyer may not permit the employment of court reporting services to be influenced by the possibility that the lawyer's employees might receive premiums, prizes or other personal benefits.

RPC 103. A lawyer for the insured and the insurer may not enter voluntary dismissal of the insured's counterclaim without the insured's consent.

RPC 105. A public defender may represent criminal defendants while serving on the school board.

RPC 109. An attorney may not represent parents as guardians ad litem for their injured child and as individuals concerning their related tort claims after having received a joint settlement offer which is insufficient to fully satisfy all claims.

RPC 110. An attorney employed by an insurer to defend in the name of the defendant pursuant to underinsured motorist coverage may not communicate with that individual without the consent of another attorney employed to represent that individual by her liability insurer, and the attorney employed by the liability insurer may not take a position on behalf of the insurer which is adverse to the insured.

RPC 111. An attorney retained by a liability insurer to defend its insured may not advise insured or insurer regarding the plaintiff's offer to limit the insured's liability in exchange for consent to an amendment of the complaint to add a punitive damages claim.

RPC 112. An attorney retained by an insurer to defend its insured may not advise insurer or insured regarding the plaintiff's offer to limit the insured's liability in exchange for an admission of liability.

RPC 123. An attorney may represent parents and an independent guardian ad litem for their child concerning related tort claims under certain circumstances.

RPC 131. An attorney employed to represent a county in appellate matters may also sue the county's department of social services if the county and the plaintiffs consent.

RPC 140. There is no disqualifying conflict of interest where an attorney is retained by an insurer to represent an insured during the pendency of a declaratory judgment action relating to coverage in which the attorney is a nonparticipant.

RPC 151. Where an insurance company and its policyholder are both parties to an action, a lawyer who is a full-time employee of the insurance company may not represent both the insurance company and the policyholder because of the "diluted responsibility" to the policyholder created by the employment relationship between the lawyer and the insurance company.

RPC 154. An attorney may not represent the insured, her liability insurer and the same insurer relative to underinsured motorist coverage carried by the plaintiff.

RPC 160 (Second Revision). A lawyer whose associate is a member of a hospital's board of trustees may not sue the hospital on behalf of a client.

RPC 168. A lawyer may ask her client for a waiver of objection to a possible future representation presenting a conflict of interest if certain conditions are met.

RPC 170. A lawyer may jointly represent a personal injury victim and the medical insurance carrier that holds a subrogation agreement with the victim provided the victim consents and the lawyer withdraws upon the development of an actual conflict of interest.

RPC 177. A lawyer may represent the insured, his liability insurer, and the same insurer relative to underinsured motorist coverage carried by the plaintiff if the insurer waives its subrogation rights against the insured and the plaintiff executes a covenant not to enforce judgment.

RPC 207 (Second Revision). A lawyer may represent an insured in a bad faith action against his insurer for failure to pay a liability claim brought by a claimant who is represented by the same lawyer.

RPC 228. A lawyer for a personal injury victim may not execute an agreement to indemnify the tortfeasor's liability insurance carrier against the unpaid liens of medical providers.

RPC 229. A lawyer who jointly represented a husband and wife in the preparation and execution of estate planning documents may not prepare a codicil to the will of one spouse without the knowledge of the other spouse if the codicil will affect adversely the interests of the other spouse or each spouse agreed not to change the estate plan without informing the other spouse.

RPC 251. A lawyer may represent multiple claimants in a personal injury case, even though the available insurance proceeds are insufficient to compensate all claimants fully, provided each claimant, or his or her legal representative, gives informed consent to the representation and the lawyer does not advocate against the interest of any client in the division of the insurance proceeds.

II. REAL PROPERTY CONFLICTS.

99 Formal Ethics Opinion 1 Opinion rules that a lawyer may not accept a referral fee or solicitor's fee for referring a client to an investment advisor.

99 Formal Ethics Opinion 8 — Opinion rules that a lawyer may represent all parties in a residential real estate closing and subsequently represent only one party in an escrow dispute provided the lawyer insures that the conditions for waiver of an objection to a possible future conflict of interest set forth in RPC 168 are satisfied.

CPR 100. (See also RPC 210 and 97 Formal Ethics Opinion 8.) In the usual residential loan transaction:

(a) A lawyer may ethically represent both the borrower and the lender.

(b) If the lawyer intends not to represent both the borrower and the lender, he must give timely notice to the one he intends not to represent of this fact, so that the one not represented may secure separate and timely representation.

(c) If the lawyer does not give such notice, he shall be deemed to represent both the borrower and the lender.

(d) If the lawyer represents only the borrower, he may nevertheless ethically provide the title and lien priority assurances required by the lender as a condition of the loan.

(e) The lawyer shall clearly state to his client(s), whether the borrower or the lender, or both, whom he represents and the general scope of his representation.

(f) If the lawyer does not represent both principals, and the one he does not represent retains another lawyer to represent him, both lawyers should fully cooperate with each other in serving the interests of their respective clients and in closing the loan promptly.

(g) If the lawyer represents both the borrower and the lender, he may be ethically barred from representing either one (without the consent of the other) if a controversy arises between the borrower and the lender before, during or after the closing.

It is not unethical for a lawyer representing the borrower and the lender (or either) in the usual residential loan transaction to prepare a deed from the seller to the buyer, collect the purchase price for the seller, or draft other documents (such as a second deed of trust and not secured thereby) as may be necessary to complete the transaction between the seller and the buyer in accordance with their agreement, and charge the seller therefor.

It is not unethical for the lawyer representing the borrower, the lender and the seller (or one or more of them) to provide the title insurer with an opinion on title sufficient to issue a mortgagee's title insurance policy, the premium for which is normally paid by the borrower.

CPR 107. An attorney/trustee in a foreclosure proceeding which is not contested by the owner-borrower may represent the lender in resisting a tenant's suit to restrain foreclosure. (But see RPC 82.)

CPR 137. An attorney/trustee in a foreclosure proceeding may not represent the lender when the foreclosure is contested by the borrower. (But see RPC 82.)

CPR 166. An attorney/trustee cannot ethically represent either the lender or the borrower in a role of advocacy at any state of the foreclosure proceeding. In the absence of controversy the trustee may present, on behalf of the lender, the evidence necessary to support the clerk's findings essential to a foreclosure order. Even if the proceeding is adversary, he may ethically perform for himself such legal services as are necessary to the performance of his fiduciary duties. (See also RPC 82.)

CPR 201. When an attorney/trustee learns that a foreclosure will be contested, he may resign as trustee and represent the lender. (See also RPC 82.)

CPR 220. An attorney's secretary may not be trustee if the attorney wishes to represent the lender at a contested foreclosure.

CPR 264. After initiating foreclosure, an attorney/trustee may not represent the lender in defense of the borrower's suit for injunctive relief. (See also RPC 82.)

CPR 275. An attorney who is part owner of a mortgage brokerage firm may certify title to real property with respect to which the mortgage broker has arranged financing.

CPR 297. An attorney/trustee cannot represent a husband-debtor in a partition action against his wife-debtor, but he may resign as trustee and then represent the husband. (See also RPC 82.)

RPC 305. An attorney/trustee cannot represent the lender in bankruptcy court in seeking relief from an automatic stay in order to commence foreclosure. (See also RPC 82.)

RPC 3. An attorney/trustee is not prohibited from continuing to serve as trustee in a contested foreclosure if he represented the seller at the closing. (See also RPC 82.)

RPC 40. For the purposes of a real estate transaction, an attorney may, with proper notice to the borrower, represent only the lender, and the lender may prepare the closing documents. (See also RPC 41.)

RPC 44. A closing attorney must follow the lender's closing instruction that closing documents be recorded prior to disbursement.

RPC 46. An attorney acting as trustee in a foreclosure proceeding may not, while serving in that capacity, file a motion to have an automatic stay lifted in the debtor's bankruptcy proceeding. (See also RPC 82.)

RPC 49. Attorneys who own stock in a real estate company may refer clients to the company if such would be in the clients' best interest and there is full disclosure, and such attorneys may not close transactions brokered by the real estate firm.

RPC 64. A lawyer who served as a trustee may after foreclosure sue the former debtor on behalf of the purchaser. (See also RPC 82.)

RPC 78. A closing attorney cannot make conditional delivery of trustee account checks to real estate agent before depositing loan proceeds against which checks are to be drawn.

RPC 82. This opinion comprehensively revises the ethical responsibilities of the attorney-trustee.

RPC 83. The significance of an attorney's personal interest in property determines whether he or she has a conflict of interest sufficient to disqualify him or her from rendering a title opinion concerning that property.

RPC 86. Opinion discusses disbursement against uncollected funds, accounting for earnest money paid outside closing and representation of the seller. (See also RPC 191.)

RPC 88. A lawyer may close a real estate transaction brokered by a real estate firm which employs the attorney's secretary as a part-time real estate broker.

RPC 90. A lawyer who as a trustee initiated a foreclosure proceeding may resign as trustee after the foreclosure is contested and act as lender's counsel. (See also RPC 82.)

RPC 121. A borrower's lawyer may render a legal opinion to the lender.

RPC 185. A lawyer who owns any stock in a title insurance agency may not give title opinions to the title insurance company for which the title insurance agency issues policies.

RPC 188. A lawyer may close a real estate transaction brokered by the lawyer's spouse with the consent of the parties to the transaction.

RPC 201. Opinion explores the circumstances under which a lawyer who is also a real estate salesperson may close real estate transactions brokered by the real estate company with which he is affiliated.

RPC 210. Opinion examines the circumstances in which it is acceptable for a lawyer to represent the buyer, seller, and the lender in the closing of a residential real estate transaction.

RPC 248. A lawyer who owns stock in a mortgage brokerage corporation may not act as the settlement agent for a loan brokered by the corporation nor may the other lawyers in the firm certify title or act as settlement agent for the closing.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 8. Opinion examines the circumstances in which it is acceptable for the lawyer who regularly represents a real estate developer to represent the buyer and the developer in the closing of a residential real estate transaction.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 10. Opinion rules that an insurance defense lawyer may not disclose confidential information about an insured's representation in bills submitted to an independent audit company at the insurance carrier's request unless the insured consents.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 11. Opinion rules that the fiduciary relationship that arises when a lawyer serves as an escrow agent demands that the lawyer be impartial to both the obligor and the obligee and, therefore, the lawyer may not act as advocate for either party against the other. Once the fiduciary duties of the escrow agent terminate, the lawyer may take a position adverse to the obligor or the obligee provided the lawyer is not otherwise disqualified.

Rule 1.8. Conflict of interest: Prohibited transactions and other specific applications.

(a) A lawyer shall not enter into a business transaction with a client under any circumstances unless it is fair to the client. A lawyer shall not enter into a business transaction with a client in which the lawyer and the client have differing interests and wherein the client expects the lawyer to exercise his or her independent professional judgment for the protection of the client, unless:

(1) the transaction and terms on which the lawyer acquires the interest are fair and reasonable to the client and are disclosed and transmitted in writing to the client in a manner which can be reasonably understood by the client;

(2) the client is given a reasonable opportunity to seek the advice of independent counsel in the transaction; and

(3) the client consents in writing.

(b) During or subsequent to legal representation of a client, a lawyer shall not enter into a business transaction with a client for which a fee or commission will be charged in lieu of, or in addition to, a legal fee, if the business transaction is related to the subject matter of the legal representation, any financial proceeds from the representation, or any information, confidential or otherwise, acquired by the lawyer during the course of the representation.

(c) A lawyer shall not prepare an instrument giving the lawyer or a person related to the lawyer as parent, child, sibling, or spouse any substantial gift from a client, including a testamentary gift, except where the client is related to the donee.

(d) Prior to the conclusion of representation of a client, a lawyer shall not make or negotiate an agreement giving the lawyer publication, literary, or media rights to a portrayal or account based in substantial part on information relating to the representation.

(e) A lawyer shall not provide financial assistance to a client in connection with pending or contemplated litigation except that a lawyer may advance court costs and expenses of litigation including expenses of investigation and medical examinations and cost of obtaining and presenting evidence, provided the client remains ultimately liable for such costs and expenses.

(f) A lawyer shall not accept compensation for representing a client from one other than the client unless:

(1) the client consents after consultation;

(2) there is no interference with the lawyer's independence of professional judgment or with the client-lawyer relationship; and

(3) information relating to representation of the client is protected as required by Rule 1.6.

(g) A lawyer who represents two or more clients shall not participate in making an aggregate settlement of the claims of or against the clients, or in a criminal case, an aggregated agreement as to guilty or nolo contendere pleas, unless each client consents after consultation, including disclosure of the existence and nature of all the claims or pleas involved and of the participation of each person in the settlement.

(h) A lawyer shall not make an agreement prospectively limiting the lawyer's liability to a client for malpractice unless permitted by law and the client is independently represented in making the agreement, or settle a claim for such liability with an unrepresented client or former client without first advising that person in writing that independent representation is appropriate in connection therewith.

(i) A lawyer related to another lawyer as parent, child, sibling, or spouse shall not represent a client in a representation directly adverse to a person who the lawyer knows is represented by the other lawyer except upon consent by the client after consultation regarding the relationship. This provision shall not be construed to disqualify other lawyers in the affected lawyer's firm.

(j) A lawyer shall not acquire a proprietary interest in the cause of action or subject matter of litigation the lawyer is conducting for a client, except that the lawyer may:

(1) acquire a lien to secure the lawyer's fee or expenses, provided the requirements of Rule 1.8(a) are satisfied; and

(2) contract with a client for a reasonable contingent fee in a civil case, except as prohibited by Rule 1.5.

COMMENT

Transactions Between Client and Lawyer

As a general principle, all transactions between client and lawyer should be fair and reasonable to the client. In such transactions, a review by independent counsel on behalf of the client is often advisable. Furthermore, a lawyer may not exploit information relating to the representation to the client's disadvantage. For example, a lawyer who has learned that the client is investing in specific real estate may not, without the client's consent, seek to acquire nearby property where doing so would adversely affect the client's plan for investment. Paragraph (a) does not, however, apply to standard commercial transactions between the lawyer and the client for products or services that the client generally markets to others, for example, banking or brokerage services, medical services, products manufactured or distributed by the client, and utility services. In such transactions, the lawyer has no advantage in dealing with the client, and the restrictions in paragraph (a) are unnecessary and impracticable.

Because of the actual and potential conflicts of interests, paragraph (b) prohibits the sale of business services to a client or former client if the proposed transaction relates to the subject matter or the proceeds of representation. For example, a lawyer who is also a securities broker or insurance agent should not endeavor to sell securities or insurance to a client when the lawyer knows by virtue of the representation that such client has received funds suitable for investment.

A lawyer may accept a gift from a client, if the transaction meets general standards of fairness. For example, a simple gift such as a present given at a holiday or as a token of appreciation is permitted. If effectuation of a substantial gift requires preparing a legal instrument such as a will or conveyance, however, the client should have the detached advice that another lawyer can provide. Paragraph (c) recognizes an exception where the client is a relative of the donee or the gift is not substantial.

Literary Rights

An agreement by which a lawyer acquires literary or media rights concerning the conduct of the representation creates a conflict between the interests of the client and the personal interests of the lawyer. Measures suitable in the representation of the client may detract from the publication value of an account of the representation. Paragraph (d) does not prohibit a lawyer representing a client in a transaction concerning literary property from agreeing that the lawyer's fee shall consist of a share in ownership in the property, if the arrangement conforms to Rule 1.5 and paragraph (j).

Person Paying for a Lawyer's Services

A lawyer may be paid from a source other than the client. Paragraph (f) requires disclosure of the fact that the lawyer's services are being paid for by a third party. Such an arrangement must also conform to the requirements of Rule 1.6 concerning confidentiality and Rule 1.7 concerning conflict of interest. For instance, when a corporation and its directors or employees are involved in a controversy in which they have conflicting interests, the corporation may provide funds for separate legal representation of the directors or employees if the clients consent after consultation and the arrangement ensures the lawyer's professional independence. Where the client is a class, consent may be obtained on behalf of the class by court-supervised procedure.

Limiting Liability

Paragraph (h) is not intended to apply to customary qualifications and limitations in legal opinions and memoranda.

Family Relationships Between Lawyers

Paragraph (i) applies to related lawyers who are in different firms. Related lawyers in the same firm are governed by Rules 1.7, 1.9, and 1.10. The disqualification stated in paragraph (i) is personal and is not imputed to members of firms with whom the lawyers are associated.

Acquisition of Interest in Litigation

Paragraph (j) states the general rule that lawyers are prohibited from acquiring a proprietary interest in litigation. The rule, which has its basis in common law champerty and maintenance, is subject to specific exceptions developed in decisional law and continued in these Rules, such as the exception for reasonable contingent fees set forth in Rule 1.5 and the exception for certain advances of the costs of litigation set forth in paragraph (e). The rule also permits a lawyer to acquire a lien to secure the lawyer's fee or expenses provided the requirements of Rule 1.7(b) are satisfied. Specifically, the lawyer must reasonably believe that the representation will not be adversely affected after taking into account the possibility that the acquisition of a proprietary interest in the client's cause of action or any res involved therein may cloud the lawyer's judgment and impair the lawyer's ability to function as an advocate. The lawyer must also disclose the risks involved prior to obtaining the client's consent. Prior to initiating a foreclosure on property subject to a lien securing a legal fee, the lawyer must notify the client of the right to require the lawyer to participate in the mandatory fee dispute arbitration program. See Rule 1.6(f).

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.8 is similar to Model Rule 1.8 except that Rule 1.8(b) has no counterpart in the Model Rules. Rule 1.8(a) is similar to Rule 5.4(a) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. The provisions of Rule 1.8(b) through (j) correspond to Rules 5.4(c), 5.5, 5.4(b), 5.3(b), 5.6, 5.7, 5.8, 5.9 and 5.3(a) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct, respectively.

CASE NOTES

A fee arrangement whereby a law firm would receive a one-third interest in the shares it was representing in a derivative action by minority shareholders of a corporation against the directors of the corporation did not constitute an acquisition by the law firm of an improper interest in the subject matter of the litigation. Swenson v. Thibaut, 39 N.C. App. 77, 250 S.E.2d 279 (1978), appeal dismissed, 296 N.C. 740, 254 S.E.2d 181 (1979).

Release Exonerating Attorney. — The attorney violated the Code of Professional Responsibility by having his client sign a release in an attempt to exonerate himself from malpractice. North Carolina State Bar v. Frazier, 62 N.C. App. 172, 302 S.E.2d 648, appeal dismissed, 308 N.C. 677, 303 S.E.2d 546 (1983).

Obligation to Pay Expert. — When a lawyer hiring an expert to help on a case says or does nothing to indicate that the obligation to pay is not his, the expert can reasonably assume that the lawyer is the contracting party, rather than the client. Gualtieri v. Burleson, 84 N.C. App. 650, 353 S.E.2d 652, disc. rev. denied, 320 N.C. 168, 358 S.E.2d 50 (1987).

Lending Money to Clients. — The State Bar's hearing committee's finding adequately supported its conclusion that the defendant violated Rules of Professional Responsibility 5.3(B) and 1.2(A) where the undisputed facts were that: (1) the defendant kept $ 20,000.00 in his trust account for several years which came from his brother's company, and (2) he loaned this money to three clients to pay for one client's surgery; another client's rent and payments on a car note; and a third client's surgical, medical and travel expenses. North Carolina State Bar v. Harris, — N.C. App. —, 527 S.E.2d 728, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 317 (2000).

Liability for Costs of Class Action. — Where class representative plaintiffs agreed with their counsel that counsel — rather than the class members or class representatives — would bear ultimate liability for the costs and expenses of litigation the arrangement was ethical and in no way impacted upon the adequacy of counsel under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 23(a)(4). In re Southeast Hotel Properties Ltd. Partnership Investor Litig., 151 F.R.D. 597 (W.D.N.C. 1993).

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

The attorney accepted compensation from someone other than his client without the knowledge or consent of his client. Private Reprimand. 79 DHC 26.

Among other things, the attorney invested the proceeds from a wrongful death action in a corporation in which the attorney owned a 90% interest, without the knowledge or consent of his client. Attorney also attempted to exonerate himself or limit his liability for malpractice by presenting his client with a document entitled "Release" and procuring his client's signature. Eighteen Month Suspension. 80 DHC 16.

In addition to other misconduct, the attorney required the client to sign a release form exonerating the attorney from liability for malpractice before turning over the client's files. One Year Suspension. 81 DHC 4.

The attorney certified title to 77 acres of his client's land. A dispute ensued over 47 acres. The attorney advised the client that it would cost $5,000 to settle the dispute. The client could not afford this amount so the attorney offered to purchase all the property for $2800. The client sold the property to the attorney for $3550. The attorney did not pay fair market value for the property and later sold the property for $30,000. Eighteen Month Suspension. 85 DHC 7.

The attorney entered into a contract with a client to purchase property of the client which proved ultimately to be unfair to the client. Six Month Suspension, stayed three years upon certain conditions. 89 DHC 41.

The attorney had a client sign an agreement prospectively limiting the attorney's malpractice liability to the client, at a time when the client was not represented by independent counsel and without advising her to obtain such counsel. One Year Suspension, stayed for three years upon conditions. 90 DHC 23.

Attorney purchased house from 81-year-old client for less than fair market value without fully disclosing risks of transaction and without advising client to seek independent counsel. One Year Suspension, stayed for three years and order to reconvey property to client. 92 DHC 8.

Among other things, attorney borrowed money from client funds on deposit in his trust account without evidencing these transactions by promissory notes or other documentation. One Year Suspension, stayed for three years upon certain conditions. 93 DHC 20.

Attorney borrowed $10,000 of insurance proceeds from a disabled widow without securing the loan, without providing for the payment of interest and without advising the widow to consult independent counsel. Two Year Suspension, one year stayed upon certain condition. 93 DHC 35.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 17 Opinion rules that a lawyer may not comply with an insurance carrier's billing requirements and guidelines if they interfere with the lawyer's ability to exercise his or her independent professional judgment in the representation of the insured.

Rule 1.9. Conflict of interest: Former client.

(a) A lawyer who has formerly represented a client in a matter shall not thereafter represent another person in the same or a substantially related matter in which that person's interests are materially adverse to the interests of the former client unless the former client consents after consultation.

(b) A lawyer shall not knowingly represent a person in the same or a substantially related matter in which a firm with which the lawyer formerly was associated had previously represented a client:

(1) whose interests are materially adverse to that person; and

(2) about whom the lawyer had acquired information protected by Rules 1.6 and 1.9(c) that is material to the matter; unless the former client consents after consultation.

(c) A lawyer who has formerly represented a client in a matter, or whose present or former firm has formerly represented a client in a matter, shall not thereafter:

(1) use confidential information protected from disclosure by Rule 1.6 to the disadvantage of the former client except as Rule 1.6 or Rule 3.3 would permit or require with respect to a client or when the information has become generally known; or

(2) reveal confidential information protected from disclosure by Rule 1.6 except as Rule 1.6 or Rule 3.3 would permit or require with respect to a client.

History Note: Amended July 23, 1999.

COMMENT

The principles in Rule 1.7 determine whether the interests of the present and former client are adverse. Thus, a lawyer could not properly seek to rescind on behalf of a new client a contract drafted on behalf of the former client. So also a lawyer who has prosecuted an accused person could not properly represent the accused in a subsequent civil action against the government concerning the same transaction.

The scope of a "matter" for purposes of this Rule may depend on the facts of a particular situation or transaction. The lawyer's involvement in a matter can also be a question of degree. When a lawyer has been directly involved in a specific transaction, subsequent representation of other clients with materially adverse interests clearly is prohibited. On the other hand, a lawyer who recurrently handled a type of problem for a former client is not precluded from later representing another client in a wholly distinct problem of that type even though the subsequent representation involves a position adverse to the prior client. Similar considerations can apply to the reassignment of military lawyers between defense and prosecution functions within the same military jurisdiction. The underlying question is whether the lawyer was so involved in the matter that the subsequent representation can be justly regarded as a changing of sides in the matter in question.

Lawyers Moving Between Firms

When lawyers have been associated within a firm but then end their association, the question of whether a lawyer should undertake representation is more complicated. There are several competing considerations. First, the client previously represented by the former firm must be reasonably assured that the principle of loyalty to the client is not compromised. Second, the rule should not be so broadly cast as to preclude other persons from having reasonable choice of legal counsel. Third, the rule should not unreasonably hamper lawyers from forming new associations and taking on new clients after having left a previous association. In this connection, it should be recognized that today many lawyers practice in firms, that many lawyers to some degree limit their practice to one field or another, and that many move from one association to another several times in their careers. If the concept of imputation were applied with unqualified rigor, the result would be radical curtailment of the opportunity of lawyers to move from one practice setting to another and of the opportunity of clients to change counsel.

Reconciliation of these competing principles in the past has been attempted under two rubrics. One approach has been to seek per se rules of disqualification. For example, it has been held that a partner in a law firm is conclusively presumed to have access to all confidences concerning all clients of the firm. Under this analysis, if a lawyer has been a partner in one law firm and then becomes a partner in another law firm, there may be a presumption that all confidences known by the partner in the first firm are known to all partners in the second firm. This presumption might properly be applied in some circumstances, especially where the client has been extensively represented, but may be unrealistic where the client was represented only for limited purposes. Furthermore, such a rigid rule exaggerates the difference between a partner and an associate in modern law firms.

The other rubric formerly used for dealing with disqualification is the appearance of impropriety. This rubric has a two fold problem. First, the appearance of impropriety can be taken to include any new client-lawyer relationship that might make a former client feel anxious. If that meaning were adopted, disqualification would become little more than a question of subjective judgment by the former client. Second, since "impropriety" is undefined, the term "appearance of impropriety" is question-begging. It therefore has to be recognized that the problem of disqualification cannot be properly resolved either by simple analogy to a lawyer practicing alone or by the very general concept of appearance of impropriety.

Confidentiality

Preserving confidentiality is a question of access to information. Access to information, in turn, is essentially a question of fact in particular circumstances, aided by inferences, deductions or working presumptions that reasonably may be made about the way in which lawyers work together. A lawyer may have general access to files of all clients of a law firm and may regularly participate in discussions of their affairs; it should be inferred that such a lawyer in fact is privy to all information about all the firm's clients. In contrast, another lawyer may have access to the files of only a limited number of clients and participate in discussions of the affairs of no other clients; in the absence of information to the contrary, it should be inferred that such a lawyer in fact is privy to information about the clients actually served but not those of other clients.

Application of paragraph (b) depends on a situation's particular facts. In such an inquiry, the burden of proof should rest upon the firm whose disqualification is sought.

Paragraph (b) operates to disqualify the lawyer only when the lawyer involved has actual knowledge of information protected by Rules 1.6 and 1.9(b). Thus, if a lawyer, while with one firm, acquired no knowledge or information relating to a particular client of the firm, and that lawyer later joined another firm, neither the lawyer individually nor the second firm is disqualified from representing another client in the same or a related matter even though the interests of the two clients conflict. See Rule 1.10(b) for the restrictions on a firm once a lawyer has terminated association with the firm.

Independent of the question of disqualification of a firm, a lawyer changing professional association has a continuing duty to preserve confidentiality of information about a client formerly represented. See Rules 1.6 and 1.9.

Adverse Positions

The second aspect of loyalty to a client is the lawyer's obligation to decline subsequent representations involving positions adverse to a former client arising in substantially related matters. This obligation requires abstention from adverse representation by the individual lawyer involved, but does not properly entail abstention of other lawyers through imputed disqualification. Hence, this aspect of the problem is governed by Rule 1.9(a). Thus, if a lawyer left one firm for another, the new affiliation would not preclude the firms involved from continuing to represent clients with adverse interests in the same or related matters, so long as the conditions of paragraphs (b) and (c) concerning confidentiality have been met.

Information acquired by the lawyer in the course of representing a client may not subsequently be used or revealed by the lawyer to the disadvantage of the client. However, the fact that a lawyer has once served a client does not preclude the lawyer from using generally known information about that client when later representing another client. Whether information is "generally known" depends in part upon how the information was obtained and in part upon the former client's reasonable expectations. The mere fact that information is accessible through the public record or has become known to some other persons, does not necessarily deprive the information of its confidential nature. If the information is known or readily available to a relevant sector of the public, such as the parties involved in the matter, then the information is probably considered "generally known." See Restatement (Third of The Law Governing Lawyers, §111 cmt. d (Proposed Final Draft No. 1, 1996).

Disqualification from subsequent representation is for the protection of former clients and can be waived by them. A waiver is effective only if there is disclosure of the circumstances, including the lawyer's intended role on behalf of the new client.

With regard to an opposing party's raising a question of conflict of interest, see Comment to Rule 1.7. With regard to disqualification of a firm with which a lawyer is or was formerly associated, see Rule 1.10.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.9 is substantially similar to Model Rule 1.9. Rule 1.9(a) is essentially the same as Rule 5.1(d) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. Rule 1.9(b) corresponds to Rule 5.11(b) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct and Rule 1.9(c) has no counterpart in the superseded Rules.

CASE NOTES

Conflict of Interest Not Shown. — There was no conflict of interest involved where the attorney for the plaintiff in an action to impress a trust had represented a defendant in a divorce action against her former husband, her co-defendant in this action. In this case the former client had consented to the attorney's representation of the current client, her foster mother, who knew of the prior representation. Saintsing v. Taylor, 57 N.C. App. 467, 291 S.E.2d 880, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 558, 294 S.E.2d 224 (1982).

Refusal to Disqualify Counsel. — In a derivative action in which the defendant waited 22 months before moving to disqualify the plaintiffs' counsel on the ground of prior representation of the defendant by the attorney who referred the derivative action to the plaintiffs' counsel, the trial court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to disqualify counsel. Lowder v. All Star Mills Inc., 60 N.C. App. 275, 300 S.E.2d 230, aff'd in part, rev'd in part, 309 N.C. 695, 309 S.E.2d 193 (1983).

Law firm was disqualified from representing plaintiff computer company in copyright case against another company which hired three of plaintiff's engineers where the law firm had previously represented one of the engineers. Robert Woodhead, Inc. v. Datawatch Corp., 934 F. Supp. 181 (E.D.N.C. 1995).

CPR 140. It is improper for an attorney who formerly represented a creditor to later represent the debtor in the same action.

CPR 147. An attorney cannot defend an action brought by a former client when confidential information obtained during the prior representation would be relevant to the defense of the current action.

CPR 159. It is proper for an attorney to prepare a will for a woman and later represent her husband in a domestic action so long as the prior representation is not substantially related to the present action.

CPR 169. An attorney may represent the defendant in a lawsuit after having been first approached by the plaintiff if no attorney-client relationship was formed.

CPR 195. An attorney may not act as a private prosecutor against a former client who sought his advice concerning the domestic problems which culminated in the subject homicide.

CPR 243. An attorney may certify title to the State for purposes of condemnation and later represent the landowner against the State in a suit for damages if all consent.

CPR 273. An attorney may not represent a neighborhood group in opposition to another group he previously represented concerning the same or substantially related subject matter.

RPC 32. An attorney who represented a husband and wife in certain matters may not later represent the husband in an action for alimony and equitable distribution.

RPC 45. An attorney whose partner represented the adverse party prior to joining the firm is not disqualified unless the partner acquired confidential information material to the current dispute.

RPC 53. A lawyer may sue a municipality although his partner serves as a member of its governing body. (But see RPC 160.)

RPC 137. An attorney who formerly represented an estate may not subsequently defend the former personal representative against a claim brought by the estate.

RPC 144. A lawyer having undertaken to represent two clients in the same matter may not thereafter represent one against the other in the event their interests become adverse without the consent of the other.

RPC 168. A lawyer may ask her client for a waiver of objection to a possible future representation presenting a conflict of interest if certain conditions are met.

RPC 229. A lawyer who jointly represented a husband and wife in the preparation and execution of estate planning documents may not prepare a codicil to the will of one spouse without the knowledge of the other spouse if the codicil will affect adversely the interests of the other spouse or each spouse agreed not to change the estate plan without informing the other spouse.

RPC 244. Although a lawyer asks a prospective client to sign a form stating that no client-lawyer relationship will be created by reason of a free consultation with the lawyer, the lawyer may not subsequently disclaim the creation of a client-lawyer relationship and represent the opposing party.

RPC 246. Under certain circumstances, a lawyer may not represent a party whose interests are opposed to the interests of a prospective client if confidential information of the prospective client must be used in the representation.

Rule 1.10. Imputed disqualification: General rule.

(a) While lawyers are associated in a firm, none of them shall knowingly represent a client when any one of them practicing alone would be prohibited from doing so by Rules 1.7, 1.8(c), 1.9 or 2.2.

(b) When a lawyer has terminated an association with a firm, the firm is not prohibited from thereafter representing a person with interests materially adverse to those of a client represented by the formerly associated lawyer and not currently represented by the firm, unless:

(1) the matter is the same or substantially related to that in which the formerly associated lawyer represented the client; and

(2) any lawyer remaining in the firm has information protected by Rules 1.6 and 1.9(c) that is material to the matter.

(c) A disqualification prescribed by this rule may be waived by the affected client under the conditions stated in Rule 1.7.

COMMENT

Definition of "Firm"

For purposes of the Rules of Professional Conduct, the term "firm" includes lawyers in a private firm, and lawyers in the legal department of a corporation or other organization, or in a legal services organization. Whether two or more lawyers constitute a firm within this definition can depend on the specific facts. For example, two practitioners who share office space and occasionally consult or assist each other ordinarily would not be regarded as constituting a firm. However, if they present themselves to the public as a firm or conduct themselves as a firm, they should be regarded as a firm for the purposes of the Rules. The terms of any formal agreement between associated lawyers are relevant in determining whether they are a firm, as is the fact that they have mutual access to information concerning the clients they serve. Furthermore, it is relevant in doubtful cases to consider the underlying purpose of the Rule that is involved.

With respect to the law department of an organization, there is ordinarily no question that the members of the department constitute a firm within the meaning of the Rules of Professional Conduct. However, there can be uncertainty as to the identity of the client. For example, it may not be clear whether the law department of a corporation represents a subsidiary or an affiliated corporation, as well as the corporation by which the members of the department are directly employed. A similar question can arise concerning an unincorporated association and its local affiliates.

Similar questions can also arise with respect to lawyers in legal aid. Lawyers employed in the same unit of a legal service organization constitute a firm, but not necessarily those employed in separate units. As in the case of independent practitioners, whether the lawyers should be treated as associated with each other can depend on the particular rule that is involved and on the specific facts of the situation.

Where a lawyer has joined a private firm after having represented the government, the situation is governed by Rule 1.11 (a) and (b); where a lawyer represents the government after having served private clients, the situation is governed by Rule 1.11(c)(1). The individual lawyer involved is bound by the Rules generally, including Rules 1.6, 1.7 and 1.9.

Different provisions are thus made for movement of a lawyer from one private firm to another and for movement of a lawyer between a private firm and the government. The government is entitled to protection of its client confidences and, therefore, to the protections provided in Rules 1.6, 1.9 and 1.11. However, if the more extensive disqualification in Rule 1.10 were applied to former government lawyers, the potential effect on the government would be unduly burdensome. The government deals with all private citizens and organizations and, thus, has a much wider circle of adverse legal interests than does any private law firm. In these circumstances, the government's recruitment of lawyers would be seriously impaired if Rule 1.10 were applied to the government. On balance, therefore, the government is better served in the long run by the protections stated in Rule 1.11.

Principles of Imputed Disqualification

The rule of imputed disqualification stated in paragraph (a) gives effect to the principle of loyalty to the client as it applies to lawyers who practice in a law firm. Such situations can be considered from the premise that a firm of lawyers is essentially one lawyer for purposes of the rules governing loyalty to the client, or from the premise that each lawyer is vicariously bound by the obligation of loyalty owed by each lawyer with whom the lawyer is associated. Paragraph (a) operates only among the lawyers currently associated in a firm. When a lawyer moves from one firm to another, the situation is governed by Rules 1.9(b) and 1.10(b).

Rule 1.10(b) operates to permit a law firm, under certain circumstances, to represent a person with interests directly adverse to those of a client represented by a lawyer who formerly was associated with the firm. The Rule applies regardless of when the formerly associated lawyer represented the client. However, the law firm may not represent a person with interests adverse to those of a present client of the firm, which would violate Rule 1.7. Moreover, the firm may not represent the person where the matter is the same or substantially related to that in which the formerly associated lawyer represented the client and any other lawyer currently in the firm has material information protected by Rules 1.6 and 1.9(c).

The duty of loyalty to a client obliges a lawyer to decline subsequent representations involving positions adverse to a former client arising in substantially related matters. This obligation requires abstention from adverse representation by the individual lawyer involved, but does not necessarily entail abstention of other lawyers through imputed disqualification. If a lawyer has left one firm for another, the new affiliation would not preclude the firms involved from continuing to represent clients with adverse interests in the same or related matters, so long as the conditions of Rule 1.9(b) and Rule 1.10(b) concerning confidentiality have been met.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.10 is identical to Model Rule 1.10 and substantially similar to Rule 5.11(a), (c), and (d) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 93. A law firm may not continue to represent a husband charged with his wife's murder after the public defender who had represented a codefendant who had agreed to testify against the husband in the same case joins the firm.

99 Formal Ethics Opinion 3 Opinion rules that lawyers in different field offices of Legal Services of North Carolina may represent clients with materially adverse interests provided confidential client information is not shared by the lawyers with the different field offices.

CPR 96. When different attorneys in the same firm are employed to represent conflicting interests in related cases (estate in wrongful death case and criminal defendant in homicide case), both must withdraw.

CPR 158. An attorney whose partner represented the wife in domestic litigation which resulted in parties holding real property as co-tenants cannot subsequently represent the husband in a partition proceeding.

CPR 274. Attorneys who merely share office space are not automatically disqualified.

RPC 45. An attorney whose partner represented the adverse party prior to joining the firm is not disqualified unless the partner acquired confidential information material to the current dispute.

RPC 49. Attorneys who own stock in a real estate company may refer clients to the company if such would be in the clients' best interest and there is full disclosure, but the attorneys and other members of their law firm may not close transactions brokered by the real estate firm.

RPC 55. A member of the Attorney General's staff may prosecute appeals of adverse Medicaid decisions against the Department of Human Resources, which is represented by another member of the Attorney General's staff.

RPC 65. The public defender's office should be considered as a single law firm and staff attorneys may not represent co-defendants with conflicting interests unless both consent and can be adequately represented.

RPC 73. Opinion clarifies two lines of authority in prior ethics opinions. Where an attorney serves on a governing body, such as a county commission, the attorney is disqualified from representing criminal defendants if a member of the sheriff's department is a prosecuting witness. The attorney's partners are not disqualified.

Where an attorney advises a governing body, such as a county commission, but is not a commissioner herself, and in that capacity represents the sheriff's department relative to criminal matters, the attorney may not represent criminal defendants if a member of the sheriff's department will be a prosecuting witness. In this situation the attorney's partners would also be disqualified from representing the criminal defendants.

RPC 248. A lawyer who owns stock in a mortgage brokerage corporation may not act as the settlement agent for a loan brokered by the corporation nor may the other lawyers in the firm certify title or act as settlement agent for the closing.

Rule 1.11. Successive government and private employment.

(a) Except as law may otherwise expressly permit, a lawyer shall not represent a private client in connection with a matter in which the lawyer participated personally and substantially as a public officer or employee, unless the appropriate government agency consents after consultation. No lawyer in a firm with which that lawyer is associated may knowingly undertake or continue representation in such a matter unless:

(1) the disqualified lawyer is screened from any participation in the matter and is apportioned no part of the fee therefrom; and

(2) written notice is promptly given to the appropriate government agency to enable it to ascertain compliance with the provisions of this rule.

(b) Except as law may otherwise expressly permit, a lawyer having information that the lawyer knows is confidential government information about a person acquired when the lawyer was a public officer or employee, may not represent a private client whose interests are adverse to that person in a matter in which the information could be used to the material disadvantage of that person. A firm with which that lawyer is associated may undertake or continue representation in the matter only if the disqualified lawyer is screened from any participation in the matter and is apportioned no part of the fee therefrom.

(c) Except as law may otherwise expressly permit, a lawyer serving as a public officer or employee shall not:

(1) participate in a matter in which the lawyer participated personally and substantially while in private practice or nongovernmental employment, unless under applicable law no one is, or by lawful delegation may be, authorized to act in the lawyer's stead in the matter; or

(2) negotiate for private employment with any person who is involved as a party or as attorney for a party in a matter in which the lawyer is participating personally and substantially, except that a lawyer serving as a law clerk to a judge, other adjudicative officer, or arbitrator may negotiate for private employment as permitted by Rule 1.12(b) and subject to the conditions stated in Rule 1.12(b).

(d) As used in this Rule, the term “matter” includes:

(1) any judicial or other proceeding, application, request for a ruling or other determination, contract, claim, controversy, investigation, charge, accusation, arrest or other particular matter involving a specific party or parties, and

(2) any other matter covered by the conflict of interest rules of the appropriate government agency.

(e) As used in this Rule, the term “confidential government information” means information which has been obtained under governmental authority and which, at the time this rule is applied, the government is prohibited by law from disclosing to the public or has a legal privilege not to disclose, and which is not otherwise available to the public.

COMMENT

This Rule prevents a lawyer from exploiting public office for the advantage of a private client. It is a counterpart of Rule 1.10(b), which applies to lawyers moving from one firm to another. A lawyer representing a government agency, whether employed or specially retained by the government, is subject to the Rules of Professional Conduct, including the prohibition against representing adverse interests stated in Rule 1.7 and the protections afforded former clients in Rule 1.9. In addition, such a lawyer is subject to Rule 1.11 and to statutes and government regulations regarding conflict of interest. Such statutes and regulations may circumscribe the extent to which the government agency may give consent under this Rule.

Where the successive clients are a public agency and a private client, the risk exists that power or discretion vested in public authority might be used for the special benefit of a private client. A lawyer should not be in a position where benefit to a private client might affect performance of the lawyer's professional functions on behalf of public authority. Also, unfair advantage could accrue to the private client by reason of access to confidential government information about the client's adversary obtainable only through the lawyer's government service. However, the rules governing lawyers presently or formerly employed by a government agency should not be so restrictive as to inhibit transfer of employment to and from the government. The government has a legitimate need to attract qualified lawyers as well as to maintain high ethical standards. The provisions for screening and waiver are necessary to prevent the disqualification rule from imposing too severe a deterrent against entering public service.

When the client is an agency of one government, that agency should be treated as a private client for purposes of this Rule if the lawyer thereafter represents an agency of another government, as when a lawyer represents a city and subsequently is employed by a federal agency.

Paragraphs (a)(1) and (b) do not prohibit a lawyer from receiving a salary or partnership share established by prior independent agreement. They prohibit directly relating the attorney's compensation to the fee in the matter in which the lawyer is disqualified.

Paragraph (a)(2) does not require that a lawyer give notice to the government agency at a time when premature disclosure would injure the client; a requirement for premature disclosure might preclude engagement of the lawyer. Such notice is, however, required to be given as soon as practicable in order that the government agency will have a reasonable opportunity to ascertain that the lawyer is complying with Rule 1.11 and to take appropriate action if it believes the lawyer is not complying.

Paragraph (b) operates only when the lawyer in question has knowledge of the information, which means actual knowledge; it does not operate with respect to information that merely could be imputed to the lawyer.

Paragraphs (a) and (c) do not prohibit a lawyer from jointly representing a private party and a government agency when doing so is permitted by Rule 1.7 and is not otherwise prohibited by law.

Paragraph (c) does not disqualify other lawyers in the agency with which the lawyer in question has become associated.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.11 is identical to Model Rule 1.11. Rule 1.11 also closely follows Rule 9.1 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. However, Rule 1.11 permits members of a law firm which employs a former government lawyer to represent a party adverse to the lawyer's former employer, without the consent of the government agency, provided the former government lawyer is "screened" from any involvement with the case and does not receive any fee therefrom. Under superseded Rule 9.1, no member of a disqualified lawyer's firm may participate unless the adverse government party consents.

CASE NOTES

No Per Se Disqualification. — Government employment as a district attorney by an attorney formerly in private practice does not create a per se disqualification of all the other government attorneys on his staff from prosecuting or appearing at any time against his former clients of the attorney who left private practice. State v. Reid, 104 N.C. App. 334, 410 S.E.2d 67 (1991), cert. granted, 331 N.C. 121, 414 S.E.2d 765 (1992), rev'd on other grounds, 334 N.C. 551, 434 S.E.2d 193 (1993).

CPR 341. Members of a former assistant district attorney's current law firm may not represent a criminal defendant with respect to whom the former assistant district attorney sought indictment, unless the district attorney consents.

Rule 1.12. Former judge or arbitrator.

(a) Except as stated in paragraph (d), a lawyer shall not represent anyone in connection with a matter in which the lawyer participated personally and substantially as a judge or other adjudicative officer, arbitrator or law clerk to such a person, unless all parties to the proceeding consent after consultation.

(b) A lawyer shall not negotiate for employment with any person who is involved as a party or as attorney for a party in a matter in which the lawyer is participating personally and substantially as a judge or other adjudicative officer or arbitrator. A lawyer serving as a law clerk to a judge, other adjudicative officer or arbitrator may negotiate for employment with a party or attorney involved in a matter in which the clerk is participating personally and substantially, but only after the lawyer has notified the judge, other adjudicative officer or arbitrator.

(c) If a lawyer is disqualified by paragraph (a), no lawyer in a firm with which that lawyer is associated may knowingly undertake or continue representation in the matter unless:

(1) the disqualified lawyer is screened from any participation in the matter and is apportioned no part of the fee therefrom; and

(2) written notice is promptly given to the appropriate tribunal to enable it to ascertain compliance with the provisions of this rule.

(d) An arbitrator selected as a partisan of a party in a multimember arbitration panel is not prohibited from subsequently representing that party.

COMMENT

This Rule generally parallels Rule 1.11. The term “personally and substantially” signifies that a judge who was a member of a multimember court and thereafter left judicial office to practice law is not prohibited from representing a client in a matter pending in the court, but in which the former judge did not participate. So also the fact that a former judge exercised administrative responsibility in a court does not prevent the former judge from acting as a lawyer in a matter where the judge had previously exercised remote or incidental administrative responsibility that did not affect the merits. Compare the Comment to Rule 1.11. The term “adjudicative officer” includes such officials as judges pro tempore, referees, special masters, hearing officers and other parajudicial officers, and also lawyers who serve as part-time judges.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 113. An attorney may not represent either party in a domestic case after having signed a consent judgment in the matter as a judge.

RPC 138. A partner of a lawyer who represents a party to an arbitration should not act as an arbitrator.

Rule 1.13. Organization as client.

(a) A lawyer employed or retained by an organization represents the organization acting through its duly authorized constituents.

(b) If a lawyer for an organization knows that an officer, employee or other person associated with the organization is engaged in action, intends to act or refused to act in a matter related to the representation that is a violation of a legal obligation to the organization, or a violation of law which reasonably might be imputed to the organization, and is likely to result in substantial injury to the organization, the lawyer shall proceed as is reasonably necessary in the best interest of the organization. In determining how to proceed, the lawyer shall give due consideration to the seriousness of the violation and its consequences, the scope and nature of the lawyer’s representation, the responsibility in the organization and the apparent motivation of the person involved, the policies of the organization concerning such matters and any other relevant considerations. Any measures taken shall be designed to minimize disruption of the organization and the risk of revealing information relating to the representation to persons outside the organization. Such measures may include among others:

- (1) asking reconsideration of the matter;
- (2) advising that a separate legal opinion on the matter be sought for presentation to appropriate authority in the organization; and
- (3) referring the matter to higher authority in the organization, including, if warranted by the seriousness of the matter, referral to the highest authority that can act on behalf of the organization as determined by applicable law.

(c) If, despite the lawyer’s efforts in accordance with paragraph(b), the highest authority that can act on behalf of the organization insists upon action, or a refusal to act, that is clearly a violation of law and is likely to result in substantial injury to the organization, the lawyer may resign or withdraw in accordance with Rule 1.16.

(d) In dealing with an organization’s directors, officers, employees, members, shareholders or other constituents, a lawyer shall explain the identity of the client when it is apparent that the organization's interests are adverse to those of the constituents with whom the lawyer is dealing.

(e) A lawyer representing an organization may also represent any of its directors, officers, employees, members, shareholders or other constituents, subject to the provisions of Rule 1.7. If the organization's consent to the dual representation is required by Rule 1.7, the consent shall be given by an appropriate official of the organization other than the individual who is to be represented, or by the shareholders.

COMMENT

The Entity as the Client

An organizational client is a legal entity, but it cannot act except through its officers, directors, employees, shareholders and other constituents.

Officers, directors, employees and shareholders are the constituents of the corporate organizational client. The duties defined in this Rule apply equally to unincorporated associations. "Other constituents" as used in this Comment means the positions equivalent to officers, directors, employees and shareholders held by persons acting for organizational clients that are not corporations.

When one of the constituents of an organizational client communicates with the organization's lawyer in that person's organizational capacity, the communication is protected by Rule 1.6. Thus, by way of example, if an organizational client requests its lawyer to investigate allegations of wrongdoing, interviews made in the course of that investigation between the lawyer and the client's employees or other constituents are covered by Rule 1.6. This does not mean, however, that constituents of an organizational client are the clients of the lawyer. The lawyer may not disclose to such constituents information relating to the representation except for disclosures explicitly or impliedly authorized by the organizational client in order to carry out the representation or as otherwise permitted by Rule 1.6.

When constituents of the organization make decisions for it, the decisions ordinarily must be accepted by the lawyer even if their utility or prudence is doubtful. Decisions concerning policy and operations, including ones entailing serious risk, are not as such in the lawyer's province. However, different considerations arise when the lawyer knows that the organization may be substantially injured by action of a constituent that is in violation of law. In such a circumstance, it may be reasonably necessary for the lawyer to ask the constituent to reconsider the matter. If that fails, or if the matter is of sufficient seriousness and importance to the organization, it may be reasonably necessary for the lawyer to take steps to have the matter reviewed by a higher authority in the organization. Clear justification should exist for seeking review over the head of the constituent normally responsible for it. The stated policy of the organization may define circumstances and prescribe channels for such review, and a lawyer should encourage the formulation of such a policy. Even in the absence of organization policy, however, the lawyer may have an obligation to refer a matter to higher authority, depending on the seriousness of the matter and whether the constituent in question has apparent motives to act at variance with the organization's interest. Review by the chief executive officer or by the board of directors may be required when the matter is of importance commensurate with their authority. At some point, it may be useful or essential to obtain an independent legal opinion.

In an extreme case, it may be reasonably necessary for the lawyer to refer the matter to the organization's highest authority. Ordinarily, that is the board of directors or similar governing body. However, applicable law may prescribe that, under certain conditions, highest authority reposes elsewhere; for example, in the independent directors of a corporation.

Relation to Other Rules

The authority and responsibility provided in paragraph (b) are concurrent with the authority and responsibility provided in other Rules. In particular, this Rule does not limit or expand the lawyer's responsibility under Rule 1.6, 1.8, 1.16, 3.3 or 4.1. If the lawyer's services are being used by an organization to further a crime or fraud by the organization, Rule 1.2(d) can be applicable.

Government Agency

The duty defined in this Rule applies to governmental organizations. However, when the client is a governmental organization, a different balance may be appropriate between maintaining confidentiality and assuring that the wrongful official act is prevented or rectified, for public business is involved. In addition, duties of lawyers employed by the government or lawyers in military service may be defined by statutes and regulation. Therefore, defining precisely the identity of the client and prescribing the resulting obligations of such lawyers may be more difficult in the government context. Although in some circumstances the client may be a specific agency, it is generally the government as a whole. For example, if the action or failure to act involves the head of a bureau, either the department of which the bureau is a part or the government as a whole maybe the client for purposes of this Rule. Moreover, in a matter involving the conduct of government officials, a government lawyer may have authority to question such conduct more extensively than that of a lawyer for a private organization in similar circumstances. This Rule does not limit that authority. See 0.2 Scope.

Clarifying the Lawyer's Role

There are times when the organization's interest may be or may become adverse to those of one or more of its constituents. In such circumstances, the lawyer should advise any constituent, whose interest the lawyer finds adverse to that of the organization of the conflict or potential conflict of interest, that the lawyer cannot represent such constituent, and that such person may wish to obtain independent representation. Care must be taken to assure that the individual understands that, when there is such adversity of interest, the lawyer for the organization cannot provide legal representation for that constituent individual, and that discussions between the lawyer for the organization and the individual may not be privileged.

Whether such a warning should be given by the lawyer for the organization to any constituent individual may turn on the facts of each case.

Dual Representation

Paragraph (e) recognizes that a lawyer for an organization may also represent a principal officer or major shareholder.

Derivative Actions

Under generally prevailing law, the shareholders or members of a corporation may bring suit to compel the directors to perform their legal obligations in the supervision of the organization. Members of unincorporated associations have essentially the same right. Such an action may be brought nominally by the organization, but usually is, in fact, a legal controversy over management of the organization.

The question can arise whether counsel for the organization may defend such an action. The proposition that the organization is the lawyer's client does not alone resolve the issue. Most derivative actions are a normal incident of an organization's affairs, to be defended by the organization's lawyer like any other suit. However, if the claim involves serious charges of wrongdoing by those in control of the organization, a conflict may arise between the lawyer's duty to the organization and the lawyer's relationship with the board. In those circumstances, Rule 1.7 governs who should represent the directors and the organization.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.13 is identical to Model Rule 1.13. Rule 1.13 generally corresponds to Rule 5.10 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. Unlike the superseded rule, Rule 1.13 contains additional guidance for a lawyer who learns of improper conduct by a constituent of the organization that is inconsistent with the best interests of the organization.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 7. After a corporation files a Chapter 7 bankruptcy petition and at the request of the bankruptcy trustee, a lawyer who previously represented the corporation may continue to represent the corporation's bankruptcy estate and the bankruptcy trustee in a civil action provided the lawyer understands that the trustee is responsible for making decisions about the representation and the representation is not adverse to a former client of the lawyer.

Rule 1.14. Client under a disability.

(a) When a client's ability to make adequately considered decisions in connection with the representation is impaired, whether because of minority, mental disability or for some other reason, the lawyer shall, as far as reasonably possible, maintain a normal client-lawyer relationship with the client.

(b) A lawyer may seek the appointment of a guardian or take other protective action with respect to a client only when the lawyer reasonably believes that the client cannot adequately act in the client's own interest.

COMMENT

The normal client-lawyer relationship is based on the assumption that the client, when properly advised and assisted, is capable of making decisions about important matters. When the client is a minor or suffers from a mental disorder or disability, however, maintaining the ordinary client-lawyer relationship may not be possible in all respects. In particular, an incapacitated person may have no power to make legally binding decisions. Nevertheless, a client lacking legal competence often has the ability to understand, deliberate upon, and reach conclusions about matters affecting the client's own well-being. Furthermore, to an increasing extent, the law recognizes intermediate degrees of competence. For example, children as young as five or six years of age, and certainly those of ten or twelve, are regarded as having opinions that are entitled to weight in legal proceedings concerning their custody. So also, it is recognized that some persons of advanced age can be quite capable of handling routine financial matters while needing special legal protection concerning major transactions.

The fact that a client suffers a disability does not diminish the lawyer's obligation to treat the client with attention and respect. If the person has no guardian or legal representative, the lawyer often must act as de facto guardian. Even if the person does have a legal representative, the lawyer should as far as possible accord the represented person the status of client, particularly in maintaining communication.

If a legal representative has already been appointed for the client, the lawyer should ordinarily look to the representative for decisions on behalf of the client. If a legal representative has not been appointed, the lawyer should see to such an appointment where it would serve the client's best interests. Thus, if a disabled client has substantial property that should be sold for the client's benefit, effective completion of the transaction ordinarily requires appointment of a legal representative. In many circumstances, however, appointment of a legal representative may be expensive or traumatic for the client. Evaluation of these considerations is a matter of professional judgment on the lawyer's part.

If the lawyer represents the guardian as distinct from the ward, and is aware that the guardian is acting adversely to the ward's interest, the lawyer may have an obligation to prevent or rectify the guardian's misconduct. See Rule 1.2(d).

Disclosure of the Client's Condition

Rules of procedure in litigation generally provide that minors or persons suffering mental disability shall be represented by a guardian or next friend if they do not have a general guardian. However, disclosure of the client's disability can adversely affect the client's interests. For example, raising the question of disability could, in some circumstances, lead to proceedings for involuntary commitment. The lawyer's position in such cases is an unavoidably difficult one. The lawyer may seek guidance from an appropriate diagnostician.

Rule 1.15-1. Definitions.

For purposes of this Rule 1.15, the following definitions apply:

(a) "Bank" denotes a bank, savings and loan association, or credit union chartered under North Carolina or federal law.

(b) "Client" denotes a person, firm, or other entity for whom a lawyer performs, or is engaged to perform, any legal services.

(c) "Dedicated trust account" denotes a trust account that is maintained for the sole benefit of a single client or with respect to a single transaction or series of integrated transactions.

(d) "Entrusted property" denotes trust funds, fiduciary funds and other property belonging to someone other than the lawyer which is in the lawyer's possession or control in connection with the performance of legal services or professional fiduciary services.

(e) "Fiduciary account" denotes an account, designated as such, maintained by a lawyer solely for the deposit of fiduciary funds or other entrusted property of a particular person or entity.

(f) "Fiduciary funds" denotes funds belonging to someone other than the lawyer that are received by or placed under the control of the lawyer in connection with the performance of professional fiduciary services.

(g) "Funds" denotes any form of money, including cash, payment instruments such as checks, money orders, or sales drafts, and receipts from electronic fund transfers.

(h) "General trust account" denotes any trust account other than a dedicated trust account.

(i) "Instrument" denotes an instrument under the Uniform Commercial Code, a payment item or advice accepted for credit by a bank, or a requisition or order for the electronic transfer of funds.

(j) "Legal services" denotes services rendered by a lawyer in a client-lawyer relationship.

(k) "Professional fiduciary services" denotes compensated services (other than legal services) rendered by a lawyer as a trustee, guardian, personal representative of an estate, attorney-in-fact, or escrow agent, or in any other fiduciary role customary to the practice of law.

(l) "Trust account" denotes an account, designated as such, maintained by a lawyer for the deposit of trust funds.

(m) "Trust funds" denotes funds belonging to someone other than the lawyer that are received by or placed under the control of the lawyer in connection with the performance of legal services.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23, Amended May 4, 2000.

Rule 1.15-2. General rules.

(a) Entrusted property. All entrusted property shall be identified, held, and maintained separate from the property of the lawyer, and shall be deposited, disbursed, and distributed only in accordance with this Rule 1.15.

(b) Deposit of trust funds. All trust funds received by or placed under the control of a lawyer shall be promptly deposited in either a general trust account or a dedicated trust account of the lawyer.

(c) Deposit of fiduciary funds. All fiduciary funds received by or placed under the control of a lawyer shall be promptly deposited in a fiduciary account or a general trust account of the lawyer.

(d) Safekeeping of other entrusted property. A lawyer may also hold entrusted property other than fiduciary funds (such as securities) in a fiduciary account. All entrusted property received by a lawyer that is not deposited in a trust account or fiduciary account (such as a stock certificate) shall be promptly identified, labeled as property of the person or entity for whom it is to be held, and placed in a safe deposit box or other suitable place of safekeeping. The lawyer shall disclose the location of the property to the client or other person for whom it is held. Any safe deposit box or other place of safekeeping shall be located in this state, unless the lawyer has been otherwise authorized in writing by the client or other person for whom it is held.

(e) Location of accounts. All trust accounts shall be maintained at a bank in North Carolina except that, with the written consent of the client, a dedicated trust account may be maintained at a bank outside of North Carolina or in a financial institution other than a bank in or outside of North Carolina. A lawyer may maintain a fiduciary account at any bank or other financial institution in or outside of North Carolina selected by the lawyer in the exercise of the lawyer's fiduciary responsibility.

(f) Segregation of lawyer's funds. No funds belonging to a lawyer shall be deposited in a trust account or fiduciary account of the lawyer except:

(1) funds sufficient to open or maintain an account, pay any bank service charges, or pay any tax levied on the account; or

(2) funds belonging in part to a client or other third party and in currently or conditionally to the lawyer.

(g) Mixed funds deposited intact. When funds belonging to the lawyer are received in combination with funds belonging to the client or other persons, all of the funds shall be deposited intact. The amounts currently or conditionally belonging to the lawyer shall be identified on the deposit slip or other record. After the deposit has been finally credited to the account, the lawyer may withdraw the amounts to which the lawyer is or becomes entitled. If the lawyer's entitlement is disputed, the disputed amounts shall remain in the trust account or fiduciary account until the dispute is resolved.

(h) Instruments payable to lawyer. An instrument drawn on a trust account or fiduciary account for the payment of the lawyer's fees or expenses shall be made payable to the lawyer and shall indicate the client balance on which instrument is drawn.

(i) No bearer instruments. No instrument shall be drawn on a trust account or fiduciary account made payable to cash or bearer.

(j) No personal benefit. A lawyer shall not use or pledge any entrusted property to obtain credit or other personal benefit for the lawyer or any person other than the legal or beneficial owner of that property.

(k) Bank directive. Every lawyer maintaining a trust account or fiduciary account at a bank shall file with the bank a written directive requiring the bank to report to the executive director of the North Carolina State Bar when an instrument drawn on the account is presented for payment against insufficient funds. No trust account or fiduciary account shall be maintained in a bank that does not agree to make such reports.

(l) Notification of receipt. A lawyer shall promptly notify his or her client of the receipt of any entrusted property belonging in whole or in part to the client.

(m) Delivery of client property. A lawyer shall promptly pay or deliver to the client, or to third persons as directed by the client, any entrusted property belonging to the client and to which the client is currently entitled.

(n) Property received as security. Any entrusted property or document of title delivered to a lawyer as security for the payment of a fee or other obligation to the lawyer shall be held in trust in accordance with this Rule 1.15 and shall be clearly identified as property held as security and not as a completed transfer of beneficial ownership to the lawyer. This provision does not apply to property received by a lawyer on account of fees or other amounts owed to the lawyer at the time of receipt; however, such transfers are subject to the rules governing legal fees or business transactions between a lawyer and client.

(o) Duty to report misappropriation. A lawyer who discovers or reasonably believes that entrusted property has been misappropriated or misapplied shall promptly inform the North Carolina State Bar.

(p) Interest on deposited funds. Except as authorized by Rule 1.15-4, any interest earned on a trust account or fiduciary account, less any amounts deducted for bank service charges and taxes, shall belong to the client or other person or entity entitled to the corresponding principal amount. Under no circumstances shall the lawyer be entitled to any interest earned on funds deposited in a trust account or fiduciary account.

(q) Abandoned property. If entrusted property is unclaimed, the lawyer shall make due inquiry of his or her personnel, records and other sources of information in an effort to determine the identity and location of the owner of the property. If that effort is successful, the entrusted property shall be promptly transferred to the person or entity to whom it belongs. If the effort is unsuccessful and the provisions of G.S. 116B-18 are satisfied, the property shall be deemed abandoned, and the lawyer shall comply with the requirements of Chapter 116B of the General Statutes concerning the escheat of abandoned property.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23, Amended May 4, 2000.

Rule 1.15-3. Records and accountings.

(a) Minimum records for accounts at banks. The minimum records required for general trust accounts, dedicated trust accounts and fiduciary accounts maintained at a bank shall consist of the following:

(1) all bank receipts or deposit slips listing the source and date of receipt of all funds deposited in the account, and, in the case of a general trust account, also the name of the client or other person to whom the funds belong;

(2) all canceled checks or other instruments drawn on the account, or printed digital images thereof furnished by the bank, showing the amount, date, and recipient of the disbursement, and, in the case of a general trust account, the client balance against which each instrument is drawn, provided, that:

(i) digital images must be legible reproductions of the front and back of the original instruments with no more than six instruments per page and no images smaller than 1- $\frac{3}{16}$  x 3 inches; and

(ii) the bank must maintain, for at least six years, the capacity to reproduce electronically additional or enlarged images of the original instruments upon request within a reasonable time;

(3) all instructions or authorizations to transfer, disburse, or withdraw funds from the trust account;

(4) all bank statements and other documents received from the bank with respect to the trust account, including, but not limited to notices of return or dishonor of any instrument drawn on the account against insufficient funds;

(5) in the case of a general trust account, a ledger containing a record of receipts and disbursements for each person or entity from whom and for whom funds are received and showing the current balance of funds held in the trust account for each such person or entity; and

(6) any other records required by law to be maintained for the trust account.

(b) Minimum records for accounts at other financial institutions. The minimum records required for dedicated trust accounts and fiduciary accounts at financial institutions other than a bank shall consist of the following:

(1) all depository receipts or deposit slips listing the source and date of receipt of all property deposited in the account;

(2) a copy of all checks or other instruments drawn on the account, or printed digital images thereof furnished by the depository, showing the amount, date, and recipient of the disbursement, provided, that the images satisfy the requirements set forth in Rule 1.15-3(b)(2);

(3) all instructions or authorizations to transfer, disburse, or withdraw funds from the account;

(4) all statements and other documents received from the depository with respect to the account, including, but not limited to notices of return or dishonor of any instrument drawn on the account for insufficient funds; and

(5) any other records required by law to be maintained for the account.

(c) Quarterly reconciliations of general trust accounts. At least quarterly, the individual client balances shown on the ledger of a general trust account must be totaled and reconciled with the current bank balance for the trust account as a whole.

(d) Accountings for trust funds. The lawyer shall render to the client a written accounting of the receipts and disbursements of all trust funds (i) upon the complete disbursement of the trust funds, (ii) at such other times as may be reasonably requested by the client, and (iii) at least annually if the funds are retained for a period of more than one year.

(e) Accountings for fiduciary property. Inventories and accountings of fiduciary funds and other entrusted property received in connection with professional fiduciary services shall be rendered to judicial officials or other persons as required by law. If an annual or more frequent accounting is not required by law, a written accounting of all transactions concerning the fiduciary funds and other entrusted property shall be rendered to the beneficial owners, or their representatives, at least annually and upon the termination of the lawyer's professional fiduciary services.

(f) Minimum record keeping period. A lawyer shall maintain, in accordance with this Rule 1.15, complete and accurate records of all entrusted property received by the lawyer, which records shall be maintained for a period of at least six (6) years from the last transaction to which the records pertain.

(g) Audit by state bar. The financial records required by this Rule 1.15 shall be subject to audit for cause and to random audit by the North Carolina State Bar; and such records shall be produced for inspection and copying upon request by the State Bar.

COMMENT

The purpose of a lawyer's trust account or fiduciary account is to segregate the funds belonging to others from those belonging to the lawyer. Money received by a lawyer while providing legal services or otherwise serving as a fiduciary should never be used for personal purposes. Failure to place the funds of others in a trust or fiduciary account can subject the funds to claims of the lawyer's creditors or place the funds in the lawyer's estate in the event of the lawyer's death or disability.

Property Subject to These Rules

Any property belonging to a client or other person or entity that is received by or placed under the control of a lawyer in connection with the lawyer's furnishing of legal services or professional fiduciary services must be handled and maintained in accordance with this Rule 1.15. The minimum records to be maintained for accounts in banks differ from the minimum records to be maintained for accounts in other financial institutions (where permitted), to accommodate brokerage accounts and other accounts with differing reporting practices.

Client Property

Every lawyer who receives funds belonging to a client must maintain a trust account. The general rule is that every receipt of money from a client or for a client, which will be used or delivered on the client's behalf, is held in trust and should be placed in the trust account. All client money received by a lawyer, except that to which the lawyer is immediately entitled, must be deposited in a trust account, including funds for payment of future fees and expenses. Funds delivered to the lawyer by the client for payment of future fees or expenses should never be used by the lawyer for personal purposes or subjected to the potential claims of the lawyer's creditors.

This rule does not prohibit a lawyer who receives an instrument belonging wholly to a client or a third party from delivering the instrument to the appropriate recipient without first depositing the instrument in the lawyer's trust account.

Property from Professional Fiduciary Service

The phrase "professional fiduciary service," as used in this rule, is service by a lawyer in any one of the various fiduciary roles undertaken by a lawyer that is not, of itself, the practice of law, but is frequently undertaken in conjunction with the practice of law. This includes service as a trustee, guardian, personal representative of an estate, attorney-in-fact, and escrow agent, as well as service in other fiduciary roles "customary to the practice of law."

Property held by a lawyer performing a professional fiduciary service must also be segregated from the lawyer's personal property, properly labeled, and maintained in accordance with the applicable provisions of this rule.

When property is entrusted to a lawyer in connection with a lawyer's representation of a client, this rule applies whether or not the lawyer is compensated for the representation. However, the rule does not apply to property received in connection with a lawyer's uncompensated service as a fiduciary such as a trustee or personal representative of an estate. (Of course, the lawyer's conduct may be governed by the law applicable to fiduciary obligations in general, including a fiduciary's obligation to keep the principal's funds or property separate from the fiduciary's personal funds or property, to avoid self-dealing, and to account for the funds or property accurately and promptly).

Compensation distinguishes professional fiduciary service from a fiduciary role that a lawyer undertakes as a family responsibility, as a courtesy to friends, or for charitable, religious or civic purposes. As used in this rule, "compensated services" means services for which the lawyer obtains or expects to obtain money or any other valuable consideration. The term does not refer to or include reimbursement for actual out-of-pocket expenses.

Property Excluded from Coverage of Rules

This rule also does not apply when a lawyer is handling money for a business or for a religious, civic, or charitable organization as an officer, employee, or other official regardless of whether the lawyer is compensated for this service. Handling funds while serving in one of these roles does not constitute "professional fiduciary service," and such service is not "customary to the practice of law."

Burden of Proof

When a lawyer is entrusted with property belonging to others and does not comply with these rules, the burden of proof is on the lawyer to establish the capacity in which the lawyer holds the funds and to demonstrate why these rules should not apply.

Prepaid Legal Fees

Whether a fee that is prepaid by the client should be placed in the trust account depends upon the fee arrangement with the client. A retainer fee in its truest sense is a payment by the client for the reservation of the exclusive services of the lawyer, which is not used to pay for the legal services provided by the lawyer and, by agreement of the parties, is nonrefundable upon discharge of the lawyer. It is a payment to which the lawyer is immediately entitled and, therefore, should not be placed in the trust account. A "retainer," which is actually a deposit by the client of an advance payment of a fee to be billed on an hourly or some other basis, is not a payment to which the lawyer is immediately entitled. This is really a security deposit and should be placed in the trust account. As the lawyer earns the fee or bills against the deposit, the funds should be withdrawn from the account. Rule 1.16(d) requires the refund to the client of any part of a fee that is not earned by the lawyer at the time that the representation is terminated.

Abandoned Property

Should a lawyer need technical assistance concerning the escheat of property to the State of North Carolina, the lawyer should contact the escheat officer at the Office of the North Carolina State Treasurer in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Responsibility for Records and Accountings

It is the lawyer's responsibility to assure that complete and accurate records of the receipt and disbursement of entrusted property are maintained in accordance with this rule.

The lawyer is responsible for keeping a client, or any other person to whom the lawyer is accountable, advised of the status of entrusted property held by the lawyer. Therefore, it is essential that the lawyer regularly reconcile a general trust account. This means that, at least once a quarter, the lawyer must reconcile the balance shown for the account in the lawyer's records with the current bank balance. The current bank balance is the balance obtained when subtracting outstanding checks and other withdrawals from the bank statement balance and adding outstanding deposits to the bank statement balance. With regard to trust funds held in any trust account, there is also an affirmative duty to produce a written accounting for the client and to deliver it to the client, either at the conclusion of the transaction or periodically if funds are held for an appreciable period. Such accountings must be made at least annually or at more frequent intervals if reasonably requested by the client.

Bank Notice of Overdrafts

A properly maintained trust account should not have any instruments presented against insufficient funds. However, even the best-maintained accounts are subject to inadvertent errors by the bank or the lawyer, which may be easily explained. The reporting requirement should not be burdensome and may help avoid a more serious problem.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23, Adopted May 4, 2000.

Rule 1.15-4. Interest on lawyers' trust accounts.

(a) Pursuant to a plan promulgated by the North Carolina State Bar and approved by the North Carolina Supreme Court, a lawyer may elect to create or maintain an interest bearing general trust account for those funds of clients which, in the lawyer's good faith judgment, are nominal in amount or are expected to be held for a short period of time. Funds deposited in a permitted interest bearing general trust account under the plan must be available for withdrawal upon request and without delay. The account shall be maintained in a bank. The North Carolina State Bar shall furnish to each lawyer or firm that elects to participate in the Interest on Lawyers' Trust Account (IOLTA) plan, a suitable plaque or scroll indicating participation in the program, which plaque or scroll shall be exhibited in the office of the participating lawyer or firm.

(b) Lawyers or law firms electing to deposit client funds in a general trust account under the plan shall direct the depository institution:

(1) to remit interest or dividends, as the case may be (less any deduction for bank service charges, fees of the depository institution, and taxes collected with respect to the deposited funds) at least quarterly to the North Carolina State Bar;

(2) to transmit with each remittance to the North Carolina State Bar a statement showing the name of the lawyer or law firm maintaining the account with respect to which the remittance is sent and the rate of interest applied in computing the remittance; and

(3) to transmit to the depository lawyer or law firm at the same time a report showing the amount remitted to the North Carolina State Bar and the rate of interest applied in computing the remittance.

(c) The North Carolina State Bar shall periodically deliver to each nonparticipating lawyer a form whereby the lawyer may elect, not to participate in the IOLTA plan. If a lawyer does not so elect within the time provided, the lawyer shall be deemed to have opted to participate in the plan and shall provide to the North Carolina State Bar such information as is required to participate in IOLTA.

(d) A lawyer or law firm participating in the IOLTA plan may terminate participation at any time by notifying the North Carolina State Bar or the IOLTA Board of Trustees. Participation will be terminated as soon as practicable after receipt of written notification from a participating lawyer or firm.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997; Redesignated from former Rule 1.15-3, May 4, 2000; Amended effective August 24, 2000.

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

Attorney failed to pay to his clients or the IOLTA program of the State Bar the interest earned on client funds on deposit in his trust account for a period of ten years. Reprimand.

93 DHC 14.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

RPC 150. An attorney cannot permit a bank to link her trust and business accounts for the purpose of determining interest earned or charges assessed if such an arrangement causes the attorney to use client funds from the trust account to offset service charges assessed on the business account.

Rule 1.16. Declining or terminating representation.

(a) Except as stated in paragraph (c), a lawyer shall not represent a client or, where representation has commenced, shall withdraw from the representation of a client if:

(1) the representation will result in violation of law or the Rules of Professional Conduct;

(2) in representing a client before a tribunal, the lawyer reasonably believes that the client is bringing the legal action, conducting the defensive or asserting a position for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring any person;

(3) the lawyer's physical or mental condition materially impairs the lawyer's ability to represent the client; or

(4) the lawyer is discharged.

(b) Except as stated in paragraph (c), a lawyer may withdraw from representing a client if withdrawal can be accomplished without material adverse effect on the interests of the client, or if:

(1) the client knowingly and freely assents to the termination of the representation;

(2) the client persists in a course of action involving the lawyer's services that the lawyer reasonably believes is criminal or fraudulent;

(3) the client insists upon pursuing an objective that the lawyer considers repugnant, imprudent or contrary to the advice and judgment of the lawyer;

(4) the client fails substantially to fulfill an obligation to the lawyer regarding the lawyer's services and has been given reasonable warning that the lawyer will withdraw unless the obligation is fulfilled;

(5) the representation has been rendered unreasonably difficult by the client;

(6) the client insists upon presenting a claim or defense that is not warranted under existing law and cannot be supported by good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of existing law; or

(7) other good cause for withdrawal exists.

(c) When permission for withdrawal from representation of a client is required by the rules of a tribunal, a lawyer shall not withdraw from the representation of a client in a proceeding before that tribunal without the permission of the tribunal.

(d) Upon termination of representation, a lawyer shall take steps to the extent reasonably practicable to protect a client's interests, such as giving reasonable notice to the client, allowing time for employment of other counsel, surrendering papers and property to which the client is entitled and refunding any advance payment of fee that has not been earned.

COMMENT

A lawyer should not accept representation in a matter unless it can be performed competently, promptly, without improper conflict of interest and to completion.

Mandatory Withdrawal

A lawyer ordinarily must decline or withdraw from representation if the client demands that the lawyer engage in conduct that is illegal or violates the Rules of Professional Conduct or other law. The lawyer is not obliged to decline or withdraw simply because the client suggests such a course of conduct; a client may make such a suggestion in the hope that a lawyer will not be constrained by a professional obligation.

When a lawyer has been appointed to represent a client, withdrawal ordinarily requires approval of the appointing authority. See also Rule 6.2. Difficulty may be encountered if withdrawal is based on the client's demand that the lawyer engage in unprofessional conduct. The court may wish an explanation for the withdrawal, while the lawyer may be bound to keep confidential the facts that would constitute such an explanation. The lawyer's statement that professional considerations require termination of the representation ordinarily should be accepted as sufficient.

Discharge

A client has the right to discharge a lawyer at any time, with or without cause, subject to liability for payment for the lawyer's services. Where future dispute about the withdrawal may be anticipated, it may be advisable to prepare a written statement reciting the circumstances.

Whether a client can discharge appointed counsel may depend on applicable law. A client seeking to do so should be given a full explanation of the consequences. These consequences may include a decision by the appointing authority that appointment of successor counsel is unjustified, thus requiring the client to represent himself.

If the client is mentally incompetent, the client may lack the legal capacity to discharge the lawyer, and in any event the discharge may be seriously adverse to the client's interests. The lawyer should make special effort to help the client consider the consequences and, in an extreme case, may initiate proceedings for a conservatorship or similar protection of the client. See Rule 1.14.

Optional Withdrawal

A lawyer may withdraw from representation in some circumstances. The lawyer has the option to withdraw if it can be accomplished without material adverse effect on the client's interests. Forfeiture by the client of a substantial financial investment in the representation may have such effect on the client's interests. Withdrawal is also justified if the client persists in a course of action that the lawyer reasonably believes is criminal or fraudulent, for a lawyer is not required to be associated with such conduct even if the lawyer does not further it. Withdrawal is also permitted if the lawyer's services were misused in the past even if that would materially prejudice the client. The lawyer also may withdraw where the client insists on a repugnant or imprudent objective.

A lawyer may withdraw if the client refuses to abide by the terms of an agreement relating to the representation, such as an agreement concerning fees or court costs or an agreement limiting the objectives of the representation.

Assisting the Client upon Withdrawal

Even if the lawyer has been unfairly discharged by the client, a lawyer must take all reasonable steps to mitigate the consequences to the client.

Whether or not a lawyer for an organization may under certain unusual circumstances have a legal obligation to the organization after withdrawing or being discharged by the organization's highest authority is beyond the scope of these Rules.

The lawyer may never retain papers to secure a fee. Generally, anything in the file which would be helpful to successor counsel should be turned over. This includes papers and other things delivered to the discharged lawyer by the client such as original instruments, correspondence, and canceled checks. Copies of all correspondence received and generated by the withdrawing or discharged lawyer should be released as well as legal instruments, pleadings, and briefs submitted by either side or prepared and ready for submission. The lawyer's personal notes and incomplete work product need not be released.

A lawyer who represented an indigent on an appeal which has been concluded and who obtained a trial transcript furnished by the State for use in preparing the appeal, must turn over the transcript to the former client upon request, the transcript being property to which the former client is entitled.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.16 is similar to Model Rule 1.16, except the Model Rule permits a lawyer to retain client papers to the extent permitted by law. By contrast, Rule 1.16 requires the lawyer to deliver all papers to the client upon termination of the representation. Rule 1.16 is similar to Rule 2.8 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. Rule 1.16, however, explicitly permits a lawyer to withdraw from the representation of a client, without cause and without the consent of the client, subject to the authority of the court to require continued representation, provided the withdrawal can be accomplished without material prejudice to the client. The superseded rule permits withdrawal only for cause.

CASE NOTES

Inadequate Notice of Withdrawal. — An attorney did not withdraw from representation when he sent his client a letter stating that he believed he could not handle the client's case and that the client should visit the office for further discussion. North Carolina State Bar v. Sheffield, 73 N.C. App. 349, 326 S.E.2d 320, cert. denied, 474 U.S. 981, 106 S. Ct. 385, 88 L.Ed.2d 338 (1985).

Duty of Attorney to Withdraw. — Where an attorney learns, prior to trial, that his client intends to commit perjury or participate in the perpetration of a fraud upon the court, he must withdraw from representation of the client, seeking leave of the court, if necessary. The right of a client to effective counsel in any case (civil or criminal) does not include the right to compel counsel to knowingly assist or participate in the commission of perjury or the creation or presentation of false evidence. In re Palmer, 296 N.C. 638, 252 S.E.2d 784 (1979).

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

The attorney was employed and paid in advance by an incarcerated client to pursue post-conviction relief. When the attorney failed to act on the client's behalf, the client discharged the attorney and demanded a refund. The attorney refused to refund the client any portion of the fee and refused to answer the State Bar's request for explanation. Two Year Suspension. 82 DHC 10, 11.

Attorney refused to withdraw from case or return client's file when directed to do so by client. Attorney failed to respond to discovery requests and did not appear at disciplinary hearing. One Year Suspension. 88 DHC 7.

The attorney filed pleadings which were not well grounded in fact or law and falsely certified to the court that he had served the pleadings on opposing counsel. The client later discharged the attorney, who refused to withdraw, refused to return the client's file, and insisted on charging a contingent fee, rather than the reasonable value of his services. Two Year Suspension, with reinstatement conditioned on the attorney passing the bar examination. 90 DHC 22.

Attorney required client to sign a release before turning over the client's file to her. Suspended One Year, stayed three years upon certain conditions. 90 DHC 23.

Among other things, the attorney failed to refund unearned fees in two cases. Six Month Suspension and an order of restitution. 91 DHC 24.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 3. A client is entitled to his file upon withdrawal of his attorney.

CPR 24. Withdrawing partners and remaining partners should send clients a common announcement of the firm's dissolution so that the client may elect whom he wishes to handle his legal business.

CPR 61. It is improper for a senior member of a law firm who is employed to represent a client to refer a case to a junior partner or associate without the client's consent.

CPR 186. It is permissible for an attorney to withdraw after giving notice of appeal when the client agrees that an appeal would be fruitless and the client assumes responsibility for retaining another attorney. The Rules of Court determine whether the tribunal's permission is required.

CPR 269. An attorney whose motion to withdraw from representation of a corporation is denied must continue to represent the corporation.

CPR 315. An attorney must give an indigent client the transcript provided by the State after disposition of the appeal.

CPR 322. After completion of custody litigation, an attorney must release a "home study" report to a client unless such is precluded by statute or court order.

RPC 8. An attorney employed by an insurer to represent an uninsured motorist may not withdraw after settlement between insurer and the claimant until the court gives permission and the attorney takes steps to minimize prejudice to his client.

RPC 48. Opinion outlines professional responsibilities of lawyers involved in a law firm dissolution.

RPC 58. Another member of a lawyer's firm may substitute for the lawyer in defending a criminal case if there is no prejudice to the client and the client and the court consent.

RPC 79. A lawyer who advances the cost of obtaining medical records before deciding whether to accept a case may not condition the release of the records to the client upon reimbursement of the cost.

RPC 106. Opinion discusses circumstances under which a refund of a prepaid fee is required.

RPC 153. In cases of multiple representation, a lawyer who has been discharged by one client must deliver to that client, as part of that client's file, information entrusted to the lawyer by the other client.

RPC 157. A lawyer may seek the appointment of a guardian for a client the lawyer believes to be incompetent over the client's objection if reasonably necessary to protect the client's interest.

RPC 158 (Third Revision). Any portion of a sum of money paid by a client in advance to secure payment of a fee that is unearned at the time the lawyer is discharged must be refunded to the client.

RPC 169. A lawyer is not required to provide a former client with copies of title notes and may charge a former client for copies of documents from the client's file under certain circumstances.

RPC 178. Opinion examines the obligation to deliver the file to the client upon the termination of the representation when a lawyer represents multiple clients in a single matter.

RPC 227. A former residential real estate client is not entitled to the lawyer's title notes or abstracts regardless of whether such information is stored in the client's file. However, a lawyer formerly associated with a firm may be entitled to examine the title notes made by the lawyer to provide further representation to the same client.

RPC 233. When a lawyer's reasonable attempts to locate a client are unsuccessful, the client's disappearance constitutes a constructive discharge of the lawyer requiring the lawyer's withdrawal from the representation.

RPC 234. An inactive client file may be stored in an electronic format provided original documents with legal significance are preserved and the documents in the electronic file can be reproduced on paper.

RPC 245. A lawyer in possession of the legal file relating to the prior representation of co-parties in an action must provide the co-party the lawyer does not represent with access to the file and a reasonable opportunity to copy the contents of the file.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 9. Opinion rules that a lawyer may charge a client the actual cost of retrieving a closed client file from storage, subject to certain conditions, provided the lawyer does not withhold the file to extract payment.

Rule 1.17. Sale of a law practice.

A lawyer or a law firm may sell or purchase a law practice, including goodwill, if the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) Upon transferring the law practice to the purchaser, the seller ceases to engage in the private practice of law in North Carolina;

(b) The practice is sold as an entirety to a single purchaser, which is another lawyer or law firm licensed to practice law in North Carolina. Without violating this provision, the seller may agree to transfer matters in one legal field to one purchaser, while transferring matters in another legal field to another purchaser, provided that such purchasers concentrate in those legal fields;

- (c) Written notice is sent to each of the seller's clients regarding:
  - (1) the proposed sale, including the identity of the purchaser;
  - (2) the terms of any proposed change in the fee arrangement authorized by paragraph (f);
  - (3) the client's right to retain other counsel and to take possession of the client's files prior to the sale or at any time thereafter; and
  - (4) the fact that the client's consent to the transfer of the client's files and legal representation to the purchaser will be presumed if the client does not take any action or does not otherwise object within thirty (30) days of receipt of the notice.
- (d) If the seller or purchaser identifies a conflict of interest that prohibits the purchaser from representing the client, the seller's notice to the client shall advise the client to retain substitute counsel to assume the client's representation and to arrange to have the substitute counsel contact the seller.
- (e) If a client cannot be given notice, the files and therepresentation of that client may be transferred to the purchaser only upon entry of an order so authorizing by a court having jurisdiction. The seller may disclose to the court in camera information relating to the representation only to the extent necessary for the court to decide whether to issue the order. In the event the court fails to grant a substitution of counsel in a matter, that matter shall not be included in the sale and the sale otherwise shall be unaffected.
- (f) The fees charged clients shall not be increased by reason of the sale. The purchaser may, however, refuse to undertake the representation unless the client consents to pay the purchaser fees at a rate not exceeding the fees charged by the purchaser for rendering substantially similar services prior to the initiation of the purchase negotiations; and
- (g) The seller and purchaser may agree that the purchaser does not have to pay the entire sales price for the seller's law practice in one lump sum. The seller and purchaser may enter into reasonable arrangements to finance the purchaser's acquisition of the seller's law practice without violating Rules 1.5(e) and 5.4(a). The seller, however, shall have no say regarding the purchaser's conduct of the law practice.

COMMENT

The practice of law is a profession, not merely a business. Clients are not commodities that can be purchased and sold at will. Pursuant to this rule, when a lawyer or an entire firm ceases to practice and another lawyer or firm takes over the representation, the selling lawyer or firm may obtain compensation for the reasonable value of the practice as may withdrawing partners of law firms. See Rules 5.4 and 5.6.

Termination of Practice by the Seller

The requirement that all of the private practice be sold is satisfied if the seller in good faith makes the entire practice available for sale to the purchaser. The fact that a number of the seller's clients decide not to be represented by the purchaser but take their matters elsewhere, therefore, does not result in a violation. Neither does a return to private practice as a result of an unanticipated change in circumstances result in a violation. For example, a lawyer who has sold the practice to accept an appointment to judicial office does not violate the requirement that the sale be attendant to cessation of practice if the lawyer later resumes private practice upon being defeated in a contested or a retention election for the office.

The requirement that the seller cease to engage in the private practice of law does not prohibit employment as a lawyer on the staff of a public agency or a legal services entity which provides legal services to the poor, or as in-house counsel to a business.

The Rule permits a sale attendant upon retirement from the private practice of law in North Carolina. Its provisions, therefore, accommodate the lawyer who sells the practice upon the occasion of moving to another state.

Single Purchaser

The Rule requires a single purchaser unless all matters in particular legal fields are transferred to purchasers who concentrate in those fields. The prohibition against piecemeal sale of a practice protects those clients whose matters are less lucrative and who might find it difficult to secure other counsel if a sale could be limited to substantial fee-generating matters. The purchaser is required to undertake all client matters in the practice, subject to client consent. If, however, the purchaser is unable to undertake all client matters because of a conflict of interest in a specific matter respecting which the purchaser is not permitted by Rule 1.7 or another rule to represent the client, the requirement that there be a single purchaser is nevertheless satisfied.

Client Confidences, Consent and Notice

Written notice of the proposed sale must be sent to all clients who are currently represented by the seller and to all former clients whose files will be transferred to the purchaser. Although it is not required by this rule, the placement of a notice of the proposed sale in a local newspaper of general circulation would supplement the effort to provide notice to clients as required by subpart (c) of the rule.

A lawyer or law firm ceasing to practice cannot be required to remain in practice because some clients cannot be given actual notice of the proposed purchase. Since these clients cannot themselves consent to the purchase or direct any other disposition of their files, the Rule requires an order from a court having jurisdiction authorizing their transfer or other disposition. The Court can be expected to determine whether reasonable efforts to locate the client have been exhausted, and whether the absent client's legitimate interests will be served by authorizing the transfer of the file so that the purchaser may continue the representation. Preservation of client confidences requires that the petition for a court order be considered in camera.

Negotiations between seller and prospective purchaser prior to disclosure of information relating to a specific representation of an identifiable client no more violate the confidentiality provisions of Rule 1.6 than do preliminary discussions concerning the possible association of another lawyer or mergers between firms, with respect to which client consent is not required. Providing the purchaser access to client-specific information relating to the representation and to the file, however, requires client consent. The Rule provides that before such information can be disclosed by the seller to the purchaser, the client must be sent written notice of the contemplated sale, including the identity of the purchaser and any proposed change in the terms of future representation, and must be told that the decision to consent or make other arrangements must be made within 30 days. If nothing is heard from the client within that time, consent to the sale is presumed.

All the elements of client autonomy, including the client's absolute right to discharge a lawyer and transfer the representation to another, survive the sale of the practice. The notice to clients must advise clients that they have a right to retain a lawyer other than the purchaser. In addition, the notice must inform clients that their right to counsel of their choice continues after the sale even though they consent to the transfer of the representation to the purchaser.

Fee Arrangements Between Client and Purchaser

The sale may not be financed by increases in fees charged the clients of the practice. Existing agreements between the seller and the client as to fees and the scope of the work must be honored by the purchaser, unless the client consents after consultation. The purchaser may, however, advise the client that the purchaser will not undertake the representation unless the client consents to pay the higher fees the purchaser usually charges. To prevent client financing of the sale, the higher fee the purchaser may charge must not exceed the fees charged by the purchaser for substantially similar service rendered prior to the initiation of the purchase negotiations.

The purchaser may not intentionally fragment the practice which is the subject of the sale by charging significantly different fees in substantially similar matters. Doing so would make it possible for the purchaser to avoid the obligation to take over the entire practice by charging arbitrarily higher fees for less lucrative matters, thereby increasing the likelihood that those clients would not consent to the new representation.

Other Applicable Ethical Standards

Lawyers participating in the sale of a law practice are subject to the ethical standards applicable to involving another lawyer in the representation of a client. These include, for example, the seller's obligation to exercise competence in identifying a purchaser qualified to assume the practice and the purchaser's obligation to undertake the representation competently (see Rule 1.1); the obligation to avoid disqualifying conflicts, and to secure client consent after consultation for those conflicts which can be agreed to (see Rule 1.7); and the obligation to protect information relating to the representation (see Rules 1.6 and 1.9).

If approval of the substitution of the purchasing attorney for the selling attorney is required by the rules of any tribunal in which a matter is pending, such approval must be obtained before the matter can be included in the sale (see Rule 1.16).

Applicability of the Rule

This Rule applies to the sale of a law practice by representatives of a deceased, disabled or disappeared lawyer. Thus, the seller may be represented by a nonlawyer representative not subject to these Rules. Since, however, no lawyer may participate in a sale of a law practice which does not conform to the requirements of this Rule, the representatives of the seller as well as the purchasing lawyer can be expected to see to it that they are met.

Admission to or retirement from a law partnership or professional association, retirement plans and similar arrangements, and a sale of tangible assets of a law practice, do not constitute a sale or purchase governed by the Rule.

This Rule does not apply to the transfers of legal representation between lawyers when such transfers are unrelated to the sale of a practice.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.17 is similar to Model Rule 1.17. Model Rule 1.17, however, provides that consent to the transfer of the client's matter to the purchaser of the law practice will be presumed 90 days after receipt of notice whereas Rule 1.17 requires only 30 days notice. Rule 1.17 also permits the transfer of matters in different practice areas to different purchasers and requires notice to the client of any conflict of interest. There is no counterpart to Rule 1.17 in the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 6. Opinion rules that the requirements set forth in Rule 1.17 relative to the sale of a law practice to a lawyer who is a stranger to the firm do not apply to the sale of a law practice to lawyers who are current employees of the firm.

Rule 1.18. Sexual relations with clients prohibited.

(a) A lawyer shall not have sexual relations with a current client of the lawyer.

(b) Paragraph (a) shall not apply if a consensual sexual relationship existed between the lawyer and the client before the legal representation commenced.

(c) A lawyer shall not require or demand sexual relations with a client incident to or as a condition of any professional representation.

(d) For purposes of this rule, "sexual relations" means:

(1) Sexual intercourse; or

(2) Any touching of the sexual or other intimate parts of a person or causing such person to touch the sexual or other intimate parts of the lawyer for the purpose of arousing or gratifying the sexual desire of either party.

(e) For purposes of this rule, "lawyer" means any lawyer who assists in the representation of the client but does not include other lawyers in a firm who provide no such assistance.

COMMENT

Rule 1.17, the general rule on conflict of interest, has always prohibited a lawyer from representing a client when the lawyer's ability to competently represent the client may be impaired by the lawyer's other personal or professional commitments. Under the general rule on conflicts and the rule on prohibited transactions (Rule 1.8), relationships with clients, whether personal or financial, that affect a lawyer's ability to exercise his or her independent professional judgment on behalf of a client are closely scrutinized. The rules on conflict of interest have always prohibited the representation of a client if a sexual relationship with the client presents a significant danger to the lawyer's ability to represent the client adequately. The present rule clarifies that a sexual relationship with a client is damaging to the lawyer-client relationship and creates an impermissible conflict of interest which cannot be ameliorated by the consent of the client.

Exploitation of the Lawyer's Fiduciary Position

The relationship between a lawyer and client is a fiduciary relationship in which the lawyer occupies the highest position of trust and confidence. The relationship is also inherently unequal. The client comes to a lawyer with a problem and puts his or her faith in the lawyer's special knowledge, skills, and ability to solve the client's problem. The same factors that lead the client to place his or her trust and reliance in the lawyer also have the potential to place the lawyer in a position of dominance and the client in a position of vulnerability.

A sexual relationship between a lawyer and a client may involve unfair exploitation of the lawyer's fiduciary position. Because of the dependence that so often characterizes the attorney-client relationship, there is a significant possibility that a sexual relationship with a client resulted from the exploitation of the lawyer's dominant position and influence. Moreover, if a lawyer permits the otherwise benign and even recommended client reliance and trust to become the catalyst for a sexual relationship with a client, the lawyer violates one of the most basic ethical obligations, i.e., not to use the trust of the client to the client's disadvantage. This same principle underlies the rules prohibiting the use of client confidences to the disadvantage of the client and the rules that seek to ensure that lawyers do not take financial advantage of their clients. See Rule 1.6 and Rule 1.8.

Impairment of the Ability to Represent the Client Competently

A lawyer must maintain his or her ability to represent a client dispassionately and without impairment to the exercise of independent professional judgment on behalf of the client. The existence of a sexual relationship between lawyer and client under the circumstances proscribed by this rule presents a significant danger that the lawyer's ability to represent the client competently may be adversely affected because of the lawyer's emotional involvement. This emotional involvement has the potential to undercut the objective detachment that is demanded for adequate representation. A sexual relationship also creates the risk that the lawyer will be subject to a conflict of interest. For example, a lawyer who is sexually involved with his or her client risks becoming an adverse witness to his or her own client in a divorce action where there are issues of adultery and child custody to resolve. Finally, a blurred line between the professional and personal relationship may make it difficult to predict to what extent client confidences will be protected by the attorney-client privilege in the law of evidence since client confidences are protected by privilege only when they are imparted in the context of the attorney-client relationship.

No Prejudice to Client

The prohibition upon representing a client with whom a sexual relationship develops applies regardless of the absence of a showing of prejudice to the client and regardless of whether the relationship is consensual.

Prior Consensual Relationship

Sexual relationships that predate the lawyer-client relationship are not prohibited. Issues relating to the exploitation of the fiduciary relationship and client dependency are not present when the sexual relationship exists prior to the commencement of the lawyer-client relationship. However, before proceeding with the representation in these circumstances, the lawyer should be confident that his or her ability to represent the client competently will not be impaired.

No Imputed Disqualification

The other lawyers in a firm are not disqualified from representing a client with whom the lawyer has become intimate. The potential impairment of the lawyer's ability to exercise independent professional judgment on behalf of the client with whom he or she is having a sexual relationship is specific to that lawyer's representation of the client and is unlikely to affect the ability of other members of the firm to competently and dispassionately represent the client.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 1.18 has no counterpart in either the Model Rules or the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. The text of Rule 1.18 is derived from similar rules in other states. The comment to Rule 1.18 draws heavily from the text of ABA Formal Opinion 92-364, "Sexual Relations with Clients," adopted by the ABA Standing Committee on Ethics and Professional Responsibility on July 6, 1992.

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

Attorney engaged in unwanted touching of client in violation of superseded Rule 1.2(b) and (d), prohibiting criminal conduct and conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice. Three Year Suspension, six months active and thirty months stayed upon certain conditions.

94 DHC 1. Attorney made unwanted sexual advances to several female clients and thereby engaged in conflicts of interest and conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice in violation of superseded Rules 5.1 and 1.2, respectively. Disbarred. 95 DHC 13.

COUNSELOR

Rule 2.1. Advisor.

In representing a client, a lawyer shall exercise independent professional judgment and render candid advice. In rendering advice, a lawyer may refer not only to law but to other considerations such as moral, economic, social and political factors, that may be relevant to the client's situation.

Scope of Advice

A client is entitled to straightforward advice expressing the lawyer's honest assessment. Legal advice often involves unpleasant facts and alternatives that a client may be disinclined to confront. In presenting advice, a lawyer endeavors to sustain the client's morale and may put advice in as acceptable a form as honesty permits. However, a lawyer should not be deterred from giving candid advice by the prospect that the advice will be unpalatable to the client.

Advice couched in narrowly legal terms may be of little value to a client, especially where practical considerations, such as cost or effects on other people, are predominant. Purely technical legal advice, therefore, can sometimes be inadequate. It is proper for a lawyer to refer to relevant moral and ethical considerations in giving advice. Although a lawyer is not a moral advisor as such, moral and ethical considerations impinge upon most legal questions and may decisively influence how the law will be applied.

A client may expressly or impliedly ask the lawyer for purely technical advice. When such a request is made by a client experienced in legal matters, the lawyer may accept it at face value. When such a request is made by a client inexperienced in legal matters, however, the lawyer's responsibility as advisor may include indicating that more may be involved than strictly legal considerations.

Matters that go beyond strictly legal questions may also be in the domain of another profession. Family matters can involve problems within the professional competence of psychiatry, clinical psychology or social work; business matters can involve problems within the competence of the accounting profession or of financial specialists. Where consultation with a professional in another field is itself something a competent lawyer would recommend, the lawyer should make such a recommendation. At the same time, a lawyer's advice at its best often consists of recommending a course of action in the face of conflicting recommendations of experts.

Offering Advice

In general, a lawyer is not expected to give advice until asked by the client. However, when a lawyer knows that a client proposes a course of action that is likely to result in substantial adverse legal consequences to the client, duty to the client under Rule 1.4 may require that the lawyer act if the client's course of action is related to the representation. A lawyer ordinarily has no duty to initiate investigation of a client's affairs or to give advice that the client has indicated is unwanted, but a lawyer may initiate advice to a client when doing so appears to be in the client's interest.

Rule 2.2. Intermediary.

(a) A lawyer may act as intermediary between clients if:

(1) the lawyer adequately discloses to each client the implication of the common representation, including the advantages and risks involved, and the effect on the attorney-client privileges and confidentiality, and obtains each client's consent to the common representation;

(2) the lawyer reasonably believes that the matter can be resolved on terms compatible with the clients' best interests, that each client will be able to make adequately informed decisions in the matter and that there is little risk of material prejudice to the interests of any of the clients if the contemplated resolution is unsuccessful; and

(3) the lawyer reasonably believes that the common representation can be undertaken impartially and without improper effect on other responsibilities the lawyer has to any of the clients.

(b) While acting as intermediary, the lawyer shall consult with each client concerning the decisions to be made and the considerations relevant in making them, so that each client can make adequately informed decisions.

(c) A lawyer shall withdraw as intermediary if any of the clients so requests, or if any of the conditions stated in paragraph (a) is no longer satisfied. Upon withdrawal, the lawyer shall not continue to represent any of the clients in the matter that was the subject of the intermediation.

COMMENT

A lawyer acts as intermediary under this Rule when the lawyer represents two or more parties with potentially conflicting interests. A key factor in defining the relationship is whether the parties share responsibility for the lawyer's fee, but the common representation may be inferred from other circumstances. Because confusion can arise as to the lawyer's role where each party is not separately represented, it is important that the lawyer make clear the relationship.

The Rule does not apply to a lawyer acting as arbitrator or mediator between or among parties who are not clients of the lawyer, even where the lawyer has been appointed with the concurrence of the parties. In performing such a role, the lawyer may be subject to applicable codes of ethics, such as the Code of Ethics for Arbitration in Commercial Disputes prepared by a joint Committee of the American Bar Association and the American Arbitration Association.

A lawyer acts as intermediary in seeking to establish or adjust a relationship between clients on an amicable and mutually advantageous basis; for example, in helping to organize a business in which two or more clients are entrepreneurs, working out the financial reorganization of an enterprise in which two or more clients have an interest, arranging a property distribution in settlement of an estate or mediating a dispute between clients. The lawyer seeks to resolve potentially conflicting interests by developing the parties' mutual interests. The alternative can be that each party may have to obtain separate representation, with the possibility in some situations of incurring additional cost, complication or even litigation. Given these and other relevant factors, all the clients may prefer that the lawyer act as intermediary.

In considering whether to act as intermediary between clients, a lawyer should be mindful that if the intermediation fails, the result can be additional cost, embarrassment and recrimination. In some situations the risk of failure is so great that intermediation is plainly impossible. For example, a lawyer cannot undertake common representation of clients between whom contentious litigation is imminent or who contemplate contentious negotiations. More generally, if the relationship between the parties has already assumed definite antagonism, the possibility that the clients' interests can be adjusted by intermediation ordinarily is not very good.

The appropriateness of intermediation can depend on its form. Forms of intermediation range from informal arbitration, where each client's case is presented by the respective client and the lawyer decides the outcome, to mediation, to common representation where the clients' interests are substantially though not entirely compatible. One form may be appropriate in circumstances where another would not. Other relevant factors are whether the lawyer subsequently will represent both parties on a continuing basis and whether the situation involves creating a relationship between the parties or terminating one.

Confidentiality and Privilege

A particularly important factor in determining the appropriateness of intermediation is the effect on client-lawyer confidentiality and the attorney-client privilege. In a common representation, the lawyer is still required both to keep each client adequately informed and to maintain confidentiality of information relating to the representation. See Rules 1.4 and 1.6. Complying with both requirements while acting as intermediary requires a delicate balance. If the balance cannot be maintained, the common representation is improper. With regard to the attorney-client privilege, the prevailing rule is that as between commonly represented clients the privilege does not attach. Hence, it must be assumed that if litigation eventuates between the clients, the privilege will not protect any such communications, and the clients should be so advised.

Since the lawyer is required to be impartial between commonly represented clients, inter-mediation is improper when that impartiality cannot be maintained. For example, a lawyer who has represented one of the clients for a long period and in a variety of matters might have difficulty being impartial between that client and one to whom the lawyer has only recently been introduced.

Consultation

In acting as intermediary between clients, the lawyer is required to consult with the clients on the implications of doing so, and proceed only upon consent based on such a consultation. The consultation should make clear that the lawyer's role is not that of partisanship normally expected in other circumstances. The lawyer should explain to the clients the effect of the common representation upon the lawyer's duty of confidentiality and the attorney-client privilege. The lawyer should also disclose that the lawyer must withdraw from the representation of both clients in the event that their interests prove to be in irreconcilable conflict.

Paragraph (b) is an application of the principle expressed in Rule 1.4. Where the lawyer is intermediary, the clients ordinarily must assume greater responsibility for decisions than when each client is independently represented.

Withdrawal

Common representation does not diminish the rights of each client in the client-lawyer relationship. Each has the right to loyal and diligent representation, the right to discharge the lawyer as stated in Rule 1.16, and the protection of Rule 1.9 concerning obligations to a former client.

Rule 2.3. Evaluation for use by third persons.

(a) A lawyer may undertake an evaluation of a matter affecting a client for the use of someone other than the client if:

- (1) the lawyer reasonably believes that making the evaluation is compatible with other aspects of the lawyer's relationship with the client; and
- (2) the client so requests or the client consents after consultation.

(b) Except as disclosure is required in connection with a report of an evaluation, information relating to the evaluation is otherwise protected by Rule 1.6.

COMMENT

Definition

An evaluation may be performed at the client's direction for the primary purpose of establishing information for the benefit of third parties; for example, an opinion concerning the title of property rendered at the behest of a vendor for the information of a prospective purchaser, or at the behest of a borrower for the information of a prospective lender. In some situations, the evaluation may be required by a government agency; for example, an opinion concerning the legality of the securities registered for sale under the securities laws. In other instances, the evaluation may be required by a third person, such as a purchaser of a business.

Lawyers for the government may be called upon to give a formal opinion on the legality of contemplated government agency action. In making such an evaluation, the government lawyer acts at the behest of the government as the client for the purpose of establishing the limits of the agency's authorized activity. Such an opinion is to be distinguished from confidential legal advice given agency officials. The critical question is whether the opinion is to be made public.

A legal evaluation should be distinguished from an investigation of a person with whom the lawyer does not have a client-lawyer relationship. For example, a lawyer retained by a purchaser to analyze a vendor's title to property does not have a client-lawyer relationship with the vendor. So also, an investigation into a person's affairs by a government lawyer, or by special counsel employed by the government, is not an evaluation as that term is used in this Rule. The question is whether the lawyer is retained by the person whose affairs are being examined. When the lawyer is retained by that person, the general rules concerning loyalty to client and preservation of confidences apply, which is not the case if the lawyer is retained by someone else. For this reason, it is essential to identify the person by whom the lawyer is retained. This should be made clear not only to the person under examination, but also to others to whom the results are to be made available.

Duty to Third Person

When the evaluation is intended for the information or use of a third person, a legal duty to that person may or may not arise. That legal question is beyond the scope of this Rule. However, since such an evaluation involves a departure from the normal client-lawyer relationship, careful analysis of the situation is required. The lawyer must be satisfied as a matter of professional judgment that making the evaluation is compatible with other functions undertaken on behalf of the client. For example, if the lawyer is acting as advocate in defending the client against charges of fraud, it would normally be incompatible with that responsibility for the lawyer to perform an evaluation for others concerning the same or a related transaction. Assuming no such impediment is apparent, however, the lawyer should advise the client of the implications of the evaluation, particularly the lawyer's responsibilities to third persons and the duty to disseminate the findings.

Access to and Disclosure of Information

The quality of an evaluation depends on the freedom and extent of the investigation upon which it is based. Ordinarily a lawyer should have whatever latitude of investigation seems necessary as a matter of professional judgment. Under some circumstances, however, the terms of the evaluation may be limited. For example, certain issues or sources may be categorically excluded, or the scope of search may be limited by time constraints or the noncooperation of persons having relevant information. Any such limitations which are material to the evaluation should be described in the report. If after a lawyer has commenced an evaluation, the client refuses to comply with the terms upon which it was understood the evaluation was to have been made, the lawyer's obligations are determined by law, having reference to the terms of the client's agreement and the surrounding circumstances.

Financial Auditors' Requests for Information

When a question concerning the legal situation of a client arises at the instance of the client's financial auditor and the question is referred to the lawyer, the lawyer's response may be made in accordance with procedures recognized in the legal profession. Such a procedure is set forth in the American Bar Association Statement of Policy Regarding lawyers' Responses to Auditors' Requests for Information, adopted in 1975.

ADVOCATE

Rule 3.1. Meritorious claims and contentions.

A lawyer shall not bring or defend a proceeding, or assert or controvert an issue therein, unless there is a basis for doing so that is not frivolous, which includes a good faith argument for an extension, modification or reversal of existing law. A lawyer for the defendant in a criminal proceeding, or the respondent in a proceeding that could result in incarceration, may nevertheless so defend the proceeding as to require that every element of the case be established.

COMMENT

The advocate has a duty to use legal procedure for the fullest benefit of the client's cause, but also a duty not to abuse legal procedure. The law, both procedural and substantive, establishes the limits within which an advocate may proceed. However, the law is not always clear and is never static. Accordingly, in determining the proper scope of advocacy, account must be taken of the law's ambiguities and potential for change.

The filing of an action or defense or similar action taken for a client is not frivolous merely because the facts have not first been fully substantiated or because the lawyer expects to develop vital evidence only by discovery. Such action is not frivolous even though the lawyer believes that the client's position ultimately will not prevail. The action is frivolous, however, if the client desires to have the action taken primarily for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring a person, or, if the lawyer is unable either to make a good faith argument on the merits of the action taken or to support the action taken by a good faith argument for an extension, modification or reversal of existing law.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.1 is identical to Model Rule 3.1 and similar to Rule 7.2(a)(1) and (2) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

The attorney filed pleadings which were not well grounded in fact or law and falsely certified to the court that he had served the pleadings on opposing counsel. The client later discharged the attorney, who refused to withdraw, refused to return the client's file, and insisted on charging a contingent fee, rather than the reasonable value of his services. Two Year Suspension, with reinstatement conditioned on the attorney passing the bar examination. 90 DHC 22.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 122. An attorney representing the defendant in divorce action, when advised by the client that parties have not been separated a year, must file an answer denying the allegation of separation even though the client does not wish to contest the divorce.

CPR 321. It is improper for an attorney to file motions and pleadings for the mere purpose of delay.

Rule 3.2. Expediting litigation.

A lawyer shall make reasonable efforts to expedite litigation consistent with the interests of the client.

COMMENT

Dilatory practices bring the administration of justice into disrepute. Delay should not be indulged merely for the convenience of the advocates, or for the purpose of frustrating an opposing party's attempt to obtain rightful redress or repose. It is not a justification that similar conduct is often tolerated by the bench and bar. The question is whether a competent lawyer acting in good faith would regard the course of action as having some substantial purpose other than delay. Realizing financial or other benefit from otherwise improper delay in litigation is not a legitimate interest of the client.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.2 is identical to

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 321. It is improper for an attorney to file motions and pleadings for the mere purpose of delay.

Rule 3.3. Candor toward the tribunal.

- (a) A lawyer shall not knowingly:
  - (1) make a false statement of material fact or law to a tribunal;
  - (2) fail to disclose a material fact to a tribunal when disclosure is necessary to avoid assisting a criminal or fraudulent act by the client;
  - (3) fail to disclose to the tribunal legal authority in the controlling jurisdiction known to the lawyer to be directly adverse to the position of the client and not disclosed by opposing counsel; or
  - (4) offer evidence that the lawyer knows to be false. If a lawyer has offered material evidence and comes to know of its falsity, the lawyer shall take reasonable remedial measures.
- (b) The duties stated in paragraph (a) continue to the conclusion of the proceeding, and apply even if compliance requires disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6.
- (c) A lawyer may refuse to offer evidence that the lawyer reasonably believes is false.
- (d) In an ex parte proceeding, a lawyer shall inform the tribunal of all material facts known to the lawyer which will enable the tribunal to make an informed decision, whether or not the facts are adverse.

COMMENT

The advocate's task is to present the client's case with persuasive force. Performance of that duty while maintaining confidences of the client is qualified by the advocate's duty of candor to the tribunal. However, an advocate does not vouch for the evidence submitted in a cause; the tribunal is responsible for assessing its probative value.

Representations by a Lawyer

An advocate is responsible for pleadings and other documents prepared for litigation, but is usually not required to have personal knowledge of matters asserted therein, for litigation documents ordinarily present assertions by the client, or by someone on the client's behalf, and not assertions by the lawyer. Compare Rule 3.1. However, an assertion purporting to be on the lawyer's own knowledge, as in an affidavit by the lawyer or in a statement in open court, may properly be made only when the lawyer knows the assertion is true or believes it to be true on the basis of a reasonably diligent inquiry. There are circumstances where failure to make a disclosure is the equivalent of an affirmative misrepresentation. The obligation prescribed in Rule 1.2(d) not to counsel a client to commit or assist the client in committing a fraud applies in litigation. Regarding compliance with Rule 1.2(d), see the Comment to that Rule. See also the comment to Rule 8.4(b).

Misleading Legal Argument

Legal argument based on a knowingly false representation of law constitutes dishonesty toward the tribunal. A lawyer is not required to make a disinterested exposition of the law, but must recognize the existence of pertinent legal authorities. Furthermore, as stated in paragraph (a)(3), an advocate has a duty to disclose directly adverse authority in the controlling jurisdiction which has not been disclosed by the opposing party. The underlying concept is that legal argument is a discussion seeking to determine the legal premises properly applicable to the case.

False Evidence

When evidence that a lawyer knows to be false is provided by a person who is not the client, the lawyer must refuse to offer it regardless of the client's wishes. A lawyer who receives information clearly establishing that a person other than the client has perpetrated fraud upon a tribunal shall promptly reveal the fraud to the tribunal.

When false evidence is offered by the client, however, a conflict may arise between the lawyer's duty to keep the client's revelations confidential and the duty of candor to the court. Upon ascertaining that material evidence is false, the lawyer should seek to persuade the client that the evidence should not be offered or, if it has been offered, that its false character should immediately be disclosed. If the persuasion is ineffective, the lawyer must take reasonable remedial measures.

Perjury by a Criminal Defendant

Whether an advocate for a criminally accused has a duty of disclosure has been intensely debated. While it is agreed that the lawyer should seek to persuade the client to refrain from perjurious testimony, there has been dispute concerning the lawyer's duty when that persuasion fails. If the confrontation with the client occurs before trial, the lawyer ordinarily can withdraw. Withdrawal before trial may not be possible, however, either because trial is imminent, or because the confrontation with the client does not take place until the trial itself, or because no other counsel is available.

The most difficult situation, therefore, arises in a criminal case where the accused insists on testifying when the lawyer knows that the testimony is perjurious. The lawyer's effort to rectify the situation can increase the likelihood of the client's being convicted as well as opening the possibility of a prosecution for perjury. On the other hand, if the lawyer does not exercise control over the proof, the lawyer participates, although in a merely passive way, in deception of the court.

Three resolutions of this dilemma have been proposed. One is to permit the accused to testify by a narrative without guidance through the lawyer's questioning. This compromises both contending principles; it exempts the lawyer from the duty to disclose false evidence but subjects the client to an implicit disclosure of information imparted to counsel. Another suggested resolution, of relatively recent origin, is that the advocate be entirely excused from the duty to reveal perjury if the perjury is that of the client. This is a coherent solution but makes the advocate a knowing instrument of perjury.

The other resolution of the dilemma is that the lawyer may reveal the client's perjury if necessary to rectify the situation. A criminal accused has a right to the assistance of an advocate, a right to testify and a right of confidential communication with counsel. However, an accused should not have a right to assistance of counsel in committing perjury. Furthermore, an advocate has an obligation, not only in professional ethics but under the law as well, to avoid implication in the commission of perjury or other falsification of evidence. See Rule 1.2(d).

Remedial Measures

If perjured testimony or false evidence has been offered, the advocate's proper course ordinarily is to remonstrate with the client confidentially. If that fails, the advocate should seek to withdraw if that will remedy the situation. If withdrawal will not remedy the situation or is impossible, the advocate may make disclosure to the court. In the event of such disclosure, it is for the court then to determine what should be done — making a statement about the matter to the trier of fact, ordering a mistrial or perhaps nothing. If the false testimony was that of the client, the client may controvert the lawyer's version of their communication if the lawyer discloses the situation to the court. If there is an issue whether the client has committed perjury, the lawyer cannot represent the client in resolution of the issue, and a mistrial may be unavoidable. An unscrupulous client might in this way attempt to produce a series of mistrials and thus escape prosecution. However, a second such encounter could be construed as a deliberate abuse of the right to counsel and, as such, a waiver of the right to further representation.

Constitutional Requirements

The definition of the lawyer's ethical duty when serving as defense counsel in a criminal case may be qualified by constitutional provisions for due process and the right to counsel in criminal cases. These provisions have been construed to require that counsel present an accused as a witness if the accused wishes to testify, even if counsel knows the testimony will be false. The obligation of the advocate under these Rules is subordinate to such a constitutional requirement.

Duration of Obligation

A practical time limit on the obligation to rectify the presentation of false evidence has to be established. The conclusion of the proceeding is a reasonably definite point for the termination of the obligation.

Refusing to Offer Proof Believed to Be False

Generally speaking, a lawyer has authority to refuse to offer testimony or other proof that the lawyer believes is untrustworthy. Offering such proof may reflect adversely on the lawyer's ability to discriminate in the quality of evidence and thus impair the lawyer's effectiveness as an advocate. In criminal cases, however, a lawyer may be denied this authority by constitutional requirements governing the right to counsel.

Ex Parte Proceedings

Ordinarily, an advocate has the limited responsibility of presenting one side of the matter that a tribunal should consider in reaching a decision; the conflicting position is expected to be presented by the opposing party. However, in an ex parte proceeding, such as an application for a temporary restraining order, there is no balance of presentation by opposing advocates. The object of an ex parte proceeding is nevertheless to yield a substantially just result. The judge has an affirmative responsibility to accord the absent party just consideration. The lawyer for the represented party has the correlative ative duty to make disclosures of material facts known to the lawyer and that the lawyer reasonably believes are necessary to an informed decision.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.3 is identical to Model Rule 3.3. Comment [10] to Rule 3.3, however, clarifies that the lawyer may, but is not required to disclose client perjury, whereas comment [10] to Model Rule 3.3 implies that disclosure is required. Rule 3.3 generally corresponds to Rule 7.2 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. The superseded rule requires a lawyer who learns of a client's perjury, to withdraw from the litigation if the client refuses to rectify the fraud, but does not permit disclosure of client perjury. In a significant departure from the superseded (1985) Rules, Rule 3.3 requires a lawyer in an ex parte proceeding to inform the court of all material facts known to the lawyer, even those adverse to the client's position.

Legal Periodicals. — For article on the criminal defendant who proposes or commits perjury, see 17 N.C. Cent. L.J. 157 (1988).

CASE NOTES

Preparation of Witness. — It is not improper for an attorney to prepare his witness for trial, to explain the applicable law in any given situation and to go over before trial the attorney's questions and the witness' answers so that the witness will be ready for his appearance in court, will be more at ease because he knows what to expect, and will give his testimony in the most effective manner he can. Such preparation is the mark of a good trial lawyer, and is to be commended because it promotes more efficient administration of justice and saves court time. Nothing improper occurs so long as the attorney prepares the witness to give the witness' testimony at trial and not the testimony that the attorney has placed in the witness' mouth or false or perjured testimony. State v. McCormick, 298 N.C. 788, 259 S.E.2d 880 (1979).

Client Perjury. — Where an attorney learns, prior to trial, that his client intends to commit perjury or participate in the perpetration of a fraud upon the court he must withdraw from representation of the client, seeking leave of the court, if necessary. The right of a client to effective counsel in any case (civil or criminal) does not include the right to compel counsel to knowingly assist or participate in the commission of perjury or the creation or presentation of false evidence. In re Palmer, 296 N.C. 638, 252 S.E.2d 784 (1979).

Concealment of Material Facts. — Intentionally encouraging the concealment of material facts relevant to the identity of the driver in a driving under the influence prosecution is prejudicial to the administration of justice. Such conduct raises serious doubts as to the attorney's desire to bring about a just result in such a prosecution and adversely reflects on the attorney's fitness to practice law. North Carolina State Bar v. Graves, 50 N.C. App. 450, 274 S.E.2d 396 (1981).

Failure to Inform Court of Opposing Party's Address. — An attorney clearly engaged in conduct involving fraud, dishonesty, deceit and misrepresentation when, in a divorce action, she failed to inform the court of a letter which contained the opposing party's return address, while at the same time presenting to the court an affidavit she had drafted in which her client swore that her husband's whereabouts were unknown and could not with due diligence be ascertained. North Carolina State Bar v. Wilson, 74 N.C. App. 777, 330 S.E.2d 280 (1985).

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

The attorney knowingly used perjured testimony in an attempt to receive a set-off for federal estate taxes due; failed to keep adequate records and accounts for an incompetent client; perpetrated a fraud upon a Florida court by false testimony; and failed to give a complete and timely accounting to his incompetent client's personal representative. Disbarred. 81 DHC 2.

The attorney filed pleadings which were not well grounded in fact or law and falsely certified to the court that he had served the pleadings on opposing counsel. The client later discharged the attorney, who refused to withdraw, refused to return the client's file, and insisted on charging a contingent fee, rather than the reasonable value of his services. Two Year Suspension, with reinstatement conditioned on the attorney passing the bar examination. 90 DHC 22.

The attorney misrepresented to an administrative law judge and a state agency that he had been advised by the former chief administrative law judge to take certain actions on behalf of his client when, in fact, the attorney had not discussed the client's case with the former judge. Censure. 92 DHC 3.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

99 Formal Ethics Opinion 16 Opinion rules that a lawyer may not participate in the presentation of a consent judgment to a court if the lawyer knows that the consent judgment is based upon false information.

CPR 92. An attorney who knows that criminal clients gave arresting officers fictitious names should call upon the clients to disclose their true identities to the court and, if they refuse, seek to withdraw.

CPR 122. An attorney representing the defendant in divorce action, when advised by the client that parties have not been separated a year, must file an answer denying the allegation of separation even though the client does not wish to contest the divorce.

CPR 284. An attorney may seek alimony for a wife although he has evidence of the wife's adultery so long as he does not have to offer perjured testimony or other false evidence.

RPC 33. If an attorney's client testifies falsely regarding a material matter, such as his or her name or criminal record, the attorney must call upon the client to correct the testimony. If the client refuses, the attorney must seek to withdraw in accordance with the rules of the tribunal.

RPC 203. Dismissal of an action alone is not sufficient to rectify the perjury of a client in a deposition and the lawyer must demand that the client inform the opposing party of the falsity of the deposition testimony or, if the client refuses, withdraw from the representation.

Revised 98 Formal Ethics Opinion 1. Opinion rules that a lawyer representing a client in a social security disability hearing is not required to inform the administrative law judge of material adverse facts known to the lawyer.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 5. Opinion rules that a defense lawyer may remain silent while the prosecutor presents an inaccurate driving record to the court provided the lawyer and client did not criminally or fraudulently misrepresent the driving record to the prosecutor or the court, and further provided, that on application for a limited driving privilege, there is no misrepresentation to the court about the client's prior driving record.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 20. Opinion rules that, subject to a statute prohibiting the withholding of such information, a lawyer's duty to disclose confidential client information to a bankruptcy court ends when the case is closed although the debtor's duty to report new property continues for 180 days.

Rule 3.4. Fairness to opposing party and counsel.

A lawyer shall not:

(a) unlawfully obstruct another party's access to evidence or unlawfully alter, destroy or conceal a document or other material having potential evidentiary value. A lawyer shall not counsel or assist another person to do any such act;

(b) falsify evidence, counsel or assist a witness to testify falsely, counsel or assist a witness to hide or leave the jurisdiction for the purpose of being unavailable as a witness, or offer an inducement to a witness that is prohibited by law;

(c) knowingly disobey or advise a client to disobey a rule or ruling of a tribunal except a lawyer acting in good faith may take appropriate steps to test the validity of such a rule or ruling;

(d) in pretrial procedure, make a frivolous discovery request or fail to make reasonably diligent effort to comply with a legally proper discovery request by an opposing party;

(e) in trial, allude to any matter that the lawyer does not reasonably believe is relevant or that will not be supported by admissible evidence, assert personal knowledge of facts in issue except when testifying as a witness, ask an irrelevant question that is intended to degrade a witness, or state a personal opinion as to the justness of a cause, the credibility of a witness, the culpability of a civil litigant or the guilt or innocence of an accused; or

(f) request a person other than a client to refrain from voluntarily giving relevant information to another party unless:

(1) the person is a relative or a managerial employee or other agent of a client; and

(2) the lawyer reasonably believes that the person's interests will not be adversely affected by refraining from giving such information.

COMMENT

The procedure of the adversary system contemplates that the evidence in a case is to be marshalled competitively by the contending parties. Fair competition in the adversary system is secured by prohibitions against destruction or concealment of evidence, improperly influencing witnesses, obstructive tactics in discovery procedure, and the like.

Documents and other items of evidence are often essential to establish a claim or defense. Subject to evidentiary privileges, the right of an opposing party, including the government, to obtain evidence through discovery or subpoena is an important procedural right. The exercise of that right can be frustrated if relevant material is altered, concealed or destroyed. Applicable law in many jurisdictions makes it an offense to destroy material for purpose of impairing its availability in a pending proceeding or one whose commencement can be foreseen. Falsifying evidence is also generally a criminal offense. Paragraph (a) applies to evidentiary material generally, including computerized information.

With regard to paragraph (b), it is not improper to pay a witness's expenses, including lost income, or to compensate an expert witness on terms permitted by law. The common law rule in most jurisdictions is that it is improper to pay an occurrence witness any fee for testifying and that it is improper to pay an expert witness a contingent fee.

Rules of evidence and procedure are designed to lead to just decisions and are part of the framework of the law. Paragraph (c) permits a lawyer to take steps in good faith and within the framework of the law to test the validity of rules, however, the lawyer is not justified in consciously violating such rules and the lawyer should be diligent in the effort to guard against the unintentional violation of them. As examples, a lawyer should subscribe to or verify only those pleadings that the lawyer believes are in compliance with applicable law and rules; a lawyer should not make any prefatory statement before a tribunal in regard to the purported facts of the case on trial unless the lawyer believes that the statement will be supported by admissible evidence; a lawyer should not ask a witness a question solely for the purpose of harassing or embarrassing the witness; and a lawyer should not by subterfuge put before a jury matters which it cannot properly consider.

In order to bring about just and informed decisions, evidentiary and procedural rules have been established by tribunals to permit the inclusion of relevant evidence and argument and the exclusion of all other considerations. The expression by a lawyer of a personal opinion as to the justness of a cause, as to the credibility of a witness, as to the culpability of a civil litigant, and as to the guilt or innocence of an accused is not a proper subject for argument to the trier of fact and is prohibited by paragraph (e). However, a lawyer may argue, on an analysis of the evidence, for any position or conclusion with respect to any of the foregoing matters.

Paragraph (f) permits a lawyer to advise managerial employees of a client to refrain from giving information to another party because the statements of employees with managerial responsibility may be imputed to the client. See also Rule 4.2.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.4 is substantially similar to Model Rule 3.4. Rule 3.4 generally corresponds to provisions of Rules 7.2(a)(7), 7.6 and 7.9 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

CASE NOTES

Interjection of Personal Opinion. — Counsel may not, by argument or cross-examination, place before the jury incompetent and prejudicial matters by injecting his own knowledge, beliefs and personal opinions not supported by the evidence. State v. Locklear, 294 N.C. 210, 241 S.E.2d 65 (1978).

Interjection of Unsupported Knowledge and Belief. — Counsel may not, by agreement or cross-examination, place before the jury incompetent and prejudicial matters by injecting his own knowledge, beliefs and personal opinions not supported by the evidence. State v. Locklear, 294 N.C. 210, 241 S.E.2d 65 (1978).

Preparation of Witness. — It is not improper for an attorney to prepare his witness for trial, to explain the applicable law in any given situation and to go over before trial the attorney's questions and the witness' answers so that the witness will be ready for his appearance in court, will be more at ease because he knows what to expect, and will give his testimony in the most effective manner he can. Such preparation is the mark of a good trial lawyer, and is to be commended because it promotes more efficient administration of justice and saves court time. Nothing improper occurs so long as the attorney prepares the witness to give the witness' testimony at trial and not the testimony that the attorney has placed in the witness' mouth or false or perjured testimony. State v. McCormick, 298 N.C. 788, 259 S.E.2d 880 (1979).

Informing a potential witness to plead the U.S. Const., Amend. V or to stay away from court unless subpoenaed is not unethical. Certainly no rule prevents an attorney from informing a potential witness of his legal rights. North Carolina State Bar v. Graves, 50 N.C. App. 450, 274 S.E.2d 396 (1981).

Ethical transgressions by trial counsel do not always constitute legal error. State v. Sanders, 303 N.C. 608, 281 S.E.2d 7, cert. denied, 454 U.S. 973, 102 S. Ct. 523, 70 L.Ed.2d 392 (1981).

Argument Containing Personal Belief. — The defendant contended on appeal that the prosecutor's argument to the jury contained the prosecutor's personal belief as to the defendant's guilt in violation of the Code. The court held that the statements could be interpreted in several ways, but that even if the prosecutor's argument had contained such a statement, the violation did not entitle the defendant to a new trial. State v. Sanders, 303 N.C. 608, 281 S.E.2d 7, cert. denied, 454 U.S. 973, 102 S. Ct. 523, 70 L. Ed. 2d 392 (1981).

Argument That Testifying Officers Could Be Prosecuted If They Lied. — A prosecutor who, in closing, made arguments based on matters outside the record by suggesting that the officers who testified against the defendant could be prosecuted for perjury and fired from their jobs, and lose their pensions if they lied, placed the jurors in the moral dilemma of either convicting the defendant or, in the alternative, causing the officers to suffer the grievous penalties suggested by the prosecutor. The argument was, therefore, improper and the defendant was entitled to a new trial. State v. Potter, 69 N.C. App. 199, 316 S.E.2d 359, disc. rev. denied, 312 N.C. 624, 323 S.E.2d 925 (1984).

Interference with Prosecuting Witness. — Immediately prior to trial, the defense attorney negotiated an agreement between the prosecuting witness and the accused, which called for his client to pay for damages to a car and a hospital bill in return for a promise not to press charges. He also told the witness she could leave the courthouse because her testimony would not be needed. The attorney's efforts on behalf of his client went far beyond representing the client "zealously within the bounds of the law" and constituted a direct attempt to interfere with a State's witness who was under subpoena to testify in a case. State v. Rogers, 68 N.C. App. 358, 315 S.E.2d 492, cert. denied, 311 N.C. 767, 319 S.E.2d 284 (1984), appeal dismissed, 469 U.S. 1101, 105 S. Ct. 769, 83 L. Ed. 2d 766 (1985).

Failure to Inform Court of Opposing Party's Address. — An attorney clearly engaged in conduct involving fraud, dishonesty, deceit and misrepresentation when, in a divorce action, she failed to inform the court of a letter which contained the opposing party's return address, while at the same time presenting to the court an affidavit she had drafted in which her client swore that her husband's whereabouts were unknown and could not with due diligence be ascertained. North Carolina State Bar v. Wilson, 74 N.C. App. 777, 330 S.E.2d 280 (1985).

Interference with Prosecuting Witness. — Immediately prior to trial, the defense attorney negotiated an agreement between the prosecuting witness and the accused which called for his client to pay for damages to the witness' car and the witness' hospital bills in return for a promise not to press charges. He also told the witness she could leave the courthouse because her testimony would not be needed. The defendant attorney's efforts on behalf of his client went far beyond representing the client "zealously within the bounds of the law" and constituted a direct attempt to interfere with a State's witness who was under subpoena to testify in a named case. State v. Rogers, 68 N.C. App. 358, 315 S.E.2d 492, cert. denied, 311 N.C.

Prosecutor's questioning of capital murder defendant's mother about locks placed on the outside of defendant's bedroom door was highly prejudicial and of no probative value; however, such error was harmless where the question of defendant's guilt was strong, the trial court properly sustained defendant's objections to the questions, and the mother testified that she was not afraid of her son. State v. Payne, 328 N.C. 377, 402 S.E.2d 582 (1991).

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

The attorney advised a potential State's witness that his client would not testify against him if he did not testify against his client and also counseled the witness that he could plead the U.S. Const., Amend. V. Public Censure. 79 DHC 10.

The attorney knowingly used perjured testimony in an attempt to receive a set-off for federal estate taxes due; failed to keep adequate records and accounts for an incompetent client; perpetrated a fraud upon a Florida court by false testimony; and failed to give a complete and timely accounting to his incompetent client's personal representative. Disbarred. 81 DHC 2.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 2. An attorney generally does not need the consent of the adverse party to talk to witnesses.

CPR 121. If a defendant is not represented, the attorney for the plaintiff in a divorce action may send the defendant a copy of the complaint, and a summons for acceptance of service; but may not send a prepared answer or a consent order.

CPR 284. An attorney may seek alimony for a wife although he has evidence of the wife's adultery so long as he does not have to offer perjured testimony or other false evidence.

CPR 340. An attorney may represent a client with a malpractice claim even though the client has entered a contingent fee contract with a medical consultant for case evaluation, preparation and expert witness location, so long as the consultant does not present evidence and the compensation of the expert witness provided by the consultant is not contingent upon the outcome of the litigation.

RPC 225. The lawyer for a defendant in criminal and civil actions arising out of the same event may seek the cooperation of a crime victim on a plea agreement provided the settlement of the victim's civil claim against the defendant is not contingent upon the content of the testimony of the victim or the outcome of the case.

Rule 3.5. Impartiality and decorum of the tribunal.

(a) A lawyer shall not:

(1) seek to influence a judge, juror, prospective juror or other official by means prohibited by law;

(2) communicate ex parte with a juror or prospective juror except as permitted by law;

(3) communicate ex parte with a judge or other official except

(i) in the course of official proceedings;

(ii) in writing, if a copy of the writing is furnished simultaneously to the opposing party;

(iii) orally, upon adequate notice to opposing party; or

(iv) as otherwise permitted by law.

(4) engage in conduct intended to disrupt a tribunal; including:

(i) failing to comply with known local customs of courtesy or practice of the bar or a particular tribunal without giving opposing counsel timely notice of the intent not to comply;

(ii) engaging in undignified or discourteous conduct that is degrading to a tribunal;

(iii) intentionally or habitually violating any established rule of procedure or evidence; or

(5) after discharge of the jury, ask questions of or make comments to a juror that are calculated merely to harass or embarrass the juror or to influence the juror's actions in future jury service.

(b) All restrictions imposed by this rule also apply to communications with or investigations of members of the family of a venireman or a juror.

(c) A lawyer shall reveal promptly to the court improper conduct by a venireman or a juror, or by another toward a venireman or a juror or a member of his or her family, of which the lawyer has knowledge.

COMMENT

Many forms of improper influence upon a tribunal are proscribed by criminal law. Others are specified in the North Carolina Code of Judicial conduct, with which an advocate should be familiar. A lawyer is required to avoid contributing to a violation of provisions. The rule also prohibits gifts of substantial value to judges or other officials of a tribunal and stating or implying an ability to influence improperly a public official.

To safeguard the impartiality that is essential to the judicial process, veniremen and jurors should be protected against extraneous influences. When impartiality is present, public confidence in the judicial system is enhanced. There should be no extrajudicial communication with veniremen prior to trial or with jurors during trial by or on behalf of a lawyer connected with the case. Furthermore, a lawyer who is not connected with the case should not communicate with a venireman or a juror about the case. After the trial, communication by a lawyer with a juror is permitted so long as the lawyer refrains from asking questions or making comments that tend to harass or embarrass the juror or to influence actions of the juror in future cases. Were a lawyer to be prohibited from communicating after trial with a juror, the lawyer could not ascertain if the verdict might be subject to legal challenge, in which event the invalidity of a verdict might go undetected. When an extrajudicial communication by a lawyer with a juror is permitted by law, it should be made considerately and with deference to the personal feelings of the juror.

Vexatious or harassing investigations of veniremen or jurors seriously impair the effectiveness of our jury system. For this reason, a lawyer or anyone on the lawyer's behalf who conducts an investigation of veniremen or jurors should act with circumspection and restraint.

Communications with or investigations of members of families of veniremen or jurors by a lawyer or by anyone on the lawyer's behalf are subject to the restrictions imposed upon the lawyer with respect to the lawyer's communications with or investigations of veniremen and jurors.

Because of the duty to aid in preserving the integrity of the jury system, a lawyer who learns of improper conduct by or towards a venireman, a juror or a member of the family of either should make a prompt report to the court regarding such conduct.

The impartiality of a public servant in our legal system may be impaired by the receipt of gifts or loans. A lawyer, therefore, is never justified in making a gift or a loan to a judge, a hearing officer, or an official or employee of a tribunal.

All litigants and lawyers should have access to tribunals on an equal basis. Generally, in adversary proceedings a lawyer should not communicate with a judge relative to a matter pending before, or which is to be brought before, a tribunal over which the judge presides in circumstances which might have the effect or give the appearance of granting undue advantage to one party. For example, a lawyer should not communicate with a tribunal by a writing unless a copy thereof is promptly delivered to opposing counsel or to the adverse party if unrepresented. Ordinarily an oral communication by a lawyer with a judge or hearing officer should be made only upon adequate notice to opposing counsel, or, if there is none, to the opposing party. A lawyer should not condone or lend himself or herself to private importunities by another with a judge or hearing officer on behalf of the lawyer or the client.

The advocate's function is to present evidence and argument so that the cause may be decided according to law. Refraining from abusive or obstreperous conduct is a corollary of the advocate's right to speak on behalf of litigants. A lawyer may stand firm against abuse by a judge but should avoid reciprocation; the judge's default is no justification for similar dereliction by an advocate. An advocate can present the cause, protect the record for subsequent review and preserve professional integrity by patient firmness no less effectively than by belligerence or theatrics.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.5 generally follows Model Rule 3.5, except that Rule 3.5 imposes additional restrictions concerning ex parte communications with judges and communications with a juror's family members. Provisions in Rule 3.5 correspond to provisions of Rules 7.6, 7.8, and 7.10 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

CASE NOTES

The trial judge did not abuse his discretion in removing a juror and substituting an alternate juror when the original juror contacted defense counsel at his home during the weekend recess and persisted in discussing matters of a personal nature, including counsel's marital status. Although there was no evidence that any matter which related to the trial of the defendant was discussed during the conversation, the exercise of discretion by the trial judge served to safeguard the trial of the defendant from even the appearance of impropriety. State v. Price, 301 N.C. 437, 272 S.E.2d 103 (1980).

Ethical transgressions by trial counsel do not always constitute legal error. State v. Sanders, 303 N.C. 608, 281 S.E.2d 7, cert. denied, 454 U.S. 973, 102 S. Ct. 523, 70 L.Ed.2d 392 (1981).

Argument That Testifying Officers Could Be Prosecuted If They Lied. — A prosecutor who, in closing, made arguments based on matters outside the record by suggesting that the officers who testified against the defendant could be prosecuted for perjury and fired from their jobs, and lose their pensions if they lied, placed the jurors in the moral dilemma of either convicting the defendant or, in the alternative, causing the officers to suffer the grievous penalties suggested by the prosecutor. The argument was, therefore, improper and the defendant was entitled to a new trial. State v. Potter, 69 N.C. App. 199, 316 S.E.2d 359, disc. rev. denied, 312 N.C. 624, 323 S.E.2d 925 (1984).

The intentional act of soliciting someone to disrupt a criminal trial by an attorney representing a defendant was not a felony, but would support an order of disbarment. In re Paul, 84 N.C. App. 491, 353 S.E.2d 254, cert. denied, 319 N.C. 673, 356 S.E.2d 779 (1987), cert. denied, 484 U.S. 1004, 108 S. Ct. 694, 98 L. Ed. 2d 646 (1988).

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 13 Opinion restricts informal written communication with a judge or judicial official relative to a pending matter.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 20 — Opinion rules that, subject to a statute prohibiting the withholding of the information, a lawyer's duty to disclose confidential client information to a bankruptcy court ends when the case is closed although the debtor's duty to report new property continues for 180 days after the date of filing the petition.

CPR 16. A lawyer or group of lawyers may contribute to a judge's campaign in a reasonable amount.

CPR 183. An attorney who represents a judge may not appear before the judge.

CPR 225. It is permissible for an attorney to appear before his brother judge if the lawyer for the adverse party and his client consent.

CPR 226. Although an attorney may not appear before his brother judge without the consent of the parties, his partners and associates may.

CPR 283. The fact that a law firm's secretary is the spouse of a magistrate does not disqualify members of the law firm from practicing criminal law before the magistrate.

CPR 318. The fact that an attorney's spouse is a judge's secretary does not disqualify the attorney from practicing before the judge.

CPR 337. After a jury trial, an attorney may communicate with jurors as to why they decided issues as they did and their opinions of the attorney's performance, unless such is prohibited by court rule.

RPC 122. A member of the attorney general's staff may not consult ex parte with a trial court judge if it is likely that that attorney or another attorney working in the same division of the attorney general's office will represent the state in the appeal of the case.

RPC 214. A lawyer may not send a jury questionnaire directly to prospective members of the jury but, if the questionnaire is sent out by the court, such communications are not prohibited.

RPC 237. A lawyer may not communicate with the judge before whom a proceeding is pending to request an ex parte order unless opposing counsel is given adequate notice or unless authorized by law.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 1. A lawyer may appear in court before a judge the lawyer represents in a personal matter provided there is disclosure of the representation and all parties and lawyers agree that the relationship between the lawyer and the judge is immaterial to the trial of the matter.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 3. A lawyer may engage in an ex parte communication with a judge regarding a scheduling or administrative matter only if necessitated by the administration of justice or exigent circumstances and diligent efforts to notify opposing counsel have failed.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 5. A lawyer must provide the opposing counsel with a copy of a proposed order at the same time that the lawyer submits the proposed order to the judge in an ex parte communication.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 12. Opinion sets forth the disclosures a lawyer must make to the judge prior to engaging in an ex parte communication.

Rule 3.6. Trial publicity.

(a) A lawyer who is participating or has participated in the investigation or litigation of a matter shall not make an extrajudicial statement that a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication if there is a reasonable likelihood that the statement will materially prejudice an adjudicative proceeding in the matter.

(b) A statement referred to in paragraph (a) ordinarily is likely to have such an effect when it refers to a civil matter triable to a jury, a criminal matter, or any other proceeding that could result in incarceration, and the statement relates to:

(1) the character, credibility, or reputation of a party, suspect in a criminal investigation or witness, or the identity of a witness, or the expected testimony of a party or witness;

(2) in a criminal case or proceeding that could result in incarceration, the possibility of a plea of guilty to the offense or the existence or contents of any confession, admission, or statement given by a defendant or suspect or that person's refusal or failure to make a statement;

(3) the performance or results of any examination or test or the refusal or failure of a person to submit to an examination or test, or the identity or nature of physical evidence expected to be presented;

(4) any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of a defendant or suspect in a criminal case or proceeding that could result in incarceration; or

(5) information the lawyer knows or reasonably should know is likely to be inadmissible as evidence in a trial and would if disclosed create a substantial risk of prejudicing an impartial trial.

(c) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a) and (b)(1-5), a lawyer involved in the investigation or litigation of a matter may state without elaboration:

(1) the general nature of the claim or defense;

(2) the information contained in a public record;

(3) that an investigation of the matter is in progress, including the general scope of the investigation, the offense or claim or defense involved and, except when prohibited by law, the identity of the persons involved;

(4) the scheduling or result of any step in litigation;

(5) a request for assistance in obtaining evidence and information necessary thereto;

(6) a warning of danger concerning the behavior of a person involved, when there is reason to believe that there exists the likelihood of substantial harm to an individual or to the public interest; and

(7) in a criminal case:

- (i) the identity, residence, occupation and family status of the accused;
- (ii) if the accused has not been apprehended, information necessary to aid in apprehension of that person;
- (iii) the fact, time and place of arrest; and
- (iv) the identity of investigating and arresting officers or agencies and the length of the investigation.

(d) The foregoing provisions of Rule 3.6 do not preclude a lawyer from replying to charges of misconduct publicly made against the lawyer or from participating in the proceedings of legislative, administrative, or other investigative bodies.

(e) A lawyer shall exercise reasonable care to prevent the lawyer's employees from making an extrajudicial statement that the lawyer would be prohibited from making under this rule.

COMMENT

It is difficult to strike a balance between protecting the right to a fair trial and safeguarding the right of free expression. Preserving the right to a fair trial necessarily entails some curtailment of the information that may be disseminated about a party prior to trial, particularly where trial by jury is involved. If there were no such limits, the result would be the practical nullification of the protective effect of the rules of forensic decorum and the exclusionary rules of evidence. On the other hand, there are vital social interests served by the free dissemination of information about events having legal consequences and about legal proceedings themselves. The public has a right to know about threats to its safety and measures aimed at assuring its security. It also has a legitimate interest in the conduct of judicial proceedings, particularly in matters of general public concern. Furthermore, the subject matter of legal proceedings is often of direct significance in debate and deliberation over questions of public policy.

Special rules of confidentiality may validly govern proceedings in juvenile, domestic relations and mental disability proceedings, and perhaps other types of litigation. Rule 3.4(c) requires compliance with such Rules.

Recognizing that the public value of informed commentary is great and the likelihood of prejudice to a proceeding by the commentary of a lawyer who is not involved in the proceeding is small, the rule applies only to lawyers who are, or who have been involved in the investigation or litigation of a case, and their associates.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.6 is similar to Model Rule 3.6. Notably, Model Rule 3.6 specifically permits a lawyer to make an extrajudicial statement to protect a client from the prejudicial effect of recent publicity not initiated by the lawyer or the lawyer's client. Rule 3.6 is silent on this matter. Rule 3.6 corresponds to Rule 7.7 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. In addition to organizational changes, however, Rule 3.6 contains a more liberal "material prejudice" standard for evaluating when an extrajudicial statement is prohibited.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 4. The rule restricting pretrial publicity does not apply when the case is on appeal.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 4. Opinion examines the restrictions on a lawyer's public comments about a pending civil proceeding in which the lawyer is participating.

Rule 3.7. Lawyer as witness.

(a) A lawyer shall not act as advocate at a trial in which the lawyer is likely to be a necessary witness except where:

- (1) the testimony relates to an uncontested issue;
- (2) the testimony relates to the nature and value of legal services rendered in the case; or
- (3) disqualification of the lawyer would work substantial hardship on the client.

(b) A lawyer may act as advocate in a trial in which another lawyer in the lawyer's firm is likely to be called as a witness unless precluded from doing so by Rule 1.7 or Rule 1.9.

COMMENT

Combining the roles of advocate and witness can prejudice the opposing party and can involve a conflict of interest between the lawyer and client.

The opposing party has proper objection where the combination of roles may prejudice that party's rights in the litigation. A witness is required to testify on the basis of personal knowledge, while an advocate is expected to explain and comment on evidence given by others. It may not be clear whether a statement by an advocate-witness should be taken as proof or as an analysis of the proof.

Paragraph (a)(1) recognizes that if the testimony will be uncontested, the ambiguities in the dual role are purely theoretical. Paragraph (a)(2) recognizes that where the testimony concerns the extent and value of legal services rendered in the action in which the testimony is offered, permitting the lawyers to testify avoids the need for a second trial with new counsel to resolve that issue. Moreover, in such a situation the judge has firsthand knowledge of the matter in issue; hence, there is less dependence on the adversary process to test the credibility of the testimony.

Apart from these two exceptions, paragraph (a)(3) recognizes that a balancing is required between the interests of the client and those of the opposing party. Whether the opposing party is likely to suffer prejudice depends on the nature of the case, the importance and probable tenor of the lawyer's testimony, and the probability that the lawyer's testimony will conflict with that of other witnesses. Even if there is risk of such prejudice, in determining whether the lawyer should be disqualified, due regard must be given to the effect of disqualification on the lawyer's client. It is relevant that one or both parties could reasonably foresee that the lawyer would probably be a witness. The principle of imputed disqualification stated in Rule 1.10 has no application to this aspect of the problem.

Whether the combination of roles involves an improper conflict of interest with respect to the client is determined by Rule 1.7 or 1.9. For example, if there is likely to be substantial conflict between the testimony of the client and that of the lawyer or a member of the lawyer's firm, the representation is improper. The problem can arise whether the lawyer is called as a witness on behalf of the client or is called by the opposing party. Determining whether or not such a conflict exists is primarily the responsibility of the lawyer involved. See Comment to Rule 1.7. If a lawyer who is a member of a firm may not act as both advocate and witness by reason of conflict of interest, Rule 1.10 disqualifies the firm also.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.7 is identical to Model Rule 3.7. Rule 3.7 is also similar to Rule 5.2 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct, except Rule 3.7 limits the disqualification of a testifying lawyer to litigation in which the lawyer is a "necessary" witness. Unlike the superseded rule, Rule 3.7 also permits another lawyer in the testifying lawyer's firm to represent the client at trial although the testifying lawyer is disqualified.

CASE NOTES

Counsel Is Not Incompetent to Testify. — The weight of authority in this country is that while it is a breach of professional ethics for a party's attorney to testify about other than formal matters without withdrawing from the litigation, he is not incompetent to testify. The testimony is admissible if otherwise competent. Town of Mebane v. Iowa Mut. Ins. Co., 28 N.C. App. 27, 220 S.E.2d 623 (1975).

But Is Discouraged from Doing So. — The Supreme Court of North Carolina has historically discouraged the practice of attorneys testifying on behalf of clients, and although it has been allowed, in most instances the lawyer acting as a witness for his client had previously surrendered his right to participate in the litigation. Town of Mebane v. Iowa Mut. Ins. Co., 28 N.C. App. 27, 220 S.E.2d 623 (1975).

Exceptions Where Counsel May Testify for Client. — While the Disciplinary Rules set forth in the Code of Professional Conduct (now replaced by the Rules of Professional Conduct) do not control the admissibility of evidence or the competency of witnesses, they do govern the ethics and conduct of attorneys licensed to practice law in the State. It should be the policy of the courts to give effect to these rules which specifically address the question of when an attorney may be a witness for a party he represents. Both the Code of Professional Conduct and the common practice recognized by the North Carolina Supreme Court provide for exceptions where attorneys may testify on their clients' behalf. Town of Mebane v. Iowa Mut. Ins. Co., 28 N.C. App. 27, 220 S.E.2d 623 (1975).

Testimony for Client Before Administrative Board. — There is no compelling reason to extend existing law by holding that evidence presented by an attorney who testifies while representing a client before a local administrative board may not be considered by such local administrative board. However, attorneys are strongly discouraged from serving as both witnesses and advocates, even before local administrative boards, unless compelling circumstances exist. Robinhood Trails Neighbors v. Winston-Salem Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 44 N.C. App. 539, 261 S.E.2d 520, cert. denied, 299 N.C. 737, 267 S.E.2d 663 (1980).

Discretion of Trial Judge. — Whether to allow defense counsel to testify on a collateral matter, impeachment of a witness, is in the discretion of the trial judge. State v. Elam, 56 N.C. App. 590, 289 S.E.2d 857, cert. denied, 305 N.C. 461, 292 S.E.2d 577 (1982).

Request by Defendant for Withdrawal of Plaintiff's Counsel. — Defendant's request that counsel for plaintiff be precluded from testifying at trial or that his law firm be disqualified from further representation of plaintiff would be denied, where plaintiff had not yet determined who its witnesses would be. If plaintiff subsequently determined that counsel should be called as a witness at trial, then the court, at the appropriate time, could order his withdrawal, as well as that of his law firm. FDIC v. Kerr, 111 F.R.D. 476 (W.D.N.C. 1986).

This rule only applies to lawyers, not their employees. Seafare Corp. v. Trenor Corp., 88 N.C. App. 404, 363 S.E.2d 643, cert. denied, 322 N.C. 113, 367 S.E.2d 917 (1988).

Preference for Other Witnesses. — If other witnesses are available who can provide the information sought, it is not error not to permit an attorney for a party to testify. State v. Daniels, 337 N.C. 243, 446 S.E.2d 298 (1994).

Testimony Not Prejudicial. — Defendant could show no prejudice from defense counsel's testimony during a voir dire hearing on a collateral matter regarding the attorney's handling of evidence. State v. Parker, 119 N.C. App. 328, 459 S.E.2d 9 (1995).

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 18. An attorney may testify on behalf of his former client after he has withdrawn, even if he is to be reimbursed for expenses advanced while he was employed from any recovery.

CPR 93. A law firm may not continue to represent a husband charged with his wife's murder after the public defender who had represented a codefendant who had agreed to testify against the husband in the same case joins the firm.

CPR 162. An attorney may testify as to the value of his services, but may not testify as to his client's emotional condition.

CPR 212. An attorney who is sued may have his partner represent him and may testify in his own behalf without his partner's having to withdraw.

CPR 350. An attorney may continue to serve as administrator C.T.A. even though his secretary may testify as a witness.

RPC 19. An attorney may represent a client even though his secretary must be called as a witness.

RPC 142. A lawyer may not represent an estate in litigation against a claimant where the lawyer's testimony may be necessary to resolve the validity of the claim.

Rule 3.8. Special responsibilities of a prosecutor.

The prosecutor in a criminal case shall:

- (a) refrain from prosecuting a charge that the prosecutor knows is not supported by probable cause;
- (b) make reasonable efforts to assure that the accused has been advised of the right to, and the procedure for obtaining, counsel and has been given reasonable opportunity to obtain counsel;
- (c) not seek to obtain from an unrepresented accused a waiver of important pretrial rights, such as the right to a preliminary hearing;
- (d) make timely disclosure to the defense of all evidence or information known to the prosecutor that tends to negate the guilt of the accused or mitigates the offense, and, in connection with sentencing, disclose to the defense and to the tribunal all unprivileged mitigating information known to the prosecutor, except when the prosecutor is relieved of this responsibility by a protective order of the tribunal;
- (e) exercise reasonable care to prevent investigators, law enforcement personnel, employees or other persons assisting or associated with the prosecutor in a criminal case from making an extrajudicial statement that the prosecutor would be prohibited from making under Rule 3.6;
- (f) not subpoena a lawyer in a grand jury or other criminal proceeding to present evidence about a past or present client unless:
  - (1) the information sought is not protected from disclosure by any applicable privilege;
  - (2) the evidence sought is essential to the successful completion of an ongoing investigation or prosecution; and
  - (3) there is no other feasible alternative to obtain the information; and
- (g) except for statements that are necessary to inform the public of the nature and extent of the prosecutor's action and that serve a legitimate law enforcement purpose, refrain from making extrajudicial comments that have a substantial likelihood of heightening public condemnation of the accused.

COMMENT

A prosecutor has the responsibility of a minister of justice and not simply that of an advocate; the prosecutor's duty is to seek justice, not merely to convict. This responsibility carries with it specific obligations to see that the defendant is accorded procedural justice and that guilt is decided upon the basis of sufficient evidence.

The prosecutor represents the sovereign and therefore should use restraint in the discretionary exercise of government powers, such as in the selection of cases to prosecute. During trial the prosecutor is not only an advocate, but he or she also may make decisions normally made by an individual client, and those affecting the public interest should be fair to all. In our system of criminal justice, the accused is to be given the benefit of all reasonable doubt. With respect to evidence and witnesses, the prosecutor has responsibilities different from those of a lawyer in private practice; the prosecutor should make timely disclosure to the defense of available evidence known to him or her that tends to negate the guilt of the accused, mitigate the degree of the offense, or reduce the punishment. Further, a prosecutor should not intentionally avoid pursuit of evidence merely because he or she believes it will damage the prosecutor's case or aid the accused.

Paragraph (c) does not apply to an accused appearing pro se with the approval of the tribunal. Nor does it forbid the lawful questioning of a suspect who has knowingly waived the rights to counsel and silence.

The exception in paragraph (d) recognizes that a prosecutor may seek an appropriate protective order from the tribunal if disclosure of information to the defense could result in substantial hardship to an individual or to the public interest.

Paragraph (f) is intended to limit the issuance of lawyer subpoenas in grand jury and other criminal proceedings to those situations in which there is a genuine need to intrude into the client-lawyer relationship.

Paragraph (g) supplements Rule 3.6, which prohibits extrajudicial statements that have a substantial likelihood of prejudicing an adjudicatory proceeding. In the context of a criminal prosecution, a prosecutor's extrajudicial statement can create the additional problem of increasing public condemnation of the accused. Although the announcement of an indictment, for example, will necessarily have severe consequences for the accused, a prosecutor can, and should, avoid comments which have no legitimate law enforcement purpose and have a substantial likelihood of increasing public opprobrium of the accused. Nothing in this Comment is intended to restrict the statements which a prosecutor may make which comply with Rule 3.6(b) or 3.6(c).

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 3.8 is substantially similar to Model Rule 3.8. Rule 3.8 is similar to Rule 7.3 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct, except that Rule 3.8 restricts the circumstances in which a prosecutor may subpoena a lawyer.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

RPC 197. A prosecutor must notify defense counsel, jail officials, or other appropriate persons to avoid the unnecessary detention of a criminal defendant after the charges against the defendant have been dismissed by the prosecutor.

RPC 204. It is prejudicial to the administration of justice for a prosecutor to offer special treatment to individuals charged with traffic offenses or minor crimes in exchange for a direct charitable contribution to the local school system.

RPC 243. It is prejudicial to the administration of justice for a prosecutor to threaten to use his discretion to schedule a criminal trial to coerce a plea agreement from a criminal defendant.

Rule 3.9. Reserved.

TRANSACTIONS WITH PERSON OTHER THAN CLIENTS

Rule 4.1. Truthfulness in statements to others.

In the course of representing a client a lawyer shall not knowingly make a false statement of material fact or law to a third person.

COMMENT

Misrepresentation

A lawyer is required to be truthful when dealing with others on a client's behalf, but generally has no affirmative duty to inform an opposing party of relevant facts. A misrepresentation can occur if the lawyer incorporates or affirms a statement of another person that the lawyer knows is false. Misrepresentations can also occur by failure to act.

Statements of Fact

This Rule refers to statements of fact.

Whether a particular statement should be regarded as one of fact can depend on the circumstances. Under generally accepted conventions in negotiation, certain types of statements ordinarily are not taken as statements of material fact. Estimates of price or value placed on the subject of a transaction and a party's intentions as to an acceptable settlement of a claim are in this category, and so is the existence of an undisclosed principal except where nondisclosure of the principal would constitute fraud.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 4.1 is similar to Model Rule 4.1, although the Model Rule also requires disclosure when necessary to avoid assisting a criminal or fraudulent act by a client. Rule 4.1 has no counterpart in the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

RPC 182. A lawyer must disclose to an adverse party with whom the lawyer is negotiating a settlement that the lawyer's client died.

RPC 236. A lawyer may not issue a subpoena containing misrepresentations as to the pendency of an action, the date or location of a hearing, or a lawyer's authority to obtain documentary evidence.

Rule 4.2. Communication with person represented by counsel.

(a) During the representation of a client, a lawyer shall not communicate about the subject of the representation with a person the lawyer knows to be represented by another lawyer in the matter, unless the lawyer has the consent of the other lawyer or is authorized by law to do so. It is not a violation of this Rule for a lawyer to encourage his or her client to discuss the subject of the representation with the opposing party in a good faith attempt to resolve the controversy.

(b) Notwithstanding section (a) above, in representing a client who has a dispute with a government agency or body, a lawyer may communicate, about the subject of the representation with the elected officials who have authority over such government agency or body, even if the lawyer knows that the government agency or body is represented by another lawyer in the matter, but such communications may only occur under the following circumstances:

- (1) in writing, if a copy of the writing is promptly delivered to opposing counsel;
- (2) orally, upon adequate notice to opposing counsel; or
- (3) in the course of official proceedings.

COMMENT

This Rule does not prohibit a lawyer who does not have a client relative to a particular matter from consulting with a person or entity who, though represented concerning the matter, seeks another opinion as to his or her legal situation. A lawyer from whom such an opinion is sought should, but is not required to, inform the first lawyer of his or her participation and advice.

This Rule does not prohibit communication with a represented person, or an employee or agent of such a person, concerning matters outside the representation. For example, the existence of a controversy between a government agency and a private party, or between two organizations, does not prohibit a lawyer for either from communicating with nonlawyer representatives of the other regarding a separate matter. Also, a lawyer having an independent justification or legal authorization for communicating with a represented person is permitted to do so.

This Rule does not prohibit a lawyer from lobbying elected officials on behalf of a client where the government body upon which the elected official serves is not an opposing party in the particular matter. Communications authorized by law include the right of a party to a controversy with a government agency or body to speak with government officials about the matter. Even when the government agency or body is represented by a lawyer with regard to a particular matter, a lawyer may communicate with the elected government officials who have authority over that agency under the circumstances set forth in paragraph (b).

Parties to a matter may communicate directly with each other. The purpose of this rule is to prohibit a lawyer, or the lawyer's agents, from undermining an opponent's client-lawyer relationship through direct contact with a client in the absence of opposing counsel. Nothing herein is intended to discourage good faith efforts by individual parties to resolve their differences. Nor does the Rule prohibit a lawyer from encouraging a client to communicate with the opposing party with a view toward the resolution of their dispute.

After a lawyer for another person or entity has been notified that an organization is represented by counsel in a particular matter, this Rule would prohibit communications by the lawyer concerning the matter with persons having managerial responsibility on behalf of the organization, and with any other person whose act or omission in connection with the matter may be imputed to the organization for purposes of civil or criminal liability or whose statement may constitute an admission on the part of the organization. If an employee or agent of the organization is represented in the matter by his or her own counsel, the consent by that counsel to a communication would be sufficient for purposes of this Rule.

This Rule also applies to communications with any person, whether or not a party to a formal adjudicative proceeding, contract or negotiation, who is represented by counsel concerning the matter to which the communication relates.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 4.2(a) is similar to Model Rule 4.2 and Rule 7.4(1) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. Rule 4.2(a), unlike its counterparts in the Model Rules and superseded (1985) Rules, includes a provision permitting a lawyer to encourage his or her client to discuss the subject of the representation with the opposing party in a good faith attempt to resolve the controversy. Rule 4.2(b), setting forth guidelines for communications with represented government officials, has no counterpart in either the Model Rules or the superseded (1985) Rules.

RPC 39. An attorney may not communicate settlement demands directly to an insurance company which has employed counsel to represent its insured unless that lawyer consents.

RPC 61. A defense attorney may interview a child who is the prosecuting witness in a molestation case without the knowledge or consent of the district attorney.

RPC 67. An attorney generally may interview a rank and file employee of an adverse corporate party without the knowledge or consent of the corporate party or its counsel.

RPC 81. A lawyer may interview an unrepresented former employee of an adverse corporate party without the permission of the corporation's lawyer.

RPC 87. A lawyer wishing to interview a witness who is not a party, but who is represented by counsel, must obtain the consent of the witness' lawyer.

RPC 93. Opinion concerns several situations in which an attorney who represents a criminal defendant wishes to interview other individuals who are represented by attorneys who will not agree to permit the attorney to interview their clients.

RPC 110. An attorney employed by an in-suror to defend in the name of the defendant pursuant to underinsured motorist coverage may not communicate with that individual without the consent of another attorney employed to represent that individual by her liability insurer.

RPC 128. A lawyer may not communicate with an adverse corporate party's house counsel, who appears in the case as a corporate manager, without the consent of the corporation's independent counsel.

RPC 132. A lawyer for a party adverse to the government may freely communicate with government officials concerning the matter until notified that the government is represented in the matter.

RPC 162. A lawyer may not communicate with the opposing party's nonparty treating physician about the physician's treatment of the opposing party unless the opposing party consents.

RPC 180. A lawyer may not passively listen while the opposing party's nonparty treating physician comments on his or her treatment of the opposing party unless the opposing party consents.

RPC 184. The lawyer for opposing party may communicate directly with the pathologist who performed an autopsy on plaintiff's decedent without the consent of the personal representative of the decedent's estate.

RPC 193. The attorney for the plaintiffs in a personal injury action arising out of a motor vehicle accident may interview the unrepresented defendant even though the uninsured motorist insurer, which had elected to defend the claim in the name of the defendant, is represented by an attorney in the matter.

RPC 202. An attorney may communicate in writing with the members of an elected body which is represented by a lawyer in a matter if the purpose of the communication is to request that the matter be placed on the public meeting agenda of the elected body and a copy of the written communication is given to the attorney for the elected body.

RPC 219. A lawyer may communicate with a custodian of public records, pursuant to the North Carolina Public Records Act, for the purpose of making a request to examine public records related to the representation although the custodian is an adverse party whose lawyer does not consent to the communication.

RPC 224. Employer's lawyer may not engage in direct communications with the treating physician for an employee with a workers' compensation claim.

RPC 233. A deputy attorney general attorney who represents the state on the appeal of a death sentence should send to the defense lawyer a copy of a letter the deputy attorney general received from the defendant.

RPC 249. A lawyer may not communicate with a child who is represented by a guardian ad litem and an attorney advocate unless the lawyer obtains the consent of the attorney advocate.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 2. A lawyer may interview an unrepresented former employee of an adverse represented organization about the subject of the representation unless the former employee participated substantially in the legal representation of the organization in the matter.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 10. A prosecutor may instruct a law enforcement officer to send an undercover officer into the prison cell of a represented criminal defendant to observe the defendant's communications with other inmates in the cell.

Rule 4.3. Dealing with unrepresented person.

In dealing on behalf of a client with a person who is not represented by counsel, a lawyer shall not:

(a) give advice to the person, other than the advice to secure counsel, if the interests of such person are, or have a reasonable possibility of being, in conflict with the interests of the client; and

(b) state or imply that the lawyer is disinterested. When the lawyer knows or reasonably should know that the unrepresented person misunderstands the lawyer's role in the matter, the lawyer shall make reasonable efforts to correct the misunderstanding.

COMMENT

An unrepresented person, particularly one not experienced in dealing with legal matters, might assume that a lawyer is disinterested in loyalties or is a disinterested authority on the law even when the lawyer represents a client.

During the course of a lawyer's representation of a client, the lawyer should not give advice to an unrepresented person other than the advice to obtain counsel.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 4.3 is similar to Model Rule 4.3 and substantially similar to Rule 7.4(2) and (3) of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 121. If a defendant is not represented, the attorney for the plaintiff in a divorce action may send the defendant a copy of the complaint, and a summons for acceptance of service; but may not send a prepared answer or a consent order.

CPR 296. The attorney for the plaintiff in a domestic case may not make available to the defendant a form waiving the right to answer and other rights, nor may he allow his client to provide such a form to the defendant.

RPC 15. An attorney may interview a person with adverse interest who is unrepresented and make a demand or propose a settlement.

RPC 165. An attorney may provide a confession of judgment to an unrepresented adverse party for execution by that party so long as the lawyer does not undertake to advise the adverse party or feign disinterestedness.

RPC 189. The district attorney's staff may not give legal advice about pleas to an unrepresented person charged with a traffic infraction.

RPC 193. The attorney for the plaintiffs in a personal injury action arising out of a motor vehicle accident may interview the unrepresented defendant even though the uninsured motorist insurer, which had elected to defend the claim in the name of the defendant, is represented by an attorney in the matter.

RPC 194. In a letter to an unrepresented prospective defendant in a personal injury action, the plaintiff's lawyer may not give legal advice nor may he create the impression that he is concerned about or protecting the interests of the unrepresented prospective defendant.

Rule 4.4. Respect for rights of third persons.

In representing a client, a lawyer shall not use means that have no substantial purpose other than to embarrass, delay, or burden a third person, or use methods of obtaining evidence that violate the legal rights of such a person.

COMMENT

Responsibility to a client requires a lawyer to subordinate the interests of others to those of the client, but that responsibility does not imply that a lawyer may disregard the rights of third persons. It is impractical to catalogue all such rights, but they include legal restrictions on methods of obtaining evidence from third persons.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 4.4 is identical to Model Rule 4.4. Rule 4.4 has no counterpart in the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

RPC 181. A lawyer may not seek to disqualify another lawyer from representing the opposing party by instructing a client to consult with the other lawyer about the subject matter of the representation when the client has no intention of retaining the other lawyer.

LAW FIRMS AND ASSOCIATIONS

Rule 5.1. Responsibilities of a partner or supervisory lawyer.

(a) A partner in a law firm shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that the firm has in effect measures giving reasonable assurance that all lawyers in the firm conform to the Rules of Professional Conduct.

(b) A lawyer having direct supervisory authority over another lawyer shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that the other lawyer conforms to the Rules of Professional Conduct.

(c) A partner or supervisory lawyer shall be responsible for another lawyer's violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct if:

(1) the lawyer orders the conduct involved; or

(2) the lawyer has direct supervisory authority over the other lawyer and knows of the conduct at a time when its consequences can be avoided, but fails to take reasonable action to avoid the consequences.

COMMENT

Paragraphs (a) and (b) refer to lawyers who have supervisory authority over the professional work of a firm or legal department of a government agency. This includes members of a partnership and the shareholders in a law firm organized as a professional corporation; lawyers having supervisory authority in the law department of an enterprise or government agency; and lawyers who have intermediate managerial responsibilities in a firm.

The measures required to fulfill the responsibility prescribed in paragraphs (a) and (b) can depend on the firm's structure and the nature of its practice. In a small firm, informal supervision and occasional admonition ordinarily might be sufficient. In a large firm, or in practice situations in which intensely difficult ethical problems frequently arise, more elaborate procedures may be necessary. Some firms, for example, have a procedure whereby junior lawyers can make confidential referral of ethical problems directly to a designated senior partner or special committee. See rule 5.2. Firms, whether large or small, may also rely on continuing legal education in professional ethics. In any event, the ethical atmosphere of a firm can influence the conduct of all its members and a lawyer having authority over the work of another may not assume that the subordinate lawyer will inevitably conform to the Rules.

Paragraph (c)(1) expresses a general principle of responsibility for acts of another. See also Rule 8.4(a).

Paragraph (c)(2) defines the duty of a lawyer having direct supervisory authority over performance of specific legal work by another lawyer. Whether a lawyer has such supervisory authority in particular circumstances is a question of fact. Partners of a private firm have at least indirect responsibility for all work being done by the firm, while a partner in charge of a particular matter ordinarily has direct authority over other firm lawyers engaged in the matter. Appropriate remedial action by a partner would depend on the immediacy of the partner's involvement and the seriousness of the misconduct. The supervisor is required to intervene to prevent avoidable consequences of misconduct if the supervisor knows that the misconduct occurred. Thus, if a supervising lawyer knows that a subordinate misrepresented a matter to an opposing party in negotiation, the supervisor as well as the subordinate has a duty to correct the resulting misapprehension.

Professional misconduct by a lawyer under supervision could reveal a violation of paragraph (b) on the part of the supervisory lawyer even though it does not entail a violation of paragraph (c) because there was no direction or knowledge of the violation.

Apart from this Rule and Rule 8.4(a), a lawyer does not have disciplinary liability for the conduct of a partner, associate or subordinate. Moreover, this Rule is not intended to establish a standard for vicarious criminal or civil liability for the acts of another lawyer. Whether a lawyer may be liable civilly or criminally for another lawyer's conduct is a question of law beyond the scope of these Rules.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 5.1 is substantially similar to Model Rule 5.1. Rule 5.1 has no counterpart in the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

Rule 5.2. Responsibilities of a subordinate lawyer.

(a) A lawyer is bound by the Rules of Professional Conduct notwithstanding that the lawyer acted at the direction of another person.

(b) A subordinate lawyer does not violate the Rules of Professional Conduct if that lawyer acts in accordance with a supervisory lawyer's reasonable resolution of an arguable question of professional duty.

COMMENT

Although a lawyer is not relieved of responsibility for a violation by the fact that the lawyer acted at the direction of a supervisor, that fact may be relevant in determining whether a lawyer had the knowledge required to render conduct a violation of the Rules. For example, if a subordinate filed a frivolous pleading at the direction of a supervisor, the subordinate would not be guilty of a professional violation unless the subordinate knew of the document's frivolous character.

When lawyers in a supervisor-subordinate relationship encounter a matter involving professional judgment as to ethical duty, the supervisor may assume responsibility for making the judgment. Otherwise a consistent course of action or position could not be taken. If the question can reasonably be answered only one way, the duty of both lawyers is clear and they are equally responsible for fulfilling it. However, if the question is reasonably arguable, someone has to decide upon the course of action. That authority ordinarily reposes in the supervisor, and a subordinate may be guided accordingly. For example, if a question arises whether the interests of two clients conflict under Rule 1.7, the supervisor's reasonable resolution of the question should protect the subordinate professionally if the resolution is subsequently challenged.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Model Rule 5.2. Rule 5.2 has no counterpart in the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

Editor's note. — Rule 5.2 is identical to ### Rule 5.3. Responsibilities regarding nonlawyer assistants.

With respect to a nonlawyer employed or retained by or associated with a lawyer:

(a) a partner in a law firm shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that the firm has in effect measures giving reasonable assurance that the nonlawyer's conduct is compatible with the professional obligations of the lawyer;

(b) a lawyer having direct supervisory authority over a nonlawyer shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that the nonlawyer's conduct is compatible with the professional obligations of the lawyer; and

(c) a lawyer shall be responsible for conduct of such a nonlawyer that would be a violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct if engaged in by a lawyer if:

(1) the lawyer orders the conduct involved; or

(2) the lawyer has direct supervisory authority over the nonlawyer, and knows of the conduct at a time when its consequences can be avoided but fails to take reasonable action to avoid the consequences.

COMMENT

Lawyers generally employ nonlawyers in their practice, including secretaries, investigators, law student interns, and paraprofessionals. Such nonlawyers, whether employees or independent contractors, act for the lawyer in rendition of the lawyer's professional services. A lawyer should give such nonlawyers appropriate instruction and supervision concerning the ethical aspects of their employment, particularly regarding the obligation not to disclose information relating to representation of the client, and should be responsible for their work product. The measures employed in supervising nonlawyers should take account of the fact that they do not have legal training and are not subject to professional discipline.

A lawyer who discovers that a nonlawyer has wrongfully misappropriated money from the lawyer's trust account must inform the North Carolina State bar pursuant to Rule 1.15-2(l).

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 5.3 is substantially similar to Model Rule 5.3 and Rule 3.3 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

Attorney failed to monitor clients' funds in his trust account which resulted in misappropriation of funds. Attorney's secretary signed attorney's name or her name to trust account checks and the attorney and his secretary received the benefit of the funds. Attorney did not adequately supervise the secretary with respect to handling client funds and with respect to handling attorney's trust and office account records. Disbarred. 94 DHC 4.

Attorney's legal assistant had control and authority over attorney's trust, office, and personal bank accounts. Legal assistant stole large amount of client money from attorney's trust account and used it for her and attorney's benefit. Attorney did not monitor his trust and office account records. He also did not supervise legal assistant's handling of client funds in trust account. Disbarred. 95 DHC 17.

99 Formal Ethics Opinion 6 Opinion examines the ownership of a title insurance agency by lawyers in North and South Carolina as well as the supervision of an independent paralegal.

CPR 163. An attorney may use a secretarial agency so long as reasonable care is used to protect confidentiality.

CPR 182. A layman may be employed to interview and represent social security claimants if the clients consent after disclosure of the layman's nonprofessional status.

CPR 253. A paralegal employed by a law firm may have a business card with the firm's identification.

CPR 262. A law firm's office manager may have a business card with the firm's identification.

CPR 334. An attorney's secretary may also work for private investigator. The attorney must take care that client confidences are not compromised.

RPC 29. An attorney may not rely upon title information from an abstract firm unless he supervised the nonlawyer who did the work.

RPC 70. A legal assistant may communicate and negotiate with a claims adjuster if directly supervised by the attorney for whom he or she works.

RPC 74. A firm which employs a paralegal is not disqualified from representing an interest adverse to that of a party represented by the firm for which the paralegal previously worked if the paralegal is screened from participation in the case.

RPC 102. A lawyer may not permit the employment of court reporting services to be influenced by the possibility that the lawyer's employees might receive premiums, prizes or other personal benefits.

RPC 139. An attorney, having undertaken to represent adoptive parents, may sign and file adoption petition prepared by social services organization under her direct supervision.

RPC 152. District attorney is responsible for plea negotiating practices of lay assistant under her supervision of which she has knowledge.

RPC 176. A lawyer who employs a paralegal is not disqualified from representing a party whose interests are adverse to that of a party represented by a lawyer for whom the paralegal previously worked.

RPC 183. A lawyer may not permit a legal assistant to examine or represent a witness at a deposition.

RPC 216. A lawyer may use the services of a nonlawyer independent contractor to search a title provided the nonlawyer is properly supervised by the lawyer.

RPC 238. A lawyer is subject to the Rules of Professional Conduct with respect to the provision of a law-related service, such as financial planning, if the law-related service is provided in circumstances that are not distinct from the lawyer's provision of legal services to clients.

Rule 5.4. Professional independence of a lawyer.

(a) A lawyer or law firm shall not share legal fees with a nonlawyer, except that:

(1) an agreement by a lawyer with the lawyer's firm, partner, or associate may provide for the payment of money, over a reasonable period of time after the lawyer's death, to the lawyer's estate or to one or more specified persons;

(2) a lawyer who purchases the practice of a deceased or disabled lawyer, or a lawyer who has disappeared may, pursuant to the provisions of Rule 1.17, pay to the estate or other representative of that lawyer the agreed-upon purchase price;

(3) a lawyer who undertakes to complete unfinished legal business of a deceased lawyer or a disbarred lawyer may pay to the estate of the deceased lawyer or to the disbarred lawyer that proportion of the total compensation which fairly represents the services rendered by the deceased lawyer or the disbarred lawyer; and

(4) a lawyer or law firm may include nonlawyer employees in a retirement plan, even though the plan is based in whole or in part on a profit-sharing arrangement.

(b) A lawyer shall not form a partnership with a nonlawyer if any of the activities of the partnership consist of the practice of law.

(c) A lawyer shall not permit a person who recommends, engages, or pays the lawyer to render legal services for another to direct or regulate the lawyer's professional judgment in rendering such legal services.

(d) A lawyer shall not practice with or in the form of a professional corporation or association authorized to practice law for a profit, if:

(1) a nonlawyer owns any interest therein, except that a fiduciary representative of the estate of a lawyer may hold the stock or interest of the lawyer for a reasonable time during administration; or

(2) a nonlawyer has the right to direct or control the professional judgment of a lawyer.

COMMENT

The provisions of this Rule express traditional limitations on sharing fees. These limitations are to protect the lawyer's professional independence of judgment. Where someone other than the client pays the lawyer's fee, or recommends employment of the lawyer, that arrangement does not modify the lawyer's obligation to the client. As stated in paragraph (c), such arrangements should not interfere with the lawyer's professional judgment.

Although a nonlawyer may serve as a director or officer of a professional corporation organized to practice law if permitted by law, such a nonlawyer director or officer may not have the authority to direct or control the conduct of the lawyers who practice with the firm.

Editor's note. — Rule 5.4 is substantially similar to Model Rule 5.4. Rule 5.4 expands upon the prohibitions in Rule 3.2 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 239. A law firm may set up a profit-sharing plan for firm members and lay employees.

CPR 289. It is improper for an attorney to agree to share a legal fee with a paralegal.

CPR 343. A succeeding attorney may share fee with a disbarred lawyer for services rendered prior to disbarment.

RPC 38. Attorneys in North Carolina may use an attorney placement service which places independent attorneys with other attorneys or firms on a temporary contract basis for a placement fee.

RPC 104. Associate attorneys may be leased back to their firms.

RPC 147. An attorney may not pay a percentage of fees to a paralegal as a bonus.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 17. Opinion rules that a lawyer may not comply with an insurance carrier's billing requirements and guidelines if they interfere with the lawyer's ability to exercise his or her independent professional judgment in the representation of the insured.

Rule 5.5. Unauthorized practice of law.

(a) A lawyer shall not practice law in a jurisdiction where doing so violates the regulation of the legal profession in that jurisdiction.

(b) A lawyer shall not assist a person who is not a member of the bar in the performance of activity that constitutes the unauthorized practice of law.

(c) A lawyer or law firm shall not employ a disbarred or suspended lawyer as a law clerk or legal assistant if that individual was associated with such lawyer or law firm at any time on or after the date of the acts which resulted in disbarment or suspension through and including the effective date of disbarment or suspension.

(d) A lawyer or law firm employing a disbarred or suspended lawyer as a law clerk or legal assistant shall not represent any client represented by the disbarred or suspended lawyer or by any lawyer with whom the disbarred or suspended lawyer practiced during the period on or after the date of the acts which resulted in disbarment or suspension through and including the effective date of disbarment or suspension.

COMMENT

The definition of the practice of law is established by N.C. Gen. Stat. 84-2.1. Limiting the practice of law to members of the bar protects the public against rendition of legal services by unqualified persons. Paragraph (b) does not prohibit a lawyer from employing the services of paraprofessionals and delegating functions to them, so long as the lawyer supervises the delegated work and retains responsibility for their work. See Rule 5.3. Likewise, it does not prohibit lawyers from providing professional advice and instruction to nonlawyers whose employment requires knowledge of law; for example, claims adjusters, employees of financial or commercial institutions, social workers, accountants and persons employed in government agencies. In addition, a lawyer may counsel nonlawyers who wish to proceed pro se.

In the absence of statutory prohibitions or specific conditions placed on a disbarred or suspended attorney in the order revoking or suspending the license, such individual may be hired to perform the services of a law clerk or legal assistant by a law firm with which he or she was not affiliated at the time of or after the acts resulting in discipline. Such employment is, however, subject to certain restrictions. A licensed attorney in the firm must take full responsibility for and employ independent judgment in adopting any research, investigative results, briefs, pleadings, or other documents or instruments drafted by such individual. The individual may not directly advise clients or communicate in person or in writing in such a way as to imply that he or she is acting as an attorney or in any way in which he or she seems to assume responsibility for a client's legal matters. The disbarred or suspended attorney should have no communications or dealings with or on behalf of clients represented by such disbarred or suspended attorneys or by any individual or group of individuals with whom he or she practiced during the period on or after the date of the acts which resulted in discipline through and including the effective date of the discipline. Further, the employing attorney or law firm should perform no services for clients represented by the disbarred or suspended attorney during such period. Care should be taken to ensure that clients fully understand that the disbarred or suspended attorney is not acting as an attorney, but merely as a law clerk or lay employee. Under some circumstances, as where the individual may be known to clients or in the community, it may be necessary to make an affirmative statement or disclosure concerning the disbarred or suspended attorney's status with the law firm. Additionally, a disbarred or suspended attorney should be paid on some fixed basis, such as a straight salary or hourly rate, rather than on the basis of fees generated or received in connection with particular matters on which he or she works. Under these circumstances, a law firm employing a disbarred or suspended attorney would not be acting unethically and would not be assisting a nonlawyer in the unauthorized practice of law.

An attorney or law firm should not employ a disbarred or suspended attorney who was associated with such attorney or firm at any time on or after the date of the acts which resulted in the disbarment or suspension through and including the time of the disbarment or suspension. Such employment would show disrespect for the court or body which disbarred or suspended the attorney. Such employment would also be likely to be prejudicial to the administration of justice and would create an appearance of impropriety. It would also be practically impossible for the disciplined lawyer to confine himself or herself to activities not involving the actual practice of law if he or she were employed in his or her former office setting and obliged to deal with the same staff and clientele.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 5.5 is similar to Model Rule 5.5, except that Rule 5.5 contains additional requirements regarding the employment of disbarred lawyers. Rule 5.5 is substantially similar to Rule 3.1 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

CPR 19. House counsel for an insurance company may not represent an insured in prosecuting a subrogation claim.

CPR 325. House counsel of a savings and loan association may not represent a subsidiary of the savings and loan association acting as trustee for a deed of trust in foreclosure.

CPR 326. House counsel for an insurance company may not represent the insured in defense of a third party claim or in prosecution of a subrogation claim.

RPC 9. House counsel for a mortgage bank which originates loans but has no proprietary interest of its own may not represent borrowers or lenders in closing loans originated by his employer.

RPC 40. For the purposes of a real estate transaction, an attorney may, with proper notice to the borrower, represent only the lender, and the lender may prepare the closing documents. See also RPC 41.

RPC 114. Attorneys may give legal advice and drafting assistance to persons wishing to proceed pro se without appearing as counsel of record.

RPC 139. A lawyer may not sign an adoption petition prepared by an adoption agency as an accommodation to that agency without undertaking professional responsibility for the adoption proceeding.

RPC 151. Although a corporate insurer acting through its employees cannot practice law and appear on behalf of others, a lawyer who is a full-time employee of an insurance company may represent the company in an action where the company is a named party.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 7. Opinion rules that a law firm may employ a disbarred lawyer as a paralegal provided the firm accepts no new clients who were clients of the disbarred lawyer's former firm during the period of misconduct; however, a disbarred lawyer may not work as a paralegal at a firm where he was employed as a lawyer during the period of misconduct.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 8. Opinion rules that a lawyer may not participate in a closing or sign a preliminary title opinion if, after reasonable inquiry, the lawyer believes that the title abstract or opinion was prepared by a nonlawyer without supervision by a licensed North Carolina lawyer.

Rule 5.6. Restrictions on right to practice.

(a) A lawyer shall not be a party to or participate in a partnership or employment agreement with another lawyer or law firm that restricts the right of a lawyer to practice after termination of the relationship created by the agreement, except as a condition to payment of retirement benefits.

(b) In connection with the settlement of a controversy or suit, a lawyer shall not enter into an agreement that restricts his or her right to practice law.

COMMENT

An agreement restricting the right of partners or associates to practice after leaving a firm not only limits their professional autonomy, but also limits the freedom of clients to choose a lawyer. Paragraph (a) prohibits such agreements except for restrictions incident to provisions concerning retirement benefits for service with the firm.

Paragraph (b) prohibits a lawyer from agreeing not to represent other persons in connection with settling a claim on behalf of a client.

This Rule does not prohibit restrictions that may be included in the terms of the sale of a law practice pursuant to Rule 1.17.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 5.6 is substantially similar to Model Rule 5.6 and Rule 2.7 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

RPC 13. A retirement agreement may require a lawyer to accept inactive status as a member of the State Bar as a condition of payment of retirement benefits.

RPC 179. A lawyer may not offer or enter into a settlement agreement that contains a provision barring the lawyer who represents the settling party from representing other claimants against the opposing party.

PUBLIC SERVICE*Rule 6.1. Reserved.*Rule 6.2. Reserved.*Rule 6.3. Membership in legal services organization.

A lawyer may serve as a director, officer or member of a legal services organization, apart from the law firm in which the lawyer practices, notwithstanding that the organization serves persons having interests adverse to a client of the lawyer. The lawyer shall not knowingly participate in a decision or action of the organization:

(a) if participating in the decision or action would be incompatible with the lawyer's obligations to a client under Rule 1.7; or

(b) where the decision or action could have a material adverse effect on the representation of a client of the organization whose interests are adverse to a client of the lawyer.

COMMENT

Lawyers should be encouraged to support and participate in legal service organizations. A lawyer who is an officer or a member of such an organization does not thereby have a client-lawyer relationship with persons served by the organization. However, there is potential conflict between the interests of such persons and the interests of the lawyer's clients. If the possibility of such conflict disqualified a lawyer from serving on the board of a legal services organization, the profession's involvement in such organizations would be severely curtailed.

It may be necessary in appropriate cases to reassure a client of the organization that the representation will not be affected by conflicting loyalties of a member of the board. Established written policies in this respect can enhance the credibility of such assurances.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 6.3 is identical to Model Rule 6.3. Rule 6.3 has no counterpart in the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 68. An attorney may serve on the board of a legal aid society and represent a client against a party represented by a legal aid lawyer.

Rule 6.4. Law reform activities affecting client interests.

A lawyer may serve as a director, officer or member of an organization involved in reform of the law or its administration notwithstanding that the reform may affect the interests of a client of the lawyer. When the lawyer knows that the interests of a client may be materially benefited by a decision in which the lawyer participates, the lawyer shall disclose that fact but need not identify the client.

COMMENT

Lawyers involved in organizations seeking law reform generally do not have a client-lawyer relationship with the organization. Otherwise, it might follow that a lawyer could not be involved in a bar association law reform program that might indirectly affect a client. See also Rule 1.2(b). For example, a lawyer specializing in antitrust litigation might be regarded as disqualified from participating in drafting revisions of rules governing that subject. In determining the nature and scope of participation in such activities, a lawyer should be mindful of obligations to clients under other Rules, particularly Rule 1.7. A lawyer is professionally obligated to protect the integrity of the program by making an appropriate disclosure within the organization when the lawyer knows a private client might be materially benefited.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 6.4 is identical to Model Rule 6.4. Rule 6.4 has no counterpart in the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

Rule 6.5. Action as a public official.

A lawyer who holds public office shall not:

(a) use his or her public position to obtain, or attempt to obtain, a special advantage in legislative matters for himself or herself, or for a client under circumstances where the lawyer knows or it is obvious that such action is not in the public interest;

(b) use his or her public position to influence, or attempt to influence, a tribunal to act in favor of himself or herself or his or her client; or

(c) accept anything of value from any person when the lawyer knows or it is obvious that the offer is for the purpose of influencing the lawyer's action as a public official.

COMMENT

Lawyers often serve as legislators or as holders of other public offices. This is highly desirable, as lawyers are uniquely qualified to make significant contributions to the improvement of the legal system. A lawyer who is a public officer, whether full or part time, should not engage in activities in which the lawyer's personal or professional interests are or foreseeably may be in conflict with his or her official duties.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 6.5 has no counterpart in the Model Rules. Rule 6.5 is identical to Rule 8.1 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 177. An attorney on the county board of health may not represent a client before such board, but he may resign and represent the client if he acquired no relevant confidential information while on the board.

CPR 189. An attorney member of the city council with control over the police department may not represent a criminal defendant when a police officer is a prosecuting witness.

CPR 231. An attorney-legislator may represent a criminal defendant when a State highway patrolman is the prosecuting witness.

CPR 233. An attorney member of the city council with control over the police department may not represent a criminal defendant when a police officer is a prosecuting witness even if he withdraws from consideration of the budget.

CPR 263. An emergency judge may not practice law.

CPR 290. An attorney who serves as a member of a county or municipal governing board, or State or federal legislative body, or any entity thereunder, or committee thereof, shall not hear or consider any matter coming before that governing body or entity in which that member or his firm has any direct or indirect interest.

Pursuant to such prohibition, it shall be unethical for that member to attempt to influence in any way, publicly or privately, the actions or decisions of the governing body or entity or its staff with respect to any matter on which his partner or associate is appearing.

If an attorney or his employee serves as a member of a county or municipal governing board, or State or federal legislative body of any entity thereunder, or committee thereof, it shall be unethical for his partner, associate or employer to represent such governing body or entity. (But see: RPC 193.)

It is not unethical as such for an attorney whose spouse or relative is on any county or municipal governing board, or State or federal legislative body, or any entity thereunder, or committee thereof, to appear before or represent that governing body or entity. However, it is unethical for an attorney to use his relationship to a member of any governing board to gain (or retain) employment or obtain favorable decisions.

CPR 327. An attorney who serves on per diem basis as a hearing examiner for a public agency may not participate in hearings on behalf of clients before other examiners. His partners and associates may not appear before him, but may appear before other hearing examiners. If the attorney-examiner is appointed to the full board he may not appear before the board under any conditions. His partners should abide by CPR 290.

CPR 335. An attorney-magistrate may privately practice law. He may not appear in any criminal case, in any civil case originating in the small claims court in his county, or in any case with which he had any connection as a magistrate.

CPR 360. An attorney may counsel a quasi-judicial board and also act as a hearing examiner rendering decisions appealable to the same board during the same time span, but may not act in both capacities in the same case.

RPC 53. A lawyer may sue a municipality his partner serves as a member of its governing body. (But see RPC 160.)

RPC 63. An attorney may represent the school board while serving as a county commissioner with certain restrictions.

RPC 73. Opinion clarifies two lines of authority in prior ethics opinions. Where an attorney serves on a governing body, such as a county commission, the attorney is disqualified from representing criminal defendants where a member of the sheriff's department is a prosecuting witness. The attorney's partners are not disqualified.

Where an attorney advises a governing body, such as a county commission, but is not a commissioner herself, and in that capacity represents the sheriff's department relative to criminal matters, the attorney may not represent criminal defendants if a member of the sheriff's department will be a prosecuting witness. In this situation the attorney's partners would also be disqualified from representing the criminal defendants.

RPC 95. An assistant district attorney may prosecute cases while serving on the school board.

RPC 105. A public defender may represent criminal defendants while serving on the school board.

RPC 130. An attorney may accept employment on behalf of a governing board upon which his or her partner sits if such is otherwise lawful.

RPC 160. A lawyer whose associate is a member of a public hospital's board of trustees may not sue the hospital on behalf of a client.

INFORMATION ABOUT LEGAL SERVICES

Rule 7.1. Communications concerning a lawyer's services.

A lawyer shall not make a false or misleading communication about the lawyer or the lawyer's services. A communication is false or misleading if it:

(a) contains a material misrepresentation of fact or law, or omits a fact necessary to make the statement considered as a whole not materially misleading;

(b) is likely to create an unjustified expectation about results the lawyer can achieve, or states or implies that the lawyer can achieve results by means that violate the Rules of Professional Conduct or other law; or

(c) compares the lawyer's services with other lawyers' services, unless the comparison can be factually substantiated.

COMMENT

This Rule governs all communications about a lawyer's services, including advertising permitted by Rule 7.2. Whatever means are used to make known a lawyer's services, statements about them should be truthful. The prohibition in paragraph (b) of statements that may create "unjustified expectations" would ordinarily preclude advertisements about results obtained on behalf of a client, such as the amount of a damage award or the lawyer's record in obtaining favorable verdicts, and advertisements containing client endorsements. Such information may create the unjustified expectation that similar results can be obtained for others without reference to the specific factual and legal circumstances.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

2000 Formal Ethics Opinion 1 Opinion rules that, in the absence of a full explanation, advertising a lawyer's or a law firm's record in obtaining favorable verdicts is misleading and prohibited.

CPR 253. A paralegal employed by a law firm may have a business card with the firm's identification.

RPC 5. An attorney holding a Juris Doctor degree may not on that basis refer to himself or herself as a "Doctor".

RPC 135. An attorney may not participate in a private lawyer referral service which advertises that its participants are "the best."

RPC 161. A television commercial for legal services which fails to mention that bankruptcy is the debt relief described in the commercial and describes results obtained for others is misleading.

RPC 164. Television commercials for an attorney's services that depict fictional clients and cases are misleading and prohibited.

RPC 217. A local or remote call forwarding telephone number may not be included in an advertisement for legal services disseminated in a community where the law firm has neither an office nor a lawyer present in the community unless an explanation is included in the advertisement.

RPC 239. A lawyer may display truthful information about the lawyer's legal services on a World Wide Web site accessed via the Internet.

RPC 241. A lawyer may participate in a directory of lawyers on the Internet if the information about the lawyer in the directory is truthful.

97 Formal Ethics Opinion 6. The omission of the lawyer's address from a targeted direct mail letter is a material misrepresentation.

Rule 7.2. Advertising.

(a) Subject to the requirements of Rules 7.1 and 7.3, a lawyer may advertise services through public media, such as a telephone directory, legal directory, newspaper or other periodical, outdoor advertising, radio or television, or other written or recorded communication.

(b) A copy or recording of an advertisement or communication shall be kept for two years after its last dissemination along with a record of when and where it was used.

(c) Any communication made pursuant to this rule other than that of a lawyer referral service as described in subsection (e) shall include the name of at least one lawyer or law firm responsible for its content.

(d) A lawyer shall not give anything of value to a person for recommending the lawyer's services except that a lawyer may:

(1) pay the reasonable cost of advertisements or communications permitted by this Rule; or

(2) pay for a law practice in accordance with Rule 1.17.

(e) A lawyer may participate in a lawyer referral service subject to the following conditions:

(1) the lawyer is professionally responsible for its operation including the use of a false, deceptive or misleading name by the referral service;

(2) the referral service is not operated for a profit;

(3) the lawyer may pay to the lawyer referral service only a reasonable sum which represents a proportionate share of the referral service's administrative and advertising costs;

(4) the lawyer does not directly or indirectly receive anything of value other than legal fees earned from representation of clients referred by the service;

(5) employees of the referral service do not initiate contact with prospective clients and do not engage in live telephone or in-person solicitation of clients;

(6) the referral service does not collect any sums from clients or potential clients for use of the service; and

(7) all advertisements by the lawyer referral service shall:

(i) state that a list of all participating lawyers will be mailed free of charge to members of the public upon request and state where such information may be obtained; and

(ii) explain the method by which the needs of the prospective client are matched with the qualifications of the recommended lawyer.

COMMENT

To assist the public in obtaining legal services, lawyers are permitted to make known their services not only through reputation, but also through organized information campaigns in the form of advertising. Nevertheless, lawyers should be aware that advertising may entail practices that are misleading, overreaching, deceptive, coercive, intimidating, or vexatious.

This Rule permits public dissemination of information concerning a lawyer's name or firm name, address and telephone number; the kinds of services the lawyer will undertake; the basis on which the lawyer's fees are determined, including prices for specific services and payment and credit arrangements; a lawyer's foreign language ability; names of references and, with their consent, names of clients regularly represented; and other information that might invite the attention of those seeking legal assistance.

Neither this Rule nor Rule 7.3 prohibits communications authorized bylaw, such as notice to members of a class in class action litigation.

Record of Advertising

Paragraph (b) requires that a record of the content and use of advertising be kept in order to facilitate enforcement of this Rule. It does not require that advertising be subject to review prior to dissemination.

Paying Others to Recommend a Lawyer

A lawyer is allowed to pay for advertising permitted by this Rule and for the purchase of a law practice in accordance with the provisions of Rule 1.17, but otherwise is not permitted to pay another person for channeling professional work. This restriction does not prevent an organization or person other than the lawyer from advertising or recommending the lawyers services. Thus, a legal aid agency or prepaid legal services plan may pay to advertise legal services provided under its auspices. Paragraph (d) does not prohibit paying regular compensation to an assistant, such as a secretary, to prepare communications permitted by this rule.

A lawyer may participate in a lawyer referral service that is not operated for a profit and pay the usual fees charged by such programs. Any lawyer who participates in a referral service is professionally responsible for the operation of the service in accordance with these Rules regardless of the lawyers knowledge, or lack of knowledge, of the activities of the service. The service may not charge potential clients a fee and employees of the service may not engage in telephone or in-person solicitation of clients. The term "referral" implies that some attempt is made to match the needs of the prospective client with the qualifications of the recommended lawyer. To avoid misrepresentation, paragraph (e)(vii)(B) requires that every advertisement for the service must include an explanation of the method by which a prospective client is matched with the lawyer to whom he or she is referred.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 7.2 is similar to Model Rule 7.2. Unlike the Model Rule, Rule 7.2 includes specific regulations governing participation in a lawyer referral service. Rule 7.2 is substantially similar to Rule 2.2 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct. However, some of the requirements for participation in a lawyer referral service are modified.

RPC 161. A television commercial for legal services which fails to mention that bankruptcy is the debt relief described in the commercial and describes results obtained for others is misleading.

RPC 239. A lawyer may display truthful information about the lawyer's legal services on a World Wide Web site accessed via the Internet.

RPC 241. A lawyer may participate in a directory of lawyers on the Internet if the information about the lawyer in the directory is truthful.

Rule 7.3. Direct contact with prospective clients.

(a) A lawyer shall not by in-person or live telephone contact solicit professional employment from a prospective client with whom the lawyer has no family or prior professional relationship when a significant motive for the lawyer's doing so is the lawyer's pecuniary gain.

(b) A lawyer shall not solicit professional employment from a prospective client by written or recorded communication or by in-person or telephone contact even when not otherwise prohibited by paragraph (a), if:

(1) the prospective client has made known to the lawyer a desire not to be solicited by the lawyer; or

(2) the solicitation involves coercion, duress, harassment, compulsion, intimidation, or threats.

(c) Every written or recorded communication from a lawyer soliciting professional employment from a prospective client known to be in need of legal services in a particular matter, and with whom the lawyer has no family or prior professional relationship, shall include the words "This is an advertisement for legal services" on the outside envelope and at the beginning of the body of the written communication in print as large or larger than the lawyers or law firm's name and at the beginning and ending of any recorded communication.

(d) Notwithstanding the prohibitions in paragraph (a), a lawyer may participate with a prepaid or group legal service plan operated by an organization not owned or directed by the lawyer which uses in-person or telephone contact to solicit memberships or subscriptions for the plan from persons who are not known to need legal services in a particular matter covered by the plan, so long as such contact does not involve coercion, duress, or harassment and is not false, deceptive, or misleading.

COMMENT

There is a potential for abuse inherent in direct in-person or live telephone contact by a lawyer with a prospective client known to need legal services. These forms of contact between a lawyer and a prospective client subject the layperson to the private importuning of the trained advocate in a direct interpersonal encounter. The prospective client, who may already feel overwhelmed by the circumstances giving rise to the need for legal services, may find it difficult fully to evaluate all available alternatives with reasoned judgment and appropriate self-interest in the face of the lawyer's presence and insistence upon being retained immediately. The situation is fraught with the possibility of undue influence, intimidation, and over-reaching.

This potential for abuse inherent in direct in-person or live telephone solicitation of prospective clients justifies its prohibition, particularly since lawyer advertising and written and recorded communication permitted under Rule 7.2 offer alternative means of conveying necessary information to those who may be in need of legal services. Advertising and written and recorded communications which may be mailed or autodialed make it possible for a prospective client to be informed about the need for legal services, and about the qualifications of available lawyers and law firms, without subjecting the prospective client to direct in-person or telephone persuasion that may overwhelm the client's judgment.

The use of general advertising and written and recorded communications to transmit information from lawyer to prospective client, rather than direct in-person or live telephone contact, will help to assure that the information flows cleanly as well as freely. The contents of advertisements and communications permitted under Rule 7.2 are permanently recorded so that they cannot be disputed and may be shared with others who know the lawyer. This potential for informal review is itself likely to help guard against statements and claims that might constitute false and misleading communications, in violation of Rule 7.1. The contents of direct in-person or live telephone conversations between a lawyer to a prospective client can be disputed and are not subject to third-party scrutiny. Consequently, they are much more likely to approach (and occasionally cross) the dividing line between accurate representations and those that are false and misleading.

There is far less likelihood that a lawyer would engage in abusive practices against an individual with whom the lawyer has a prior family or professional relationship or where the lawyer is motivated by considerations other than the lawyer's pecuniary gain. Consequently, the general prohibition in Rule 7.3(a) and the requirements of Rule 7.3(c) are not applicable in those situations.

Even permitted forms of solicitation can be abused. Thus, any solicitation which contains information which is false or misleading within the meaning of Rule 7.1, which involves coercion, duress, harassment, compulsion, intimidation, or threats within the meaning of Rule 7.3(b)(2), or which involves contact with a prospective client who has made known to the lawyer a desire not to be solicited by the lawyer within the meaning of Rule 7.3(b)(1) is prohibited. Moreover, if after sending a letter or other communication to a client as permitted by Rule 7.2 the lawyer receives no response, any further effort to communicate with the prospective client may violate the provisions of Rule 7.3(b).

This Rule is not intended to prohibit a lawyer from contacting representatives of organizations or groups that may be interested in establishing a group or prepaid legal plan for their members, insureds, beneficiaries or other third parties for the purpose of informing such entities of the availability of and details concerning the plan or arrangement which the lawyer or lawyer's firm is willing to offer. This form of communication is not directed to a prospective client. Rather, it is usually addressed to an individual acting in a fiduciary capacity seeking a supplier of legal services for others who may, if they choose, become prospective clients of the lawyer. Under these circumstances, the activity which the lawyer undertakes in communicating with such representatives and the type of information transmitted to the individual are functionally similar to and serve the same purpose as advertising permitted under Rule 7.2.

Paragraph (c) of this Rule requires that all direct mail solicitations of prospective clients must be mailed in an envelope on which the statement "This is an advertisement for legal services" appears. Postcards may not be used for direct mail solicitations. The advertising disclosure statement must also appear at the beginning of the enclosed letter in print at least as large as the print used for the letterhead. The requirement that certain communications be marked "This is an advertisement for legal services" does not apply to communications sent in response to requests of potential clients or their spokespersons or sponsors. General announcements by lawyers, including changes in personnel or office location, do not constitute communications soliciting professional employment from a client known to be in need of legal services within the meaning of this Rule. ••

Paragraph (d) of this Rule would permit an attorney to participate with an organization which uses personal contact to solicit members for its group or prepaid legal service plan, provided that the personal contact is not undertaken by any lawyer who would be a provider of legal services through the plan. The organization referred to in paragraph (d) must not be owned by or directed (whether as manager or otherwise) by any lawyer or law firm that participates in the plan. For example, paragraph (d) would not permit a lawyer to create an organization controlled directly or indirectly by the lawyer and use the organization for the in-person or telephone solicitation of legal employment of the lawyer through memberships in the plan or otherwise. The communication permitted by these organizations also must not be directed to a person known to need legal services in a particular matter, but is to be designed to inform potential plan members generally of another means of affordable legal services. Lawyers who participate in a legal service plan must reasonably assure that the plan sponsors are in compliance with Rules 7.1, 7.2 and 7.3(b). See 8.4(a).

Rule 7.4. Communication of fields of practice.

(a) A lawyer may communicate the fact that the lawyer does or does not practice in particular fields of law.

(b) A lawyer may not communicate that the lawyer is a certified specialist or certified in a field of practice except as provided in this rule.

(c) A lawyer may communicate that the lawyer is certified as a specialist or certified in a field of practice when the communication states the name of the certifying organization and is not false or misleading, and

(1) the certification is granted by the North Carolina State Bar;

(2) the certification is granted by an organization which has been approved by the North Carolina State Bar; or

(3) the certification is granted by an organization which has been approved by the American Bar Association under procedures and criteria which have been approved by the American Bar Association and which have been endorsed by the North Carolina State Bar.

COMMENT

The use of the word "specialize" in any of its variant forms connotes to the public a particular expertise often subject to recognition by the state. Indeed, the North Carolina State Bar has instituted programs providing for official certification of specialists in certain areas of practice. Certification procedures imply that an objective entity has recognized a lawyer's higher degree of specialized ability than is suggested by general licensure to practice law. Those objective entities should apply standards of competence, experience and knowledge to insure that a lawyer's recognition as a specialist is meaningful and reliable. To avoid misrepresentation and deception, a lawyer may not communicate that the lawyer has been recognized or certified as a specialist in a particular field of law, except as provided by this Rule. The Rule requires that any representation of specialty may be made only if the certifying organization is the North Carolina State Bar, an organization approved by the North Carolina State Bar, or an organization approved by the American Bar Association under procedures approved by the North Carolina State Bar. To insure that consumers can obtain access to useful information about an organization granting certification, the name of the certifying organization or agency must be included in any communication regarding the certification.

A lawyer may, however, describe his or her practice without using the term "specialize" in any manner which is truthful and not misleading. This rule specifically permits a lawyer to indicate areas of practice in communications about the lawyer's services. If a lawyer practices only in certain fields, or will not accept matters except in a specified field or fields, the lawyer is permitted to so indicate. The lawyer may, for instance, indicate a "concentration" or an "interest" or a "limitation".

Recognition of expertise in patent matters is a matter of long-established policy of the Patent and Trademark Office. A lawyer admitted to engage in patent practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office may use the designation "Patent Attorney" or a substantially similar designation.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 7.4 is similar to Model Rule 7.4, except Model Rule 7.4 specifically allows a lawyer to state that he or she is a specialist in patent practice and admiralty law. Rule 7.4 does not allow these or other designations as a specialist unless the lawyer is certified as a specialist by the State Bar or an organization approved by the State Bar or the ABA. Rule 7.4 is similar to Rule 2.5 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

CASE NOTES

U.S. Const., Amend. I prohibits states from categorically prohibiting lawyers from advertising their certification as specialists by bona fide private organizations. Lesser restrictions are available to eliminate any potential confusion caused by such advertisements. Peel v. Attorney Registration & Disciplinary Comm'n, 496 U.S. 91, 110 S. Ct. 2281, 110 L. Ed. 2d 83 (1990).

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

RPC 43. An attorney who is certified as a specialist by the Board of Legal Specialization may so indicate in an advertisement in any way that is not false, deceptive or misleading.

Rule 7.5. Firm names and letterheads.

(a) A lawyer shall not use a firm name, letterhead or other professional designation that violates Rule 7.1. A trade name may not be used by a lawyer in private practice if it implies a connection with a government agency or with a public or charitable legal services organization or is false or misleading in violation of Rule 7.1. Every trade name used by a law firm shall be registered with the North Carolina State Bar, and upon a determination by the council that such name is potentially misleading, a remedial disclaimer or an appropriate identification of the firm's composition or connection may be required. For purposes of this paragraph, the use of the name of a deceased or retired former member of a firm shall not render the firm name a trade name nor shall the use of such designations as "Law Offices of John Doe," "Smith and Associates," "Jones Law Firm," and the like.

(b) A law firm with offices in more than one jurisdiction may use the same name in each jurisdiction, but identification of the lawyers in an office of the firm shall indicate the jurisdictional limitations on those not licensed to practice in the jurisdiction where the office is located.

(c) A law firm maintaining offices only in North Carolina may not list any person not licensed to practice law in North Carolina as a lawyer affiliated with the firm unless the listing properly identifies the jurisdiction in which the lawyer is licensed and states that the lawyer is not licensed in North Carolina.

(d) The name of a lawyer holding a public office shall not be used in the name of a law firm, or in communications on its behalf, during any substantial period in which the lawyer is not actively and regularly practicing with the firm, whether or not the lawyer is precluded from practicing law.

(e) Lawyers may state or imply that they practice in a partnership or other professional organization only when that is the fact.

(f) No lawyer may practice in a partnership or other professional organization in which any lawyer not licensed to practice law in North Carolina owns an interest as a partner, shareholder, member or other similar designation unless law offices are maintained in North Carolina and in a state where such other lawyer is licensed and a certificate of registration authorizing said professional relationship is first obtained from the secretary of the North Carolina State Bar.

COMMENT

A firm may be designated by the names of all or some of its members, by the names of deceased or retired members where there has been a continuing succession in the firm's identity or by a trade name such as the "ABC Legal Clinic." Use of trade names in law practice is acceptable so long as they are not misleading and are otherwise in conformance with the rules and regulations of the State Bar. It may be observed that any firm name including the name of a deceased or retired partner is, strictly speaking, a trade name. The use of such names, as well as such names as "Law Offices of John Doe" and "Smith and Associates," to designate law firms has proven a useful means of identification and are permissible. However, it is misleading to use the name of a lawyer not associated with the firm or a predecessor of the firm. It is also misleading to use a designation such as "Smith and Associates" for a solo practice. The name of a retired partner may be used in the name of a law firm only if the partner has ceased the practice of law.

It is unlawful for a person trained as an attorney to practice North Carolina law without a North Carolina law license. It is therefore misleading for such a person to be listed in the firm letterhead as having any continuing affiliation with the firm unless the law firm actively maintains a law office in a jurisdiction where the lawyer is licensed. If law offices are maintained in another jurisdiction, the law firm is an interstate law firm and must register with the North Carolina State Bar as required by 27 N.C.A.C. 1E, Section .0200.

This rule does not prohibit the employment by a law firm of a lawyer who is licensed to practice in another jurisdiction, but not in North Carolina, provided the lawyer's practice is limited to areas that do not require a North Carolina law license, such as immigration law, federal tort claims, military law, and the like. The lawyer's name may be included in the firm letterhead, provided all communications by such lawyer on behalf of the firm indicate the jurisdiction in which the lawyer is licensed as well as the fact that the lawyer is not licensed in North Carolina.

Nothing in these rules shall be construed to confer the right to practice North Carolina law upon any lawyer not licensed to practice law in North Carolina.

With regard to paragraph (e), lawyers sharing office facilities, but who are not in fact partners, may not denominate themselves as, for example, "Smith and Jones," for that title suggests partnership in the practice of law.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997; Adopted April 17, 1998.

Editor's note. — Rule 7.5 expands upon the restrictions imposed in Model Rule 7.5. Rule 7.5 is essentially the same as Rule 2.3 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

and to refer cases to each other is improper in the absence of a bona fide partnership.

CPR 248. The use of A and B as a firm name is improper when Attorney A employs Attorney B as an associate.

CPR 256. North Carolina firm may not use the name of an out-of-state firm from which it receives referrals where there is no bona fide interstate partnership.

CPR 265. Attorneys who share offices but are not partners may not answer phone as A, B, and C attorneys, but may answer "law offices." If there is a true partnership, partners must use stationery with the firm letterhead.

CPR 274. It is possible for attorneys to share offices and still represent conflicting interests if they maintain separate telephones and have different secretaries.

CPR 307. An attorney who is also a real estate broker may so indicate on his letterhead. He may operate both businesses from same office.

CPR 330. Letterhead of attorneys in realty business may also show the designation, "attorney at law."

CPR 371. An attorney who is unlicensed in North Carolina and who limits his practice to federal tax law may not become a partner of law firm nor be listed on the firm's letterhead. He may be employed and paid a salary. (But see Revised Rule 7.5(c).)

RPC 5. An attorney holding a Juris Doctor degree may not on that basis hold himself out as "Doctor."

RPC 25. It is improper to list an unlicensed attorney on letterhead as “of counsel” or “consulting attorney”.

RPC 31. A law firm may not list on its letterhead a “corresponding” attorney in another location.

RPC 34. An attorney licensed in North Carolina and another state who is semi-retired from a law firm in the other state can be “of counsel” to the North Carolina firm so long as he has a close, though not necessarily daily, association with North Carolina firm.

RPC 85. An “of counsel” relationship may exist between lawyers practicing in different towns if the professional relationship is close, regular and personal and the designation is not otherwise false or misleading.

RPC 126. Nonlawyers may be listed as such on the letterhead of lawyers.

MAINTAINING THE INTEGRITY OF THE PROFESSION

Rule 8.1. Bar admission and disciplinary matters.

An applicant for admission to the bar, or a lawyer in connection with a bar admission application or in connection with a disciplinary matter, shall not:

- (a) knowingly make a false statement of material fact; or
- (b) fail to disclose a fact necessary to correct a misapprehension known by the person to have arisen in the matter, or knowingly fail to respond to a lawful demand for information from an admissions or disciplinary authority, except that this rule does not require disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6.

COMMENT

The duty imposed by this Rule extends to persons seeking admission to the bar as well as to lawyers. Hence, if a person makes a material false statement in connection with an application for admission, it may be the basis for subsequent disciplinary action if the person is admitted, and, in any event, may be relevant in a subsequent admission application. The duty imposed by this Rule applies to a lawyer’s own admission or discipline as well as that of others. Thus, it is a separate professional offense for a lawyer to knowingly make a misrepresentation or omission in connection with a disciplinary investigation of the lawyer’s own conduct. This Rule also requires affirmative clarification of any misunderstanding on the part of the admissions or disciplinary authority of which the person involved becomes aware. It should also be noted that G.S. Sect. 84-28(b)(3) defines failure to answer a formal inquiry of the North Carolina State Bar as misconduct for which discipline is appropriate.

This Rule is subject to the provisions of the fifth amendment of the United States Constitution and corresponding provisions of the North Carolina Constitution. A person relying on such a provision in response to a question, however, should do so openly and not use the right of nondisclosure as a justification for failure to comply with this Rule.

A lawyer representing an applicant for admission to the bar, or representing a lawyer who is the subject of a disciplinary inquiry or proceeding, is governed by the rules applicable to the client-lawyer relationship.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor’s note. — Rule 8.1 is identical to Model Rule 8.1 and Rule 1.1 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

Among other things, attorney knowingly made false statements of material fact on his application for admission to the State Bar. Disbarred. 93 DHC 33.

Assistant U.S. Attorney lied to defense counsel about timing of indictment in criminal case and then denied misconduct to the State Bar Grievance Committee. Reprimand. 96 DHC 9.

Rule 8.2. Judges and other adjudicatory officers.

(a) A lawyer shall not make a statement that the lawyer knows to be false or with reckless disregard as to its truth or falsity concerning the qualifications or integrity of a judge or other adjudicatory officer, or of a candidate for election or appointment to judicial office.

(b) A lawyer who is a candidate for judicial office shall comply with the applicable provisions of the Code of Judicial Conduct.

COMMENT

Assessments by lawyers are relied on in evaluating the professional or personal fitness of persons being considered for election or appointment to judicial office. Expressing honest and candid opinions on such matters contributes to improving the administration of justice. Conversely, false statements by a lawyer can unfairly undermine public confidence in the administration of justice.

When a lawyer seeks judicial office, the lawyer should be bound by applicable limitations on political activity.

Adjudicatory officials, not being wholly free to defend themselves, are entitled to receive the support of the bar against unjust criticism. A lawyer should come to the defense of a member of the judiciary who the lawyer knows is being unjustly attacked.

While a lawyer as a citizen has a right to criticize such officials publicly, the lawyer should be certain of the merit of the complaint, use appropriate language, and avoid petty criticisms, for unrestrained and intemperate statements tend to lessen public confidence in our legal system. Criticisms motivated by reasons other than a desire to improve the legal system are not justified.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 8.2 is identical to Model Rule 8.2 and substantially similar to Rule 8.2 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct.

Rule 8.3. Reporting professional misconduct.

(a) A lawyer having knowledge that another lawyer has committed a violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct that raises a substantial question as to that lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a lawyer in other respects, shall inform the North Carolina State Bar or the court having jurisdiction over the matter.

(b) A lawyer having knowledge that a judge has committed a violation of applicable rules of judicial conduct that raises a substantial question as to the judge's fitness for office shall inform the North Carolina Judicial Standards Commission or other appropriate authority.

(c) This Rule does not require disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6.

(d) A lawyer who has been disciplined in any state or federal court for a violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct in effect in such state or federal court will inform the secretary of such action in writing no later than 30 days after entry of the order of discipline.

COMMENT

Self-regulation of the legal profession requires that members of the profession initiate disciplinary investigation when they know of a violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct. Lawyers have a similar obligation with respect to judicial misconduct. An apparently isolated violation may indicate a pattern of misconduct that only a disciplinary investigation can uncover. Reporting a violation is especially important where the victim is unlikely to discover the offense.

Although the North Carolina State Bar is always an appropriate place to report a violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct, the courts of North Carolina have concurrent jurisdiction over the conduct of the lawyers who appear before them. Therefore, a lawyer's duty to report may be satisfied by reporting to the presiding judge the misconduct of any lawyer who is representing a client before the court. The court's authority to impose discipline on a lawyer found to have engaged in misconduct extends beyond the usual sanctions imposed in an order entered pursuant to Rule 11 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure.

A report about misconduct is not required where it would involve violation of Rule 1.6. However, a lawyer should encourage a client to consent to disclosure where prosecution would not substantially prejudice the client's interests.

If a lawyer were obliged to report every violation of the Rules, the failure to report any violation would itself be a professional offense. Such a requirement existed in many jurisdictions, but proved to be unenforceable. This Rule limits the reporting obligation to those offenses that a self-regulating profession must vigorously endeavor to prevent. A measure of judgment is, therefore, required in complying with the provisions of this Rule. The term "substantial" refers to the seriousness of the possible offense and not the quantum of evidence of which the lawyer is aware. A report should be made to the bar disciplinary agency unless some other agency, such as a peer review agency, is more appropriate in the circumstances. Similar considerations apply to the reporting of judicial misconduct.

The duty to report professional misconduct does not apply to a lawyer retained to represent a lawyer whose professional conduct is in question. Such a situation is governed by the Rules applicable to the client-lawyer relationship.

Information about a lawyer's or judge's misconduct or fitness may be received by a lawyer in the course of that lawyer's participation in an approved lawyers or judges assistance program. In that circumstance, providing for the confidentiality of such information encourages lawyers and judges to seek treatment through such program. Conversely, without such confidentiality, lawyers and judges may hesitate to seek assistance from these programs, which may then result in additional harm to their professional careers and additional injury to the welfare of clients and the public. For this reason, Rule 1.6(b) includes in the definition of confidential information any information regarding a lawyer or judge seeking assistance received by a lawyer acting as an agent of a lawyers' or judges'; assistance program approved by the North Carolina State Bar or the North Carolina Supreme Court. Because such information is protected from disclosure by Rule 1.6, a lawyer is exempt from the reporting requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) with respect to such information. On the other hand, a lawyer who receives such information would nevertheless be required to comply with the Rule 8.3 reporting provisions to report misconduct if the impaired lawyer or judge indicates an intent to engage in illegal activity, for example, conversion of client funds to his or her use.

CASE NOTES

Knowledge of a Clear Violation. — An allegation that an attorney and a district court judge knew that the plaintiff's attorney failed to perfect an appeal did not support an inference that defendants had "knowledge of a clear violation of DR1-102" which should have been reported to the State Bar, since there are many legitimate reasons why an appeal may not be perfected. Williams v. Council of North Carolina State Bar, 46 N.C. App. 824, 266 S.E.2d 391, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 106 (1980).

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

The attorney had unprivileged knowledge that his law partner had misappropriated client funds, but failed to report the misconduct to the Bar or other appropriate authority. Reprimand. 89 DHC 5.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

CPR 342. An attorney is not obligated to report violations of the law committed by nonlawyers.

RPC 17. An attorney who acquires knowledge of apparent misconduct must report the matter to the State Bar.

RPC 84. An attorney may not condition settlement of a civil dispute on an agreement not to report lawyer misconduct.

RPC 127. An attorney must report information to the State Bar concerning another attorney's disbursement of conditionally delivered settlement proceeds without satisfying all conditions precedent if the disbursement was made in knowing disregard of such conditions and if such information is not confidential.

RPC 243. Opinion analyzes whether conduct "raises a substantial question" as to a lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness so as to require reporting to the State Bar.

Rule 8.4. Misconduct.

It is professional misconduct for a lawyer to:

- (a) violate or attempt to violate the Rules of Professional Conduct, knowingly assist or induce another to do so, or do so through the acts of another;
- (b) commit a criminal act that reflects adversely on the lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a lawyer in other respects;
- (c) engage in conduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit or misrepresentation;
- (d) engage in conduct that is prejudicial to the administration of justice;
- (e) state or imply an ability to influence improperly a government agency or official;
- (f) knowingly assist a judge or judicial officer in conduct that is a violation of applicable rules of judicial conduct or other law; or
- (g) intentionally prejudice or damage his or her client during the course of the professional relationship, except as may be required by Rule 3.3.

COMMENT

Many kinds of illegal conduct reflect adversely on a lawyer's fitness to practice law, such as offenses involving fraud and the offense of willful failure to file an income tax return. However, some kinds of offenses carry no such implication. Although a lawyer is personally answerable to the entire criminal law, a lawyer should be professionally answerable only for offenses that indicate lack of those characteristics relevant to law practice. Offenses involving violence, dishonesty, breach of trust, or serious interference with the administration of justice are in that category. A pattern of repeated offenses, even ones of minor significance when considered separately, can indicate indifference to legal obligation. A lawyer's dishonesty, fraud, deceit or misrepresentation is not mitigated by virtue of the fact that the victim may be the lawyer's partners or law firm. A lawyer who steals funds, for instance, is guilty of the most serious disciplinary violation, regardless of whether the victim is the lawyer's employer, partner, law firm, client or a third party.

The purpose of professional discipline for misconduct is not punishment, but to protect the public, the courts and the legal profession. Lawyer discipline affects only the lawyer's license to practice law. It does not result in incarceration. For this reason, to establish a violation of Paragraph (b), the burden of proof is the same as for any other violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct: it must be shown, by clear, cogent and convincing evidence, that the lawyer committed a criminal act that reflects adversely on the lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness as a lawyer. Conviction of a crime is conclusive evidence that the lawyer committed a criminal act, although to establish a violation of paragraph (b), it must be shown that the criminal act reflects adversely on the lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness as a lawyer. If it is established by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence that a lawyer committed a criminal act that reflects adversely on the lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness as a lawyer, the lawyer may be disciplined for a violation of Paragraph (b) although the lawyer is never prosecuted or is acquitted or pardoned for the underlying criminal act.

A showing of actual prejudice to the administration of justice is not required to establish a violation of Paragraph (d). Rather, it must only be shown that the act had a reasonable likelihood of prejudicing the administration of justice. For example, in State Bar v. DuMont, 52 N.C.App. 1, 277 S.E.2d 827 (1981), modified on other grounds, 304 N.C. 627, 286 S.E.2d 89 (1982), the defendant was disciplined for advising a witness to give false testimony in a deposition even though the witness corrected his statement prior to trial. The phrase "conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice" in Paragraph (d) should be read broadly to proscribe a wide variety of conduct, including conduct that occurs outside the scope of judicial proceedings. In State Bar v. Jerry Wilson, 82 DHC 1, for example, a lawyer was disciplined for conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice after forging another individual's name to a guarantee agreement, inducing his wife to notarize the forged agreement, and using the agreement to obtain funds.

Lawyers holding public office assume legal responsibilities going beyond those of other citizens. A lawyer's abuse of public office can suggest an inability to fulfill the professional role of attorney. The same is true of abuse of positions of private trust such as trustee, executor, administrator, guardian, agent and officer, director or manager of a corporation or other organization.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-23; Adopted July 24, 1997.

Editor's note. — Rule 8.4 is similar to Model Rule 8.4 and Rule 1.2 of the superseded (1985) Rules of Professional Conduct, except that Rule 8.4 defines as misconduct an activity that intentionally prejudices or damages a client during the course of a professional relationship. Neither the Model Rules nor the superseded (1985) Rules contain this provision.

CASE NOTES

Concealment of Material Facts. — Intentionally encouraging the concealment of material facts relevant to the identity of the driver in a driving under the influence prosecution is prejudicial to the administration of justice. Such conduct raises serious doubts as to the attorney's desire to bring about a just result in such a prosecution and adversely reflects on the attorney's fitness to practice law. North Carolina State Bar v. Graves, 50 N.C. App. 450, 274 S.E.2d 396 (1981).

Misrepresentation as to Opposing Party's Whereabouts. — An attorney clearly engaged in conduct which involved fraud, dishonesty, deceit and misrepresentation when, in a divorce action, she failed to inform the court of a letter which contained the opposing party's return address, while at the same time presenting to the court an affidavit she had drafted in which her client swore that her husband's whereabouts were unknown and could not with due diligence be ascertained. North Carolina State Bar v. Wilson, 74 N.C. App. 777, 330 S.E.2d 280 (1985).

Conversion of Client's Check. — An attorney's act of forging a client's endorsement on an insurance check received by the attorney and converting the check to personal use constituted conduct involving moral turpitude. North Carolina State Bar v. Whitted, 82 N.C. App. 531, 347 S.E.2d 60 (1986), aff'd, 319 N.C. 398, 354 S.E.2d 501 (1987).

Letter to Attorney Representing Former Clients. — Findings by Disciplinary Hearing Commission did not support the Commission's conclusion that the defendant-attorney had engaged in conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice by writing a letter to the attorney representing the defendant-attorney's former clients where the Commission's order did not state whether the letter constituted a threat, the nature of the threat, if any, and how the conduct was prejudicial to the administration of justice. North Carolina State Bar v. Beaman, 100 N.C. App. 677, 398 S.E.2d 68 (1990).

Misappropriation of Funds. — The attorney misappropriated client funds in violation of Rule 1.2(B) of the Rules of Professional Conduct. It was no defense that the attorney intended at all times to return the funds and in fact did so. Evidence sufficient to support a charge of embezzlement also constitutes conduct involving dishonesty in violation of Rule 1.2(C) of the Rules of Professional Conduct.

North Carolina State Bar v. Mulligan, 101 N.C. App. 524, 400 S.E.2d 123 (1991).

Lending Money to Clients. — The State Bar's hearing committee's finding adequately supported its conclusion that the defendant violated Rules 2.1 and 5.3(B) of Professional Responsibility where the undisputed facts were that: (1) the defendant kept $ 20,000.00 in his trust account for several years which came from his brother's company, and (2) he loaned this money to three clients to pay for one client's surgery; another client's rent and payments on a car note; and a third client's surgical, medical and travel expenses. North Carolina State Bar v. Harris, — N.C. App. —, 527 S.E.2d 728, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 317 (2000).

Conviction of Crime. — Conviction of a crime is not a necessary element in a disciplinary proceeding. North Carolina State Bar v. Rush, 121 N.C. App. 488, 466 S.E.2d 340 (1996).

Cited in North Carolina State Bar v. Nelson, 107 N.C. App. 543, 421 S.E.2d 163 (1992).

DISCIPLINARY HEARING NOTES

Defense attorney engaged in conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice by facilitating entry of judgment of careless and reckless driving in back hall of courthouse for client who was charged only with driving while impaired. 3 year suspension, all but 180 days stayed. 99 DHC 19.

The attorney used false statements in reports to banks to influence them to grant him loans. Two Year Suspension. 77 DHC 9.

The attorney was convicted of conspiracy to manufacture, distribute and possess amphetamines. Disbarred. 77 DHC 11.

The attorney was found guilty of receiving stolen goods. Disbarred. 78 DHC 4.

The attorney pled guilty to the crime of embracery arising from an illegal contact with a juror in a pending case. Three Year Suspension. 78 DHC 5.

The attorney was convicted in federal court of conspiracy willfully to misapply for his own use monies, funds and credits of a financial institution with intent to injure and defraud. Two Year Suspension. 80 DHC 1.

The attorney agreed to undertake the task of obtaining access to his client's landlocked real property. The attorney failed to initiate any legal action on behalf of his client but delivered to the client a document which purported to be an Order of the Superior Court dismissing a petition for a cartway. The document, purportedly signed by a judge, and bearing the seal and signature of an assistant clerk, was totally fraudulent. One Year Suspension. 81 DHC 1.

Among other things, the attorney knowingly used perjured testimony in an attempt to receive a set-off for federal estate taxes due and perpetrated a fraud upon a Florida court by false testimony. Disbarred. 81 DHC 2.

The attorney signed someone else's name to a guaranty agreement and falsely represented that the signature was authentic to obtain funds for his personal benefit. The attorney also instructed his wife, whose notary certificate had been revoked, to falsely witness and represent the signature to induce a bank to make funds available to the attorney. One Year Suspension. 82 DHC 1.

The attorney failed to file an appeal on his client's behalf and later, in a letter to the State Bar concerning the matter, made false statements concerning the trial and his neglect in failing to file the record on appeal. Ninety Day Suspension. 82 DHC 3.

The attorney failed to perfect an appeal for his client and instead filed a paper writing which purported to dismiss his client's appeal without the client's knowledge or consent and against the client's well-known wishes. Public Censure. 82 DHC 12.

The attorney took the LSAT and exchanged answers with another person to credit the other person with the attorney's high LSAT score. One Year Suspension. 83 DHC 1.

The attorney endorsed a client's medical payment draft without the client's authorization, knowledge or consent, deposited the funds in his personal account and converted the funds. Disbarred. 84 DHC 4.

The attorney, while involved in a series of real estate transactions which required the defendant to deposit funds in a trust account, allowed the trust account balance to fall below the amount necessary to preserve the identity of his client's funds. The attorney used funds of one client to satisfy the obligations of another client and used clients' trust funds to satisfy his personal obligations. Disbarred. 84 DHC 5.

The attorney was appointed by the court to represent an indigent criminal defendant. After the case was concluded, he sought and accepted payment from the State without disclosing to the court that he had been previously paid by the client's father. Public Censure. 84 DHC 8.

Through a bank error, the attorney was left with $14,000 in his trust account following a loan closing. The attorney made no attempt to correct the error and used $10,660 for personal obligations. After realizing the seriousness of his actions, attorney took out a personal loan and repaid the funds to the rightful owner. One Year Suspension. 84 DHC 11.

The attorney was convicted of conspiracy to conduct his judgeship through a pattern of racketeering activity by accepting bribes, and of facilitating an interstate phone call with the intent to carry on the unlawful activity of gambling. Disbarred. 85 DHC 4.

The attorney attempted to coerce a favorable settlement in a civil case by threatening to expose the adverse party's alleged criminal conduct in an unrelated matter. Public Censure. 86 DHC 6.

The attorney attempted to induce a witness who had testified against the attorney in a prior disciplinary hearing to sign a false statement recanting his testimony in the prior hearing. Disbarred. 89 DHC 15.

The attorney prepared a codicil to her father's will when she knew or should have known that he lacked mental capacity to execute the codicil, thereby engaging in conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice and which adversely reflected upon her fitness to practice law, in violation of former DR1-102(A)(5) and DR1-102(A)(6). Public Reprimand. 89 DHC 21.

The attorney advised a defendant in a drug case, who was already represented by another attorney, that if the defendant hired him, the defendant would serve no active time. The attorney suggested that he could bring about the deal owing to his friendship with the trial judge and an SBI official. The attorney also attempted ex parte communications with the judge about his client's sentencing and asked a law enforcement officer to state falsely that the defendant had rendered substantial assistance to the sheriff's department. Disbarred. 89 DHC 30.

The attorney asked another attorney to sign a title opinion and other closing documents indicating that a prior loan owed by the first attorney would be paid off, then failed to pay off the loan. The attorney also obtained credit at a bank based upon a deposit of a $10,000 check which the attorney knew or should have known was worthless. Two Year Suspension, stayed for three years on certain conditions, including restitution to banks. 90 DHC 20.

The attorney misappropriated funds belonging to an estate. Although the embezzlement was motivated in part by the attorney's addiction to cocaine, the attorney's drug use did not prevent him from recognizing the nature of his conduct and therefore did not mitigate his misconduct. Disbarred. 90 DHC 21.

The attorney had two clients sign deeds, rather than a deed of trust, to secure fees owed to him by the clients. One Year Suspension, stayed one year upon certain conditions. 89 DHC 23.

The attorney made false statements to the State Bar's Grievance Committee during a reciprocal disciplinary hearing, lied to the State Bar's investigator regarding those false statements, and was untruthful during the disciplinary hearing. Disbarred. 91 DHC 13.

Among other things, the attorney made false statements to the State Bar's Grievance Committee during a reciprocal disciplinary hearing. Disbarred. 91 DHC 13.

The attorney charged an illegal rate of interest on a loan and lied to the debtor's attorney regarding balances owed on the loan. Two Year Suspension. 91 DHC 20.

Among other things, the attorney failed to file income tax returns between 1985 and 1987. Five Year Suspension, stayed on certain conditions. 91 DHC 22.

The attorney failed to file state income tax returns in 1988 and 1989. Five Year Suspension, stayed on certain conditions. 91 DHC 23.

The attorney misrepresented to an administrative law judge and a state agency that he had been advised by the former chief administrative law judge to take certain actions on behalf of his client when, in fact, the attorney had not discussed that client's case with the former judge. Censure. 92 DHC 3.

Among other things, the attorney submitted false information on a fee petition in two social security cases. One Year Suspension, stayed on certain conditions. 92 DHC 5.

The attorney represented the seller in commercial real estate transaction while he was also general partner of the buyer. The attorney also improperly directed a $165,000 credit to the buyer and a corresponding debit to the seller at the closing of the transaction without the seller's consent and paid himself $150,000 in attorneys' fees from funds held in escrow, in violation of the escrow agreement. Three-Year Suspension. 92 DHC 16.

An assistant district attorney engaged in conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice by failing to reveal certain aspects of a plea agreement to the court. Admonition. 92 DHC 18.

The attorney improperly retained interest earned on client funds and also retained at least $4,671.23 in overpayments on title insurance premiums collected from various clients. Three-Year Suspension, stayed 30 months. 92 DHC 19.

Attorney failed to respond to the State Bar regarding a grievance filed against him. Sixty Day Suspension, stayed for thirty days. 93 DHC 6.

Attorney wrote checks to himself totalling $13,000 from an estate for commissions without approval of the clerk and without performing the normal duties of a personal representative. Disbarred. 93 DHC 2.

Among other things, attorney falsely indicated on clients' ledger cards that monies had been received and fees paid on their behalf. One Year Suspension, stayed for three years upon certain conditions. 93 DHC 20.

Among other things, attorney failed to respond to 12th Judicial District Bar's Grievance Committee regarding four grievances filed against him and misrepresented to committee chairperson that he had responded in two grievances. Five Year Suspension, one year stayed upon certain conditions. 93 DHC 22 and 94 DHC 2.

Attorney forged two attorneys' names to title opinions, temporarily misappropriated client funds, misappropriated fees belonging to her former law firm, made material misrepresentations on a resume given to her former law firm, and attempted to persuade a witness to change prior truthful statements the witness had given the State Bar. Disbarred. 93 DHC 29.

Attorney engaged in a check writing scheme involving writing checks from his trust account, business account, and personal account to cover worthless checks and removed funds from his trust account without the client's consent. Three Year Suspension, stayed 33 months upon certain conditions. 93 DHC 31.

Among other things, attorney knowingly made false statements of material fact on his application for admission to the State Bar. Disbarred. 93 DHC 33.

Attorney engaged in unwanted touching of client. Three-year suspension, six months active and thirty months stayed upon certain conditions. 94 DHC 1.

Attorney made unwanted sexual advances to several female clients and thereby engaged in conflicts of interest and conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice. Disbarred. 95 DHC 13.

Attorney attempted to solicit fee-generating professional employment through in-person contacts with persons who had influence with the potential client in violation of superseded Rules 1.2(a) and 2.4(a). Six Month Suspension, stayed two years on certain conditions. 96 DHC 3.

Assistant U.S. Attorney lied to defense counsel about timing of indictment in criminal case and then denied misconduct to the State Bar Grievance Committee. Reprimand. 96 DHC 9.

Attorney told client that attorney could use influence with prosecutor to get murder charge pending against client dismissed on payment of $10,000 fee, concealing fact that District Attorney had already decided to dismiss charge for lack of evidence. After client discovered deception and demanded return of fee, attorney threatened to reveal confidential communications of client. Attorney engaged in criminal and fraudulent conduct, implied ability to influence government official and collected excessive fee. Disbarred. 97 DHC 12.

ETHICS OPINION NOTES

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 19 Opinion provides guidelines for a lawyer representing a client with a civil claim that also constitutes a crime.

99 Formal Ethics Opinion 2 — Opinion rules that a defense lawyer may suggest that the records custodian of plaintiff's medical record deliver the medical record to the lawyer's office in lieu of an appearance at a noticed deposition provided the plaintiff's lawyer consents.

CPR 110. An attorney may not advise a client to seek Dominican divorce knowing that the client will return immediately to North Carolina and continue residence.

CPR 168. An attorney may file personal bankruptcy.

CPR 188. An attorney may not draw deeds or other legal instruments based on land surveys made by unregistered land surveyors.

CPR 342. An attorney should not close a loan where the transaction is conditioned by the lender upon the placement of title insurance with a particular company.

CPR 369. An attorney may close a loan if the lender merely suggests rather than requires the placement of title insurance with a particular company.

RPC 127. An attorney may not deliberately release settlement proceeds which were condi-tionally delivered without satisfying all conditions precedent.

RPC 136. An attorney may notarize documents which are to be used in legal proceedings in which the attorney appears.

RPC 143. A lawyer who represents or has represented a member of the city council may represent another client before the council provided the lawyer does not attempt improperly to influence the council.

RPC 152. The prosecutor and the defense attorney must see that all material terms of a negotiated plea are disclosed in response to direct questions when the plea is entered in open court.

RPC 159. An attorney may not participate in the resolution of a civil dispute involving allegations against a psychotherapist of sexual involvement with a patient if the settlement is conditioned upon the agreement of the complaining party not to report the misconduct to the appropriate licensing board.

RPC 162 (Third Revision). A lawyer may not communicate with the opposing party's nonparty treating physician about the physician's treatment of the opposing party unless the opposing party consents.

RPC 171. A lawyer may tape record a conversation with an opposing lawyer without disclosure to the opposing lawyer.

RPC 180. A lawyer may not passively listen while the opposing party's nonparty treating physician comments on his or her treatment of the opposing party unless the opposing party consents to the communication.

RPC 192. A lawyer may not listen to an illegal tape recording made by his client nor may he use the information on the illegal tape recording to advance his client's case.

RPC 197. A prosecutor must notify defense counsel, jail officials, or other appropriate persons to avoid the unnecessary detention of a criminal defendant after the charges against the defendant have been dismissed by the prosecutor.

RPC 204. It is prejudicial to the administration of justice for a prosecutor to offer special treatment to individuals charged with traffic offenses or minor crimes in exchange for a direct charitable contribution to the local school system.

RPC 221. Absent a court order or law requiring delivery of physical evidence of a crime to the authorities, a lawyer for a criminal defendant may take possession of evidence that is not contraband to examine, test, or inspect the evidence. The lawyer must return inculpatory physical evidence that is not contraband to the source and advise the source of the legal consequences pertaining to the possession or destruction of the evidence.

RPC 236. A lawyer may not issue a subpoena containing misrepresentations as to the pendency of an action, the date or location of a hearing, or a lawyer's authority to obtain documentary evidence.

RPC 243. It is prejudicial to the administration of justice for a prosecutor to threaten to use his discretion to schedule a criminal trial to coerce a plea agreement from a criminal defendant.

98 Formal Ethics Opinion 2. Opinion rules that a lawyer may explain the effect of service of process to a client but may not advise a client to evade service of process.

Rule 8.5. Disciplinary authority; Choice of law.

(a) Disciplinary Authority. A lawyer admitted to practice in North Carolina is subject to the disciplinary authority of North Carolina, regardless of where the lawyer's conduct occurs. A lawyer may be subject to the disciplinary authority of both North Carolina and another jurisdiction where the lawyer is admitted for the same conduct.

(b) Choice of Law. In any exercise of the disciplinary authority of North Carolina, the Rules of Professional Conduct to be applied shall be as follows:

(1) for conduct in connection with a proceeding in a court before which a lawyer has been admitted to practice (either generally or for purposes of that proceeding), the rules to be applied shall be the rules of the jurisdiction in which the court sits, unless the rules of the court provide otherwise; and

(2) for any other conduct:

(i) if the lawyer is licensed to practice only in North Carolina, the rules to be applied shall be the rules of North Carolina, and

(ii) if the lawyer is licensed to practice in North Carolina and another jurisdiction, the rules to be applied shall be the rules of the admitting jurisdiction in which the lawyer principally practices; provided, however, that if particular conduct clearly has its predominant effect in another jurisdiction in which the lawyer is licensed to practice, the rules of that jurisdiction shall be applied to that conduct.

COMMENT

Disciplinary Authority

Paragraph (a) restates long-standing law.

Choice of Law

A lawyer may be potentially subject to more than one set of rules of professional conduct which impose different obligations. The lawyer may be licensed to practice in North Carolina and one or more other jurisdictions with differing rules, or may be admitted to practice before a particular court with rules that differ from those of North Carolina or other jurisdictions in which the lawyer is licensed to practice. In the past, decisions have not developed clear or consistent guidance as to which rules apply in such circumstances.

Paragraph (b) seeks to resolve such potential conflicts. Its premise is that minimizing conflicts between rules, as well as uncertainty about which rules are applicable, is in the best interest of both clients and the profession (as well as the bodies having authority to regulate the profession). Accordingly, it takes the approach of (i) providing that any particular conduct of an attorney shall be subject to only one set of rules of professional conduct; and (ii) making the determination of which set of rules applies to particular conduct as straightforward as possible, consistent with recognition of appropriate regulatory interests of relevant jurisdictions.

Paragraph (b) provides that as to a lawyer's conduct relating to a proceeding in a court before which the lawyer is admitted to practice (either generally or pro hac vice), the lawyer shall be subject only to the rules of professional conduct of that court. As to all other conduct, paragraph (b) provides that a lawyer licensed to practice only in North Carolina shall be subject to the Rules of Professional Conduct of the North Carolina State Bar, and that a lawyer licensed in multiple jurisdictions shall be subject only to the rules of the jurisdiction where he or she (as an individual, not his or her firm) principally practices, but with one exception: if particular conduct clearly has its predominant effect in another admitting jurisdiction, then only the rules of that jurisdiction shall apply. The intention is for the latter exception to be a narrow one. It would be appropriately applied, for example, to a situation in which a lawyer admitted in, and principally practicing in, State A, but also admitted in State B, handled an acquisition by a company whose headquarters and operations were in State B of another, similar such company. The exception would not appropriately be applied, on the other hand, if the lawyer handled an acquisition by a company whose headquarters and operations were in State A of a company whose headquarters and main operations were in State A, but which also had some operations in State B.

If North Carolina and another admitting jurisdiction were to proceed against a lawyer for the same conduct, the two jurisdictions should, applying this rule, identify the same governing ethics rules.

The choice of law provision is not intended to apply to transnational practice. Choice of law in this context should be the subject of agreements between jurisdictions or of appropriate international law.

ORDER ESTABLISHING CLIENT SECURITY FUND

Adopted August 29, 1984,
with amendments received through September 10, 1997.

1. A Client Security Fund is hereby established. Each active member of the North Carolina State Bar as of 1 December 1984 shall pay the sum of $50.00 on or before 1 January 1985 and a like sum on or before 1 January of each year thereafter. The money shall be paid to the North Carolina State Bar and shall be placed by it in the Client Security Fund.

2. The Client Security Fund shall be administered by the North Carolina State Bar under rules and regulations adopted by it. Such rules and regulations, and any amendments thereto, shall not be effective until approved by this court.

3. The North Carolina State Bar shall submit annually a report to this court accounting for all monies collected and expended in the administration of the Client Security Fund.

4. To insure collection of payments due to the Client Security Fund by each attorney, the North Carolina State Bar is hereby empowered to use the same powers and procedures used to collect the dues provided for in Chapter 84 of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

5. Jurisdiction over the actions of the North Carolina State Bar in administering the Client Security Fund shall remain with this court for the entry of future orders when and as necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Client Security Fund.

SECTION .0100. ORGANIZATION

.0101. Address.

The offices of the Board of Law Examiners of the State of North Carolina are located in the N.C. State Bar Building at 208 Fayetteville Street Mall, Raleigh, N.C. The mailing address is P.O. Box 2946, Raleigh, N.C. 27602. The offices are open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, excepting holidays.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; 150A-60 (see now 150B-60); Eff. February 1, 1976; amended September 4, 1979.

.0102. Purpose.

The Board of Law Examiners of the State of North Carolina was created for the purpose of examining applicants and providing rules and regulations for admission to the bar, including the issuance of licenses therefor.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976.

Legal Periodicals. — For survey regarding denial of admission to the bar which is based on the applicant's assertion of the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination with respect to questions concerning the applicant's subversive advocacy, see 19 N.C. Cent. L.J. 56 (1990).

.0103. Membership.

The Board of Law Examiners of the State of North Carolina consists of eleven members of the N.C. Bar elected by the council of the North Carolina State Bar. One member of said Board is elected by the Board to serve as chairman for such period as the Board may determine. The Board also employs an executive director to enable the Board to perform its duties promptly and properly. The executive director, in addition to performing the administrative functions of the position, may act as attorney for the Board.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, 1977.

SECTION .0200. GENERAL PROVISIONS

.0201. Compliance.

No person shall be admitted to the practice of law in North Carolina unless that person has complied with these rules and the laws of the state.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.0202. Definitions.

(1) The term "Board" as used in this chapter refers to the "Board of Law Examiners of the State of North Carolina." A majority of the members of the Board shall constitute a quorum, and the action of a majority of a quorum, present and voting, shall constitute the action of the Board.

(2) The term "secretary" as used in this chapter refers to the "Executive Director of the Board of Law Examiners of the State of North Carolina."

(3) As used in these rules, the word "filing" or "filed" shall mean received in the office of the Board of Law Examiners. Except that applications placed in the United States mail properly addressed to the Board of Law Examiners and bearing sufficient first class postage and postmarked by the United States

Postal Service on or before a deadline date will be considered as having been timely filed if all required fees are included in the mailing. Mailings which are postmarked after a deadline or which if postmarked on or before a deadline and do not include required fees or which include a check in payment of required fees which is not honored due to insufficient funds will not be considered as timely filed. Applications which are not properly signed and notarized; or which do not include the properly executed Authorization and Release forms; or which are illegible; or which answers to the questions are not complete will not be considered filed and will be returned.

(4) As used in these rules, the word "Chapter" refers to the "Rules Governing Admission to the Practice of Law in the State of North Carolina."

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84- 1977; amended February 3, 1988; amended 24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, April 17, 1998.

.0203. Applicants.

For the purpose of these rules, applicants are classified either as "general applicants" or as "comity applicants." To be classified as a "general applicant" and certified as such for admission to practice law, an applicant must satisfy the requirements of Rule .0501 of this Chapter. To be classified as "comity applicant" and certified as such for admission to practice law, a person shall satisfy the requirements of Rule .0502 of this Chapter.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84- 24; Eff. February 1, 1976.

.0204. List.

As soon as possible after each filing deadline for applications, the secretary shall prepare and maintain a list of general applicants for the ensuing examination.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84- 24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 25, 1980.

.0205. Hearings.

Every applicant may be required to appear before the board to be examined about any matters pertaining to the applicant's moral character and general fitness, educational background or any other matters set out in Section .0500 of this Chapter.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84- 24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.0206. Nonpayment of fees.

Failure to pay the application fees required by these rules shall cause the application not to be deemed filed. If the check payable for the application fee is not honored upon presentment for any reason other than error of the bank the application will be deemed not timely filed and will have to be refiled. All checks payable to the Board for any fees which are not honored upon presentment shall be returned to the applicant who shall pay to the Board in cash, cashier's check, certified check or money order any fees payable to the Board including a fee for processing that check.

History Note: This rule was adopted by the Board of Law Examiners on June 23, 1977, and amended August 23, 1977; amended February 3, 1988.

SECTION .0300.

(Reserved for future rule purposes)

Editor's note. — Former §§ .0301 to .0304 were deleted effective February 3, 1988.

SECTION .0400. APPLICATIONS OF GENERAL APPLICANTS

.0401. How to apply.

Applications for admission to an examination must be made upon forms supplied by the Board and must be complete in every detail. Every supporting document required by the application form must be submitted with each application. The application form may be obtained by writing or telephoning the Board's offices.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.0402. Application form.

(1) The APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION TO TAKE THE NORTH CAROLINA BAR EXAMINATION form requires an applicant to supply full and complete information relating to the applicant's background, including family history, past and current residences, education, military service, past and present employment, credit status, involvement in disciplinary, civil or criminal proceedings, substance abuse, mental treatment and bar admission and discipline history. Applicants must list references and submit as part of the application:

- Four Certificates of Moral Character from individuals who know the applicant;
  - A recent photograph;
  - Two sets of clear fingerprints;
  - Two executed informational Authorization and Release forms;
  - A birth certificate;
  - Transcripts from the applicant's undergraduate schools;
  - A copy of all applications to take a bar examination or an attorney's examination or for admission to the practice of law that the applicant has filed with any state, territory, or the District of Columbia;
  - A certificate from the proper court or agency of every state in which the applicant is or has been licensed, that the applicant is in good standing and not under pending charges of misconduct;
  - Copies of any legal proceedings in which the applicant has been a party.
- The application must be filed in duplicate. The duplicate may be a photocopy of the original.

(2) An applicant who has aptly filed a complete APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION TO TAKE THE NORTH CAROLINA BAR EXAMINATION for a particular bar examination may file a SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION on forms supplied by the Board, along with the applicable fees for the next subsequent bar examination. An applicant who has filed a SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION as provided by this rule immediately preceding the filing deadline specified in Rule .0403 of this Chapter may file a subsequent SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION along with the applicable fees for the next bar examination. The SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION will update the information previously submitted to the Board by the applicant. Said SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION must be filed by the deadline set out in Rule .0403 of this Chapter.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 25, 1980; May 5, 1981; February 3, 1988; May 5, 1994.

Legal Periodicals. — For survey regarding denial of admission to the bar which is based on the applicant's assertion of the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination with respect to questions concerning the applicant's subversive advocacy, see 19 N.C. Cent. L.J. 56 (1990).

.0403. Filing deadlines.

(1) Applications shall be filed and received by the secretary at the offices of the Board on or before the first Tuesday in January immediately preceding the date of the July written bar examination and on or before the first Tuesday in October immediately preceding the date of the February written bar examination.

(2) Upon payment of a late filing fee of $200 (in addition to all other fees required by these rules), an applicant may file a late application with the Board on or before the first Tuesday in March immediately preceding the July written bar examination and on or before the first Tuesday in November immediately preceding the February written bar examination.

(3) Applicants who fail to timely file their application will not be allowed to take the Bar Examination designated on the application.

(4) Any applicant who has aptly filed an application to stand the February written bar examination may make application to take the immediately following July bar examination by filing a Supplemental Application with the secretary of the Board at the offices of the Board on or before the first Tuesday in May immediately preceding the July written bar examination.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, 1977; February 5, 1979; September 4, 1979; February 25, 1980; amended April 17, 1998.

.0404. Fees.

Every application by an applicant who:

(1) is not a licensed attorney in any other jurisdiction shall be accompanied by a fee of $500.00.

(2) is a licensed attorney in any other jurisdiction shall be accompanied by a fee of $1,000.00.

(3) is filing to take the North Carolina Bar Examination using a Supplemental Application shall be accompanied by a fee of $400.00.

(4) is filing after the deadline set out in Rule .0403(1) shall be accompanied by a late fee of $200.00 in addition to all other fees required by these rules.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24, 25; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 29, 1978; September 4, 1979; February 25, 1980; May 4, 1982; August 28, 1984; February 3, 1988; amended July 26, 1990; May 5, 1994.

Editor's note. — A former subdivision (5) of this section was deleted by amendment February 3, 1988.

.0405. Refund of fees.

No part of the fee required by Rule .0404 (1), (2), (3) of this Chapter shall be refunded to the applicant unless the applicant shall file with the secretary a written request to withdraw as an applicant, not later than the 15th day of June preceding the July written bar examination and not later than the 15th day of January preceding the February written bar examination in which event not more than one-half of the fee may be refunded to the applicant in the discretion of the Board. No portion of any late fee will be refunded.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 25, 1980; amended February 3, 1988.

.0406. Bad check policy (Deleted).

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976. This rule was deleted by amendment of August 23, 1977.

SECTION .0500. REQUIREMENTS FOR APPLICANTS

.0501. Requirements for general applicants.

As a prerequisite to being licensed by the Board to practice law in the State of North Carolina, a general applicant shall:

(1) Possess the qualifications of character and general fitness requisite for an attorney and counselor-at-law, and be of good moral character and entitled to the high regard and confidence of the public and have satisfied the requirements of Section .0600 of this Chapter both at the time the license is issued and at the time of standing and passing a written bar examination as prescribed in Section .0900 of this Chapter;

(2) Possess the legal educational qualifications as prescribed in Section .0700 of this Chapter;

(3) Be of the age of at least eighteen (18) years;

(4) Have filed formal application as a general applicant in accordance with Section .0400 of this Chapter;

(5) Stand and pass a written bar examination as prescribed in Section .0900 of this Chapter;

(6) Have stood and passed the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination approved by the Board within the twenty-four (24) month period next preceding the beginning day of the written bar examination prescribed by Section .0900 of this Chapter which the applicant applies to take, or shall take and pass the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination within the twelve (12) month period thereafter; or, if later, shall take and pass the first Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination offered after the Board releases the results of the applicant's written examination.

(7) If the applicant is or has been a licensed attorney then the applicant be in good professional standing and entitled to practice in every state or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, in which the applicant has been licensed to practice law and not under any pending charges of misconduct. An applicant may be inactive and in good standing in any state in which the applicant has been licensed.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; Amended effective August 23, 1977; September 4, 1979; February 25, 1980; April 8, 1983; August 28, 1984; July 26, 1985; Amended effective February 3, 1988; Amended effective May 5, 1994; Amended effective March 6, 1997.

Legal Periodicals. — For survey regarding denial of admission to the bar which is based on the applicant's assertion of the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination with respect to questions concerning the applicant's subversive advocacy, see 19 N.C. Cent. L.J. 56 (1990).

CASE NOTES

Consideration of Past Behavior. — In making a proper determination regarding an individual's current moral character, the past behavior of that individual is an appropriate inquiry, because to disallow consideration of past behavior would limit the board's discretion and hinder the effectiveness of a system which exists to ensure the integrity of the legal profession and to protect the public at large. In re Legg, 337 N.C. 628, 447 S.E.2d 353 (1994).

.0502. Requirements for comity applicants.

Any attorney at law duly admitted to practice in another state, or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, upon written application may, in the discretion of the board, be licensed to practice law in the State of North Carolina without written examination provided each such applicant shall:

(1) File with the Secretary, upon such forms as may be supplied by the Board, a typed application in duplicate which will be considered by the Board after at least six (6) months from the date of filing; the application requires:

(a) That an applicant supply full and complete information in regard to his background, including family, past residences, education, military, employment, credit status, whether he has been a party to any disciplinary or legal proceedings, mental illness, references, the nature of the applicant's practice of law, and familiarity with the Code of Professional Responsibility as Promulgated by the North Carolina State Bar;

(b) That the applicant furnish the following documentation:

i. Certificates of Moral Character from four (4) individuals who know the applicant;

ii. A recent photograph;

iii. Two (2) sets of clear fingerprints;

iv. A certification of the Court of Last Resort from the jurisdiction from which the applicant is applying;

v. Transcripts from the applicant's undergraduate and graduate schools;

vi. A copy of all applications for admission to the practice of law that he has filed with any state, territory, or the District of Columbia;

vii. A certificate of admission to the bar of any state, territory, or the District of Columbia;

viii. A certificate from the proper court or body of every state in which the applicant is licensed therein that he is in good standing and not under pending charges of misconduct;

(2) Pay to the Board with each typewritten application, a fee of $1,500.00, no part of which may be refunded to the applicant whose application is denied;

(3) Prove to the satisfaction of the Board that the applicant is duly licensed to practice law in a state, or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia having comity with North Carolina and that in such state, or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, while so licensed therein, the applicant has been for at least four out of the last six years, immediately preceding the filing of this application with the Secretary, actively and substantially engaged in the full-time practice of law. Practice of law for the purposes of this rule when conducted pursuant to a license granted by another jurisdiction shall include:

- (a) The practice of law as defined by G.S. 84-2.1; or
- (b) Activities which would constitute the practice of law if done for the general public; or
- (c) Legal Service as a corporate counsel; or
- (d) Judicial service in a court of record or other legal service with any local or state government or with the federal government; or
- (e) Service as a member of a Judge Advocate General's Department of one of the military branches of the United States, whether or not such service is in the jurisdiction in which applicant is duly licensed; or
- (f) A full time faculty member in a law school approved by the Council of the North Carolina State Bar.

Employment in North Carolina, when conducted pursuant to a license granted by another jurisdiction, to meet the requirement of this rule is limited to:

- (a) Employment as house counsel by a person, firm, association, or corporation engaged in business in this state which business does not include the selling or furnishing of legal advice or services to others; or
- (b) Employment as a full time faculty member of a law school approved by the Council of the North Carolina State Bar; or
- (c) Employment as a full time member of the faculty of the Institute of Government of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; or
- (d) Service as a member of a Judge Advocate General's Department of one of the military branches of the United States.

(4) Satisfy the Board that the state, or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, in which the applicant is licensed and from which he seeks comity will admit North Carolina attorneys to the practice of law in such state, or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, without written examination, other than the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination;

(5) Be at all times, in good professional standing and entitled to practice in every state, or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, in which the applicant has been licensed to practice law, and not under pending charges of misconduct while the application is pending before the Board; except that the applicant may be inactive in any jurisdiction as to which the applicant is not relying to meet the Board's comity rule;

(6) Be of good moral character and have satisfied the requirements of Section .0600 of this Chapter;

(7) Meet the educational requirements of Section .0700 of this Chapter as hereinafter set out if first licensed to practice law after August, 1971;

(8) Not have taken and failed the written North Carolina Bar Examination within ten (10) years prior to the date of filing the applicant's comity application;

(9) Have stood and passed the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination approved by the Board.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended January 31, 1977; August 23, 1977; February 23, 1978; August 29, 1978; September 4, 1979; February

SECTION .0600. MORAL CHARACTER AND GENERAL FITNESS

.0601. Burden of proof.

Every applicant shall have the burden of proving that the applicant possesses the qualifications of character and general fitness requisite for an attorney and counselor-at-law and is possessed of good moral character and is entitled to the high regard and confidence of the public.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

CASE NOTES

“Good Moral Character” Defined. — Good moral character is something more than the absence of bad character. It is the good name which the applicant has acquired, or should have acquired, through association with his fellows. It means that he must have conducted himself as a man of upright character ordinarily would, should or does. Such character expresses itself, not in negatives nor in following the line of least resistance, but quite often in the will to do the unpleasant thing, if it is right, and the resolve not to do the pleasant thing, if it is wrong. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

What Character Encompasses. — Character encompasses both a person’s past behavior and the opinion of members of his community arising from it. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Burden of Showing Good Moral Character. — An applicant for admission to the bar has the burden of showing his good moral character. At the outset, he must come forward with sufficient evidence to make out a prima facie case. The board, or any other person wishing to contest an application, may then offer rebuttal evidence. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Each applicant for admission has, pursuant to this rule, the burden of proving his good moral character, and must initially come forward with sufficient evidence to make out a prima facie case. In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981), aff’d, 308 N.C. 771, 303 S.E.2d 810 (1983).

Burden on Board to Show Particular Instances of Misconduct. — To place the burden on the applicant to disprove acts of misconduct would be a distortion of the intended effect of the rule requiring the applicant to prove, overall, his good character. In order to avoid this distortion it is necessary to distinguish between applicant’s overall burden of showing good moral character and the board’s burden of proving particular instances of misconduct. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

When an applicant makes a prima facie showing of good moral character and the board, to rebut the showing, relies on specific acts of misconduct the commission of which are denied by the applicant, the board must prove the specific acts by the greater weight of the evidence. In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981), aff’d, 308 N.C. 771, 303 S.E.2d 810 (1983).

The board’s brief should be directed to whether the specific findings are supported by the evidence and if so whether they along with other findings of misconduct are sufficient to rebut the applicant’s prima facie case. In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981), aff’d, 308 N.C. 771, 303 S.E.2d 810 (1983).

Whether a person is of good moral character is seldom subject to proof by reference to one or two incidents. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

An application for admission to the bar may not be denied on the basis of suspicions or accusations alone. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Burden of Proof to Be by Preponderance of Evidence. — When an applicant makes a prima facie showing of his good moral character and, to rebut the showing, the board relies on specific acts of misconduct the commission of which is denied by the applicant, the board must assume the burden of proving the specific acts by the greater weight of the evidence. The rule that applicant has the overall burden to prove his good moral character does not relieve the board from having to prove such specific acts of misconduct. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Where Essential Facts Are Indisputably Established. — In cases in which all the essential facts either appear on the face of the application or are otherwise indisputably established, the board need only weigh the evidence and determine whether the applicant has shown his good moral character. However, even in such cases, while it might be permissible for the board not to make specific findings of fact, a detailing of the facts on which it bases its conclusions would facilitate judicial review. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Board to Make Specific Findings of Fact. — When a decision of the board of law examiners rests on a specific fact or facts the existence of which is contested, the board's duty to resolve the factual dispute by specific findings is no less than that of other administrative agencies. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979); In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981), aff'd, 308 N.C. 771, 303 S.E.2d 810 (1983).

.0602. Permanent record.

All information furnished to the Board by an applicant shall be deemed material, and all such information shall be and become a permanent record of the Board.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.0603. Failure to disclose.

No one shall be licensed to practice law by examination or comity or be allowed to take the bar examination in this state:

(1) who fails to disclose fully to the Board, whether requested to do so or not, the facts relating to any disciplinary proceedings or charges as to the applicant's professional conduct, whether same have been terminated or not, in this or any other state, or any federal court or other jurisdiction, or

(2) who fails to disclose fully to the Board, whether requested to do so or not, any and all facts relating to any civil or criminal proceedings, charges or investigations involving the applicant, whether the same have been terminated or not in this or any other state or in any of the federal courts or other jurisdictions.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

Legal Periodicals. — For survey regarding denial of admission to the bar which is based on

The board cannot meet its burden of proving specific acts of misconduct without setting out with specificity what they are and that they have been proved by the greater weight of the evidence. In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981), aff'd, 308 N.C. 771, 303 S.E.2d 810 (1983).

Where the only facts which could support a conclusion that the applicant did not show good moral character are in sharp dispute, the board must necessarily serve as the adjudicator of the facts in dispute and must ultimately find with regard to them what it believes the truth to be. Mere recitation of the testimony heard by the board will not suffice. Administrative agencies must find facts when factual issues are presented. They cannot fulfill this duty by merely summarizing the evidence. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Scope of Judicial Review. — The "whole record" test is the proper scope of judicial review of findings of the board of law examiners. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Constitutional Challenge Held Moot. — Action seeking injunctive relief and declaration that bar rules regarding moral character were unconstitutional held moot following plaintiffs' admission to bar. See Nestler v. Board of Law Exmrs., 611 F.2d 1380 (4th Cir. 1980).

the applicant's assertion of the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination with respect to questions concerning the applicant's subversive advocacy, see 19 N.C. Cent. L.J. 56 (1990).

.0604. Bar candidate committee.

Every applicant shall appear before a bar candidate committee, appointed by the chairman of the Board, in the judicial district in which the applicant resides, or in such other judicial district as the Board in its sole discretion may designate to the applicant, to be examined about any matter pertaining to the applicant's moral character and general fitness to practice law. An applicant who has appeared before a bar candidate committee may, in the Board's discretion, be excused from making a subsequent appearance before a bar candidate committee. The applicant shall give such information as may be required on such forms provided by the Board. A bar candidate committee may require the applicant to make more than one appearance before the committee and to furnish to the committee such information and documents as it may reasonably require pertaining to the moral character and general fitness of the applicant to be licensed to practice law in North Carolina. Each applicant will be advised when to appear before the bar candidate committee.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 25, 1980; February 3, 1988.

.0605. Denial; Re-application.

No new application or petition for reconsideration of a previous application from an applicant who has either been denied permission to take the bar examination or has been denied a license to practice law on the grounds set forth in Section .0600 shall be considered by the Board within a period of three (3) years next after the date of such denial unless, for good cause shown, permission for re-application or petition for a reconsideration is granted by the Board.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

CASE NOTES

Applied in In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981).

SECTION .0700. EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS*.0701. General education.

Each applicant must have satisfactorily completed the academic work required for admission to a law school approved by the Council of the North Carolina State Bar.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, 1977; February 3, 1988.

.0702. Legal education.

Every applicant applying for admission to practice law in the State of North Carolina, before being granted a license to practice law, shall prove to the satisfaction of the board that said applicant has graduated from a law school approved by the Council of the North Carolina State Bar or that said applicant will graduate within thirty (30) days after the date of the written bar examination from a law school approved by the Council of the North Carolina State Bar. There shall be filed with the secretary a certificate of the dean, or other proper official of said law school, certifying the date of the applicant's graduation. A list of the approved law schools is available in the office of the secretary.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended September 4, 1979; February 25, 1980; February 3, 1988.

CASE NOTES

Promulgation of Rule. — A rule requiring a candidate for the bar exam to have graduated from an ABA-accredited law school was properly adopted, even though it was not promulgated as a rule under the Administrative Procedure Act, as this section gives the State Bar Council specific directions on how to adopt rules, and the Council complied with these directions in adopting the rule. Bring v. North Carolina State Bar, 348 N.C. 655, 501 S.E.2d 907 (1998).

SECTION .0800. PROTEST

.0801. Nature of protest.

Any person may protest the application of any applicant to be admitted to the practice of law either by examination or by comity.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976.

.0802. Format.

A protest shall be made in writing, signed by the person making the protest and bearing the person's home and business address, and shall be filed with the secretary prior to the date on which the applicant is to be examined.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.0803. Notification; Right to withdraw.

The secretary shall notify immediately the applicant of the protest and of the charges therein made; and the applicant thereupon may file with the secretary a written withdrawal as a candidate for admission to the practice of law at that examination.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976.

CASE NOTES

Cited in In re Legg, 337 N.C. 628, 447 S.E.2d 353 (1994).

.0804. Hearing.

In case the applicant does not withdraw as a candidate for admission to the practice of law at that examination, the person or persons making the protest and the applicant in question shall appear before the Board at a time and place to be designated by the Board. In the event time will not permit a hearing on the protest prior to the examination, the applicant may take the written examination, and the results will be sealed until final disposition of the protest in favor of the applicant.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.0805. Refusal to license.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the Board on its own motion from refusing to issue a license to practice law until the Board has been fully satisfied as to the moral character and general fitness of the applicant as provided by Section .0600 of this Chapter.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended September 4, 1979; February 3, 1988.

SECTION .0900. EXAMINATIONS*.0901. Written examination.

Two written bar examinations shall be held each year for those applying to be admitted to the practice of law in North Carolina.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 25, 1980; February 3, 1988.

.0902. Dates.

The written bar examinations shall be held in the City of Raleigh beginning in the months of February and July on such dates as the board may set from year to year.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 25, 1980.

.0903. Subject matter.

The examination may deal with the following subjects: Business Associations (including agency, corporations, and partnerships), Civil Procedure, Constitutional Law, Contracts, Criminal Law and Procedure, Evidence, Family Law, Legal Ethics, Real Property, Security Transactions including The Uniform Commercial Code, Taxation, Torts, Trusts, Wills, Decedents' Estates and Equity.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended September 4, 1979; July 26, 1985.

Cross References. — As to when changes in the educational requirements of the examination become effective, see § 84-24.

.0904. Passing score.

The Board shall determine what shall constitute the passing of an examination.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976.

SECTION .1000. REVIEW OF WRITTEN BAR EXAMINATION

.1001. Review.

An unsuccessful applicant to the bar examination may examine the test booklets containing the applicant's essay examination along with model answers and the essay examination in the Board's offices.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 93B-8; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.1002. Fees.

The Board will furnish an unsuccessful applicant a copy of the applicant's essay examination at a cost to be determined by the secretary not to exceed $20.00. No copies of any model answers will be made or furnished to the applicant.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 3, 1988.

.1003. Multistate bar examination.

There is no provision for review of the Multistate Bar Examination.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 93B-8; Eff. February 1, 1976.

.1004. Scores.

(1) Upon written request the Board will release to an unsuccessful applicant the applicant's scores on the bar examination.

(2) Upon written request of an applicant, the Board will furnish the Multistate Bar Examination score of said applicant to another Board of bar examiners, or like organization that administers the admission of attorneys into that jurisdiction.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended February 25, 1980; August 24, 1981; February 3, 1988.

.1005. Board representative.

The secretary of the Board serves as the representative of the Board during this review of the written bar examination by an unsuccessful applicant. The secretary is not authorized to discuss any specific questions and answers on the bar examination.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 93B-8; Eff. February 1, 1976.

SECTION .1100. RULEMAKING PROCEDURES

(Reserved for future rule purposes)

SECTION .1200. BOARD HEARINGS*.1201. Nature of hearings.

(1) All general applicants may be required to appear before the Board or a Panel at a hearing to answer inquiry about any matter under these rules.

(2) Each comity applicant shall appear before the Board or Panel to satisfy the Board that he or she has met all the requirements of Rule .0502.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 150A-11 (see now 150B-11); 150A-23 (see now 150B-23); Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, 1977; September 4, 1979.

CASE NOTES

The purpose of the hearing before the board is to probe matters set forth in the notice of hearing required by Rule .1202. Such an inquiry must of necessity concern acts which occurred prior to the hearing. The board should first determine whether in fact the applicant committed the prior acts of misconduct. If it determines that he did, it must then say whether these acts so reflect on the applicant's character that they are sufficient to rebut his prima facie showing of good character. In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981), aff'd, 308 N.C. 771, 303 S.E.2d 810 (1983).

"Good Moral Character" Defined. — Good moral character is something more than the absence of bad character. It is the good name which the applicant has acquired, or should have acquired, through association with his fellows. It means that he must have conducted himself as a man of upright character ordinarily would, should or does. Such character expresses itself, not in negatives nor in following the line of least resistance, but quite often in the will to do the unpleasant thing, if it is right, and the resolve not to do the pleasant thing, if it is wrong. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

arising from it. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Burden of Showing Good Moral Character. — An applicant for admission to the bar has the burden of showing his good moral character. At the outset, he must come forward with sufficient evidence to make out a prima facie case. The board, or any other person wishing to contest an application, may then offer rebuttal evidence. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Burden on Board to Show Particular Instances of Misconduct. — To place the burden on the applicant to disprove acts of misconduct would be a distortion of the intended effect of the rule requiring the applicant to prove, overall, his good character. In order to avoid this distortion it is necessary to distinguish between applicant's overall burden of showing good moral character and the board's burden of proving particular instances of misconduct. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Whether a person is of good moral character is seldom subject to proof by reference to one or two incidents. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

An application for admission to the bar may not be denied on the basis of suspicions or accusations alone. In re Rogers, 297

N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Burden of Proof to Be by Preponderance of Evidence. — When an applicant makes a prima facie showing of his good moral character and, to rebut the showing, the board relies on specific acts of misconduct the commission of which is denied by the applicant, the board must assume the burden of proving the specific acts by the greater weight of the evidence. The rule that applicant has the overall burden to prove his good moral character does not relieve the board from having to prove such specific acts of misconduct. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Where Essential Facts Are Indisputably Established. — In cases in which all the essential facts either appear on the face of the application or are otherwise indisputably established, the board need only weigh the evidence and determine whether the applicant has shown his good moral character. However, even in such cases, while it might be permissible for the board not to make specific findings of fact, a detailing of the facts on which it bases its conclusions would facilitate judicial review. In

Board to Make Specific Findings of Fact. — When a decision of the board of law examiners rests on a specific fact or facts the existence of which is contested, the board's duty to resolve the factual dispute by specific findings is no less than that of other administrative agencies. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Where the only facts which could support a conclusion that the applicant did not show good moral character are in sharp dispute, the board must necessarily serve as the adjudicator of the facts in dispute and must ultimately find with regard to them what it believes the truth to be. Mere recitation of the testimony heard by the board will not suffice. Administrative agencies must find facts when factual issues are presented. They cannot fulfill this duty by merely summarizing the evidence. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

Scope of Judicial Review. — The "whole record" test is the proper scope of judicial review of findings of the board of law examiners. In re Rogers, 297 N.C. 48, 253 S.E.2d 912 (1979).

.1202. Notice of hearing.

The chairman will schedule the hearings before the Board or Panel and such hearings will be scheduled by the issuance of a notice of hearing mailed to the applicant or the applicant's attorney within a reasonable time before the date of the hearing.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 150B-23; Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, 1977; September 4, 1979; February 3, 1988.

CASE NOTES

Applied in In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981).

.1203. Conduct of hearings.

(1) All hearings shall be heard by the Board except that the chairman may designate two or more members to serve as a Panel to conduct these hearings.

(2) The Panel will make a determination as to the applicant's eligibility to stand the written bar examination or to be licensed by comity. The Panel may grant the application, deny the application, or refer it to the Board for a de novo hearing. The applicant will be notified in writing of the Panel's determination. In the event of an adverse determination by the Panel, the applicant may request a hearing de novo before the Board by giving written notice to the secretary at the offices of the Board within ten (10) days following receipt of the Panel's determination. Failure to file such notice in the manner and within the time stated shall operate as a waiver of the right of the applicant to request a hearing de novo before the Board and shall result in the determination of the Panel becoming final.

(3) The Board or a Panel of the Board may require an applicant to make more than one appearance before the Board or Panel, to furnish information and documents as it may reasonably require, and to submit to reasonable physical or mental examinations, all at the applicant's expense, pertaining to the moral character or general fitness of the applicant to be licensed to practice law in North Carolina.

(4) The Board or a Panel of the Board may allow an applicant to take the bar examination but seal the results of that examination until the Board or a Panel has made a final determination that the applicant possesses the qualifications of character and general fitness requisite for an attorney and counselor at law and is possessed of good moral character and is entitled to the high regard and confidence of the public.

CASE NOTES

Cited in In re Legg, 325 N.C. 658, 386 S.E.2d 174 (1989).

.1204. Continuances; motions for such.

Continuances, adjournments and like dispositions will be granted to a party only in compelling circumstances, especially when one such disposition has been previously requested by and granted to that party. Motions for continuance should be made to the secretary of the Board and will be granted or denied by the chairman of the Board.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 150A-24 (see now 150B-24); Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, 1977.

.1205. Subpoenas.

(1) The Board shall have the power to subpoena and to summon and examine witnesses under oath and to compel their attendance and the production of books, papers and other documents and writings deemed by it to be necessary or material to the hearing as set forth in G.S. 84-24.

(2) The secretary of the Board is delegated the power to issue subpoenas in the Board's name.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 150A-23 (see now 150B-23); Eff. February 1, 1976; amended August 23, 1977.

.1206. Depositions and discovery.

(1) A deposition may be used in evidence when taken in compliance with the N.C. Rules of Civil Procedure, G.S. 1A-1. The Board may also allow the use of depositions or written interrogatories for the purpose of discovery or for the use as evidence in the hearing or for both purposes pursuant to the N.C. Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) Any party or the Board may submit sworn affidavits as evidence to be considered by the Board in a Board Hearing. The Board will take under consideration sworn affidavits presented to the Board by persons desiring to protest an applicant's admission to the North Carolina Bar.

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 1976; amended August 23, 1977; September 4, 150A-11 (see now 150B-11); Eff. February 1, 1979.

CASE NOTES

Cited in In re Legg, 325 N.C. 658, 386 S.E.2d 174 (1989).

.1207. Reopening of a case.

After a final decision has been reached by the Board in any matter, a party may petition the Board to reopen or reconsider a case. Petitions will not be granted except when petitioner can show that the reasons for reopening or reconsidering the case are to introduce newly discovered evidence which was not presented at the initial hearing because of some justifiable, excusable or unavoidable circumstances and that fairness and justice require reopening or reconsidering the case. The petition shall be made within a reasonable time and not more than ninety days after the decision of the Board has been entered.

SECTION .1300. LICENSES

.1301. Interim permit for comity applicants (Deleted).

History Note: Statutory Authority G.S. 84-24; Eff. February 1, 1976.

.1302. Licenses for general applicants.

Upon compliance with the rules of the Board, and all orders of the Board, the secretary, upon order of the Board, shall issue a license to practice law in North Carolina to each applicant as may be designated by the Board in the form and manner as may be prescribed by the Board, and at such times as prescribed by the Board.

SECTION .1400. JUDICIAL REVIEW

.1401. Appeals.

A general applicant may appeal from an adverse ruling or determination by the Board as to the applicant's eligibility to take the written examination. After a general applicant has successfully passed the written examination, the applicant may appeal from any adverse ruling or determination withholding the applicant's license to practice law. A comity applicant may appeal from an adverse ruling of the Board of Law Examiners denying the applicant's application to the North Carolina Bar by comity for failure to meet any of the requirements of Rule .0502 of this Chapter.

CASE NOTES

Applied in In re Moore, 301 N.C. 634, 272 S.E.2d 826 (1981).

.1403. Record to be filed.

Within sixty days after receipt of the notice of appeal, and after the applicant has paid the cost of preparing the record, the secretary shall prepare, certify, and file with the clerk of the Superior Court of Wake County the record of the case, comprising:

- (1) the application and supporting documents or papers filed by the applicant with the Board;
- (2) a complete transcription of the testimony when taken at the hearing;
- (3) copies of all pertinent documents and other written evidence introduced at the hearing;
- (4) a copy of the decision of the Board; and
- (5) a copy of the notice of appeal containing the exceptions filed to the decision.

With the permission of the court, the record may be shortened by stipulation of all parties to the review proceedings. Any party unreasonably refusing to stipulate to limit the record may be taxed by the court for such additional costs as may be occasioned by the refusal. The court may require or permit subsequent corrections or additions to the record when deemed desirable.

.1404. Wake County Superior Court.

Such appeal shall lie to the Superior Court of Wake County and shall be heard by the presiding judge or resident judge, without a jury, who may hear oral arguments and receive written briefs, but no evidence not offered at the hearing shall be taken except that in cases of alleged omissions or errors in the record. Testimony thereon may be taken by the court. The findings of fact by the Board when supported by competent evidence, shall be conclusive and binding upon the court. The court may affirm, reverse or remand the case for further proceedings. If the court reverses or remands for further proceedings the decision of the Board, the judge shall set out in writing, which writing shall become a part of the record, the reasons for such reversal or remand.

Regulation 1. Organization.

1.1. Quorum. Five members shall constitute a quorum of the Board.

1.2. The executive committee. The Executive Committee of the Board shall be comprised of the chairperson, a vice-chairperson elected by the members of the Board, and a member to be appointed by the chairperson. Its purpose is to conduct all necessary business of the Board that may arise between meetings of the full Board. In such matters it shall have complete authority to act for the Board.

1.3. Other committees. The chairperson may appoint from time to time any committees he or she deems advisable of not less than three members for the purpose of considering and deciding matters submitted to them.

1.4. Definitions. As used herein, "Board" means the Board of Continuing Legal Education, "CLE" means continuing legal education, and "Rules" means the Rules for the Continuing Legal Education Program adopted by the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

Regulation 2. General course approval.

2.1. Law school courses. Courses offered by an ABA accredited law school with respect to which academic credit may be earned may be approved activities. Computation of CLE credit for such courses shall be as prescribed in Regulation 5.1. No more than 12 CLE hours in any year may be earned by such courses. No credit is available for law school courses attended prior to becoming an active member of the North Carolina State Bar.

2.2. Bar review/refresher course. Courses designed to review or refresh recent law school graduates or attorneys in preparation for any bar examination shall not be approved for CLE credit.

2.3. Approval. CLE activities may be approved upon the written application of a sponsor, other than an accredited sponsor, on an individual program basis or of an active member on an individual program basis. An application for such CLE course approval shall meet the following requirements:

(a) If advance approval is requested, the application and supporting documentation including two substantially complete sets of the written materials to be distributed at the course or program, shall be submitted at least 45 days prior to the date on which the course or program is scheduled.

(b) In all other cases the application and supporting documentation shall be submitted not later than 45 days after the date the course or program was presented or prior to the end of the calendar year in which the course or program was presented, whichever is earlier.

(c) The application shall be submitted on a form furnished by the Board.

(d) The application shall contain all information requested on the form.

(e) The application shall be accompanied by a course outline or brochure that describes the content, identifies the teachers, lists the time devoted to each topic, and shows each date and location at which the program will be offered.

(f) The application shall include a detailed calculation of the total CLE hours and hours of professional responsibility.

2.4. Course quality. The application and materials provided shall reflect that the program to be offered meets the requirements of Rule 19(E). Written materials consisting merely of an outline without citation or explanatory notations generally will not be sufficient for approval. Any sponsor, including an accredited sponsor, who expects to conduct a CLE activity for which suitable written materials will not be made available to all attendees may obtain approval for that activity only by application to the board at least 45 days in advance of the presentation showing why written materials are not suitable or readily available for such a program.

2.5. Records. Sponsors, including accredited sponsors, shall within 30 days after the course is concluded:

(a) furnish to the Board a list in alphabetical order, on magnetic tape if available, of the names of all North Carolina attendees and their North Carolina State Bar membership numbers;

(b) remit to the Board the appropriate sponsor fee.

(c) furnish to the Board a complete set of all written materials distributed to attendees at the course or program.

2.6. Announcement. Accredited sponsors and sponsors who have advanced approval for courses may include in their brochures or other course descriptions the information contained in the following illustration:

This course (or seminar or program) has been approved by the Board of Continuing Legal Education of the North Carolina State Bar for continuing legal education credit in the amount of ____ hours, of which ____ hours will also apply in the area of professional responsibility and ____ will apply toward the practical skills requirement. This course is not sponsored by the Board.

2.7. Notice. Sponsors not having advanced approval shall make no representation concerning the approval of the course for CLE credit by the Board.

The Board will mail a notice of its decision on CLE activity approval requests within 15 days of their receipt when the request for approval is submitted before the program and within 30 days when the request is submitted after the program. Approval thereof will be deemed if the notice is not timely mailed. This automatic approval will not operate if the sponsor contributes to the delay by failing to provide the complete information requested by the Board, or if the Board timely notifies the sponsor the matter has been tabled and the reason therefor.

2.8. In-house CLE and self-study. No approval will be provided for in-house CLE or self-study by attorneys, except those programs exempted by the Board under Rule 19(G).

2.9. Facilities. Sponsors ordinarily must provide a facility with adequate lighting and temperature control ventilation. For a nonclinical CLE activity, the facility should be set up in classroom or similar style to provide a writing surface for each preregistered attendee or sufficient space for taking notes, and shall provide sufficient space between the chairs in each row to permit easy access to and exit from each seat. Crowding in the facility detracts from the learning process and will not be permitted.

2.10. Course materials. In addition to the requirements of sections 2.3 and 2.5 above, sponsors, including accredited sponsors, and active members seeking credit for an approved activity shall furnish upon request of the Board a copy of all materials presented and distributed at a CLE course or program.

2.11. Nonlegal educational activities. Except in extraordinary circumstances, approval will not be given for general and personal educational activities. For example, the following types of courses will not receive approval: (a) courses within the normal college curriculum such as English, history, social studies and psychology; (b) courses which deal with the individual lawyer's human development, such as stress reduction, quality of life or substance abuse; (c) courses which deal with the development of personal skills generally, such as public speaking (other than oral argument and courtroom presentation), nonlegal writing and financial management; and (d) courses designed primarily to sell services or products or to generate greater revenue, such as marketing or advertising (as distinguished from courses dealing with development of law office procedures and management designed to raise the level of service provided to clients.)

A course or segment may be granted credit by the board when a bar organization course trains volunteer attorneys in service to the profession if all or segments of the course are devoted to CLE as defined in Rule 1(B)(5) or professional responsibility (Rule 1(B)(13)), if such course or segment meets the standards of these rules, and if the sponsor represents that such course or segment meets these standards. No more than three hours of professional responsibility will be credited per training course.

Regulation 3. Accredited sponsors.

In order to receive designation as an "accredited sponsor" of courses, programs or other continuing legal education activities under Rule 20(A), the application of the sponsor must meet the following requirements:

(a) the application for accredited sponsor status shall be submitted on a form furnished by the Board.

(b) the application shall contain all information requested on the form.

(c) the application shall be accompanied by course outlines or brochures that describe the content, identify the instructors, list the time devoted to each topic, show each date and location at which three programs have been sponsored in each of the last three consecutive years, and enclose the actual course materials.

(d) the application shall include a detailed calculation of the total CLE hours specified in each of the programs sponsored by the organization.

(e) the application shall reflect that the previous programs offered by the organization in continuing legal education have been of consistently high quality and would otherwise meet the standards set forth in Rule 19.

(f) notwithstanding the provisions of (c), (d) and (e) above, any law school which has been approved by The North Carolina State Bar for purposes of qualifying its graduates for the North Carolina Bar examination, may become an accredited sponsor upon application to the Board.

Regulation 4. Accreditation of videotape or other audiovisual programs.

4.1. The Board may permit an active member to receive credit for attendance at, or participation in, videotape presentations or where audio-visual recorded or reproduced material is used.

4.2. An attorney attending such a presentation is entitled to credit hours if:

(a) The presentation from which the program is made would, if attended by an active member, be an accredited course; and

(b) All other conditions imposed by these regulations, or by the Board in advance, are met.

4.3. Unless the entire program has been produced by an accredited sponsor, the person or organization sponsoring the program must receive advance approval and accreditation from the Board. Board Form 2 may be utilized for this purpose.

4.4. To receive approval for attendance at such programs, the following conditions must be met:

(a) The person or organization sponsoring the program must keep accurate records of attendance, and must forward a copy of the record of attendance of active members to the Board within 30 days after presentation of the videotape program is completed.

(b) Unless clearly inappropriate for the particular course, detailed papers, manuals, study materials, or written outlines are presented to the persons attending the program which substantially pertain to the subject matter of the program. Any materials made available to persons attending the course from which the program is made must be made available to those persons attending the program who desire to receive credit under these regulations.

(c) Attendance must be verified by a responsible party who is not attempting to earn credit hours by virtue of attendance at that presentation. Proof of attendance may be made by the verifying person on Board Form 5.

(d) A suitable classroom or rooms must be available for viewing the program and taking of notes.

4.5. A minimum of five active members must physically attend the presentation of the program.

EXAMPLE (1): Attorney X, an active member, attends a videotape seminar sponsored by an accredited sponsor. If a person attending the program from which the videotape is made would receive credit, Attorney X is also entitled to receive credit, if the additional conditions under Regulation 4 are also met.

EXAMPLE (2): Attorney Y, an active member, desires to attend a videotape program. However, the proposed videotape program (a) is not presented by an accredited sponsor, and (b) has not received individual course approval from the Board. Attorney Y may not receive any credit hours for attending that videotape presentation without advance approval from the Board.

EXAMPLE (3): Attorney Z, an active member, attends a videotape program. The presentation of the program from which the videotape was made has already been held, and approved by the Board for credit. However, no person is present at the videotape program to record attendance. Attorney Z may not obtain credit for viewing the videotape program, unless it is viewed in the presence of a person who is not attending the videotape program for credit, and who verifies the attendance of Attorney Z and of other attorneys at the program. All other conditions must also be met (i.e., materials available at the original presentation must be available at the videotape presentation, at least five active members must be present, etc.).

Regulation 5. Computation of credit.

5.1. Computation formula. CLE and ethics hours shall be computed by the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{sum of the total minutes of actual instruction}}{60} = \text{Total Hours}$$

For example, actual instruction totalling 195 minutes would equal 3.25 hours toward CLE.

5.2. Actual instruction. Only actual education shall be included in computing the total hours of actual instruction. The following shall not be included:

- (a) Introductory remarks;
- (b) Breaks;
- (c) Business meetings;
- (d) Keynote speeches or speeches in connection with meals;
- (e) Questions and answer sessions at a ratio in excess of 15 minutes per CLE hour and programs less than 30 minutes in length.

5.3. Teaching. As a contribution to professionalism, credit may be earned for teaching in an approved continuing legal education activity. Presentations accompanied by thorough, high quality, readable, and carefully prepared written materials will qualify for CLE credit on the basis of three hours of credit for each thirty minutes of presentation. Repeat presentations qualify for one-half of the credits available for the initial presentation. For example, a presentation of 45 minutes would qualify for 4.5 hours of credit.

Regulation 6. Fees.

6.1. Sponsor fee. The sponsor fee, a charge paid directly by the sponsor, shall be paid by all sponsors of approved activities presented in North Carolina and by accredited sponsors located in North Carolina for approved activities wherever presented, except that no sponsor fee is required where approved activities are offered without charge to attendees. In any other instance, payment of the fee by the sponsor is optional. The amount of the fee is set at $1.25 per approved CLE hour per active member of the North Carolina State Bar in attendance.

The fee is computed as shown in the following formula and example which assumes a 6-hour course attended by 100 North Carolina lawyers seeking CLE credit:

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Fee: } & $1.25 \\ & \times \text{ Total Approved CLE hours (6)} \\ & \times \text{ Number of NC Attendees (100)} \\ & = \text{Total Sponsor Fee ($750.00)} \end{aligned}$$

6.2. Attendee fee. The attendee fee is paid by the North Carolina attorney who requests credit for a program for which no sponsor fee was paid. An attorney should remit the fees along with his or her affidavit before February 28 following the calendar year for which the report is being submitted. The amount of the fee is set at $1.25 per approved CLE hour for which the attorney claims credit.

It is computed as shown in the following formula and example which assumes that the attorney attended an activity approved for 3 hours of CLE credit:

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Fee: } & $1.25 \\ & \times \text{ Total Approved CLE hours (3)} \\ & = \text{Total of Attendee Fee ($3.75)} \end{aligned}$$

6.3. Fee review. The fee charged to sponsors and attendees will be increased only to the extent necessary for those fees to pay the costs of administration of the CLE program.

6.4. Uniform application. The fee shall be applied uniformly without exceptions or other preferential treatment for a sponsor or attendee.

Regulation 7. Special cases and exemptions.

7.1. Attorneys who have a permanent disability which makes attendance at CLE programs inordinately difficult may file a request for a permanent substitute program in lieu of attendance and shall therein set out continuing legal education plans tailored to their specific interests and physical ability. The Board shall review and approve or disapprove such plans on an individual basis and without delay.

7.2. Other requests for substitute compliance, partial waivers, other exemptions for hardship or extenuating circumstances may be granted by the Board on a yearly basis upon written application of the attorney.

7.3. Credit is earned through service as a bar examiner of the North Carolina Board of Law Examiners. The Board will award 12 hours of CLE credit for the preparation and grading of a bar examination by a member of the North Carolina Board of Law Examiners.

7.4. Newly admitted active members who have previously been licensed to practice law in this state or in some other state and who have actually practiced law for a period of at least five years may apply to the Board for an exemption from the practical skills requirement of Rule 18(C). This application must be filed prior to July 31 of the year for which the exemption is initially sought.

Regulation 8. General compliance procedures.

8.1. Affidavit. Prior to January 31 of each year, commencing in 1990, the prescribed affidavit form shall be mailed to all active members of The North Carolina State Bar concerning compliance with the Continuing Legal Education Program for the preceding year.

8.2. Late filing penalty. Any attorney who, for whatever reasons, files the affidavit showing compliance or declaring an exemption after the February 28 due date shall pay a $75.00 late filing penalty. The due date for filing the affidavit for the 1988 reporting year only shall be March 31, 1989. This penalty shall be submitted with the affidavit. An affidavit that is either received by the Board or postmarked on or before February 28 (March 31 in 1989 only) shall be considered to have been timely filed. An attorney who complies with the requirements of the Rules during the probationary period under Rule 23 shall pay a late compliance fee of $125.00.

Regulation 9. Noncompliance procedures.

9.1. Reinstatement fee. The uniform reinstatement fee is $250 and must accompany the reinstatement petition.

9.2. Policy. Reinstatement will be granted only upon a showing that the member has attended sufficient approved CLE activity to make up his or her previous deficiency.

9.3. Petition. The petition for reinstatement shall list the CLE activities according to a form provided by the Board.

Regulation 10. Authority for appeals.

10.1. Appeals. Except as otherwise provided, the Board is the final authority on all matters entrusted to it under these Rules. Therefore, any decision by a committee of the Board pursuant to a delegation of authority may be appealed to the full Board.

10.2. Procedure. A decision made by the staff of the Board pursuant to a delegation of authority may also be reviewed by the full Board, but should first be appealed to any committee of the Board having jurisdiction on the subject involved. All appeals shall be in writing. The Board has the discretion to, but is not obligated to, grant a hearing in connection with any appeal regarding the accreditation of a program.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

ARTICLE I. AUTHORITY

Section 1.1.

These Rules and Regulations are issued pursuant to the authority contained in G.S. 7A-459, Chapter 1013 of the Session Laws of 1969.

ARTICLE II. DETERMINATION OF INDIGENCY

Section 2.1.

Prior to the appointment of counsel on grounds of indigency, the Court shall require the defendant to complete and sign under oath an Affidavit of Indigency in a form approved by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Section 2.2.

Prior to the call of the case for trial, the judge shall make reasonable inquiry of the defendant personally under oath to determine the truth of the statements made in the Affidavit of Indigency.

Section 2.3.

The defendant's Affidavit of Indigency shall be filed in the records of the case.

Section 2.4.

Upon the basis of the defendant's Affidavit of Indigency, his statements to the Court on this subject, and such other information as may be brought to the attention of the Court which shall be made a part of the record in the case, the Court shall determine whether or not the defendant is in fact indigent.

ARTICLE III. WAIVER OF COUNSEL

Section 3.1.

Any defendant desiring to waive the right to counsel as provided in G.S. 7A-457 shall complete and sign under oath a Waiver of Counsel in a form approved by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts. If such defendant waives the right to counsel but refuses to execute such waiver, the Court shall so certify in a form approved by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Section 3.2.

Prior to the call of the case for trial, the Judge shall make reasonable inquiry of the defendant personally to determine that the defendant has understandingly waived his right to counsel.

Section 3.3.

The Judge, upon being so satisfied, shall accept the Waiver of Counsel executed by the defendant, sign the same and cause it to be filed in the record of the case.

ARTICLE IV. APPOINTMENT OF COUNSEL

Section 4.1.

The North Carolina State Bar shall adopt a model plan for the appointment of counsel for indigent persons charged with certain crimes or otherwise entitled to representation. Each judicial district bar shall adopt a plan or plans for the appointment of counsel by the public defender and/or the court to represent indigent persons which provides for the appointment of experienced counsel for persons charged with serious crimes, with respect to which the Model plan may serve as a guide or example. A plan may be applicable to the entire district, or, at the election of the district bar, separate plans may be adopted by the district bar for use in each separate county within the district. (Amended November 19, 1984; amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.2.

Such plan or plans as adopted by the judicial district bar shall be certified to the Council of the North Carolina State Bar for its approval, following which the plan or plans shall be certified to the Clerk of Superior Court of each county to which each plan is applicable by the Secretary of the North Carolina State Bar and shall constitute the method by which counsel shall be selected in said district for appointment to indigent defendants. Thereafter all appointments of counsel for indigent defendants in said district shall be made in conformity with such plan or plans, unless the trial judge or, where authorized, the public defender, in the exercise of his discretion deems it proper in furtherance of justice to appoint as counsel for an indigent defendant or defendants some lawyer or lawyers residing and practicing in the judicial district, who is or are not on the plan or list certified to the Clerk of Superior Court, and if so, the trial judge or, where authorized, the public defender, may appoint as counsel to represent an indigent defendant some lawyer or lawyers not on said plan or list residing and practicing in the judicial district. (Amended November 19, 1984; amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.3.

No attorney shall be appointed as counsel for an indigent defendant in a court of any district except the district in which he resides or maintains an office except by consent of counsel so appointed.

Section 4.4.

No indigent defendant shall be entitled or permitted to select or specify the attorney who shall be assigned to defend him.

Section 4.5.

The Clerk of Superior Court of each county shall file or record in his office, maintain and keep current the plan for the assignment of counsel applicable to said county as certified to him by the Secretary of the North Carolina State Bar. (Amended November 19, 1984.)

Section 4.6.

The Clerk of Superior Court of each county shall keep a record of all counsel eligible for appointment under the plan applicable to said county as certified to him by the Secretary of the North Carolina State Bar. (Amended November 19, 1984; amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.7.

Orders for the appointment of counsel shall be entered by the court in a form approved by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Section 4.8.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Article or any plans or assigned counsel lists adopted by a district bar pursuant thereto, two counsel shall be appointed to represent an indigent defendant charged with murder where the State is seeking the death penalty. (Added May 26, 1978; amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.9.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Article or any plans or assigned counsel lists adopted by a district bar pursuant thereto, no attorney shall be appointed to represent at the trial level any indigent defendant charged with a capital crime:

(a) Who does not have a minimum of five years' experience in the general practice of law, provided that the Court or, where authorized, the public defender, may in its or his discretion appoint as assistant counsel an attorney who has less experience.

(b) Who has not been found by the court or, where authorized, the public defender, appointing him to have a demonstrated proficiency in the field of criminal trial practice.

For the purpose of this section the term general practice of law shall be deemed to include service as a prosecuting attorney in any District Attorney's office. (Added May 26, 1978; amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.10.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Article or any plans or assigned counsel lists adopted by a district bar pursuant thereto, no attorney shall be appointed to represent at the appellate level any indigent defendant convicted of a capital crime:

(a) Who does not have a minimum of five years' experience in the general practice of law, provided, that the Court or, where authorized, the public defender, may in its or his discretion appoint as assistant counsel an attorney who has less experience.

(b) Who has not been found by the trial judge or, where authorized, the public defender, to have a demonstrated proficiency in the field of appellate practice.

For the purpose of this section the term general practice of law shall be deemed to include service as a prosecuting attorney in any District Attorney's office.

Unless good cause is shown an attorney representing the indigent defendant at the trial level shall represent him at the appellate level if the attorney is otherwise qualified under the provisions of this section. (Added May 26, 1978; amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.11.

In those cases in which a public defender has authority to appoint a member of a judicial district bar to represent an indigent person, the public defender shall make the appointment pursuant to the procedures set out herein. (Added March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.12.

It is contemplated that in those districts with a public defender, additional outside counsel will be appointed in those instances in which the volume of work handled by the public defender necessitates additional counsel and in those instances where a conflict of interest exists as regards the public defender and multiple defendants. Provided, when a conflict of interest on the part of the public defender necessitates additional counsel, the court shall appoint outside counsel. (Added March 4, 1992.)

Section 4.13.

Nothing in these regulations or in the Model Plan shall be construed to prohibit assignment of otherwise qualified counsel to represent indigent defendants pursuant to specialized programs, plans or contracts which may be implemented from time to time to improve efficiency and economy where such programs, plans or contracts are consistent with the ends of justice and are approved by the Council of the N.C. State Bar. (Added March 4, 1992.)

ARTICLE V. WITHDRAWAL BY COUNSEL*Section 5.1.

At any time during or pending the trial or re-trial of a case, the trial Judge, the appointing judge, or the resident judge of the district, upon application of the attorney, and for good cause shown, may permit said attorney to withdraw from the defense of the case.

Section 5.2.

At any time after the trial of a case and during the pendency of an appeal, the trial attorney, for good cause shown, may apply to the Appellate Court for permission to withdraw from the defense of the case upon the appeal.

Section 5.3.

Applications for permission to withdraw as counsel shall be made only for good cause where compelling reasons or actual hardship exists.

CASE NOTES*Withdrawal Where Counsel Finds Appeal Wholly Frivolous or Lacking in Merit.

— In appeals wholly frivolous or simply lacking in merit, counsel should avoid the dilemma of deciding between his professional and personal integrity as an attorney and the right of the defendant to the assistance of counsel. Virgil v. Harris, 299 F. Supp. 509 (E.D.N.C. 1969).

If a court-appointed counsel finds an appeal to be wholly frivolous and desires to be released of further responsibility, he should apply to the Supreme Court of North Carolina for permission to withdraw as appellate counsel. If this statutory procedure is followed, the Court could determine by the application of State and federal requirements whether the appeal is wholly frivolous, and whether to grant counsel's request to withdraw and dismiss the appeal, or proceed to a decision on the merits. Virgil v. Harris, 299 F. Supp. 509 (E.D.N.C. 1969).

There is a distinction between cases that are wholly frivolous in which counsel may be permitted to withdraw, and those apparently lacking in merit, but presenting arguable questions. Virgil v. Harris, 299 F. Supp. 509 (E.D.N.C. 1969).

If a court-appointed counsel finds his case to be wholly frivolous, after a conscientious examination of it, he should so advise the court and request permission to withdraw. That request must, however, be accompanied by a brief referring to anything in the record that might arguably support the appeal. A copy of counsel's brief should be furnished the indigent and time allowed him to raise any points that he chooses; the court — not counsel — then proceeds, after a full examination of all the proceedings, to decide whether the case is wholly frivolous. If it so finds, it may grant counsel's request to withdraw and dismiss the appeal insofar as federal requirements are concerned, or proceed to a decision on the merits, if state law so requires. On the other hand, if it finds any of the legal points arguable on their merits (and therefore not frivolous) it must, prior to decision, afford the indigent the assistance of counsel to argue the appeal. Virgil v. Harris, 299 F. Supp. 509 (E.D.N.C. 1969).

ARTICLE VI. PROCEDURE FOR PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION*Section 6.1.

Upon completion of the representation of an indigent defendant by appointed counsel in the trial court, the trial judge shall, upon application enter an order allowing such compensation as is provided in G.S. 7A-458.

Section 6.2.

Upon the completion of any appeal, the trial judge, the resident judge or the judge holding the courts of the district, shall, upon application, enter a supplemental order in the cause allowing the appointed attorney upon the appeal such additional compensation as may be appropriate.

Section 6.3.

Orders for the payment of compensation to counsel for representation of indigent defendants shall be entered by the judge in a form approved by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Section 6.4.

Two certified copies of the order for the payment of fees shall be forwarded by the clerk of the Superior Court to the Administrative Office of the Courts, Attention: Assistant Director, Raleigh, North Carolina, for payment.

Section 6.5.

Upon the entry of the order for the payment of counsel fees, the court shall upon final conviction likewise enter a judgment against the defendant for whom counsel was assigned in the amount allowed as counsel fees, said judgment to be in the form approved by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Section 6.6.

Counsel appointed for the representation of indigent defendants shall not accept any compensation other than that awarded by the Court. (Added August 31, 1973.)

MODEL PLAN

REGULATIONS FOR APPOINTMENT OF COUNSEL IN INDIGENT CASES IN THE _____ JUDICIAL DISTRICT

ARTICLE I. PURPOSE

The purpose of these regulations is to provide for effective representation of indigent criminal defendants at all stages of trial and appellate proceedings.

ARTICLE II. APPLICABILITY

These regulations apply to any criminal case arising in the _____ Judicial District in which the court has determined that the defendant is entitled to the appointment of counsel. Reference to the masculine gender shall be construed to include both male and female persons. Reference to the singular shall, as appropriate, be construed to include the plural.

ARTICLE III. LISTS OF ATTORNEYS

Section 3.1.

Any attorney engaged in the private practice of law primarily in the _____ Judicial District who

(a) Maintains an office in the _____ Judicial District, and

(b) Practices criminal law in the courts of the _____ Judicial District to an appreciable extent, or intends or desires to do so, may be placed on one of three lists governing the appointment of counsel in criminal cases involving indigent persons. No other attorneys will be placed on the lists.

Section 3.2.

Attorneys included on the first list may only be appointed to represent defendants charged with misdemeanors or felonies punishable by imprisonment for not more than five years.

Section 3.3.

Attorneys on the second list may be appointed to represent defendants charged with misdemeanors or felonies other than capital crimes, provided that an attorney may request the Committee on Indigent Appointments that he not be subject to appointment to represent defendants charged only with misdemeanors. If the committee approves the request, the list shall reflect the limited availability of that attorney for appointments.

Section 3.4.

Attorneys on the third list may be appointed to represent defendants charged with any crimes, provided that an attorney may request the Committee on Indigent Appointments that he not be subject to appointment to represent defendants charged only with misdemeanors. If the committee approves the request, the list shall reflect the limited availability of that attorney for appointments.

Section 3.5.

The Committee on Indigent Appointments shall, prior to the effective date of these regulations, meet and develop three lists of attorneys of the types described herein from the roster of attorneys currently accepting appointments in indigent cases in the _____ Judicial District. The first list shall include all such attorneys who have been licensed less than two years or who have been admitted by comity. The second list shall include all such attorneys who have been licensed for two years or more. The third list shall include all such attorneys who have had not less than five years experience in the general practice of law and who have demonstrated proficiency in the field of criminal trial practice. With respect to these initial lists, any other requirement not otherwise met by any listed attorney is hereby waived unless the committee determines that it ought not to be waived. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 3.6.

Subject to the exception contained in Section 3.5, requirements for inclusion on the three lists are as follows:

(a) An attorney licensed to practice law in North Carolina may be included on the first list if the Committee on Indigent Appointments finds that:

(1) He is competent to represent criminal defendants charged with misdemeanors and felonies, and

(2) Two attorneys who have engaged in the practice of law in the _____ Judicial District for not less than three years preceding the committee's consideration, at least one of whom being included on one of the three lists, have stated in writing that they believe he is competent to represent criminal defendants charged with misdemeanors and felonies and that they recommend that he be included on the list, provided that the recommending attorneys may not be members of the petitioning attorney's law firm at the time of recommendation.

(b) An attorney who has been licensed to practice law in North Carolina for not less than two years or who has been admitted to the North Carolina State Bar by comity may be included on the second list if the committee finds that:

(1) He has demonstrated proficiency in the field of criminal trial practice and has the ability to handle appellate matters, and

(2) Two attorneys who have engaged in the private practice of law in the _____ Judicial District for not less than four years preceding the committee's consideration, at least one of whom being included on one of the three lists, have stated in writing that they believe he is competent to represent criminal defendants charged with felonies and that they recommend that he be included on the list, provided that the recommending attorneys may not be members of the petitioning attorney's law firm at the time of recommendation, and

(3) He is competent to represent criminal defendants charged with felonies.

(c) An attorney who has been licensed to practice law in North Carolina for not less than five years may be included on the third list if the committee finds that:

(1) He has demonstrated proficiency in the field of criminal trial practice and has the ability to handle appellate matters, and

(2) Two attorneys who have engaged in the private practice of law in the _____ Judicial District for not less than five years preceding the committee's consideration, at least one of whom being included on one of the three lists, have stated in writing that they believe he is competent to represent defendants charged with capital crimes and that they recommend that he be included on the third list, provided that the recommending attorneys may not be members of the petitioning attorney's law firm at the time of recommendation, and

(3) He has not less than five years experience in the general practice of law, provided that the term “general practice of law” shall be deemed to include service as a prosecuting attorney in any District Attorney’s office, and

(4) He is competent to represent criminal defendants charged with capital crimes.

Section 3.7.

The Committee on Indigent Appointments shall review the lists not less than once a year to ensure that the lists are current and that the attorneys whose names appear on the lists meet the qualifications set out herein. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

ARTICLE IV. COMMITTEE ON INDIGENT APPOINTMENTS

Section 4.1.

A Committee on Indigent Appointments is hereby established to assist in the implementation of these regulations. The committee shall have authority to act when the regulations become effective.

Section 4.2.

All members of the committee shall be attorneys who

(a) Are included on one of the appointment lists, and

(b) Have practiced criminal law in the _____ Judicial District, whether as a prosecutor or defense counsel, for not less than five years, and

(c) Are knowledgeable about practicing attorneys in the _____ Judicial District.

Section 4.3.

The committee shall consist of _____ members appointed by the President of the _____ Judicial District Bar. At least one member shall be appointed from each county in the district. Members of the committee shall be appointed for terms of two years, except that initially a minority of the members shall be designated to serve one year terms in order to stagger terms. The appointments shall be made by letter, a copy of which shall be maintained in the records of the committee. No member shall serve two consecutive terms, except that a person who has been appointed to replace a member who did not complete his term may be appointed to a full term following his completion of the partial term. Any member who resigns or otherwise becomes ineligible to continue serving as a member shall be replaced for his term as soon as practicable.

Section 4.4.

The President of the _____ Judicial District Bar shall appoint one of the members as Chairman of the Committee, who shall serve at the pleasure of the president as shall all other members of the committee.

Section 4.5.

The committee shall meet at the call of the Chairman upon reasonable notice. The first meeting shall be on _____. Thereafter, the committee shall meet as often as is necessary to dispatch its business.

Section 4.6.

The committee shall have complete authority to accomplish the following:

- (a) Supervise the administration of these regulations;
- (b) Review requests from attorneys concerning their placement on any list and obtain information pertaining to such placement;
- (c) Approve or disapprove an attorney's addition to or deletion from any list or the transfer of any attorney from one list to another, provided that an attorney's request to be deleted from a list or transferred to a lower numbered list shall not require committee approval;
- (d) Establish procedures with which to carry out its business;
- (e) Interview attorneys seeking placement on any list and witnesses for or against such placement.

Section 4.7.

A majority of the committee must be present at any meeting in order to constitute a quorum. The committee may take no action unless a quorum is present. A majority vote in favor of a motion or any proposed action shall be required in order for the motion to pass or for the action to be taken.

Section 4.8.

The committee shall meet in private, except it may invite persons to make limited appearances to be interviewed. Discussions of the committee, its records, and its actions shall be treated as confidentially as possible. The names of the members of the committee shall not be confidential.

ARTICLE V. PLACEMENT OF ATTORNEYS ON LIST*Section 5.1.

Any attorney who wishes to have his name added to or deleted from any list, or to have his name transferred from one list to another, shall file a written request with the administrator. The request shall include information that will facilitate the committee's determination whether the attorney meets the standards set forth in Article III for placement on a certain list. The written statements of competency required by Article III must be attached to the request.

Section 5.2.

The administrator shall maintain records for the committee and shall advise each member of the committee of the name of the requesting attorney and the nature of this request before the committee meets to review the request. The administrator shall assure that all requests properly filed are brought to the committee's attention at the next meeting at which it is practicable for the committee to review the request. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 5.3.

The administrator shall assure that all District Court Judges, Resident Superior Court Judges, any special Superior Court Judge with a permanent office in the _____ Judicial District, and the District Attorney for the _____ Judicial District, and the District's Public Defender, if any, are advised of any request concerning placement on any list so that such officials will have an opportunity to comment on the request to the committee. (Amended October 21, 1994.)

Section 5.4.

When the committee meets to review placement requests, it may require any requesting attorney to appear before it to be interviewed and may require information in addition to that submitted in the request. Any member of the committee may discuss requests with other members of the bar in a confidential manner and may relate information obtained thereby to the other members. Rules of evidence do not apply with respect to the review of requests. The committee may hold a request in abeyance for a reasonable period of time while obtaining additional information.

Section 5.5.

The committee shall determine whether an attorney requesting to be added to a list when he is not currently on any list or to be transferred from a lower numbered list to a higher numbered list (such as from the first list to the second list) meets all the applicable standards set out in Article III. The request shall be granted or the addition or transfer allowed if the committee finds that he does meet all the standards. Conversely, the request shall be denied if the committee does not find that he meets all the standards. The findings shall be reduced to writing and kept in the regular records of the committee by the administrator. The committee shall assure that the requesting attorney is given prompt notice of the action taken with respect to his request and is advised of the basis for denial if the request is not granted.

Section 5.6.

If at any time it reasonably appears to the committee that an attorney no longer meets a standard set forth in Article III for the list on which he is placed, or that he can no longer meet the responsibilities of representing indigent defendants with respect to such list, the committee shall direct the attorney to show cause why he should not be deleted from the list or transferred from a higher numbered list to a lower numbered list. If the attorney cannot show sufficient cause, the committee may take appropriate action, including suspending the attorney from receiving appointments in indigent cases for a definite or indefinite time, or deleting his name from the list he is on, or transferring him from a higher numbered list to a lower numbered list. Appropriate written findings shall be made by the committee in this regard, and the attorney shall be informed of the basis of any action taken. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 5.7.

An attorney whose name is deleted from a list or who is transferred to another list by the committee may appeal the committee's action to the senior resident superior court judge of the _____ judicial district. In such a case the resident superior court judge will make the final decision regarding the deletion or transferral of the attorney. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 5.8.

Whenever an attorney who provides information to the committee, collectively or through any member, requests that his name not be used or that his information be treated confidentially, his request shall be granted unless doing so results in manifest unfairness.

ARTICLE VI. APPOINTMENT PROCEDURE (NON-CAPITAL CASES)

Section 6.1.

The administrator shall provide the clerk in each courtroom in the district and Superior Criminal Courts of the _____ Judicial District with current lists of attorneys subject to appointment in indigent cases. Attorneys shall be appointed only in accordance with the lists on which they appear, and only in cases to be tried in counties in which they maintain offices, unless they agree in advance to accept cases from other counties.

Section 6.2.

Each courtroom clerk shall maintain a record of attorneys subject to appointment to represent indigents. Beside each attorney's name shall appear the number of any list he is on. The court shall proceed in sequence in appointing attorneys. If an attorney's name is passed over because he is not on a list relating to a particular charge, the court shall return to his name for the next appointment consistent with his lists. The court may pass over the name of any attorney known not to be reasonably available because of vacation, illness or other reasons. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 6.3.

In its discretion, the court may appoint an attorney in any case without regard to sequence or an attorney not maintaining an office in the county where the case is to be tried. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 6.4.

The clerk shall provide notice of the appointment to the attorney concerned as soon as possible. Further, the clerk shall advise the defendant of the name of his attorney.

Section 6.5.

The court may appoint an attorney to represent more than one defendant in a single case.

Section 6.6.

In those cases in which the public defender cannot serve, and is authorized to appoint a substitute member of the bar to represent an indigent defendant, the public defender shall consult the current lists of attorneys subject to appointment in indigent cases maintained by the court administrator and referred to in Article III herein, and shall appoint the next eligible attorney on the list. The public defender shall proceed in sequence in appointing attorneys, but may pass over the name of any attorney known to be unavailable because of vacation, illness or other reasons, or, in his or her discretion, where justice so requires. (Added March 4, 1992.)

Section 6.7.

If a judge is not reasonably available to appoint counsel to represent an indigent defendant, the clerk of court shall appoint the next eligible attorney on the list. Appointments of counsel by the clerk shall be subject to review and approval by the judge. (Added March 4, 1992.)

ARTICLE VII. APPOINTMENTS IN CAPITAL CASES

Section 7.1.

In addition to the provisions of Article VI, the provisions of this Article shall apply to the appointment of counsel in capital cases.

Section 7.2.

A counsel and an assistant counsel shall be appointed to represent an indigent defendant charged with murder, in cases in which the State is seeking the death penalty. The assistant counsel may be on the second list or the third list of attorneys. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 7.3.

No attorney shall be appointed to represent at the trial level any indigent defendant charged with a capital crime:

(a) Who has less than five years experience in the general practice of law, provided that the court may, in its discretion, appoint as assistant counsel an attorney who has less experience; or

(b) Who has not been found by the court appointing him to have a demonstrated proficiency in the field of criminal trial practice.

For the purpose of this section, the term “general practice of law” shall be deemed to include service as a prosecuting attorney in any district attorney’s office.

ARTICLE VIII. APPELLATE APPOINTMENTS

Section 8.1.

If a criminal defendant who has given notice of appeal from a conviction is found to be eligible, because of indigency, for appointment of counsel at the appellate level, the attorney representing the defendant at the trial level may be appointed to represent the defendant at the appellate level. If the attorney representing the defendant at the trial level was retained, he may be appointed to represent the defendant at the appellate level even though he does not meet all the requirements of Article III or the other pertinent provisions of these regulations. For good cause, the attorney at the trial level may be relieved of responsibility for the appeal. Whenever it is otherwise necessary to appoint an attorney to represent an indigent person at the appellate level, the attorney appointed shall be selected in a manner consistent with appointment of counsel at the trial level. If the trial attorney is not appointed, the appellate defender’s office or any other qualified attorney may be appointed, in a manner consistent with these rules, to represent the defendant at the appellate level. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 8.2.

No attorney shall be appointed to represent at the appellate level any indigent defendant convicted of a capital crime:

(a) Who has less than five years experience in the general practice of law, provided, however, that the court or, where authorized, the public defender, may, in its or his discretion, appoint as assistant counsel an attorney who has less experience; or

(b) Who has not been found by the court or the public defender to have a demonstrated proficiency in the field of appellate practice.

For the purpose of this section, the term “general practice of law” shall be deemed to include service as a prosecuting attorney in any district attorney’s office. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

ARTICLE IX. ADMINISTRATION

Section 9.1.

The Senior Resident Superior Court Judge for the _____ Judicial District shall designate a person to serve as administrator of these regulations.

Section 9.2.

The administrator will perform the duties described previously and particularly shall:

(a) Maintain records relating to these regulations and to the actions of the Committee on Indigent Appointments;

(b) Keep current the three lists of attorneys;

(c) Assist the courtroom clerks and the Clerk of Superior Court in carrying out these regulations;

(d) Attend meetings of the committee as appropriate;

(e) Inform the judges of the district and the district attorney and the members of the committee of requests by attorneys concerning placement on any lists;

(f) Perform other administrative tasks necessary to the implementation of these regulations.

Section 9.3.

The administrator shall have such office, supplies, and equipment as can be provided by the Senior Resident Superior Court Judge or the committee.

Section 9.4.

The Clerk of Superior Court of each county in the _____ Judicial District shall file and keep current these regulations for the assignment of counsel as certified to him by the Secretary of the North Carolina State Bar.

Section 9.5.

The Clerk of Superior Court of each county in the _____ Judicial District shall keep a record of all counsel eligible for appointment under these regulations and a permanent record of all appointments made in his county.

ARTICLE X. MISCELLANEOUS

Section 10.1.

These regulations are issued pursuant to Article IV of the rules and regulations promulgated in accordance with North Carolina General Statute 7A-459 by the North Carolina State Bar Council, entitled Regulations Relating to the Appointment of Counsel for Indigent Defendants in Certain Criminal Cases, as set out in the Rules Volume of The General Statutes of North Carolina (published by The Michie Company). Nothing contained herein shall be construed or applied inconsistently with the regulations established by the North Carolina State Bar Council or with other provisions of state law.

Section 10.2.

It is recognized that the court has the inherent discretionary power in any case to decline to appoint a particular attorney to represent an indigent person. It is also recognized that occasionally the court may determine that the interests of justice would be best served by appointing a particular lawyer to handle a particular case even though he is not next in sequence or does not maintain an office in the county where the case is to be tried. (Amended March 4, 1992.)

Section 10.3.

These regulations shall be construed liberally in order to carry out the purpose stated in Article I.

Section 10.4.

These regulations shall become effective on _____, and shall supersede any existing regulations or plan concerning the appointment of counsel in indigent cases.

APPROVED AND PROMULGATED THIS _____ DAY OF _____, 199____.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Rule 1. Short title.

The following rules and regulations shall be known and may be cited as North Carolina Supreme Court Library Rules.

Rule 2. Definitions.

Subject to additional definitions contained in subsequent sections and applicable to specific parts of these Rules, and unless the context otherwise requires, the following definitions shall apply for purposes of these Rules:

(a) "Assistant Librarian" means the Assistant Librarian of the Supreme Court Library.

(b) "Librarian" means the Librarian of the Supreme Court Library.

(c) "Library" means the North Carolina Supreme Court Library.

(d) "Library Committee" means that committee appointed and acting pursuant to G.S. 7A-13 of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

(e) "Library material" means any book, paper, document, map, magazine, pamphlet, newspaper, manuscript, film, periodical, or other item or material, regardless of physical form of characteristics, that is a part of the collection or holdings of the Library.

(f) "Official Register" means that list of positions of the State of North Carolina that is appended to these Rules as Appendix I.

(g) "Rules" means any rules or regulations contained in the North Carolina Supreme Court Library Rules.

(h) "Staff" means any assistants or other persons or employees appointed by or working under the supervision of the Librarian of the Supreme Court Library. (Amended November 28, 1972.)

HOURS AND USE OF LIBRARY

Rule 3. Hours.

Except when the Library Committee authorizes that it be closed, the Library shall be open for public use on Monday through Friday from eight-thirty o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon. (Amended July 24, 1980; November 8, 1983, eff. January 1, 1984.)

Rule 4. Use during regular hours.

Any person who conducts himself in a quiet, orderly, and lawful manner and who abides by the Rules and the reasonable requests of the staff may visit the Library and reasonably use its material to such extent, in such manner, and for such duration as in the discretion of the Librarian or Assistant Librarian reasonably does not or will not interfere with the performance of the Library's primary function of serving the Appellate Division of the General Court of Justice.

Rule 5. Use after hours.

Only members and employees of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals may enter the Library or use the material or facilities of the Library when the Library is not open for public use. (Amended April 14, 1975; July 24, 1980; September 1, 1982.)

Rule 6. Entrance and exits.

All visitors and users of the Library shall enter and leave the Library through an elevator except in emergency situations and times when an elevator is not in operation.

Rule 7. Conduct.

Smoking, consumption of food or beverages other than from water fountains in the Library, loud talking, boisterous or disorderly conduct, and the use of dictating equipment shall not be permitted in the Library.

USE OF MATERIAL

Rule 8. Clearing of tables.

At the end of each day the staff shall clear all tables and reshelve all unshelved books in the reading area of the Library; however, provided that no books shall be left on tables for more than two consecutive nights, the staff may leave material on tables overnight when the person using the material leaves on it a signed and dated request that it not be reshelfed.

Rule 9. Abuse of material.

No person shall damage or abuse any Library material or equipment in any respect. Marking, writing upon, cutting, tearing, defacing, disfiguring, soiling, obliterating, or breaking such material or equipment, or folding pages, closing a book with a writing instrument or other object within it, tearing out or removing any page or pocket part without authority, or stacking other books or heavy objects on an open book are included within this prohibition.

Rule 10. Replacement of lost materials.

Any person who unintentionally or inadvertently shall lose or misplace any Library material and for that reason fail to return it within the time that it is due to be returned shall, within thirty (30) days from such due date, make such replacement as will be acceptable to the Librarian in his discretion, or pay to the Library the fair value of the material as determined by the Librarian.

SERVICES*Rule 11. Copy service, fees, and certification.

The Library shall operate a copy service by means of which it shall furnish requested copies of all or portions of any Library material that legally may be copied, such copies to be furnished subject to the following terms and conditions:

(a) All copies requested by members and employees of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals shall be furnished without charge.

(b) Provided that the number of copies requested at any one time does not exceed ten (10) pages, or with the permission of the Librarian or the Assistant Librarian regardless of the number of copies requested, the Library shall furnish without charge such copies as personally are requested by persons holding positions listed in the Official Register and that such persons state are to be used in the discharge of their official duties; however, when the request is for more than ten (10) pages at any one time, or total requests from the same person in any single month exceed fifty (50) pages, the Librarian or Assistant Librarian may require the approval of the Library Committee before making such copies without charge, such approval then to be given only for good cause shown and upon the written and signed application of the person requesting the copies.

(c) Except as provided for in sections (a) and (b) of this Rule, the Library shall charge and collect a fee of twenty cents ($.20) per page for each copy that it makes.

(d) The Librarian shall charge and collect a fee of one dollar ($1.00) for each individual case, statute, or other distinct item that he certifies pursuant to G.S. 7A-13(f) of the General Statutes of North Carolina, except that certificates requested by persons holding positions listed in the Official Register shall be provided without charge. Preparation of copies to be certified and the charges therefor, if any, shall be as provided by sections (a), (b) and (c) of this Rule.

(e) Fees for making or certifying copies shall be paid on or before delivery, except that copies requested by members of the North Carolina State Bar, Inc., may be made and delivered upon the condition that full payment will be made within forty-eight (48) hours after the delivery of the copies.

(f) Patrons may make their own photocopies for ten cents ($.10) per page. (Amended July 24, 1980.)

Rule 12. Research service.

No member of the Library staff shall do law research for or give legal advice or counsel to any person except as requested by a member of the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals for his own use, or as authorized by the Librarian.

BORROWING AND REMOVING MATERIAL

Rule 13. Who may borrow material.

The following persons only may borrow and remove material from the Library:

(a) Members and employees of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, in person or upon his or her signed memorandum.

(b) The Attorney General and members of his staff who are members of the North Carolina State Bar, Inc., in person or upon his or her signed memorandum.

(c) The Governor and members of the Council of State, in person or upon his or her signed memorandum.

(d) The President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the respective chairmen of the committees of the General Assembly, in person or upon his or her signed memorandum.

(e) The heads or duly constituted representatives of established agencies or institutions that offer reciprocal services to the Library and that are engaged in what the Librarian in his discretion deems to be worthy educational, historical, library, archival, or bibliographical activity for which they have a legitimate need to borrow the material requested.

(f) The Secretary-Treasurer of the North Carolina State Bar, Inc. (Amended July 24, 1980.)

Rule 14. Return of borrowed material.

Material borrowed from the Library shall be returned to the Library within the time provided below:

(a) Members of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals shall return borrowed material as early as possible, but in no event shall any item be retained for more than one week from the time of borrowing.

(b) Borrowers who are not members of the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals shall return borrowed material before the closing of the Library on the day that the item is borrowed except when upon the borrower's written request stating good reason the Librarian or the Assistant Librarian in his or her respective discretion authorizes that any specific item be retained by the borrower until a later time as set by the Librarian or the Assistant Librarian.

Rule 15. Receipts for borrowed material.

Each person who borrows material from the Library shall give a receipt therefor on a form prescribed for that purpose by the Librarian and available in the Library.

Rule 16. Borrowing proscriptions and limitations.

The Librarian in his discretion may limit or proscribe the borrowing of old books, rare books, digests, indexes, general reference materials, looseleaf services, encyclopedias, advance sheets, and other materials that because of their particular value, nature, or frequent use should remain in the Library at all times or have only limited circulation.

Rule 17. Removal from the justice building.

No borrower, except a Judge of the Court of Appeals upon his written request, may remove any Library material from the Justice Building except when each of the following conditions exists:

(a) It is not reasonably possible for the person desiring to use the material to do so within the Justice Building.

(b) It is impracticable to copy the material by use of the facilities available in the Justice Building, or such copies reasonably would not serve the purpose of the person desiring to borrow the material.

(c) Material that is identical or substantially the same may not be borrowed and removed from the North Carolina State Library or any other public library in Raleigh.

(d) The material is not out of print and it reasonably could be replaced.

(e) The Library has more than one copy of the material.

Rule 18. Transportation of material.

Library materials may not be sent through State Interoffice Mail or transported by or through any other person, agency, or means that the Librarian in his discretion deems unsafe.

INTERNAL RULES

Rule 19. Policies and procedures.

The Librarian shall be responsible for the general administration of the Library, and he shall execute the policies established by the Library Committee.

PENALTY

Rule 20. Contempt of court.

Any person who intentionally and wilfully violates any North Carolina Supreme Court Library Rule shall, upon formal complaint filed in the Supreme Court by the Librarian, be subject to being adjudged in contempt of the Supreme Court.

RECORDS AND ANNUAL REPORT

Rule 21. Records and annual report.

The Librarian shall keep Library records in a form acceptable to the Library Committee, and on or before September 1 of each year he shall make to the Supreme Court a summary report of Library activities for the fiscal year that ended on the preceding June 30.

Rule 104. Employer's report of injury.

An employer shall immediately report to its carrier or administrator any injury or occupational disease, or allegation by an employee of an injury or occupational disease, sustained in the course of employment for which the attention of a physician is needed or actually sought. Within five days of knowledge of the injury or allegation, the employer or carrier/administrator or its successor in interest shall file with the Industrial Commission and provide a copy to the employee of a Form 19, Employer's Report of Employee's Injury to the Industrial Commission, if injury causes the employee to be absent from work for more than one day and the employee's medical compensation is greater than an amount which is established periodically by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes. The employer may record the employee's or another person's description of the injury on the Form 19 without admitting the truth of the information.

ARTICLE II. NOTICE OF ACT

Rule 201. Notice of employment subject to the act.

(1) Pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-93, all employers subject to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act shall post in a conspicuous location in places of employment a Form 17, Workers' Compensation Notice, to give notice to the employees that they are in an employment subject to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act and that their employer has obtained workers' compensation coverage or has qualified as self-insured for workers' compensation purposes.

(2) Should the employer allow its workers' compensation coverage to lapse or cease to qualify as a self-insured, the employer shall remove within five working days any Form 17 and any other notice indicating otherwise.

ARTICLE III. INSURANCE

Rule 301. Proof of insurance coverage.

Every employer subject to the provisions of the Act shall file with the Industrial Commission proof that it has obtained workers' compensation insurance pursuant to the insurance provisions of the Act. This requirement may be satisfied by:

(1) A notice from the employer's insurance carrier, through the North Carolina Rate Bureau, certifying that coverage has been received.

(2) A notice from the North Carolina Department of Insurance, through the Rate Bureau, certifying that the employer has qualified as a self-insured employer or as a member of a self-insurance fund pursuant to the Act.

(3) All employers have an affirmative obligation to report to the Rate Bureau any changes in coverage within 30 days.

(4) All employers must notify the Department of Insurance when it becomes a member of a self-insurance fund.

ARTICLE IV. DISABILITY, COMPENSATION, FEES

Rule 401. When disability begins for purpose of computing compensation.

(1) If the injured employee is not paid wages for the entire day on which the injury occurred, the seven-day waiting period prescribed by the Act shall include the day of injury regardless of the hour of the injury.

(2) If the injured employee is paid wages for the entire day on which he is injured and fails to return to work on his next regular workday because of the injury, the seven-day waiting period shall begin with the first calendar day following his injury, even though this may or may not be a regularly scheduled workday.

(3) All days, or parts of days, when the injured employee is unable to earn a full day's wages, or is not paid a full day's wages due to injury, shall be counted in computing the waiting period even though the days may not be consecutive, and even though these are not regularly scheduled workdays.

(4) If the permanent disability period, when added to the temporary disability period, exceeds 21 days, there is no waiting period.

Rule 402. Computation of daily wage.

In all cases involving a fractional part of a week, the daily wage shall be computed on the basis of one-seventh of the average weekly wage.

Rule 403. Manner of payment of compensation.

(1) All payments of compensation must be made directly to the employee, dependent, guardian or personal representative entitled thereto unless otherwise ordered by the Industrial Commission. At the employee's request, payment of compensation shall be mailed by first class mail, postage pre-paid, to an address specified by the employee, unless otherwise directed by the Industrial Commission.

(2) All payments of compensation must be made in strict accordance with the award issued by the Industrial Commission.

Rule 404. Termination of compensation.

(1) Payments of compensation undertaken pursuant to an award of the Industrial Commission shall continue until the terms of the award have been fully satisfied. In cases where the award is to pay compensation during disability, there is a rebuttable presumption that disability continues until the employee returns to suitable employment. No application to terminate or suspend compensation shall be approved without a formal hearing if the effect of such approval is to set aside the provisions of an award of the Industrial Commission.

(2) When an employer or carrier/administrator seeks to terminate or suspend compensation being paid pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-29 for a reason other than those specified in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(d), payment without prejudice, or N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.1(b), trial return to work, the employer or carrier/administrator shall notify the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, on Form 24, "Application to Stop Payment of Compensation." The employer or carrier/administrator shall specify the legal grounds and the alleged facts supporting the application, and shall complete the blank space in the "Important Notice to Employee" portion of Form 24 by inserting a date 17 days from the date the employer or carrier/administrator deposits the completed Form 24 in the mail to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any. The original of the Form 24 and the attached documents shall be sent to the Industrial Commission at the same time and by the same method by which a copy of the Form 24 and attached documents are sent to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any. The Form 24 shall specify the number of pages of documents attached which are to be considered by the Industrial Commission. Failure to specify the number of pages may result in the refusal of the Industrial Commission to accept the same for filing. If the employee or the employee's attorney of record, if any, objects by the date inserted on the employer's Form 24, or within such additional reasonable time as the Industrial Commission may allow, the Industrial Commission shall set the case for an informal hearing, unless waived by the parties in favor of a formal hearing. A copy of any objection shall be sent, with any supporting documents, to the employer and carrier/administrator. The term "carrier/administrator" also includes any successor in interest.

(3) If an employee does not object within the allowed time, the Industrial Commission shall review the Form 24 and any attached documentation, and an Administrative Decision and Order may be rendered without an informal hearing as to whether compensation shall be terminated or suspended, except as provided in paragraph (6) below. Either party may seek review of the Administrative Decision and Order as provided by Rule 703.

(4) If the employee timely objects to the Form 24, the Industrial Commission shall conduct an informal hearing within 25 days of the receipt by the Industrial Commission of the Form 24, unless the time is extended for good cause shown. The informal hearing may be by telephone conference between the Industrial Commission and the parties or their attorneys of record, if any. When good cause is shown, the informal hearing may be conducted with the parties or their attorneys of record, if any, personally present with the Industrial Commission in Raleigh or such other location as is selected by the Industrial Commission. The Industrial Commission shall make arrangements for the informal hearing with a view towards conducting the hearing in the most expeditious manner under the circumstances. Except for good cause shown, the informal hearing shall be no more than 30 minutes, with each side given 10 minutes to present its case and five minutes for rebuttal. Notwithstanding the above, the employer or carrier/administrator may waive the right to an informal hearing, and proceed to a formal hearing by filing a request for hearing on a Form 33. A decision on the application shall be made within five days after the completion of the informal hearing.

(5) Either party may appeal the Administrative Decision and Order of the Industrial Commission as provided by Rule 703. A Deputy Commissioner shall conduct a hearing which shall be a hearing de novo. The hearing shall be peremptorily set and shall not require a Form 33. The employer has the burden of producing evidence on the issue of the employer's application for termination or suspension of compensation. If the Deputy Commissioner reverses an order previously granting a Form 24 motion, the employer or carrier/administrator shall promptly resume compensation or otherwise comply with the Deputy Commissioner's decision, notwithstanding any appeal or application for review to the Full Commission under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-85.

(6) In the event the Industrial Commission is unable to reach a decision after an informal hearing, the Industrial Commission shall issue an order to that effect which shall be in lieu of a Form 33 and the case shall be placed on the formal hearing docket. If additional issues are to be addressed, the employer or carrier/administrator shall be required within 30 days of the date of the Administrative Decision and Order to file a Form 33 or to notify the Industrial Commission that a formal hearing is not currently necessary. The effect of placing the case on the docket shall be the same as if the Form 24 were denied, and compensation shall continue until such time as the case is decided by a Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner following a formal hearing.

(7) Any Administrative Decision and Order shall be mailed to the non-prevailing party by certified mail.

(8) No order issued as a result of an informal Form 24 hearing shall terminate or suspend compensation retroactively to a date preceding the filing date of the filing of the Form 24. Compensation may be terminated retroactively without a formal hearing where there is agreement by the parties, where allowed by statute, or where the employee is incarcerated. Otherwise, retroactive termination or suspension of compensation to a date preceding the filing of a Form 24 may be ordered as a result of a formal hearing. Additionally, nothing shall impair an employer's right to seek a credit pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-42.

Cited in Crouse v. Flowers Baking Co., 123 N.C. App. 555, 473 S.E.2d 372 (1996).

Rule 404A. Trial return to work.

(1) Except as provided in subparagraph (7), when compensation for total disability being paid pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-29 is terminated because the employee has returned to work for the same or a different employer, such termination is subject to the trial return to work provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-32.1. When compensation is terminated under these circumstances, the employer or carrier/administrator shall, within 16 days of the termination of compensation, file a Form 28T with the Industrial Commission and provide a copy of it to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any.

(2) If during the trial return to work period, the employee must stop working due to the injury for which compensation had been paid, the employee should complete and file with the Industrial Commission a Form 28U, without regard to whether the employer or carrier/administrator has filed a Form 28T as required by paragraph (1) above, and provide a copy of the completed form to the employer and carrier/administrator. A Form 28U shall contain a section which must be completed by the physician who imposed the restrictions or one of the employee's authorized treating physicians, certifying that the employee's injury for which compensation had been paid prevents the employee from continuing the trial return to work. If the employee returned to work with an employer other than the employer at the time of injury, the employee must complete the "Employee's Release and Request For Employment Information" section of a Form 28U. An employee's failure to provide a Form 28U does not preclude a subsequent finding by the Commission that the trial return to work was unsuccessful.

(3) Upon receipt of a properly completed Form 28U, the employer or carrier/administrator shall promptly resume payment of compensation for total disability. If the employee fails to provide the required certification of an authorized treating physician as specified in subsection 2 above, or if the employee fails to execute the "Employee's Release and Request" section of a Form 28U, if required pursuant to paragraph (2) above, the employer or carrier/administrator shall not be required to resume payment of compensation. Instead, in such circumstances, the employer or carrier/administrator shall promptly return a Form 28U to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, along with a statement explaining the reason the Form 28U is being returned and the reason compensation is not being reinstated.

(4) The reinstated compensation shall be due and payable and subject to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(g) on the date and for the period commencing on the date the employer or carrier/administrator receives a properly completed Form 28U certifying an unsuccessful return to work. Such resumption of compensation shall not preclude the employee's right to seek, nor the employer's or carrier/administrator's right to contest, the payment of compensation for the period prior or subsequent to such reinstatement. If it is thereafter determined that any temporary total or temporary partial compensation, including the reinstated compensation, was not due and payable, a credit shall be given against any other compensation determined to be owed.

(5) When the employer or carrier/administrator has received a properly completed Form 28U and contests the employee's right to reinstatement of total disability compensation, it may suspend or terminate compensation only as provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.1 and/or pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-83 and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-84.

(6) Upon resumption of payment of compensation for total disability, the employer or carrier/administrator shall complete and file a Form 62 and/or such other forms as may be required by the Workers' Compensation Act or by Industrial Commission rule. A copy of the Form 62 shall be sent to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any.

(7) The trial return to work provisions do not apply to the following:

(a) "Medical only" cases, defined as cases in which the employee is not absent from work more than one day and in which medical expenses are less than the amount periodically established by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes;

(b) Cases in which the employee has missed fewer than eight days from work;

(c) Cases wherein the employee has been released to return to work by an authorized treating physician as specified in subsection 2 above without restriction or limitation except that if the physician, within 45 days of the employee's return to work date, determines that the employee is not able to perform the job duties assigned, then the employer or carrier/administrator must resume benefits. If within the same time period, the physician determines that the employee may work only with restrictions, then the employee is entitled to a resumption of benefits commencing as of the date of the report, unless the employer is able to offer employment consistent with the restrictions, in which case a trial return to work period shall be deemed to have commenced at the time of the employee's initial return to work;

(d) Cases wherein the employee has accepted or agreed to accept compensation for permanent partial disability pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-31, unless the trial return to work follows reinstatement of compensation for total disability under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-29; and

(e) Claims pending on or filed after 1 January 1995, when the employer or carrier/administrator contests a claim pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(d) within the time allowed thereunder.

(8) This Rule became effective on 15 February 1995, and applies to any employee who leaves work on or after that date due to a compensable injury.

Rule 405. Computation of compensation for amputations.

(1) Amputation of any portion of the bone of a distal phalange of a finger or toe at or distal to the visible base of the nail will be considered as equivalent to the loss of one-fourth (¼) of such finger or toe.

(2) Amputation of any portion of the bone of the distal phalange of a finger or toe proximal to the visible base of the nail will be considered as equivalent to the loss of one-half (½) of such finger or toe.

(3) Amputation through the forearm at a point so distal to the elbow as to permit satisfactory use of a prosthetic appliance with retention of full natural elbow function shall be considered amputation of the hand. Otherwise, it shall be considered amputation of the arm.

(4) Amputation through the lower leg at a point so distal to the knee as to permit satisfactory use of a prosthetic appliance with retention of full natural knee function shall be considered amputation of the foot. Otherwise, it shall be considered amputation of the leg.

Rule 406. Discount table to be used in determining commuted values.

The Industrial Commission in its discretion will designate the interest rate and methods of computation to be used in arriving at the commuted value of unaccrued compensation payments.

Rule 407. Fees for medical compensation.

(1) Subject to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.3, "Preauthorization," the Industrial Commission shall adopt and publish a Fee Schedule, pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-26(a), fixing maximum fees, except for hospital fees pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-26(b), which may be charged for medical, surgical, nursing, dental, and rehabilitative services, and medicines, sick travel, and other treatment, including medical and surgical supplies, original artificial members as may reasonably be necessary at the end of the healing period and the replacement of such artificial members when reasonably necessitated by ordinary use or medical circumstances. The fees prescribed in the applicable published Fee Schedule shall govern and apply in all cases. However, in special hardship cases where sufficient reason is demonstrated to the Industrial Commission, fees in excess of those so published may be allowed. Persons who disagree with the allowance of such fees in any case may make application for and obtain a full review of the matter before the Industrial Commission as in all other cases provided. Copies of this published Fee Schedule may be obtained from the Industrial Commission's authorized vendor.

(2) A provider of medical compensation shall submit its statement for services within 75 days of the rendition of the service or if treatment is longer, within 30 days after the end of the month during which multiple treatments were provided, or within such other reasonable period of time as allowed by the Industrial Commission. However, in cases where liability is initially denied but subsequently admitted or determined by the Industrial Commission, the time for submission of medical bills shall run from the time the health care provider received notice of the admission or determination of liability. Within 30 days of receipt of the statement, the employer, or carrier, or managed care organization, or administrator on its behalf, shall pay or submit the statement to the Industrial Commission for approval or send the provider written objections to the statement. If an employer, carrier/administrator or managed care organization disputes a portion of the provider's bill, it shall pay the uncontested portion of the bill and shall resolve disputes regarding the balance of the charges through its contractual arrangement or through the Industrial Commission. If any bill for medical compensation services is not paid within 60 days after it has been approved by the Industrial Commission and returned to the responsible party, or, when the employee is receiving treatment through a managed care organization, within 60 days after the bill has been properly submitted to an insurer or managed care organization, there shall be added to such unpaid bill an amount equal to 10%, which shall be paid at the same time as, but in addition to, such bill, unless late payment is excused by the Industrial Commission. When the 10% addition to the bill is uncontested, payment shall be made to the provider without notifying or seeking approval from the Industrial Commission. When the 10% addition to the bill is contested, any party may request a hearing by the Industrial Commission pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-83, and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-84.

(3) When the responsible party seeks an audit of hospital charges, and has paid the hospital charges in full, the payee hospital, upon request, shall provide all reasonable access and copies of appropriate records, without charge or fee, to the person(s) chosen by the payor to review and audit the records.

(4) The responsible employer or carrier/administrator shall pay the statements of medical compensation providers to whom the employee has been referred by the authorized treating physician, unless said physician has been requested to obtain authorization for referrals or tests; provided, that compliance with such request does not unreasonably delay the treatment or service to be rendered to the employee.

(5) It is the responsibility of the carrier, self-insured employer, group insured as certified by the North Carolina Department of Insurance, and statutory self-insured (state agency or political subdivision) to submit on a yearly basis a Form 51, Consolidated Fiscal Annual Report of "Medical Only" and "Lost Time" Cases.

(6) Employees shall be entitled to reimbursement for sick travel when the travel is medically necessary and the mileage is 20 or more miles, round trip, at a rate to be established periodically by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes. Employees shall be entitled to lodging and meal expenses, at a rate to be periodically established by the Industrial Commission in its Minutes, when it is medically necessary that the employee stay overnight at a location away from the employee's usual place of residence. An employee shall be entitled to reimbursement for the costs of parking or a vehicle for hire, when the costs are medically necessary, at the actual costs of the expenses, unless the Industrial Commission determines the expenses were not reasonable.

(7) Any employer/carrier/administrator denying a claim in which medical care has previously been authorized shall be responsible for all costs incurred prior to the date notice of denial is provided to each health care provider to whom authorization has been previously given.

Rule 408. Additional medical compensation.

(1) The Industrial Commission may enter an order as contemplated by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.1 providing for additional medical compensation on its own motion or pursuant to a stipulation of the parties or by approval of an agreement of the parties for additional medical compensation reflected in a Form 21 or a Form 26.

(2) If the parties have not reached an agreement regarding additional medical compensation, an employee may file a claim with the Industrial Commission for an order pursuant to the terms of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.1, for payment of additional medical compensation within two years of the date of the last payment of medical or indemnity compensation, whichever shall last occur. The claim may be made on a Form 18M or by written request to the Industrial Commission. The filing of this claim tolls the time limit contained in this paragraph and in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.1. The original and one copy of the claim must be filed with the Industrial Commission's Office of the Executive Secretary, one copy must be provided to the employer or carrier/administrator, and one copy must be provided to the attorney of record, if any.

(3) Upon receipt of the claim, the Industrial Commission will notify the employer or carrier/administrator that the claim has been received by providing a copy of a Form 18M or a written claim. The employer or carrier/administrator shall, within 30 days, send to the Industrial Commission and to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, a written statement as to whether the employee's request is accepted or denied. If the request is denied, the employer or carrier/administrator shall state in writing the grounds for the denial and shall attach any supporting documentation to the statement of denial.

(4) In cases where the employee's right to additional medical compensation is contested, the Form 18M, Request for Additional Medical Compensation, shall be treated as a Motion to the Executive Secretary for future medical compensation. Defendants shall have 30 days to respond. An administrative ruling shall thereafter be made subject to the right of either party to appeal such administrative decision by filing a Form 33, Request for Hearing, pursuant to the 15 day time limitation contained in Rule 703. An appeal of the Administrative Decision shall have the effect of staying the decision, provided that the stay may be dissolved in the discretion of the Commission for good cause shown.

(5) This Rule applies to injuries by accident occurring on or after July 5, 1994.

Rule 409. Claims for death benefits.

(1) Report of Fatalities

(a) Any person claiming entitlement to death benefits under the Act shall give written notice to the employer of the occurrence of death allegedly arising out of and in the course of employment in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-22.

(b) An employer shall notify the Commission of the occurrence of a death resulting from an injury or occupational disease allegedly arising out of and in the course of employment by timely filing a Form 19 within five days of knowledge thereof. In addition, an employer or carrier/administrator shall file with the Industrial Commission a Form 29, "Supplementary Report for Fatal Accidents," within 45 days of knowledge of a death or allegation of death resulting from an injury or occupational disease arising out of and in the course of employment.

(2) Identifying Beneficiaries

(a) An employer or carrier/administrator shall make a good faith effort to discover the names and addresses of decedent's beneficiaries under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38 and identify them on the Form 29.

(b) In all cases involving minors or incompetents who are potential beneficiaries, a guardian ad litem shall be appointed pursuant to Rule 604.

(c) If an issue exists as to whether a person is a beneficiary under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38, the employer or carrier/administrator and/or any person asserting a claim for benefits may file a Form 33 Request for Hearing for a determination by a Deputy Commissioner.

(3) Liability Accepted by Employer

(a) If the employer or carrier/administrator accepts liability for a claim involving an employee's death and there are no apparent issues necessitating a hearing for determination of beneficiaries and/or their respective rights, the parties shall submit an Agreement for Compensation for Death executed by all interested parties or their representatives on Industrial Commission Form 30. All agreements must be submitted to the Industrial Commission on a Form 30 as set forth in Rule 501(4), (5) and (6).

(b) Said agreement shall be submitted along with all relevant supporting documents, including death certificate of the employee, any relevant marriage certificate and birth certificates for any dependents.

(4) Liability Denied by Employer

(a) If the employer or carrier/administrator denies liability for a claim involving an employee's death, the employer or carrier/administrator shall send a letter of denial to all potential beneficiaries, their attorneys of record, if any, all health care providers that have submitted bills to the employer or carrier/administrator, and the Industrial Commission. The denial letter shall specifically state the reasons for the denial and shall further advise of a right to hearing.

(b) Any potential beneficiary or the employer or carrier/administrator may request a hearing as provided in Rule 602.

(5) Payment of Death Benefits

(a) Upon approval of the Industrial Commission of a Form 30, Agreement for Compensation for Death, or the issuance of a final order of the Industrial Commission directing payment of death benefits pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38, payment may be made by the employer or carrier/administrator directly to the beneficiaries, with the following exceptions: (1) any applicable award of attorney fees shall be paid directly to the attorney; and (2) benefits due to a minor or incompetent.

(b)(i) Subject to the discretion of the Industrial Commission, any benefits due to a minor pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-38 may be paid directly to the parent as natural guardian of the minor for the use and benefit of the minor if the minor remains in the physical custody of the parent as natural guardian. If the minor is not in the physical custody of the parent as natural guardian, the Industrial Commission may order that payment be made through some other proper person appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction.

(ii) In order to protect the interests of an incompetent beneficiary, the Industrial Commission in its discretion may order that benefits be paid to the beneficiary's duly appointed guardian for the beneficiary's exclusive use and benefit, or to the Clerk of Court in the county in which he resides for the beneficiary's exclusive use and benefit as determined by the Clerk of Court.

(iii) Upon a change in circumstances, any interested party may request that the Industrial Commission amend the terms of any award with respect to a minor or incompetent to direct payment to another party on behalf of the minor or incompetent. When a beneficiary reaches the age of 18, any remaining benefits shall be paid directly to the beneficiary.

(c) In the case of commuted benefits, only those sums which have not accrued at the time of the entry of the Order are subject to commutation.

(6) Procedure for Award of Death Benefits Based on Stipulated Facts

(a) Where the parties seek a written opinion and award from the Commission regarding the payment of death benefits in uncontested cases in lieu of presenting testimony at a hearing before a Deputy Commissioner, the parties may make application to the Commission for a written opinion by filing a written request with the Dockets Director.

(b) The parties shall file the following information by joint stipulation, affidavit or certified document:

- a. a stipulation regarding all jurisdictional matters;
- b. the decedent's name, social security number, employer, insurance carrier or servicing agent, and the date of the injury giving rise to this claim;
- c. a Form 22 or stipulation as to average weekly wage;
- d. any affidavits regarding dependents;
- e. the death certificate;
- f. I.C. Form 29;
- g. Guardian ad Litem forms, if any beneficiary is a minor or incompetent;
- h. proof of beneficiary status, such as marriage license, birth certificate, or divorce decree;
- i. medical records, if any;

j. a statement of payment of medical expenses incurred, if any; and

k. a funeral bill or stipulation as to payment of the funeral benefit.

(c) Upon receipt of said information and notice to potential beneficiaries, the Deputy Commissioner shall render a written Opinion and Award.

(7) Any attorney seeking fees for the representation of an uncontested claim shall file an affidavit or itemized statement in support of an award of attorney's fees.

ARTICLE V. AGREEMENTS

Rule 501. Agreements for payment of compensation.

(1) To facilitate the prompt payment of compensation within the time prescribed in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18, the Industrial Commission will accept memoranda of agreements on Industrial Commission forms. The agreements may be executed by the employer or the carrier/administrator where compensation payable under the agreement does not exceed 52 weeks.

(2) In cases where the compensation payable under the agreement exceeds 52 weeks, the agreement must be executed by the employer as well as the carrier/administrator. For good cause shown, this requirement may be waived by the Industrial Commission.

(3) No agreement for permanent disability will be approved until all relevant medical, vocational and nursing rehabilitation reports known to exist in the case have been filed with the Industrial Commission.

(4) All memoranda of agreements must be submitted to the Industrial Commission in triplicate on Industrial Commission forms, as specified in paragraph (6) below. Agreements in proper form and conforming to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act will be approved by the Industrial Commission and a copy returned to the employer or carrier/administrator and a copy sent to the employee, unless amended by award, in which event a copy of the award will be returned with the agreement.

(5) The employer or carrier/administrator, or the attorney of record, if any, shall provide the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, a copy of a Form 21, Form 26, Form 26D, and Form 30 when the employee signs said forms, and the employer or carrier/administrator will send a copy of a Form 28B to the employee and the employee's attorney of record, if any, within 16 days after the last payment of compensation for either temporary or permanent disability, pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.

(6) All memoranda of agreements for cases which are currently calendared for hearing before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to that Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner at the Industrial Commission. Before a case is calendared, or once a case has been continued, or removed, or after the filing of an Opinion and Award, all memoranda of agreements shall be directed to the Claims Department of the Industrial Commission.

(7) After the employer or carrier/administrator has received a memorandum of agreement which has been signed by the employee and employee's attorney of record, if any, it shall have 20 days within which to submit the memorandum of agreement to the Industrial Commission for review and approval or within which to show good cause for not submitting the memorandum of agreement signed only by the employee; provided, however, that for good cause shown the 20 day period may be extended.

CASE NOTES

Cited in Crouse v. Flowers Baking Co., 123 N.C. App. 555, 473 S.E.2d 372 (1996).

Rule 502. Compromise settlement agreements.

(1) All compromise settlement agreements must be submitted to the Industrial Commission for approval. Only those agreements deemed fair and just and in the best interest of all parties will be approved.

(2) No compromise agreement will be approved unless it contains the following language or its equivalent:

(a) Where liability is admitted, that the employer or carrier/administrator undertakes to pay all medical expenses to the date of the agreement.

(b) Where liability is denied, that the employer or carrier/administrator undertakes to pay all unpaid medical expenses to the date of the agreement. However, this requirement may be waived in the discretion of the Industrial Commission. When submitting an agreement for approval, the employee or employee's attorney, if any, shall advise the Commission in writing of the amount of the unpaid medical expenses.

(c) That the employee knowingly and intentionally waives the right to further benefits under the Workers' Compensation Act for the injury which is the subject of this agreement.

(d) That the employer or carrier/administrator will pay all costs incurred.

(e) That no rights other than those arising under the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act are compromised or released.

(f) That the employee has, or has not, returned to a job or position at the same or a greater average weekly wage as was being earned prior to the injury or occupational disease.

(g) Where the employee has not returned to a job or position at the same or a greater wage as was being earned prior to the injury or occupational disease, that the employee has, or has not, returned to some other job or position, and, if so, the description of the particular job or position, the name of the employer and the average weekly wage earned. This subsection of the Rule shall not apply where the employee is represented by counsel or, even if the employee is not represented by counsel, where the employee certifies that partial wage loss due to an injury or occupational disease is not being claimed.

(h) Where the employee has not returned to a job or position at the same or a greater average weekly wage as was being earned prior to the injury or occupational disease, the agreement shall summarize the employee's age, educational level, past vocational training, past work experience, and any impairment, emotional, mental or physical, which predates the current injury or occupational disease. The parties will be relieved of this duty only upon a showing that providing such information creates an unreasonable burden upon them. This subsection of the Rule shall not apply where employee is represented by counsel or, even if the employee is not represented by counsel, where the employee certifies that total wage loss due to an injury or occupational disease is not being claimed.

(3) No compromise agreement will be considered unless the following additional requirements are met:

(a) All medical, vocational, and rehabilitation reports known to exist, including but not limited to those pertinent to the employee's future earning capacity, must be submitted with the agreement to the Industrial Commission by the employer, the carrier/administrator, or the attorney for the employer.

(b) Parties and all attorneys of record must have signed the agreement.

(4) When a settlement has been reached, the written agreement must be submitted to the Industrial Commission within a reasonable time. All compromise settlement agreements which are currently calendared for hearing before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to that Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner at the Industrial Commission. Before a case is calendared, or once a case has been continued, or removed, or after the filing of an Opinion and Award, all compromise settlement agreements shall be directed to the Executive Secretary of the Industrial Commission.

(5) Once a compromise settlement agreement has been approved by the Industrial Commission, the employer or carrier/administrator shall furnish an executed copy of said agreement to the employee or his attorney of record, if any.

(6) An attorney seeking fees in connection with a Compromise Settlement Agreement shall submit to the Commission a copy of the fee agreement with the client.

Rule 503. Approval of agreement constitutes award.

An agreement for the payment of compensation approved by the Industrial Commission shall thereupon become an award of the Industrial Commission and shall be a part of the record in any further proceedings in the matter.

ARTICLE VI. CONTESTED CASES

Rule 601. Denial of liability.

If the employer or insurance carrier denies liability in any case, a detailed statement of the basis of denial must be set forth in a letter of denial or Form 61, which shall be sent to the plaintiff or his attorney of record, if any, all known health care providers which have submitted bills to the employer/carrier, and the Industrial Commission.

The detailed statement of the basis of denial shall set forth a statement of the facts, as alleged by the employer, concerning the injury or any other matter in dispute; a statement identifying the source, by name or date and type of document, of the facts alleged by the employer; and a statement explaining why the facts, as alleged by the employer, do not entitle the employee to workers' compensation benefits.

Upon notice of a claim, the employer must admit or deny compensability of the claim to the Commission within 14 days after the employer has written or actual notice of the claim, or commence payment without prejudice pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(d). If, after 90 days from the date of filing of a Form 18, or if no Form 18 is filed, the filing of a Form 33, an employer has neither admitted the claim, filed the notice of denial of the claim with the Commission, or initiated compensation payments without prejudice pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18(d), the employer may be sanctioned pursuant to Rule 802, in addition to any other sanctions available under the Act. Requests for waivers of this Rule or extensions may be addressed to the Executive Secretary. Defendant is not obligated to repeat grounds for denial previously given.

Rule 602. Request for hearing.

Contested claims shall be set on the hearing docket only upon the written request of one of the parties, unless the Industrial Commission orders on its own motion, a hearing or rehearing of the case in dispute. The request for hearing shall contain the following:

- (1) The basis of the disagreement between the parties, including a statement of the specific issues raised by the requesting party.
- (2) The date of the injury.
- (3) The part of the body injured.
- (4) The city and county where the injury occurred.
- (5) The names and addresses of all doctors and other expert witnesses whose testimony is needed by the requesting party.

(6) The names of all lay witnesses to be called to testify for the requesting party.

(7) An estimate of the time required for the hearing of the case.

(8) The telephone number(s) and address(es) of the party(ies) requesting the hearing.

A Form 33, Request for Hearing, completed in full, shall constitute compliance with this Rule. A copy of the Request for Hearing shall be forwarded to the self-insured employer or insurance carrier if not represented, or to the defendant's attorney, if one has been retained.

Rule 603. Response to request for hearing.

No later than 45 days from receipt of the Request for Hearing, the self-insured employer, insurance carrier, or counsel for the defendant(s) shall file with the Industrial Commission a response to the Request for Hearing.

This response shall contain the following:

(1) The basis of the disagreement between the parties, including a statement of the specific issues raised by the plaintiff which are conceded and the specific issues raised by the plaintiff which are denied.

(2) The date of the injury, if it is contended to be different than that alleged by the plaintiff.

(3) The part of the body injured, if it is contended to be different than that alleged by the plaintiff.

(4) The city and county where the injury occurred, if they are contended to be different than that alleged by the plaintiff.

(5) The names and addresses of all doctors and other expert witnesses whose testimony is needed by the defendant(s).

(6) The names of all lay witnesses known by the defendant(s) whose testimony is to be taken.

(7) An estimate of the time required for the hearing of the case.

(8) The telephone number(s) and address(es) of the party(ies) responding to the Request for Hearing.

Utilization of a Form 33R, Response to Request for Hearing, which is completed in full, shall be the sole means of compliance with this Rule. A copy of the Response to Request for Hearing shall be forwarded to all opposing parties or their attorneys, if such have been retained. In the event of a request for hearing by a defendant, the employee shall not be required to respond. Extensions of time within which to file a response shall be granted for good cause shown.

Rule 604. Appointment of guardian ad litem.

(1) In all cases where it is proposed that minors or incompetents shall sue by their guardian ad litem, the Industrial Commission shall appoint such guardian ad litem upon the written application of a reputable person closely connected with such minor or incompetent; but if such person will not apply, then, upon the application of some reputable citizen; and the Industrial Commission shall make such appointment only after due inquiry as to the fitness of the person to be appointed.

(2) In no event, however, shall any compensation be paid directly to the guardian ad litem. Rather, compensation payable to a minor or incompetent shall be paid as provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-48 and N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-49. The use of the word "guardian" in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-49 does not mean a guardian ad litem.

Rule 605. Discovery.

In addition to depositions and production of books and records provided for in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-80, parties may obtain discovery by the use of interrogatories as follows:

(1) Any party may serve upon any other parties written interrogatories, up to 30 in number, including subparts thereof, to be answered by the party served or, if the party served is a public or private corporation or a partnership or association or governmental agency, by any officer or agent, who shall furnish such information as is available from the party interrogated.

Interrogatories may, without leave of the Industrial Commission, be served upon any party after the filing of a Form 18, Form 18B, or Form 33, or after approval of Form 21.

Each interrogatory shall be answered separately and fully in writing under oath, unless it is objected to, in which event the reasons for objection shall be stated in lieu of an answer. The answers are to be signed by the person making them and the objections signed by the party making them. The party on whom the interrogatories have been served shall serve a copy of the answers, and objections, if any, within 30 days after service of the interrogatories. The parties may stipulate to an extension of time to respond to the interrogatories. A motion to extend the time to respond shall represent that an attempt to reach agreement with the opposing party to informally extend the time for response has been unsuccessful and the opposing parties' position or that there has been a reasonable attempt to contact the opposing party to ascertain its position.

If there is an objection to or other failure to answer an interrogatory, the party submitting the interrogatories may move the Industrial Commission for an order compelling answer. If the Industrial Commission orders answer to an interrogatory within a time certain and no answer is made or the objection is still lodged, the Industrial Commission may issue an order with appropriate sanctions, including but not limited to the sanctions specified in Rule 37 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) Interrogatories may relate to matters which are not privileged which are relevant to an issue presently in dispute or which the requesting party reasonably believes may later be disputed. Signature of a party or attorney serving interrogatories constitutes a certificate by such person that he or she has personally read each of the interrogatories, that no such interrogatory will oppress a party or cause any unnecessary expense or delay, that the information requested is not known or equally available to the requesting party and that the interrogatory relates to an issue presently in dispute or which the requesting party reasonably believes may later be in dispute. A party may serve an interrogatory, however, to obtain verification of facts relating to an issue presently in dispute. Answers to interrogatories may be used to the extent permitted by the rules of evidence.

(3) Additional methods of discovery as provided by the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure may be used only upon motion and approval by the Industrial Commission or by agreement of the parties.

(4) Notices of depositions, discovery requests and responses pertinent to a pending motion, responses to discovery following a motion or order to compel, and post-hearing discovery requests and responses shall be filed with the Commission, as well as served on the opposing party. Otherwise, discovery requests and responses, including interrogatories and requests for production of documents, shall not be filed with the Commission.

(5) Sanctions may be imposed under this Rule for failure to comply with a Commission order compelling discovery. A motion by a party or its attorney to compel discovery under this Rule and Rule 607 shall represent that informal means of resolving the discovery dispute have been attempted in good faith and state briefly the opposing parties' position or that there has been a reasonable attempt to contact the opposing party and ascertain its position.

Rule 606. Discovery — Post hearing.

Discovery may not be conducted after the initial hearing on the merits of a case unless allowed by order of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner.

Rule 607. Discovery of records and reports.

Upon written request, any party shall furnish, without cost, the requesting party a copy of any and all medical, vocational and rehabilitation reports, employment records, Industrial Commission forms, and written communications with medical providers in its possession, within 30 days of the request, unless objection is made within that time period. This obligation exists whether or not a request for hearing has been filed. This obligation is a continuing one, and any such reports and records which come into the possession of a party after receipt of a request pursuant to this Rule shall be provided to the requesting party within 15 days from its receipt of these reports and records.

Upon receipt of a request, an insurer or administrator for an employer's workers' compensation program shall inquire of the employer concerning the existence of records encompassed by the request.

Rule 608. Statement about incident leading to claim.

(1) At the outset of taking a statement, the employer or his agent shall advise the employee that the statement is being taken to be used in part to determine whether the claim will be paid or denied. Any plaintiff who gives his employer, or its carrier, or any agent either a written or recorded statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding his injury shall be furnished a copy of such statement within 45 days after request. Further, any plaintiff who shall give a written or recorded statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding his injury shall, without request, be furnished a copy no less than 45 days from the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing. Such copy shall be furnished at the expense of the person, firm or corporation at whose direction the statement was taken.

(2) If any person, firm or corporation fails to comply with this rule, then an order may be entered by a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner prohibiting that person, firm or corporation, or its representative, from introducing the statement into evidence or using any part of it.

Rule 609. Motions practice in contested cases.

(1) Motions brought before the Commission shall be addressed as follows:

(a) All motions in cases which are currently calendared for hearing before the Full Commission or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to the Chair of the Full Commission panel or Deputy Commissioner before whom the case is pending.

(b) Motions filed before a case is calendared before a Deputy Commissioner, or once a case has been continued, or removed from a Deputy Commissioner calendar, or after the filing of an Opinion and Award when the time for taking appeal has run, shall be directed to the Executive Secretary of the Industrial Commission. Motions to reconsider or amend an Opinion and Award, made prior to giving notice of appeal to the Full Commission, shall be directed to the Deputy Commissioner who authored the Opinion and Award.

(c) Motions filed after notice of appeal to the Full Commission has been given but prior to the calendaring of the case shall be directed to the Chair of the Industrial Commission.

(d) If a case has been continued from the Full Commission hearing docket, motions shall be directed to the Chair of the panel of Commissioners who ordered the continuance.

(e) Motions filed after the filing of an Opinion and Award by the Full Commission but prior to giving notice of appeal to the Court of Appeals shall be directed to the Commissioner who authored the Opinion and Award.

(2) A motion shall state with particularity the grounds on which it is based, the relief sought, and a brief statement of the opposing party's position, if known. Service shall be made on all opposing attorneys of record, or on all opposing parties, if not represented.

(3) Motions to continue or remove a case from the hearing calendar on which the case is set must be made well in advance of the scheduled hearing and may be made in written or oral form. In all cases the moving party must provide just cause for the motion and state that the other parties have been advised of the motion and relate the position, if known, of the other parties regarding the motion. Oral motions must be followed with a written confirmation from the moving party.

(4) The responding party to a motion shall have 10 days after a motion is served during which to file and serve copies of response in opposition to the motion. The Industrial Commission may shorten or extend the time for responding to any motion.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (4) above, a motion may be acted upon at any time by the Commission, despite the absence of notice to all parties, and without awaiting a response thereto. A party who has not received actual notice of such a motion or who has not filed a response at the time such action is taken and who is adversely affected by the action may request that it be reconsidered, vacated, or modified. Motions will be determined without oral argument, unless the Industrial Commission orders otherwise.

(6) In all cases where correspondence relative to a case before the Industrial Commission is sent to the Industrial Commission, copies of such correspondence shall be contemporaneously sent by the same method of transmission to the opposing party or, if represented, to opposing counsel. Written communications, whether addressed directly to the Commission or copied to the Commission, may not be used as an opportunity to introduce new evidence or to argue the merits of the case, or to cast the opposing party or counsel in a bad light, with the exception of the following instances:

(a) Written communications, such as a proposed order or legal memorandum, prepared pursuant to the Commission's instructions;

(b) Written communications relative to emergencies, changed circumstances, or scheduling matters that may affect the procedural status of a case such as a request for a continuance due to the health of a litigant or an attorney;

(c) Written communications sent to the tribunal with the consent of the opposing lawyer or opposing party if unrepresented; and

(d) Any other communication permitted by law or the rules or procedures of the Commission.

At no time may written communications, whether addressed directly to the Commission or copied to the Commission, be used as an opportunity to cast the opposing party or counsel in a bad light.

(7) All motions made before the Industrial Commission must include a proposed Order to be considered by the Industrial Commission.

(8) Except as otherwise expressly provided by statute, rule, or by order of the Commission, in computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by the Commission's Rules, by order of the Commission, or by any applicable statute, the day of the act, event, or default after which the designated period of time begins to run is not to be included. The last day of the period so computed is to be included, unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, in which event the period runs until the end of the next day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday. When the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than seven days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays shall be excluded in the computation. Whenever a party has the right to do some act or take some proceedings within a prescribed period after the service of any document, three days shall be added to the prescribed period.

Rule 610. Pre-trial conference and Pre-trial order.

(1) A Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may order the parties to appear at a pre-trial conference to determine specific matters. This conference may be conducted at such place and by such method as the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner deems appropriate, including conference telephone calls.

(2) Any party may request a pre-trial conference when that party deems that such a conference would aid in settling the case or resolving some issues prior to trial. Requests for such pre-trial conferences shall be directed to the Deputy Commissioner before whom the claim has been calendared, or to the Team Coordinator for the geographical area, if any.

(3) A Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner may issue a Pre-Trial Order requiring the parties to submit a Pre-trial Agreement. The parties shall have 15 days following the hearing within which to schedule the taking of medical depositions unless otherwise extended by the Commission. Such Agreement shall be prepared in a form which substantially complies with the Order on Final Pre-Trial Conference adopted in the North Carolina Rules of Practice for the Superior and District Courts. Should the parties fail to comply with a Pre-Trial Order, the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may remove the case from the hearing docket. Should the parties thereafter comply with the Pre-Trial Order after the removal of the case, the Pre-Trial Agreement must be directed to the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner who removed the case from the docket; and the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner will order the case returned to the hearing docket as if a Request for Hearing had been filed on the date of the Order to return the case to the hearing docket. No new Form 33 Request for Hearing is required.

Rule 611. Hearings before the Industrial Commission.

(1) The Industrial Commission may on its own motion order a hearing or rehearing of any case in dispute.

(2) The Industrial Commission shall set a contested case for hearing in a location deemed convenient to witnesses and the Industrial Commission, and conducive to an early and just resolution of disputed issues.

(3) In setting contested cases for hearing, cases in which the payment of workers' compensation benefits is at issue shall take precedence over those cases in which the payment of workers' compensation benefits is not at issue.

(4) The Industrial Commission will give reasonable notice of hearings in every case. Postponement or continuance of a duly scheduled hearing will rest entirely in the discretion of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner. Where a party has not notified the Industrial Commission of the attorney representing the party prior to the mailing of calendars for hearing, notice to that party shall constitute notice to the party's attorney.

(5) The only parts of the Industrial Commission file in a contested case which are a part of the record on which a decision will be rendered are prior Opinion and Awards, form agreements, awards, and orders by the Industrial Commission; provided, however, that if provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act designate other documents as part of the record, such documents shall also be a part of the record. Any other documents which the parties wish to have included in the record must be introduced and received into evidence.

(6) Hearing costs shall be assessed in each case set for hearing, including those cases which are settled after being calendared and notices mailed, and shall be payable upon receipt of a statement from the Industrial Commission.

(7) In the event of inclement weather or natural disaster, hearings shall be cancelled if the proceedings in the General Court of Justice in the county in which the hearings are set are cancelled.

Rule 612. Depositions and additional hearings.

(1) When additional testimony is necessary to the disposition of a case, a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may order the deposition of witnesses to be taken on or before a day certain not to exceed 60 days from the date of the ruling; provided, the time allowed may be enlarged for good cause shown. The costs of such depositions shall be borne by defendants for those medical witnesses who examined plaintiff at defendants' expense, in those instances in which defendants are requesting the depositions, and in any other case which, in the discretion of the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, it is deemed appropriate.

(2) In cases where a party, or an attorney for either party, refuses to stipulate medical reports and the case must be reset or depositions ordered for testimony of medical witnesses, a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may in his discretion assess the costs of such hearing or depositions, including reasonable attorney fees, against the party who refused the stipulation.

(3) Except under unusual circumstances, all lay evidence must be offered at the initial hearing. Lay evidence can only be offered after the initial hearing by order of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner. The costs of obtaining lay testimony by deposition shall be borne by the party making the request unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

Rule 613. Dismissals and removals.

1. Dismissals

(a) No claim filed under the Workers' Compensation Act shall be dismissed without prejudice at plaintiff's instance except upon order of the Industrial Commission and upon such terms and conditions as justice requires; provided, however, that no voluntary dismissal shall be granted after the record in a case is closed.

(b) Unless otherwise ordered by the Industrial Commission, a plaintiff shall have one year from the date of the Order of Voluntary Dismissal to refile his claim.

(c) Upon proper notice and an opportunity to be heard, any claim may be dismissed with or without prejudice by the Industrial Commission on its own motion or by motion of any party for failure to prosecute or to comply with these Rules or any Order of the Commission.

2. Removals

(a) A claim may be removed from the hearing docket by motion of the party requesting the hearing or by the Industrial Commission upon its own motion.

(b) A removed case may be reinstated by motion of either party; provided that cases wherein the issues have materially changed since the Order of Removal or where the motion to reinstate is filed more than one year after the Order of Removal, a Form 33 Request for Hearing will be required.

(c) When a plaintiff has not requested a hearing within two years of the filing of an Order of Removal requested by the plaintiff or necessitated by the plaintiff's conduct, and not pursued the claim, upon proper notice and an opportunity to be heard, any claim may be dismissed with prejudice by the Industrial Commission on its own motion or by motion of any party.

Rule 614. Attorneys retained for proceedings.

(1) Any attorney who is retained by a party in a proceeding before the Industrial Commission shall immediately file a notice of appearance with the Industrial Commission. A copy of this notice shall be served on all other counsel and on all unrepresented parties. Thereafter, all notices required to be served on a party shall be served upon the attorney. No direct contact or communication concerning contested matters may be made with a represented party by the opposing party or any person on its behalf, without the attorney's permission except as permitted by law or Industrial Commission Rules.

(2) Any attorney who wishes to withdraw from representation in a proceeding before the Industrial Commission shall file with the Industrial Commission, in writing:

(a) A Motion to Withdraw which shall contain a statement of reasons for the request and that the request has been served on the client.

(b) A Motion to Withdraw before an award is made shall state whether the withdrawing attorney requests an attorney fee from the represented party once an award of compensation is made or approved.

(3) An attorney may withdraw from representation only by written order of the Industrial Commission. The issuance of an award of the Industrial Commission does not release an attorney as the attorney of record.

Rule 615. Disqualification of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner.

In their discretion, Commissioners or Deputy Commissioners may recuse themselves from the hearing of any case before the Industrial Commission. For good cause shown, a majority of the Full Commission may remove a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner from hearing a case.

Rule 616. Foreign language interpreters.

(1) Services of Foreign Language Interpreters Required. When a person who does not speak or understand the English language is called to testify in a hearing, other than in an informal hearing conducted pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-18.1, the person, whether a party or a witness, shall be assisted by a qualified foreign language interpreter.

(2) Qualifications of Interpreters. To qualify as a foreign language interpreter, a person must possess sufficient experience and education, or a combination of experience and education, speaking and understanding English and the foreign language to be interpreted, to qualify as an expert witness pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1C-1, Rule 702. A person qualified as an interpreter under this Rule shall not be interested in the claim and must make a declaration under oath or affirmation to interpret accurately, truthfully and without any additions or deletions, all questions propounded to the witness and all responses thereto.

(3) Notice to Industrial Commission and Opposing Party of Need for Interpreter. Any party who is unable to speak or understand English, or who intends to call as a witness a person who is unable to speak or understand English, shall so notify the Industrial Commission and the opposing party, in writing, not less than 21 days prior to the date of the hearing. The notice shall state with specificity the language(s) that must be interpreted for the Commission.

(4) Designation of Interpreter by Employer or Insurer. Upon receiving or giving the notice required in paragraph (3) of this Rule, the employer or insurer shall retain a qualified, disinterested interpreter, either agreed upon by the parties or approved by the Industrial Commission, to appear at the hearing and interpret the testimony of all persons for whom the notice in paragraph (3) has been given or received.

(5) Interpreter Fees. The interpreter's fee shall constitute a cost as contemplated by N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-80. A qualified interpreter who interprets testimony for the Industrial Commission shall be entitled to payment of the fee agreed upon by the interpreter and employer or insurer that retained the interpreter. Except in cases where a claim for compensation has been prosecuted without reasonable ground, the fee agreed upon by the interpreter and employer or insurer shall be paid by the employer or insurer. Where it is ultimately determined by the Commission that the request for an interpreter was unfounded, attendant costs may be assessed against the movant.

ARTICLE VII. APPEALS

Rule 701. Appeal to the Full Commission.

(1) A letter expressing an intent to appeal shall be considered notice of appeal to the Full Commission within the meaning of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-85, provided that it clearly specifies the Order or Opinion and Award from which appeal is taken.

(2) After receipt of notice of appeal, the Industrial Commission will supply to the appellant a Form 44 Application for Review upon which appellant must state the grounds for the appeal. The grounds must be stated with particularity, including the specific errors allegedly committed by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner and, when applicable, the pages in the transcript on which the alleged errors are recorded. Failure to state with particularity the grounds for appeal shall result in abandonment of such grounds, as provided in paragraph (3). Appellant's completed Form 44 and brief must be filed and served within 25 days of appellant's receipt of the transcript or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript, unless the Industrial Commission, in its discretion, waives the use of the Form 44. The time for filing a notice of appeal from the decision of the Deputy Commissioner under these rules shall be tolled until a timely motion to amend the decision has been ruled upon by the Deputy Commissioner.

(3) Particular grounds for appeal not set forth in the application for review shall be deemed abandoned, and argument thereon shall not be heard before the Full Commission.

(4) Appellant's Form 44 and brief in support of his grounds for appeal shall be filed in triplicate with the Industrial Commission, with a certificate indicating service on appellee by mail or in person, within 25 days after receipt of the transcript, or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript. Thereafter, appellee shall have 25 days from service of appellant's brief within which to file a reply brief in triplicate with the Industrial Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on appellant. When an appellant fails to file a brief, appellee shall file his brief within 25 days after appellant's time for filing brief has expired. A party who fails to file a brief will not be allowed oral argument before the Full Commission. If both parties appeal, they shall each file an appellant's and appellee's brief on the schedule set forth herein. The parties may file with the Docket Director a written stipulation to a single extension of time for each party, not to exceed 30 days, if the matter has not been calendared for hearing.

(5) After notice of appeal has been given to the Full Commission, any motions related to the issues before the Full Commission shall be filed in triplicate with the Full Commission, with service on the other parties.

(6) No new evidence will be presented to or heard by the Full Commission unless the Commission in its discretion so permits.

(7) Cases should be cited by North Carolina Reports and, preferably, to Southeastern Reports. Counsel shall not discuss matters outside the record, assert personal opinions or relate personal experiences, or attribute unworthy acts or motives to opposing counsel.

(8) The Industrial Commission or any one of the parties with permission of the Industrial Commission may waive oral argument before the Full Commission. In the event of such waiver, the Full Commission will file a decision, based on the record, assignments of error and briefs.

(9) A plaintiff appealing the amount of a disfigurement award shall personally appear before the Full Commission to permit the Full Commission to view the disfigurement.

CASE NOTES

Illustrative Cases. — Since an employee's recovery should be based on his actual loss of wages, the full Industrial Commission erred when it refused to reconsider the amount of the employee's average weekly wages, even though the issue allegedly was not properly preserved, where it was mistakenly stipulated by the parties that the employee's average weekly wage was higher than the amount claimed by the employer in its affidavit. Tucker v. Workable Co., 129 N.C. App. 695, 501 S.E.2d 360 (1998).

Where the motion of the husband of a murdered employee for attorney fees was denied by the deputy commissioner, the issue of entitlement to attorney fees was preserved, although it was not raised as an assignment of error on appeal to the Industrial Commission from the deputy commissioner's denial of benefits. Hauser v. Advanced Plastiform, Inc., 133 N.C. App. 378, 514 S.E.2d 545 (1999).

Industrial Commission is competent to modify conclusion of Deputy Commissioner to which no error was assigned by the plaintiff. Timmons v. North Carolina DOT, 132 N.C. App. 377, 511 S.E.2d 659 (1999), rev'd on other grounds, 351 N.C. 177, 522 S.E.2d 62 (1999).

Rule 702. Appeal to the court of appeals.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-86, in every case appealed to the North Carolina Court of Appeals, the Rules of Appellate Procedure shall apply. The running of the time for filing and serving a notice of appeal is tolled as to all parties by a timely motion filed by any party to amend, to make additional findings, or to reconsider the decision, and the full time for appeal commences to run and is to be computed from the entry of an Order upon any of these motions, in accordance with Rule 3 of the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

(2) If the parties cannot agree on the record on appeal, appellant shall furnish the Chair of the Industrial Commission, or his designee, one copy of the proposed record on appeal, objections and/or proposed alternative record on appeal along with a timely request to settle the record on appeal. The hearing to settle the record on appeal shall be held at the offices of the Industrial Commission or by telephone conference.

(3) The amount of the appeal bond shall be set by the Chair, or his designee, and may be waived in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-86.

Rule 703. Review of Administrative Decisions.

(1) Orders, Decisions, and Awards made in a summary manner, without detailed findings of fact, including Decisions on applications to approve agreements to pay compensation and medical bills, applications to approve the termination or suspension of compensation, applications for change in treatment or providers of medical compensation, applications to change the interval of payments, and applications for lump sum payments of compensation may be reviewed by filing a Motion for Reconsideration with the Industrial Commission and addressed to the Administrative Officer who made the Decision or may be appealed by requesting a hearing within 15 days of receipt of the Decision or receipt of the ruling on a Motion to Reconsider. These issues may also be raised and determined at a subsequent hearing.

(2) Motions for Reconsideration shall not stay the effect of the Order, Decision or Award; provided, that the Administrative Officer making the Decision or a Commissioner may enter an Order staying its effect pending the ruling on the Motion for Reconsideration or pending a Decision by a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner following a formal hearing. In determining whether or not to grant a stay, the Commissioner or Administrative Officer will consider whether granting the stay will frustrate the purposes of the Order, Decision, or Award.

(3) Any review made by requesting a hearing shall be made to the Industrial Commission and filed with the Industrial Commission's Docket Director. The Industrial Commission shall designate a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner to hear the review. The Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner hearing the matter shall consider all issues de novo, and no issue shall be considered moot solely because the Order has been fully executed during the pendency of the hearing.

ARTICLE VIII. RULES OF THE COMMISSION

Rule 801. Waiver of the rules.

In the interest of justice, these rules may be waived by the Industrial Commission. The rights of any unrepresented plaintiff will be given special consideration in this regard, to the end that a plaintiff without an attorney shall not be prejudiced by mere failure to strictly comply with any one of these rules.

CASE NOTES

Commission's Authority. — The full Industrial Commission had the authority to modify a conclusion of the Deputy Industrial Commissioner, even though the employee did not assign error to that conclusion, where the Commission ordered that the employee was entitled to be provided by the employer with a life care plan, whereas the Deputy had concluded that the employee was not so entitled. Timmons v. North Carolina DOT, 130 N.C. App. 745, 504 S.E.2d 567 (1998), reaff'd on recons., 132 N.C. App. 377, 511 S.E.2d 659 (1999), rev'd on other grounds, 351 N.C. 177, 522 S.E.2d 62 (1999).

Construction with Other Provisions. — The Industrial Commission erred by concluding that excusable neglect existed where plaintiff represented himself before the Deputy Commissioner and was unacquainted with the complexities of the Workers' Compensation Act; furthermore, the Commission did not have the authority, under this rule, to excuse plaintiff from complying with § 97-85 and thus disregard the holdings of the appellate court as to what constituted "excusable neglect." Moore v. City of Raleigh, 135 N.C. App. 332, 520 S.E.2d 133 (1999).

Rule 802. Sanctions.

(1) Upon failure to comply with any of the aforementioned rules, the Industrial Commission may subject the violator to any of the sanctions outlined in Rule 37 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure, including reasonable attorney fees to be taxed against the party or his counsel whose conduct necessitates the order.

(2) Failure to timely file forms as required by either these Rules or pursuant to the Act may result in fines or other appropriate sanctions.

CASE NOTES

Quoted in Hauser v. Advanced Plastiform, Inc., 133 N.C. App. 378, 514 S.E.2d 545 (1999).

Rule 803. Procedure for Workers' Compensation Rule making by the Industrial Commission.

Prior to adopting, deleting, or amending any Workers' Compensation Rule of the Industrial Commission which affects the substantive rights of parties, the Industrial Commission will give at least 30 days' notice of the proposed change in rules. Such notice will be given by publishing, in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in North Carolina, notice of such proposed change. Such notice will include an invitation to any interested party to submit in writing any objection, suggestion or other comment with respect to the proposed rule change or to appear before the Full Commission at a time and place designated in the notice for the purpose of being heard with respect to the proposed rule change.

ARTICLE IX. REPORT OF EARNINGS

Rule 901. Check endorsement.

If a self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator places "check endorsement" language on the back of an employee's check, the following language (or similar language approved by the Industrial Commission) shall be used:

By endorsing this check, I certify that I have not worked for or earned wages from any business or individual during the period covered by this check, or that I have reported any earnings to the employer/carrier paying me workers' compensation benefits. I understand that making a false statement by endorsing this benefit check may result in civil or criminal penalties.

Rule 902. Notice.

A self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator shall not use check endorsement language on the back of an employee's workers' compensation benefit check unless the employee has been provided the following Notice sent by certified mail return receipt requested:

Notice to Employee Receiving Workers' Compensation Benefits

This NOTICE is intended to advise you of important information you need to know if you are receiving workers' compensation benefits.

Please TAKE NOTICE of the following:

(1) When you are receiving weekly workers' compensation benefits, you must report any earnings you receive to the insurance company (or employer if the employer is self-insured) that is paying you the benefits. "Earnings" include any cash, wages or salary received from self-employment or from any employment other than the employment where you were injured. Earnings also include commissions, bonuses, and the cash value for all payments received in any form other than cash (e.g., a building custodian receiving a rent-free apartment). Commission bonuses, etc., earned before disability but received during the time you are also receiving workers' compensation benefits do not constitute earnings that must be reported.

(2) You must report any work in any business, even if the business lost money or if profits or income were reinvested or paid to others.

(3) Your endorsement on a benefit check or deposit of the check into an account is your statement that you believe that you are entitled to receive workers' compensation benefits. Your signature on a benefit check is a further affirmation that you have made no material false statement or concealed any material fact regarding your right to receive the benefit check.

(4) Making false statements for purpose of obtaining workers' compensation benefits may result in civil and criminal penalties.

Rule 903. Employee's obligation to report earnings.

A self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator may require the employee to complete a Form 90 Report of Earnings when reasonably necessary but not more than once every six months.

The Form 90 must be sent to the employee by certified mail, return receipt requested, and include a self-addressed stamped envelope for the return of the Form.

The employee shall complete and return the Form 90 Report of Earnings within 15 days after receipt of a Form 90. If the employee fails to complete and return the Report of Earnings within 30 days of receipt of the Form, the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator may seek an Order from the Executive Secretary allowing the suspension of benefits. The self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator shall not suspend benefits without Commission approval. If the Commission suspends benefits for failure to complete and return a Form 90 Report of Earnings, the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator shall immediately reinstate benefits to the employee with back payment as soon as the Report of Earnings is submitted by the employee. If benefits are not immediately reinstated, the employee should submit a written request for an Order from the Executive Secretary instructing the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator to reinstate benefits. If the employee's earnings report does not indicate continuing eligibility for partial or total disability compensation, then the self-insured employer, carrier or third party administrator may apply to the Commission to terminate or modify benefits pursuant to Commission procedure, including filing a Form 24, 26 or 33.

NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

I.C. No. 000000, PLAINTIFF(s) NAME, Employee Plaintiff v. DEFENDANT(s) NAME, Employer and CARRIER NAME, Carrier, Defendants. NAME, THIRD PARTY TORT-FEASOR.

ORDER DIRECTING DISTRIBUTION OF THIRD PARTY RECOVERY.

FILED:

Application for an order directing distribution of third party funds in this case has been submitted to the Industrial Commission.

APPEARANCES

Plaintiff:

Defendants:

Third Party Tort-Feasor:

Pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-10.2, the third party funds shall be distributed as follows:

1. The sum of $_____ shall be paid the workers' compensation carrier in full settlement of its subrogation interest.
2. The sum of $_____ shall be paid plaintiff.
3. An attorney fee not to exceed 33⅓ percent of the third party funds shall be deducted from such funds and paid directly to plaintiff's counsel. This fee shall be paid by the parties in proportion to the amount each receives out of the recovery, as by statute provided.
4. The sum of $_____, to plaintiff's counsel in reimbursement for litigation expenses and costs, from the shares of the parties in proportion to the amount each receives out of the recovery.

The workers' compensation carrier shall pay the costs due the Industrial Commission.

NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

I.C. No. 000000, PLAINTIFF(s) NAME, Employee Plaintiff v. DEFENDANT(s) NAME, Employer and CARRIER NAME, Carrier, Defendants. NAME, THIRD PARTY TORT-FEASOR; NAME, THIRD PARTY CARRIER.

ORDER APPROVING COMPROMISE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND DIRECTING DISTRIBUTION OF THIRD PARTY RECOVERY.

FILED:

A compromise settlement agreement and an application for an order directing distribution of third party funds in this case have been submitted to the Industrial Commission.

APPEARANCES

Plaintiff:

Defendants:

Third Party Tort-Feasor:

* * * * *

After giving due consideration to all matters involved in this case, and upon defendants' stated or implied representation that all known medical reports concerning the subject injury have been submitted to the Industrial Commission, per Rule 502(3)(a), the undersigned is of the opinion that the compromise settlement agreement is fair and equitable, probably in the best interest of all parties, and should be APPROVED.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the third party funds in the amount of $_____ be distributed in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-10.2, as follows:

- 1. The sum of $_____, subject to counsel fee, shall be paid the workers' compensation carrier in full settlement of its subrogation interest.
- 2. The sum of $_____, subject to counsel fee, shall be paid plaintiff.
- 3. An attorney fee in the amount of $_____ is hereby approved and shall be deducted from the compensation paid by the parties, in proportion to the amount each receives out of the recovery as by statute provided.
- 4. The sum of $_____, to plaintiff's counsel in reimbursement for litigation expenses and costs, from the shares of the parties in proportion to the amount each receives out of the recovery.
- 5. The workers' compensation carrier shall pay the costs due the Industrial Commission.

Compliance with the agreement, together with the foregoing provisions of this Order, shall fully acquit and discharge defendants from any further liability under the Workers' Compensation Act by reason of plaintiff's injury by accident giving rise hereto.

It is to be noted, however, that this Order does not purport to approve, resolve or address any issue or matter over which the Industrial Commission has no jurisdiction, whether or not such issue or matter is referred to in the compromise settlement agreement executed by the parties in this action.

Form IIb. Compromise settlement agreement (denied liability, unpaid medicals) and distribution of third party funds.

NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

I.C. No. 000000, PLAINTIFF(s) NAME, Employee Plaintiff v. DEFENDANT(s) NAME, Employer and CARRIER NAME, Carrier, Defendants. NAME, THIRD PARTY TORT-FEASOR.

ORDER APPROVING COMPROMISE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND DIRECTING DISTRIBUTION OF THIRD PARTY RECOVERY.

FILED:

A compromise settlement agreement and an application for an order directing distribution of third party funds in this case has been submitted to the Industrial Commission.

APPEARANCES

Plaintiff:

Defendants:

Third Party Tort-Feasor:

After giving due consideration to all matters involved in this case, and upon defendants' stated or implied representation that all known medical reports concerning the subject injury have been submitted to the Industrial Commission per Rule 502(3)(a), the undersigned is of the opinion that the compromise settlement agreement is fair and equitable, probably in the best interest of all parties, and should be APPROVED.

It is expressly recognized that plaintiff's claim is strongly contested, that defendants are not by the agreement admitting, nor is the Industrial Commission finding liability and that plaintiff, by accepting the agreement which provides for payment only of unpaid medical bills, is avoiding the risk that the claim will be totally denied by the Industrial Commission.

Pursuant to the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-10.2, the third party funds shall be distributed as follows:

1. The sum of $____, subject to counsel fee, shall be paid the workers' compensation carrier in full settlement of its subrogation interest.
2. The sum of $____, subject to counsel fee, shall be paid plaintiff.
3. An attorney fee in the amount of $____ is hereby approved and shall be deducted from the compensation paid by the parties, in proportion to the amount each receives out of the recovery, as by statute provided.

5. The workers' compensation carrier shall pay the costs due the Industrial Commission.

Compliance with the agreement, together with the foregoing provisions of this Order, shall fully acquit and discharge defendants from any further liability under the Workers' Compensation Act by reason of plaintiff's injury by accident giving rise hereto.

It is to be noted, however, that this Order does not purport to approve, resolve or address any issue or matter over which the Industrial Commission has no jurisdiction, whether or not such issue or matter is referred to in the compromise settlement agreement executed by the parties in this action.

ORDER APPROVING COMPROMISE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT.

FILED:

A compromise settlement agreement in this case has been submitted to the Industrial Commission.

APPEARANCES

Plaintiff:

Defendants:

* * * * *

The parties now have executed and submitted for approval a compromise settlement agreement. That agreement is incorporated herein by reference, and is approved in the amount of $____. Compliance with the terms of the agreement shall discharge defendants from further liability under the Workers' Compensation Act by reason of the injury giving rise to this claim.

An attorney's fee of $____ is approved for plaintiff's counsel. This amount shall be deducted from the sum due plaintiff and paid directly to plaintiff's counsel.

It is to be noted, however, that this Order does not purport to approve, resolve or address any issue or matter over which the Industrial Commission has no jurisdiction, whether or not such issue or matter is referred to in the compromise settlement agreement executed by the parties in this action.

Defendants shall pay the costs.

Rule 1. Order for mediated settlement conference.

(a) Mediation upon agreement of the parties. If the parties to a workers' compensation claim or state tort claim agree to mediate their claim, they may schedule and proceed with mediation on their own, or they may submit a request for a mediation order pursuant to Rule 1(d). No order from the Commission is necessary if the parties mutually agree to mediate, but the mediator shall file a report of mediation with the Commission as required by Rule 6(b)(4). If the parties proceed with mediation in the absence of an order from the Commission, and the Commission thereafter enters a mediation order, the parties shall timely notify the Commission that they have agreed upon the selection of a mediator or, if the mediation conference has been completed, that they request to be excused from any further mediation obligations pursuant to Rule 1(g).

(b) Referral Upon Receipt of a Form 33 Request for Hearing. In any case in which the Commission receives a Form 33 Request for Hearing, the Commission shall order that disputed case to a mediated settlement conference.

(c) By Order of the Commission. Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, the Commission's Dispute Resolution Coordinator, and such other employees as the Commission Chairman may designate from time to time may, by written order, require the parties and their representatives to attend a mediated settlement conference concerning a dispute within the tort and workers' compensation jurisdiction of the Commission. Requests to dispense with or defer a mediation conference shall be addressed to the Dispute Resolution Coordinator. Unless the context otherwise requires, references to the "Commission" in these rules shall mean the Dispute Resolution Coordinator.

(d) Mediation upon request of a party. If a case is not otherwise ordered to a mediated settlement conference, a party may move the Commission to order such a conference. Such motion shall state the reasons why the order should be allowed and, if the case is pending on the hearing docket, whether the party prefers for the case to be set for hearing on the next docket, for it to not be heard until further notice from the parties, or for it to not be set before a specified date. The motion shall be served on non-moving parties. Responses may be filed in writing with the Commission within 10 days after the date of the service of the motion. The Commission may require that any motion for a mediation order be submitted on a form provided by the Commission.

(e) Timing of the order. The order requiring mediation may be issued whenever it appears that the parties have a dispute arising under the Workers' Compensation Act or Tort Claims Act.

(f) Content of order. The Commission's order shall (1) require that the mediated settlement conference be held in the case, that pertinent documents be exchanged and that any specified discovery be completed prior to the conference; (2) establish a deadline for the pre-conference exchange of documents and other discovery, and for the completion of the conference; (3) provide a period within which the parties may select a mediator by mutual agreement (see Rule 2); (4) state the rate of compensation of the Commission-appointed mediator in the event that the parties do not exercise their right to select a mediator pursuant to Rule 2; (5) state that the parties shall be required to pay the mediator's fee at the conclusion of the settlement conference unless otherwise ordered by the Commission (see Rule 7); and, (6) may specify a date for an Industrial Commission hearing should the parties fail to reach a settlement.

(g) Motion to dispense with or defer mediated settlement conference. Mediation may be dispensed with or canceled by the Commission, but may not be dispensed with or canceled by the parties or the mediator, unless the parties have agreed, subject to Commission approval, on a full and complete resolution of all disputed issues set forth in the request for hearing filed in the case, and have given notice of the settlement to the Dispute Resolution Coordinator. As used herein, the terms "dispensed with" and "canceled" shall mean and refer to setting aside or rescinding the mediation order(s) entered in the case, or excusing the parties from their obligations under the order(s) or these rules. Within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of the date of the Commission's order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), a party may move to dispense with or defer the conference. Such motion shall state the reasons the relief is sought, and must be received by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator within the applicable 21 or 55 day deadline. For good cause shown, the Commission may grant the motion. However, failure to file a motion to dispense with mediated settlement conference within the above stated 21 or 55 day deadline and after a mediator has been appointed may result in the moving party or parties, or other responsible person, being required to pay an administrative fee of up to $100.00 to the Commission.

(h) Exemption from mediated settlement conference. In order to provide for the most efficacious use of mediation and neutral evaluation procedures, the Commission may specify, by type or kind, those cases to be ordered into or excluded from mediation and neutral evaluation procedures. The State shall not be compelled to participate in a mediation or neutral evaluation procedure with a prison inmate.

(i) Motion to authorize the use of neutral evaluation procedures. The parties may move the Commission to authorize the use of a neutral evaluation procedure in lieu of a mediated settlement conference. The Commission may require that such motion be filed on a form provided by the Commission, and such motion shall be filed within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of the order requiring a mediated settlement conference entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), and shall state:

- (1) that all parties consent to the motion;
- (2) that the neutral and the parties have agreed upon the selection and all terms of compensation of the neutral selected;
- (3) the name, address and telephone number of the neutral selected by the parties;
- (4) the names of all persons and entities the parties have agreed to excuse from attending the proceeding; and
- (5) such other information as may be required by the Commission.

If the parties are unable to agree to the selection of a neutral or the persons excused from attending, then the Commission shall deny the motion for authorization to use a neutral evaluation procedure and the parties shall attend the mediated settlement conference as originally ordered by the Commission. If the parties are able to timely agree on the above matters, then the Commission may order the use of a neutral evaluation proceeding. Provided, however, that the Commission will not order the use of a neutral evaluation proceeding in any case in which the plaintiff is not represented by counsel.

(j) Cases involving plaintiffs not represented by counsel. Unless an unrepresented plaintiff requests that the plaintiff's case be mediated, the Commission shall enter an order dispensing with mediation. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 2. Selection of mediator.

(a) By agreement of parties. The parties may choose a mediator by agreement within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days after the Commission's order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), unless otherwise specified therein, subject to the Commission's authority to remove the mediator selected by the parties for specific reasonable cause. The mediator selected shall either meet the qualifications specified in Rule 8, or be a person who, in the opinion of the parties, is otherwise qualified by training or experience to mediate all or some of the issues in the action. Such stipulation may be transmitted by either party, shall be dated as of the date it is transmitted to the Commission, and the stipulation must be received by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of the mediation order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), and shall include the name, address and telephone number of the mediator selected by agreement, shall state whether the mediator is certified by the Dispute Resolution Commission, and if not, whether the mediator is a member of the Bar and/or has any other certification, training or experience pertinent to his or her ability to mediate a case. The 21 or 55 day deadline may be extended by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator upon request of the parties.

(b) Appointment by commission. If the parties fail to notify the Commission of their selection of a mediator within 55 days of the filing of a Form 33 Request for Hearing, or otherwise within 21 days of a mediation order entered pursuant to Rules 1(c) and 1(d), as set forth above, the Commission shall appoint a mediator to hold a mediated settlement conference in that case. The Commission shall appoint mediators from a list of mediators eligible for appointment maintained by the Commission which shall consist of those mediators who attain the qualifications in Rule 8 and request inclusion on such list. In the absence of any suggestions by the parties with regard to the appointment of mediators, mediators shall generally be selected for specific cases by random order or by a system which attempts to assign each mediator to an equal number of cases over a period of time, unless the Commission determines in its discretion that, because of unusual circumstances, a particular mediator should be chosen in a particular case.

If the parties request the approval of a selected mediator after the appointment of another mediator by the Commission, the Commission may require one or more of the parties, or other responsible person(s), to pay a substitution of mediator fee to the Commission of up to $100.00.

(c) Mediator's list. To assist parties in the selection of mediators by agreement, the Commission shall maintain a list of mediators eligible for appointment by the Commission in compensation and tort cases, and a list of mediators who are not eligible for appointment, but who may be selected by the parties and approved by the Commission. The Commission shall provide copies of these lists to parties on request, and may charge a reasonable fee for maintaining and distributing these lists.

(d) Disqualification of mediator. Any party may move the Commission for an order disqualifying a mediator. For good cause, such order shall be entered. If the mediator is disqualified, an order shall be entered for the selection of a replacement mediator pursuant to Rule 2. Nothing in this provision shall preclude mediators from disqualifying themselves. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 3. The mediated conference.

(a) Where conference is to be held. Unless all parties and the mediator otherwise agree, the mediated settlement conference shall be held in the county where the case is pending. The mediator shall be responsible for reserving a place and making arrangements for the conference and for giving timely notice to all attorneys and unrepresented parties of the time and location of the conference.

(b) When conference is to be held. Subject to the Commission's orders, the conference shall be held at the time agreed to by the parties and the mediator, or if the parties do not agree, at the time specified by the mediator.

(c) Request to extend date of completion. A party, or the mediator, may request that the Commission extend the deadline for completion of the conference. The Commission may grant the request and extend the completion deadline orally or by written order.

(d) Recesses. The mediator may recess the conference at any time and may set times for reconvening. No further notification is required for persons present at the recessed conference.

(e) The mediated settlement conference is not to delay other proceedings. A mediated settlement conference shall not be cause for the delay of other proceedings in the case, including completion of discovery, and the filing or hearing of motions except by order of the Commission. However, no depositions shall be taken following a Commission order requiring mediation until mediation is concluded, except by agreement of the parties or order of the Commission.

(f) Inadmissibility of mediation proceedings. Evidence of statements made and conduct occurring in a mediation conference shall not be subject to discovery and shall be inadmissible in any proceeding in the action or other actions on the same claim. However, no evidence otherwise discoverable shall be inadmissible merely because it is presented or discussed in a mediation conference.

No mediator shall be compelled to testify or produce evidence concerning statements made and conduct occurring in a settlement proceeding in any civil proceeding for any purpose, except proceedings for sanctions under this section, disciplinary proceedings of the State Bar, disciplinary proceedings of any agency established to enforce standards of conduct for mediators or other neutrals, and proceedings to enforce laws concerning juvenile or elder abuse. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 4. Duties of parties, representatives, and attorneys.

(a) Attendance. The following persons shall physically attend a mediated settlement conference:

(1) Parties.

(A) All individual parties;

(B) Employers. In a workers' compensation case, a representative of the employer at the time of injury is required to attend only if (1) the employer, instead of or in addition to the insurance company or administrator, has decision-making authority with respect to settlement, or (2) the employer is offering the claimant employment and the suitability of that employment is in issue, or (3) the employer and the claimant have agreed to simultaneously mediate non-compensation issues arising from the injury, or (4) the Commission orders the employer representative to attend the mediation conference.

(C) Any party that is not a natural person or a governmental entity shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has been authorized to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle the action; and

(D) Any party that is a governmental entity shall be represented at the conference by an employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel or Attorney General's Office counsel responsible for the case and who has authority to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle the action; provided, if under law, proposed settlement terms can be approved only by a board, the representative shall authority to negotiate on behalf of the party and to make a recommendation to that board.

(2) Attorneys. The parties' counsel of record; provided, that appearance by counsel does not dispense with or waive the required attendance of the parties listed above;

(3) Insurance company representatives. A representative of each defendant's primary workers' compensation or liability insurance carrier or self-insured which may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action. Each such carrier or self-insured shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has the authority to make a decision on behalf of such carrier or self-insured or who has been authorized to negotiate on behalf of such carrier or self-insured and can promptly communicate during the conference with persons who have such decision making authority; and

(4) Other parties and persons. By order of the Commission other representatives of parties, employers or, carriers obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action not required to attend the conference pursuant to the above rules may be required to attend the conference if the Commission determines that the person's attendance may be necessary for purposes of resolving the matters in dispute in the subject action. All (i) employers and (ii) carriers who may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action and who are not required to attend a mediation conference pursuant to these rules or Commission orders, are nevertheless allowed to attend the mediation conference if they elect to do so. If, during a mediation conference, the mediator determines that the attendance of one or more additional persons is necessary to resolve the matters in dispute in the subject action, the mediator may recess the conference, and then reconvene the conference at a later date and time in order to allow for the attendance of the additional person or persons.

(b) Waiver of attendance requirement.

(1) Any party or person required to attend a mediated settlement conference shall physically attend until an agreement is reduced to writing and signed as provided in Rule 4(d), or an impasse has been declared. Any such party or person may have the attendance requirement excused or modified, including the allowance of that party's or person's participation without physical attendance:

(A) In the absence of an order by the Dispute Resolution Coordinator, only by agreement of all parties and persons required to attend and the mediator; or

(B) By order of the Dispute Resolution Coordinator, upon motion of a party and notice to all parties and persons required to attend and the mediator

(2) Appearance by telephone: The Dispute Resolution Coordinator or the mediator, with the consent of the parties, may in appropriate cases allow a party or insurance carrier representative who is required to attend a mediated settlement conference under these rules to attend by telephone, conference call or speaker telephone, at the discretion of the mediator, provided that the person(s) so attending shall bear all costs of such telephone calls, that the mediator may communicate directly with the insurance representative with regard to the matters discussed in mediation, and that the mediator may set a subsequent conference at which all persons will be required to physically attend. The failure to properly appear by telephone in accordance with this rule may subject the responsible party to sanctions pursuant to Rule 5.

(c) Notice of mediation order: Within seven days after the receipt of an order for Mediated Settlement Conference, the carrier or self-insured named in the order shall provide a copy of the order to the employer and all other carriers which may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the workers' compensation case or any related third-party tortfeasor claims, and shall provide the mediator and the other parties in the action with the name, address and telephone number of all such carriers.

(d) Finalizing agreement. If an agreement is reached in the mediation conference, the parties shall reduce the agreement to writing, specifying all the terms of their agreement bearing on the resolution of the dispute before the Industrial Commission, and sign it along with their counsel. By stipulation of the parties and at their expense, the agreement may be electronically or stenographically recorded. All agreements for payment of compensation shall be submitted in proper form for Industrial Commission approval, and shall be filed with the Commission within 20 days of the conclusion of the mediation conference.

(e) Payment of mediator's fee. The mediator's fee shall be paid at the conclusion of the settlement conference, unless otherwise provided by Rule 7, or by agreement with the Mediator. Sanctions may be assessed if the mediator's fee is not paid in a timely fashion.

(f) Related cases. Upon application by any party or person, the Commission may order that an attorney or record, party or representative of an insurance carrier that may be liable for all or any part of a claim pending in an Industrial Commission case shall, upon reasonable notice, attend a mediated settlement conference that may be convened in another pending case, regardless of the forum in which the other case may be pending, provided that all parties in the other pending case consent to the attendance ordered pursuant to this rule. Any disputed issuers concerning such an order shall be addressed to the Commission's Dispute Resolution Coordinator. Unless otherwise ordered, any attorney, party or carrier representative that properly attends a mediated settlement conference pursuant to this rule shall not be required to pay any of the mediation fees or costs related to that mediation conference. Requests that a party, attorney of record, or insurance carrier representative in a related case attend a mediated settlement conference in an Industrial Commission case shall be addressed to the court or agency in which the related case is pending, provided that all parties in the Industrial Commission case consent to the requested attendance. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 5. Sanctions.

If a person or party whose attendance is required by Rule 4 fails to attend, or cancels without Commission approval, a duly ordered mediated settlement conference without good cause, or otherwise violates these rules without good cause, the Commission may impose upon the party or his principal any lawful sanction, including but not limited to the payment of attorneys' fees, mediator fees and expenses incurred by persons attending the conference, contempt, or any other sanction authorized by Rule 37(b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure. Any sanctions that may be assessed against a party under these rules including, but not limited to, mediation conference postponement fees and sanctions for the unauthorized cancellation or failure to appear at a mediation conference, may be assessed against the party or the party's principal or attorney depending on whose conduct necessitated the assessment of sanctions. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 6. Authority and duties of mediators.

(a) Authority of mediator.

(1) Control of conference. The mediator shall at all times be in control of the conference and the procedures to be followed. Except as set forth in these rules, there shall be no audio, video, electronic or stenographic record made of the negotiations or discussions that occur at the mediated settlement conference.

(2) Private consultation. The mediator may meet and consult privately with any party or parties or their counsel prior to or during the conference. The fact that private communications have occurred with a participant shall be disclosed to all other participants at the beginning of the conference.

(3) Scheduling the conference. The mediator shall make a good faith effort to schedule the conference at a time that is convenient with the parties, attorneys and mediator. In the absence of agreement, the mediator shall select the date for the conference.

(b) Duties of mediator.

(1) Information to the parties. The mediator shall define and describe the following to the parties at the beginning of the conference:

(A) The process of mediation;

(B) The differences between mediation and other forms of conflict resolution;

(C) The costs of the mediated settlement conference;

(D) The facts that the mediated settlement conference is not a trial or hearing, the mediator is not acting in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, the mediator will not act in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner in the subject case at any time in the future, and the parties retain their right to a hearing if they do not reach a settlement;

(E) The circumstances under which the mediator may meet alone with either of the parties or with any other person;

(F) Whether and under what conditions communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference;

(G) The inadmissibility of conduct and statements as provided by Rule 408 of the Evidence Code and Rule 3(f) above;

(H) The duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the parties; and,

(I) The fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent of the parties.

(2) Disclosure. The mediator has a duty to be impartial and to advise all parties of any circumstances bearing on possible bias, prejudice or partiality.

(3) Declaring impasse. It is the duty of the mediator to timely determine when mediation is not viable, that an impasse exists, or that mediation should end.

(4) Reporting results of conference. In all cases within the Commission's jurisdiction, whether mediated voluntarily or pursuant to an order of the Commission, the mediator shall report the results of the conference on a form provided by the Commission. If an agreement was reached, the report shall state whether the issue or matter under mediation will be resolved by Industrial Commission form agreement, compromise settlement agreement, other settlement agreement, voluntary dismissal or removal from the hearing docket, and shall identify the persons designated to file or submit for approval such agreement, or dismissal. A copy of the Commission's Report of Mediator form is attached to these rules as Addendum A. The mediator shall not attach a copy of the parties' memorandum of agreement to the mediator's report transmitted to the Commission and, except as set forth above or as may be ordered by the Commission, the mediator shall not disclose the terms of settlement in the mediator's report. The Commission may require the mediator to provide statistical data for evaluation of the mediated settlement conference program on forms provided by the Commission.

(5) Scheduling and holding the conference. It is the duty of the mediator to schedule the conference, in consultation with the parties, and conduct it prior to the conference completion deadline set out in the Commission's order, and prior to the date of any hearing before a Deputy Commissioner if the case is scheduled for hearing after the mediator is appointed. Deadlines for completion of the conference shall be strictly observed by the mediator unless said time limits are changed by the Commission.

(6) Standards of Conduct. All mediators conducting mediation conferences pursuant to these rules shall adhere to the Standards of Conduct for Mediators adopted by the N.C. Dispute Resolution Commission. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 7. Compensation of the mediator.

(a) By agreement. When the mediator is stipulated to by the parties, compensation shall be as agreed upon between the parties and the mediator.

(b) By commission order. When the mediator is appointed by the Commission, the mediator's compensation shall be as follows.

(1) Conference Fees. The mediator shall be paid by the parties at the rate of $125.00 per hour for mediation services at the conference.

(2) Administrative Fees. The parties shall pay to the mediator a one time, per case administrative fee of $125.00, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission. The mediator's administrative fee shall be paid in full unless, within 10 days after the date that the mediator has been appointed, written notice is given to the mediator and the Dispute Resolution Coordinator that the issues for which a request for hearing had been filed have been fully resolved or the hearing request has been withdrawn.

(3) Postponement Fees. As used herein, the term "postpone" shall mean to reschedule or otherwise not proceed with a scheduled mediation conference after that conference has been scheduled to convene on a specific date. After a conference is scheduled to convene on a specific date it may not be postponed without the requesting party first notifying all other parties concerning the grounds for the requested postponement, or without the consent and approval of the mediator or the Dispute Resolution Coordinator. If a mediation conference is postponed without good cause, or as a result of a settlement, within seven days of a mediation conference, the mediator shall be paid a postponement fee unless, upon application of the party or parties charged with the fee, the fee is waived by the Commission. Unless the Commission otherwise orders, the postponement fee shall be $225.00 if the mediation conference is postponed within three days of the scheduled conference, and $125.00 if the mediation conference is postponed four to seven days prior to a scheduled conference. Postponement fees shall be paid in equal shares by the party or parties requesting the postponement unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(c) Payment by parties. Payment shall be due upon completion of the conference; provided, that the State shall be billed at the conference and pay within 30 days of receipt of the billing, and insurance companies or carriers whose written procedures do not provide for payment of the mediator at the conference may pay within 15 days of the conference. Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties or ordered by the Commission, costs of the mediated settlement conference shall be allocated to the parties, as follows: one share by plaintiff(s); one share by the workers' compensation defendant-employer or its insurer, or if more than one employer or carrier is involved, or if there is a dispute between employer(s) or carrier(s), one share by each separately represented entity; one share by participating third-party tort defendants or their carrier, or if there are conflicting interests among them, one share from each such defendant or group of defendants having shared interests; and, one share by the defendant State agency in a State Tort Claims Act case. Parties obligated to pay a share of the costs shall be responsible for equal shares; provided, however, that in workers' compensation claims the defendant shall pay the plaintiff's share, as well as its own, and the defendant shall be reimbursed for the plaintiff's share when the case is concluded from benefits that may be determined to be due to the plaintiff, and the defendant may withhold funds from any award for this purpose. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 8. Mediator certification and decertification.

(a) Party selection. The parties may select any person as their mediator by mutual consent, with or without the qualifications in (b); provided, that the Commission may, for good cause, bar any persons from holding themselves out as a mediator of cases within its jurisdiction or from receiving a fee for mediation of such cases.

(b) Appointment of mediators. If parties have agreed or been ordered to mediate, and cannot agree on the selection of a mediator, the Commission shall appoint a mediator from a list of persons who hold current certification from the Dispute Resolution Commission that they are qualified to carry out mandatory mediations in the Superior Courts of the State, and who have filed a declaration with the Commission, on forms provided by it, stating that:

(1) If an attorney, that declarant remains a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar;

(2) The declarant agrees to accept and perform mediations of disputes before the Commission with reasonable frequency when called upon for the fees and at the rates of payment specified by the Commission;

(3) If the declarant desires to be appointed by the Commission to mediate workers' compensation cases, that he or she has completed N.C. State Bar approved continuing legal education course(s) on workers' compensation law during the previous two years totalling not less than six hours.

A mediator making such declaration shall immediately notify the Commission when any of the facts declared are no longer accurate. The Commission may require a new declaration on a periodic or intermittent basis. The Commission shall delete from such lists any mediator whose certification from the Dispute Resolution Commission has expired or been revoked. The Commission may charge an administrative fee to defray the costs of maintaining said lists and referring cases to mediators.

(c) Mediator lists. The Commission may maintain and provide to parties separate lists of mediators who have successfully completed mediation training certified by the Dispute Resolution Commission, and who desire to hold mediations in disputes arising under the Workers' Compensation Act and the State Tort Claims Act.

(d) Failure of Mediator to Appear at Conference. In the event that a mediator fails to appear at a scheduled mediation conference without good cause the mediator shall not be entitled to the administrative fee for the case and may be deleted from the Commission's list of mediators qualified for appointments for a period of six months. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 9. Rules for neutral evaluation.

(a) Nature of neutral evaluation. Neutral evaluation is an informal, abbreviated presentation of facts and issues by the parties to an evaluator at an early stage of the case. The neutral evaluator is responsible for evaluating the strengths and weaknesses of the case, providing a candid assessment of liability, settlement value, and a dollar value or range of potential awards if the case proceeds to a hearing. The evaluator is also responsible for identifying areas of agreement and disagreement and suggesting necessary and appropriate discovery.

(b) When conference is to be held. The provisions applicable to the scheduling of mediation conferences set forth in Rule 3(b) shall also be applicable to neutral evaluation proceedings.

(c) Pre-conference submissions. No later than 15 days prior to the date established for the neutral evaluation conference to begin, each party may, but is not required to, furnish the evaluator with written information about the case, and shall at the same time certify to the evaluator that they served a copy of such summary on all other parties to the case. The information provided to the evaluator and the other parties hereunder shall be a summary of the significant facts and issues in the party's case, shall not be more than 10 pages in length, and shall have attached to it copies of any documents supporting the parties' summary. Information provided to the evaluator and to the other parties pursuant to this paragraph shall not be filed with the Commission.

(d) Replies to pre-conference submissions. No later than five days prior to the date established for the neutral evaluation conference to begin, any party may, but is not required to, send additional written information not exceeding five pages in length to the evaluator, responding to the submission of an opposing party. The response shall be served on all other parties and the party sending such response shall certify such service to the evaluator, but such response shall not be filed with the Commission.

(e) Conference procedure. Prior to a neutral evaluation conference, the evaluator, if he or she deems it necessary, may request additional written information from any party. At the conference, the evaluator may address questions to the parties and give them an opportunity to complete their summaries with a brief oral statement.

(f) Modification of procedure. Subject to the approval of the evaluator, the parties may agree to modify the procedures required by these rules for neutral evaluation, or such procedures may be modified by order of the Commission. The modified procedures may include the presentation of submissions in writing or by telephone in lieu of the physical appearance at a neutral evaluation conference, and may also include revisions to the time periods and page limitations concerning the parties' submissions.

(g) Evaluator's duties.

(1) Evaluator's opening statement. At the beginning of the conference the evaluator shall define and describe the following points to the parties:

(A) The facts that the neutral evaluation conference is not a hearing, the evaluator is not acting in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, the neutral will not act in the capacity of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner in the subject case at any time in the future, the evaluator's opinions are not binding on any party, and the parties retain their right to a hearing if they do not reach a settlement.

(B) The fact that any settlement reached will be only by mutual consent of the parties.

(C) The process of the proceeding;

(D) The differences between the proceeding and other forms of conflict resolution;

(E) The costs of the proceeding;

(F) The inadmissibility of conduct and statements as provided by Rule 408 of the Evidence Code and Rule 3(f) above; and

(G) The duties and responsibilities of the neutral and the participants.

(2) Oral report to parties by evaluator. In addition to the written report to the Commission required under these rules, at the conclusion of the neutral evaluation conference the evaluator shall issue an oral report to the parties advising them of his or her opinions of the case. Such opinion shall include a candid assessment of liability, estimated settlement values and options, the strengths and weaknesses of the parties claims and defenses if the case proceeds to a hearing. The oral report shall also contain a suggested settlement or disposition of the case and the reasons therefor. The evaluator shall not reduce his or her oral report to writing, and shall not inform the Commission thereof.

(3) Report of evaluator to Commission. Within 10 days after the completion of the neutral evaluation conference, the evaluator shall submit to the Dispute Resolution Coordinator a written report using a form prepared and distributed by the Commission, stating when and where the conference was held, the names of those persons who attended the conference, whether or not an agreement was reached by the parties, whether the issue or matter will be resolved by Industrial Commission form agreement, compromise settlement agreement, other settlement agreement, voluntary dismissal or removal from the hearing docket, and shall identify the persons designated to file or submit for approval such agreement, or dismissal. The Commission may require the neutral to provide statistical data for evaluation of the settlement conference programs on forms provided by the Commission.

(h) Evaluator's authority to assist negotiations. If all parties at the neutral evaluation conference request and agree, the evaluator may assist the parties in settlement discussions. If the parties do not reach a settlement during such discussions, however, the evaluator shall complete the neutral evaluation conference and make his or her written report to the Commission as if such settlement discussions had not occurred.

(i) Finalizing agreement. If before the conclusion of the neutral evaluation conference and the evaluator's report to the Commission the parties are able to reach an agreement, the parties shall reduce the agreement to writing, specifying all the terms of their agreement bearing on the resolution of the dispute before the Commission, and sign it along with their counsel. By stipulation of the parties and at their expense, the agreement may be electronically or stenographically recorded. All agreements for payment of compensation shall be submitted in proper form for Commission approval, and shall be filed with the Commission within 20 days of the conclusion of the mediation conference.

(j) Applicability of mediation rules and duties. All provisions and duties applicable to mediation settlement conferences set forth in Rules 3 through 7 of these rules which are not in conflict with the provisions and duties of Rule 9 herein shall be incorporated by reference and shall be applicable to neutral evaluation conferences conducted under these rules.

(k) Ex parte communications prohibited. Unless all parties agree otherwise, there shall be no ex parte communication prior to the conclusion of the proceeding between the neutral and any counsel or party on any matter related to the proceeding except with regard to administrative matters.

(1) Adherence to standards of conduct for neutrals. All neutrals conducting neutral evaluation conferences pursuant to these rules shall adhere to any applicable standards of conduct which may be adopted by the N.C. Dispute Resolution Commission. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 10. Waiver of rules.

In the interest of justice, or to comply with the law from time to time as it may be amended or declared, the Commission may waive any requirement of these rules. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

Rule 11. Motions.

Unless otherwise indicated, motions pursuant to these rules shall be addressed to the Commission's Dispute Resolution Coordinator (unless the applicable order provides otherwise) and served on all parties to the claim and the settlement procedure. Responses may be filed with the Commission within 10 days after the date of receipt of the motion. Notwithstanding the Commission may act upon oral motions, or act upon motions prior to the expiration of the 10 day response period. Motions will be decided without oral argument unless otherwise ordered. Any appeals from orders issued pursuant to a motion under these rules shall be addressed to the attention of the Commission Chair or the Chair's designee for appropriate action. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998; Amended effective June 1, 2000.)

Rule 12. Miscellaneous.

Throughout these rules any reference to the number of days within which any act may be performed shall mean and refer to calendar days, and shall include Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays. Provided, however, that if the last day (a) to file a motion, (b) to give notice of the selection of a mediator, or (c) for a pro se plaintiff to give notice that the plaintiff requests mediation is a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, the motion or notice may be filed or given on the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. (Effective January 1, 1990; Amended effective August 20, 1998.)

RULES OF THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION RELATING TO THE LAW-ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS', FIREMEN'S, RESCUE SQUAD WORKERS' AND CIVIL AIR PATROL MEMBERS' DEATH BENEFITS ACT

(Pursuant to authority contained in G.S. 143-166.4, the North Carolina Industrial Commission hereby adopts the following rules:)

Rule

- I. Location of offices and hours of business.
- II. Transaction of business by the Commission.
- III. Determination of claims by the Industrial Commission.

Rule

- IV. Appeal to the Full Commission.
- V. Amendment of rules.
- Index follows Rules.

Rule I. Location of offices and hours of business.

The offices of the Industrial Commission are located in the Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, in Raleigh, North Carolina. The same office hours as are or may be observed by other State offices in Raleigh will be observed by the Industrial Commission.

(The effective date of this rule is November 1, 1977.)

Rule II. Transaction of business by the Commission.

The Commission will remain in continuous session subject to the call of the Chairman to meet as a body for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before it.

Rule III. Determination of claims by the Industrial Commission.

1. Upon application or request to the Industrial Commission for an award under the provisions of the Law-Enforcement Officers', Firemen's, Rescue Squad Workers' and Civil Air Patrol Members' Death Benefits Act, the Full Commission will determine whether sufficient information or evidence is contained in the Commission's workers' compensation or other files upon which to base an Order for the payment of benefits. If the Full Commission is satisfied that such an Order should be issued, it will, without conducting a formal hearing, file an appropriate Award directing the payment of benefits.

The Full Commission, on joint request of the interested parties or for good cause shown, may in its discretion, order or approve a settlement for less than the maximum amount set forth in G.S. 143-166.3.

2. If the Full Commission is of the opinion that it has insufficient information or evidence before it upon which basis an award for the payment of benefits should be issued, the Full Commission will place the case upon the Commission's hearing docket in the county where the incident giving rise to the death is alleged to have occurred. The case will thereafter be set for hearing before a Hearing Commissioner or Hearing Deputy Commissioner in such county or in such other county as the Full Commission may direct, due notice of the hearing being given to all parties and to the Attorney General of the State of North Carolina who may appear as amicus curiae.

3. The Hearing Commissioner or Hearing-Deputy Commissioner before whom the case is set for hearing, in his discretion, may order the parties to appear at a reasonable time and place for a pre-trial hearing to determine such matters as he deems necessary. The Hearing Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner will, having received all evidence pertinent to the case, thereafter proceed to file a Decision and Award in the case in which benefits are awarded or denied. Such Decision will be sent to all parties.

4. The Commission may, of its own motion, order a rehearing of any case.

5. The Commission will give reasonable notice of hearing in every case. Postponement or continuance of a scheduled hearing will rest entirely in the discretion of the Commission.

6. In all cases where it is suitable that infants or incompetents sue by their guardian ad litem, the Commission will appoint such guardian ad litem upon the written application of a reputable disinterested person closely connected with such infant or incompetent. But, if such person will not apply, then, upon the like application of some reputable citizen; and the Commission will make such appointment only after due inquiry as to the fitness of the person to be appointed.

7. Any claimant who gives to the opposing party or an agent of that party a written or recorded statement of the facts and circumstances surrounding his claim shall be furnished by the opposing party a copy of such statement within ten days upon request. Further, any claimant who has given such a statement shall, without request, be furnished by the opposing party a copy thereof immediately following a denial of his claim or no less than ten days prior to a pending hearing.

Such copy shall be furnished at the expense of the party to whom the statement was given.

If any party fails to comply with this rule, then an Order may be entered by the hearing officer prohibiting that party from introducing designated matters into evidence.

8. In the absence of written notice of appeal from the Decision and Award filed in such a case by the Hearing Commissioner or Hearing Deputy Commissioner within fifteen days from receipt of such award, the award as filed will be binding on the parties.

(The effective date of this rule is August 1, 1979.)

Rule IV. Appeal to the Full Commission.

1. In any case in which Decision is filed by Hearing Commissioner or Hearing Deputy Commissioner, appeal may be made to the Full Commission by giving written notice of appeal to the Commission within fifteen days from receipt of the Decision, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties.

2. Upon receipt of notice of appeal, the Commission will supply to the appellant and to appellee a transcript of the record upon which is based the Decision and Award from which appeal is being taken to the Full Commission. The appellant shall, within ten days of receipt of transcript of the record, file with the Commission a written statement of the particular grounds for the appeal, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties, unless such statement of grounds, in the discretion of the Commission, is waived.

Particular grounds for appeal not set forth will be deemed to be abandoned and argument thereon will not be heard before the Full Commission.

A nonappealing party is not required to file conditional assignments of error in order to preserve his rights for possible further appeals.

3. When an appeal is made to the Full Commission, appellant's brief, if any, in support of his ground for appeal shall be filed in triplicate with the Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on appellee no less than 25 days after receipt of the transcript of the hearing. Appellee shall have 25 days in which to file reply brief, if any, in triplicate with the Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties.

Any motions by either party shall be filed in triplicate with the Full Commission, with written statement of service of copy by mail or in person on opposing party or parties.

4. No new evidence will be presented to or heard by the Full Commission.

5. Ruling on a motion for a new hearing to take additional evidence will be governed by the general law of the State for the granting of new trials on the grounds of newly discovered evidence. Such motion must be written, supported by affidavit, and may be argued before the Full Commission at the time of the hearing on appeal.

6. The parties, or either of them, may waive oral argument before the Full Commission. In the event of such waiver, a Decision based on the record, exceptions, and briefs, if any, will be given by the Full Commission.

Rule V. Amendment of rules.

The Commission reserves the right, in its discretion, to amend its Rules at any time, with or without notice. Copies of the Rules are on file at the Office of the Secretary of State and at the Office of the Attorney General, and may be obtained therefrom in the usual manner.

NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION RULES FOR MANAGED CARE ORGANIZATIONS

Effective January 1, 1996.

Rule

I. Purpose.

II. Definitions.

III. Qualification by Department of Insurance.

IV. Qualification and revocation.

V. Notice to Commission.

VI. Contract provisions.

Rule

VII. Information for employee/patient.

VIII. Inclusive provider panels.

IX. Quality assurance and utilization review.

X. Waiver.

Index follows Rules.

Rule I. Purpose.

These rules are intended to facilitate the timely and cost-effective delivery of appropriate medical compensation services to fulfill the employer's duty to provide such services as are reasonably necessary to effect a cure, give relief, or shorten the period of disability resulting from compensable injuries through the use of Managed Care Organizations (MCOs). These rules do not affect existing, informal lists or "employer networks" of providers assembled by employers or insurers for their own referrals. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-2(19), (20) and (21); 97-25; 97-25.2; 97-25.3(e); 97-26(b), (c), and (g); and 97-25.4(a).

Rule II. Definitions.

As used in these rules, unless context otherwise dictates:

(1) Managed care organization (MCO). A preferred provider organization (PPO) or a health maintenance organization (HMO) regulated under Chapter 58 of the General Statutes. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-2(21) and 58-50-50.

(2) Health care provider (provider). Any medical doctor, chiropractor, other physician, hospital, pharmacy, nurse, dentist, podiatrist, physical therapist, rehabilitation specialist, psychologist and any other person or firm providing medical care pursuant to the Workers' Compensation Act. Payment for services rendered for a workers' compensation patient shall be controlled by contract between the provider and MCO, or if none, by the Commission's Medical Fee Schedules. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-2(20); 97-26(b) and (c).

(3) Employer. Any person, firm, corporation, or governmental entity obligated by the Workers' Compensation Act to pay or provide indemnity or medical compensation, including any insurance carrier, self-insurance fund, third party administrator or other person, firm or corporation undertaking to pay or adjust claims on behalf of the employer's employees. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-2(3) and 97-25.2.

(4) Commission. The North Carolina Industrial Commission and its employees acting on its behalf. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-77 and 97-79.

(5) Workers' compensation act. The North Carolina Workers' Compensation Act, Chapter 97, Article 1 (N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-1 — 97-101), as interpreted and applied by the rules and decisions of the Commission and the courts of North Carolina and the United States.

(6) Employer network. As used in Rule I., means any group of providers assembled by or for an entity liable for medical compensation which agrees to accept the referrals of that entity's workers' compensation patients, and from among whom an adjuster, officer, employee, or insured patient of the entity chooses the initial provider; provided, the entity has no right to sell the services of the providers to a third party. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.

Rule III. Qualification by Department of Insurance.

Prior to provision of any service for workers' compensation patients pursuant to an MCO contract with any employer, an MCO shall comply with the applicable requirements of N.C. Gen. Stat. Chapter 58, Insurance, and the regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, in addition to these rules, except as they may be interpreted to specifically conflict with the Workers' Compensation Act and these rules; provided, that MCOs with such existing contracts on the effective date of these rules shall comply with this rule on or before February 1, 1996. In the absence of effective and binding regulations administered by the N.C. Department of Insurance setting appropriate and sufficient requirements and standards for health care provider contracts, accessibility of providers, financial ability to meet contract commitments, quality management or quality assurance programs, health care provider credentialing, conflicts of interest, records and examinations, internal auditing, confidentiality and other appropriate matters, every MCO offering medical compensation services shall comply with temporary orders or provisional regulations issued by the Commission, consonant with the Workers Compensation Act, pending further formal rulemaking by the Commission or the Department of Insurance. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 7-2(21) and 97-25.2.

Rule IV. Qualification and revocation.

Upon receipt of documents complying with Rule V., nothing otherwise appearing, the Commission will issue a letter to the MCO acknowledging receipt and stating that the MCO is qualified to contract to serve workers compensation patients while it holds an MCO certificate from the Department of Insurance, subject to renewal at a specified time, not exceeding three (3) years. For good cause, including, but not limited to, ineffective delivery of medical services, failure to comply with applicable laws, rules or regulations, and failure to timely respond to lawful orders of the Commission or other regulatory authorities, the Commission may suspend or revoke an MCO's permission to deal with any particular workers' compensation patients, employers or providers, groups or classes of them, or all of them. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2.

Rule V. Notice to Commission.

Upon contracting with an employer to provide medical compensation services, the MCO shall provide to the Commission (1) a copy of that portion of the contract containing the provisions specified in Rule VI, and the method for determining payment to the MCO, excluding those of its terms kept confidential by the N.C. Department of Insurance, initialed by the employer; (2) a copy of its current certificate(s) issued annually by the N.C. Department of Insurance pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. Chapter 58; (3) the name and address of all owners or shareholders, or related groups of owners or shareholders, holding more than 10% interest in the MCO, and whether they are or have any relationship with a provider. Persons or firms are related, for the purposes of this rule, if either has a financial interest in the other; shares officers, agents, or employees; or, if natural persons, are first cousins or closer in kinship. An MCO subject to these rules shall report its medical compensation expenditures annually on I.C. Form 51. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2.

Rule VI. Contract provisions.

An MCO's contract with an employer subject to these rules shall include these provisions: (1) the principal place(s) of employment of the covered employees, including address(es) and phone number(s) of the workplace(s); (2) the name, title, mailing address, phone number, fax number, and e-mail address, if any, of an officer or responsible employee of the MCO empowered to assent to the treatment or referral of covered employees, capable of obtaining and providing complete business, administrative and medical records generated pursuant to the contract, and empowered to resolve routine disputes with patients, employers and providers under the Commission's jurisdiction; (3) the name, title, mailing address, phone number, fax number, and e-mail address, if any, of an adjuster, officer, agent or employee of the employer empowered to negotiate the resolution of routine medical compensation disputes, and receive orders of the Commission on behalf of the employer; (4) an acknowledgment that the MCO is bound by applicable requirements of N.C. Gen. Stat. Chapters 58 and 97 and these rules, and subject to orders of the Commission to the same extent as the employer; (5) the agreement of the employer that it will cooperate and actively assist in furnishing its employees and supervisors with a phone number and instructions for obtaining emergency treatment and/or contacting the MCO upon injury to any employee during the workday or on the employer's premises requiring physician attention, and with furnishing to its injured employees the information and card hereinafter required in Rule VII; (6) specify a dispute resolution plan in accordance with N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2 and 11 N.C. Admin. Code 12.0914, including provisions for notice of decision in appeals within 30 days, or within 72 hours of appeal when the regular appeals process would cause a delay in the rendering of health care that would be detrimental to the health of the employee; (7) describe physician panels, including specialties represented, and the employee's right to select his or her attending physician from the appropriate panel, and to subsequently change attending physicians once within the members of the panel; (8) whether the MCO or employer will be responsible for securing the services of "out of network" providers when needed. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2.

Rule VII. Information for employee/patient.

The employer shall inform employees of its arrangements with an MCO for providing medical compensation through its usual means of communicating company policies and benefit information, and provide a wallet-size card bearing a phone number to be contacted in case of a work-related injury, and otherwise complying with Department of Insurance regulations. As soon as reasonably possible following the injury, the employer or MCO shall provide to the employee a printed explanation of the system being utilized for his care, suitable for sharing with emergency, "out-of-network", and referral physicians, which shall be filed with any Form 19 submitted to the Commission; provided, that electronic filers may otherwise notify the Commission of the identity of the MCO. This statement shall include the following information: (1) The offices to contact concerning medical treatment for the injury, including a telephone number; (2) if known at that time, the employee's chosen treating physician, including a phone number for seeking medical assistance outside normal business hours if the injury might cause such a need; (3) the applicable methods for choosing and changing treating physicians and resolving disputes concerning physicians or treatment pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-25.2; (4) that the MCO can make available physicians in all the fields and specialties licensed by the State of North Carolina; (5) the employer's obligation to pay for treatment for which the employee/patient is referred to the MCO, whether or not the employer admits liability for the injury per N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-90(e); (6) the employee's duty to cooperate in treatment, and right to secure treatment at his or her own expense that does not interfere with the treating physician's treatment; and, (7) the I.C. File Number, if known when filed. Information for providers concerning billing may be included, labeled as such.

Rule VIII. Inclusive provider panels.

As soon as reasonably possible following onset or injury, and upon a patient's first request to change attending physician, the MCO shall provide the patient with a list of reasonably accessible and available panel physicians qualified to treat or manage the primary condition for which the employer has accepted liability or authorized treatment from which the employee may select the attending physician. The employer and MCO shall provide for reasonable access and availability to all medical compensation services, and include in its panels, or otherwise make available for the employee's choice, one or more physicians representing all specialties available in the community that are licensed to provide foreseeably necessary treatment for the patient's primary compensable condition, if a physician of that specialty meets the MCO's reasonable credentialing criteria for that specialty and is willing to contract to provide their services on a non-discriminatory basis. N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-2(19), 97-2(20), 97-25 and 97-25.2.

Rule IX. Quality assurance and utilization review.

An MCO subject to these rules shall comply with the requirements of the N.C. Department of Insurance for quality assurance and utilization review plans, and upon request, provide the Commission with copies of records generated by, or utilized in, the operation of those programs, and copies of plans or amendments to plans not yet filed with the Department of Insurance.

Rule X. Waiver.

For good cause, and in its discretion, subject to statutory requirements, the Commission may waive adherence to any of these Rules. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 97-80(a).

NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL COMMIS- SION RULES FOR UTILIZATION OF REHABILITATION PROFESSIONALS IN WORKERS' COMPENSATION CLAIMS

Effective June 1, 2000.

Rule

- I. Application of the rules.
- II. Purpose of the rules.
- III. Definitions; Description of rehabilitation services.
- IV. Qualifications required.
- V. Professional responsibility of the rehabilitation professional in workers' compensation claims.

Rule

- VI. Communication.
- VII. Interaction with physicians.
- VIII. Return to work.
- IX. Motion for change of RP; Sanctions.
- Index follows Rules.

Rule I. Application of the rules.

A. These rules apply to:

1. All cases in which the employer is obligated to provide or is providing and the injured worker is obligated to accept medical compensation under the Act, or in which such compensation is provided by agreement, and during any period when the employer is paying temporary total disability benefits "without prejudice," and

2. Any Rehabilitation Professional (hereinafter RP) assigned under the Workers' Compensation Act and approved by the Commission pursuant to Section VI. E.

B. Any RP who is not assigned under the Act and approved by the Commission must disclose his or her role to (1) the medical provider at the time of the initial contact and (2) any other person from whom the non-approved RP seeks information about the case.

CASE NOTES

Quoted in Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, — S.E.2d — (1999).

Rule II. Purpose of the rules.

A. The purpose of these rules is to foster professionalism in the provision of rehabilitation services in Industrial Commission cases, such that in all cases the primary concern and commitment of the RP is to the medical and vocational rehabilitation of the injured worker rather than to the personal or pecuniary interests of the parties.

B. To this end, these rules are to be interpreted to promote frank and open cooperation among parties in the rehabilitation process, and to discourage the pursuit of plans or purposes which impede or conflict with the parties' progress toward that goal.

Rule III. Definitions; Description of rehabilitation services.

A. RPs are case managers and coordinators of medical rehabilitation services and/or vocational rehabilitation services, including but not limited to, state, private, or carrier based, whether on site, telephonic, or in or out of state. RPs do not include direct care providers, e.g., physical therapists, occupational therapists, or speech therapists.

B. The “parties” are the worker, the worker’s attorney, the employer, the workers’ compensation carrier (including claims administrator, third party administrator), and the employer or carrier’s attorney(s).

C. “Physician” means medical doctor, chiropractor, other physician, and, where the context requires, other health care providers.

D. “Medical rehabilitation” refers to the planning and coordination of health care services. The goal of medical rehabilitation is to assist in the restoration of injured workers as nearly as possible to the workers’ pre-injury level of physical function. Medical case management may include but is not limited to case assessment, including a personal interview with the injured worker; development, implementation and coordination of a care plan with health care providers and with the worker and family; evaluation of treatment results; planning for community re-entry; return to work with the employer of injury and/or referral for further vocational rehabilitation services.

E. “Vocational Rehabilitation” refers to the delivery and coordination of services under an individualized plan, with the goal of assisting injured workers to return to suitable employment.

(1) Specific vocational rehabilitation services may include, but are not limited to: vocational assessment, vocational exploration, counseling, job analysis, job modification, job development and placement, labor market survey, vocational or psychometric testing, analysis of transferable skills, work adjustment counseling, job-seeking skills training, on-the-job training and retraining, and follow-up after re-employment.

(2) The vocational assessment is based on the RP’s evaluation of the worker’s social, medical, and vocational standing, along with other information significant to employment potential and on a face-to-face interview between the worker and the RP, to determine whether the worker can benefit from vocational rehabilitation services, and, if so, to identify the specific type and sequence of appropriate services. It should include an evaluation of the worker’s expectations in the rehabilitation process, an evaluation of any specific requests by the worker for medical treatment or vocational training, and a statement of the RP’s conclusion regarding the worker’s need for rehabilitation services, benefits expected from services, and a description of the proposed rehabilitation plan.

(3) Job placement activities may be commenced after completion of a vocational assessment and formulation of an individualized plan for vocational services which specifies its goals and the priority for return-to-work options in each case. Placement shall only be directed toward prospective employers offering the opportunity for suitable employment, as defined herein.

F. “Return to work” means placement of the injured worker into suitable employment, as defined herein. Return-to-work options generally should be considered in the following priority:

- (1) Current job, current employer
- (2) New job, current employer
- (3) On-the-job training, current employer
- (4) New job, new employer
- (5) On-the-job training, new employer
- (6) Formal vocational training to prepare worker for job with current or new employer.

(7) Due to the high risk of small business failure, self-employment should be considered only when its feasibility is documented with reference to worker's aptitudes and training, adequate capitalization, and market conditions.

G. "Suitable employment" means employment in the local labor market or self-employment which is reasonably attainable and which offers an opportunity to restore the worker as soon as possible and as nearly as practicable to pre-injury wage, while giving due consideration to the worker's qualifications (age, education, work experience, physical and mental capacities), impairment, vocational interests, and aptitudes. No one factor shall be considered solely in determining suitable employment.

Rule IV. Qualifications required.

A. RPs in cases subject to these rules shall follow the Code of Ethics specific to their certification (i.e. CRC, CDMS, CVE, CRRN, COHN, ONC, and CCM) as well as any status specific to their occupation.

B. RPs who are Registered Nurses must have a North Carolina license to practice and are subject to the requirements of the North Carolina Nursing Practice Act.

C. RPs who are Licensed Professional Counselors are subject to the requirements of the North Carolina Licensed Professional Counselor's Act.

D. RPs rendering services in cases subject to these rules shall meet the following criteria, and shall upon request provide a resume of their qualifications and credentials during initial meetings with parties and health care providers.

(1) Requirements for Qualified Rehabilitation Professionals (QRPs):

a. Two years of full-time work experience, or its equivalent in workers' compensation case management, where a minimum of (30) percent of the time was spent in managing medical and/or vocational rehabilitation services to persons with disabling conditions or diseases. This experience should have been within the past 15 years; AND one of the following credentials, or a similar credential determined by the Industrial Commission as a substantial equivalent thereto:

Certified Rehabilitation Counselor (CRC)
Certified Registered Rehabilitation Nurse (CRRN)
Certified Disability Management Specialist (CDMS)
Certified Vocational Evaluator (CVE)
Certified Occupational Health Nurse (COHN)
Orthopedic Nurse Certified (ONC)
Certified Case Manager (CCM); OR

b. Employed within the North Carolina Department of Human Resources as a Vocational Rehabilitation Provider;

c. The Commission may, through its Minutes, modify the list of credentials contained in subsection (a) above to add or delete appropriate credentials.

(2) Requirements for Conditional Rehabilitation Professionals (CRPs):

a. A CRP is defined as a person who does not meet the requirements for QRP and who wishes to work as an RP in cases subject to this rule, including the following:

i. CRC, CRRN, CDMS, CVE, COHN, ONC, or CCM without the workers' compensation case management experience required;

ii. A post-baccalaureate degree in a health-related field from an accredited institution, plus one year of experience in the provision of rehabilitation services to persons with disabling conditions or diseases,

iii. A baccalaureate degree in a health-related field from an accredited institution, plus two years experience in the provision of rehabilitation services to individuals with disabling conditions or diseases, or

iv. Current North Carolina licensure as a registered nurse and three years experience in clinical nursing providing care for adults with disabling conditions and diseases.

b. In order to work as an RP, a CRP will work under the direct supervision of a QRP until qualifications for a QRP are fulfilled. The supervisor must meet the requirements for providing workers' compensation case management services in North Carolina. Supervision shall include regular case staffing between the CRP and the QRP supervisor, detailed review by the QRP supervisor of all reports, and periodic meetings no less frequently than quarterly. The name, address and telephone number of the supervisor shall be on all documents identifying the CRP. The QRP is responsible to assure that the work of the CRP shall meet all requirements including those of this rule.

c. Once an RP meets certification eligibility requirements, an RP may maintain CRP status for a period of two years only.

CASE NOTES

Stated in Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, — S.E.2d — (1999).

Rule V. Professional responsibility of the rehabilitation professional in workers' compensation claims.

A. The RP shall exercise independent professional judgment in making and documenting recommendations for medical and vocational rehabilitation for the injured worker, including any alternatives for medical treatment and cost-effective return-to-work options including retraining or retirement. The RP shall realize that the attending physician directs the medical care of an injured worker.

B. The RP shall inform the parties of his or her assignment and proposed role in the case. At the outset of the case, the RP shall disclose to health care providers and the parties any possible conflict of interest, including any compensation carrier's or employer's ownership of or affiliation with the RP.

C. Subject to the provisions for medical care and treatment set forth in the Workers' Compensation Act, the medical RP may explain the medical information to the worker, and shall discuss with the worker all treatment options appropriate to the worker's conditions, but shall not advocate any one specific source for treatment or change in treatment.

D. As case consultants or expert witnesses, RPs have an obligation to provide unbiased, objective opinions. The limits of their relationships shall be clearly defined through written or oral means in accordance with CRCC Code of Professional Ethics, Canon 2, Rule 2.4, or through similar provisions in the applicable code of ethics, if any.

E. There may be parts of the rehabilitation process for which an RP may not be qualified. The RP has the responsibility to refrain from those activities which do not fall within his or her qualifications. RPs shall practice only within the boundaries of their competence, based on their education, training, appropriate professional experience, and other professional credentials.

F. Prohibited Conduct:

(1) RPs shall not conduct or assist any party in claims negotiation, investigative activities, or perform any other non-rehabilitation activity;

(2) RPs shall not advise the worker as to any legal matter including claims settlement options or procedures, monetary evaluation of claims, or the applicability to the worker of benefits of any kind under the Workers' Compensation Act. RPs shall advise the nonrepresented worker to direct such questions to the Industrial Commission, and the represented worker to direct questions to his or her attorney.

(3) RPs shall not accept any compensation or reward from any source as a result of settlement.

CASE NOTES

Quoted in Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, — S.E.2d — (1999).

Rule VI. Communication.

A. At their first meeting, RPs shall provide the injured worker with a copy of these rules or a summary of the rules approved by the Commission.

B. RPs shall timely inform injured workers that the RP will share relevant and material information with the employer and insurance carrier and that the RP may be compelled to testify regarding any information obtained.

C. In cases where the employer is paying medical compensation to a provider rendering treatment under the Workers' Compensation Act, the injured worker, if requested by an RP, shall sign a Form 25C Consent authorizing the RP to obtain records of such current treatment. Refusal to sign the consent may be deemed by the Commission to be noncompliance with rehabilitation and may result in the suspension of benefits.

D. In preparing written and oral reports, the RP shall present only information relevant and material to the worker's medical and/or vocational rehabilitation and shall make every effort to avoid undue invasion of privacy.

E. The carrier shall promptly notify the Industrial Commission and all parties on a Form 25N when an RP is assigned to a case and identify the purpose of the rehabilitation involvement.

F. The RP shall provide copies of all correspondence simultaneously to all parties to the extent possible, making every effort to effect prompt service.

G. The RP shall make periodic written reports documenting accurately and completely the substance of all significant activity in the case, including the rehabilitation activity defined above, which reports shall be provided to all parties at the same time. A worker not represented by counsel shall be furnished with a copy of each periodic report, or, in the alternative, the RP shall advise orally or in writing (at least as often as reports are produced) as to the plan for and progress of the case, and shall advise the worker that he or she has the right to request a copy of the reports under Industrial Commission Rule 607.

H. Frequency and timing of periodic reports will be determined at the time of referral and will depend upon the type of service provided. However, prompt communication of significant activity to all parties by telephone, telecopier, electronic media, or letter should occur when information pertinent to the rehabilitation process is obtained, when changes or revisions are recommended or occur in medical or vocational treatment plans, or on any other occasion when the worker's understanding and cooperation is important to the implementation of the rehabilitation plan.

I. Communication with worker's attorney.

(1) The first meeting of the worker and RP shall, if requested, take place at the office of the worker's attorney. If this location is requested, it shall not delay the meeting more than (20) calendar days.

(2) To promote cooperation among the parties, the RP shall coordinate activities with the injured worker's attorney, and, at the employer or carrier's discretion, with the defense attorney. If the RP believes that the worker is not cooperating with the provision of rehabilitation services, the RP shall advise all parties and shall describe what cooperative action on the part of the worker is sought.

CASE NOTES

Communications Between Physician and Rehabilitation Professional. — The fact that a treating physician and a rehabilitation professional have communicated outside the plaintiff's presence without the plaintiff's consent, without more, does not violate the Industrial Commission's rules. Jenkins v. Public Serv. Co. of N.C., 134 N.C. App. 405, 518 S.E.2d 6 (1999), cert. granted, 351 N.C. 106, — S.E.2d — (1999).

Rule VII. Interaction with physicians.

A. At the initial visit with a physician the RP shall provide professional identification and shall explain the RP's role in the case.

B. In all cases, the RP shall advise the worker that he or she has the right to a private examination by the medical provider outside of the presence of the RP. If the worker prefers, he or she may request that the RP accompany him or her during the examination. However, if the worker or the worker's attorney notifies the RP in writing that the worker desires a private examination, no subsequent waiver of that right shall be effective unless the waiver is revoked in writing by the worker or, if represented, by the worker's attorney.

C. If the RP wishes to have a personal conference with the physician following an examination, the RP should reserve with the physician sufficient appointment time for a conference. The worker must be offered the opportunity to attend this conference with the physician. If the worker or the physician does not consent to a joint conference, or if in the physician's opinion it is medically contraindicated for the worker to participate in the conference, the RP will note this in his or her report and may in such case communicate directly with the physician and shall report the substance of the communication.

D. When the RP determines that it is necessary to communicate with a physician other than at a joint meeting, the RP shall first notify the injured worker, or his/her attorney if represented, of the RP's intent to communicate and the reasons therefor. The RP need not obtain the injured worker's or attorney's prior consent for the following types of communication:

1. The communication is limited to scheduling issues or requests for time-sensitive medical records;
2. A medical emergency is involved;
3. The injured worker's health or medical treatment would either be adversely affected by a delay or benefited by immediate action;
4. The communication is limited to advising the physician of the employer or carrier approval for recommended testing or treatment;
5. The injured worker or attorney has consented to such communications through a valid, current authorization;
6. The communication is initiated by the physician; or
7. The injured worker failed to show up for a scheduled appointment or arrived at a time other than the scheduled appointment time.

Whenever an RP communicates with a physician without the prior consent or presence of the injured worker, the RP must promptly document the reasons for and the substance of the communication and promptly report such to the injured worker or attorney, if represented, pursuant to Rule VI.

E. The RP may assist in scheduling second opinions requested by the treating physician, as well as supporting treatment. In such case, the worker shall receive at least 10 calendar days notice of an appointment for a second opinion unless otherwise agreed by the parties or required by statute.

F. The RP may assist in obtaining from the treating physician an opinion as to the degree of permanent partial impairment retained by the worker at maximum medical improvement. The decision to obtain a second physician's opinion on the degree of impairment is not within the practice of rehabilitation.

However, if requested by the party who desires a second opinion, the RP may assemble information, schedule, coordinate, and, with the worker's consent, attend the appointment with that physician.

G. If a party requests a second opinion or an independent medical examination, the RP's involvement is limited to assembling and forwarding medical records and information, and scheduling, coordinating, and, with the worker's consent, attending the appointment with that physician.

H. The RP shall simultaneously send copies to the parties of all written communications to medical care providers, and shall accurately and completely record and report all oral communications.

Rule VIII. Return to work.

A. The RP shall obtain from the medical provider work restrictions which fairly address the demands of any proposed employment. If ordered by a physician, the RP should obtain a Functional Capacity Evaluation (FCE) or Physical Capacity Evaluation (PCE). Any FCE or PCE obtained should measure the worker's capacities and impairments.

B. The RP shall refer the worker only to opportunities for suitable employment, as defined herein.

C. If the RP intends to utilize written or videotaped job descriptions in the return-to-work process, the RP shall provide a copy of the description to all parties for review before the job description is provided to the doctor. The worker or the worker's attorney shall have seven business days from mailing of the description, to notify the RP, all parties, and the physician of any objections or amendments to the job description. The job description and the objections or amendments, if any, shall be submitted to the physician simultaneously. This process may be expedited on occasions when job availability is critical. This waiting period does not apply if the worker or the worker's attorney has pre-approved the job description.

D. In preparing written job descriptions, the RP shall utilize recognized standards which may include but not be limited to the Dictionary of Occupational Titles and/or the Handbook for Analyzing Jobs published by the U.S. Department of Labor, which are recognized as national standard references for use in vocational rehabilitation.

E. In identifying proposed employment for the injured worker, the RP should consider the worker's transportation requirements.

F. Follow-up after placement may be carried out to verify the appropriateness of the job placement.

G. The RP shall not initiate or continue placement activities which do not appear reasonably likely to result in placement of the injured worker in suitable employment. The RP shall report to the parties when efforts to place the worker in suitable employment do not appear reasonably likely to result in placement of the injured worker in suitable employment.

Rule IX. Motion for change of RP; Sanctions.

A. An RP may be removed from a case upon motion by either party for good cause shown or by the Industrial Commission in its own discretion. The motion shall be filed with the Executive Secretary's Office and served upon all parties and the RP. Any party or the RP may file a response to the motion within (10) days. The Industrial Commission shall then determine whether to remove the RP from the case. The parties are referred to Industrial Commission Rule 609.

B. If the employer/carrier chooses to do so and the worker consents, the employer/carrier may replace the RP, in which case the moving party shall notify the Industrial Commission that the motion does not need to be decided.

C. For good cause, including ineffective delivery of rehabilitation services, failure to comply with applicable laws, rules or regulations, or failure to timely respond to lawful orders of the Commission or other regulatory authorities, the Commission may prohibit or restrict an RP, or group of RPs, further participation by particular workers, employers, or health care providers, groups or classes of them, or all of them. As provided in Industrial Commission Rule 802, the Commission may impose appropriate sanctions for violation of these Rules.

D. A party may request reconsideration of a ruling or appeal from an order as provided in Rule 703 or pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. §§ 97-83; 97-84.

ARTICLE I. ADMINISTRATION

Rule T101. Location of offices and hours of business.

The offices of the North Carolina Industrial Commission (hereinafter "Industrial Commission") are located in the Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, in Raleigh, North Carolina. The General Mailing Address is North Carolina Industrial Commission, 4319 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, NC 27699-4319. The same office hours will be observed by the Industrial Commission as are, or may be, observed by other State offices in Raleigh. The offices are open between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. to accept documents for filing.

Rule T102. Transaction of business by the Commission.

The Industrial Commission shall remain in continuous session subject to the call of the Chair to meet as a body for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before it.

Rule T103. Official forms.

(1) The Industrial Commission will supply, on request, forms identified by number and title as follows:

(a) Form T-1, Claim for Damages Under Tort Claims Act, N.C.G.S. § 143-297.

(b) Form T-3, Release of Tort Claim Under N.C.G.S. § 143-297, et seq.

(c) Such other forms relating to Tort Claims which, from time to time, may be promulgated by the Industrial Commission.

(2) The use of any printed forms other than those approved and adopted by the Industrial Commission is prohibited. However, a claim for damages under the Tort Claims Act, and an answer or other responsive pleading by a defendant, may be filed by way of an original typed claim or answer and other responsive pleading which is similar in format to a civil pleading in the General Courts of Justice, and which is verified.

Rule T104. Filing by telefacsimile transmission.

Filing by telefacsimile transmission shall be allowed when specific permission is granted by the Dockets Director or by the person designated by the Chair to determine matters related to the Tort Claims Act or by the Chair. If a filing fee is required, it must be received by the Industrial Commission contemporaneously with the telefacsimile either by electronic transfer of funds or other procedure accepted by the Commission. The Industrial Commission may adopt procedures for filing by telefacsimile transmission in other instances.

ARTICLE II. CLAIMS PROCEDURES

Rule T201. Rules of Civil Procedure.

(1) The Rules of Civil Procedure as provided in N.C.G.S. § 1A-1 shall apply in tort claims before the Industrial Commission, to the extent that such Rules are not inconsistent with the Tort Claims Act. In the event of such inconsistency, the Tort Claims Act and these Rules shall control.

(2) In medical malpractice cases filed by or on behalf of prison inmates where the plaintiff is alleging that a health care provider as defined in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-21.11 failed to comply with the applicable standard of care under N.C. Gen. Stat. § 90-21.12 and the defendant has filed a Motion to Dismiss the claim, all discovery is stayed until the following occurs:

(a) An informal recorded telephonic hearing is held before a Deputy Commissioner for the purpose of determining

- (1) whether a claim for medical malpractice has been stated;
- (2) whether expert testimony is necessary for the plaintiff to prevail; and
- (3) if expert testimony is deemed necessary, whether the plaintiff will be able to produce such testimony on the applicable standard of care.

(b) Upon receipt of a Motion to Dismiss and Request for Telephonic Hearing from the defendant, the Industrial Commission shall issue an order setting the motion on a hearing docket and the case will be assigned to a Deputy Commissioner. Thereafter, the parties shall have 30 days to submit medical records applicable to the claim to the Dockets Director or to the Deputy Commissioner before whom the case is set.

(c) If the defendant's Motion to Dismiss is granted, an appeal lies to the Full Commission. If defendant's Motion to Dismiss is denied, the case will proceed as any other Tort Claims case.

Rule T202. Filing fees.

(1) No claim shall be accepted for filing with the Industrial Commission which is not accompanied by an attorney's check, certified check, money order, or electronic transfer of funds in payment of a filing fee in an amount equal to the filing fee required for the filing of a civil action in the Superior Court division of the General Court of Justice.

(2) The provisions of paragraph (1) above notwithstanding, a claim which is accompanied by a Petition to Sue as an Indigent shall be accepted for filing upon the date of its receipt.

(3) A Petition to Sue as an Indigent shall consist of the following:

(a) An affidavit sufficient to satisfy the provisions of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1-110, stating that plaintiff is unable to comply with subsection (1) of this Rule.

(b) If the plaintiff is an inmate in the North Carolina Department of Correction, a report by the Department of Correction stating the balance of plaintiff's prison trust account, together with an accounting of all credits to and withdrawals from that trust account during the prior six months.

(4) The granting or denial of permission to sue as an indigent shall be in the sole discretion of the Industrial Commission.

(5) If, in the discretion of the Industrial Commission, it is determined that plaintiff is able to pay all or any part of the fees assessed under this Rule, an Order shall be issued directing payment of all or any part of that fee, and the plaintiff shall, within thirty (30) days from his receipt of the Order, forward to the Industrial Commission an attorney's check, certified check, money order, or electronic fund transfer for the full amount which is required to be paid. Failure to submit the required amount of the filing fee within this time shall result in the claim being dismissed without prejudice.

(6) Upon consideration of an inmate's petition to sue as an indigent, the Industrial Commission may determine that the inmate's tort claim is frivolous and dismiss the claim pursuant to N.C. Gen. Stat. § 1-110. Appeals from the dismissal of a claim pursuant to the statute shall proceed directly to the Full Commission and shall be decided without oral argument. The Commission shall forward a copy of the file to the Attorney General's Office without cost upon plaintiff's notice of appeal to the Full Commission.

Rule T203. Enlargement of time.

A Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may upon the motion of a party or upon his own motion, enlarge the time within which an action must be taken or a document filed pursuant to this Article. If the claim has not been calendared, Motions for Enlargement of Time should be directed to the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner designated by the Chair to determine Tort Claim motions. An enlargement of time may be granted either before or after the relevant time requirement has elapsed.

Rule T204. Infants and incompetents.

In all cases where it is proposed that minors or incompetents shall sue by their guardian ad litem, the Industrial Commission shall appoint such guardian ad litem upon the written application of a reputable person closely connected with such minor or incompetent; but if such person will not apply, then, upon the application of some reputable citizen; and the Industrial Commission shall make such appointment only after due inquiry as to the fitness of the person to be appointed.

Rule T205. Motions.

(1) All Motions in cases which are currently calendared before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner shall be sent directly to that Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner at the Industrial Commission. Before a case is calendared, or after a case has been continued, or removed, or after a case has been heard and a Decision and Order entered, Motions shall be directed to the Executive Secretary of the Industrial Commission or the person designated by the Chair to determine these matters, if known.

(2) A motion shall state with particularity the grounds on which it is based, the relief sought, and a brief statement of the opposing party's position, if known. Service shall be made on all other parties.

(3) Motions to continue or remove a case from the hearing docket on which the case is set must be made well in advance of the scheduled hearing and shall be made in writing. In all cases, the moving party must state that the other parties have been advised of the Motion and relate the position of the other parties regarding the Motion. Oral motions shall be permitted in emergency situations for good cause shown.

(4) The responding party to a Motion, with the exception of Motions to continue or remove a case from a hearing docket, shall have ten (10) days after a Motion is served upon him during which to file and serve copies of response in opposition to the Motion. The Industrial Commission may shorten or extend the time for responding to any Motion.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of (4) above, the Industrial Commission may act upon a Motion at any time, despite the absence of notice to all parties, and without awaiting a response. A party who has not received actual notice of such a Motion prior to the entry of a ruling by the Industrial Commission or who has not filed a response at the time such ruling is entered and who is adversely affected by the ruling may request reconsideration, vacation, or modification of the ruling. Motions will be determined without argument, unless the Industrial Commission orders otherwise.

(6) In a case in which a Motion to amend pleadings has been filed, the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may permit amendment of pleadings at the time of the hearing and then proceed to a determination of the case based on the evidence presented at the hearing without requiring additional pleadings.

(7) Motions to dismiss or for summary judgment for the defendant on the ground that plaintiff has failed to specifically name the individual officer, agent, employee or involuntary servant whose alleged negligence gave rise to the claim, or failure to properly name the department or agency of the State with whom such person was employed, shall be ruled upon following discovery.

(8) In appropriate cases, motions may be set for hearing before a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner upon request of either party or upon the Commission's own motion.

Rule T206. Hearings.

(1) The Industrial Commission may, on its own Motion, order a hearing or rehearing of any case in dispute.

(2) The Industrial Commission shall set a contested case for hearing in a location deemed convenient to witnesses and the Industrial Commission, and conducive to an early and just resolution of disputed issues.

(3) In cases involving a plaintiff who is an inmate in the North Carolina Department of Correction, the Industrial Commission shall set contested cases for hearing as follows:

(a) In the prison unit where plaintiff is incarcerated or in some other prison facility agreed upon by the Industrial Commission and the Attorney General's office; or

(b) By videoteleconference according to procedures adopted by the Industrial Commission; or

(c) By telephone conference according to procedures adopted by the Industrial Commission.

(4) The Industrial Commission may issue writs of habeas corpus ad testificandum in cases arising under the Tort Claims Act. Requests for issuance of a writ of habeas corpus ad testificandum should be sent to the Dockets Department of the Industrial Commission if the case has not been set on a calendar for hearing. If the case has been set for hearing, the request should be sent to the Deputy Commissioner or Commissioner before whom the case is set.

(5) The Industrial Commission will give reasonable notice of a hearing in every case. Postponement or continuance of a duly scheduled hearing will rest entirely in the discretion of a Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner. Where a party has not notified the Industrial Commission of the attorney representing the party prior to the mailing of calendars for hearing, notice to that party shall constitute notice to the party's attorney.

(6) In cases involving minimal property damage, the Commission may, upon its own motion or upon the motion of either party, order a telephonic hearing on the matter.

(7) In cases of multiple claim filings by an inmate, the Industrial Commission may consolidate all of the claims for hearing upon the motion of either party or upon the Commission's own motion. Other cases may be consolidated according to Rule 42 of the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure.

(8) In the event of inclement weather or natural disaster, hearings shall be cancelled if the proceedings in the General Court of Justice are cancelled in the county in which the Tort Claims hearings are set.

Rule T207. Hearing costs.

Hearing costs shall be assessed in each case set for hearing, including those cases which are settled after being calendared and notices mailed, and shall be payable upon submission of a statement by the Industrial Commission.

ARTICLE III. APPEALS TO FULL COMMISSION

Rule T301. Notice of appeal to the Full Commission.

A letter or other document expressing an intent to appeal, which is filed within 15 days of receipt of the Decision and Order of the Industrial Commission, and which clearly sets forth the Decision and Order from which appeal is taken, shall be considered notice of appeal to the Full Commission within the meaning of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 143-292. Such notice shall include a written statement confirming service of a copy of the notice by mail or in person on the opposing party or parties.

Rule T302. Transcripts.

Upon receipt of notice of appeal, the Industrial Commission, after taxing appropriate costs, will prepare and supply to all parties a transcript of the record of the case and decision from which appeal is being taken to the Full Commission.

Rule T303. Assignments of error.

The appellant shall, within 25 days of receipt of the transcript of the record, or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript of the record, file in triplicate with the Industrial Commission, a written statement of the particular grounds for the appeal. The statement shall certify service of a copy by mail or in person upon the opposing party or parties. Particular grounds for appeal not set forth in the written statement will be deemed to be abandoned and argument thereon will not be heard before the Full Commission. The grounds must be stated in particularity, including the specific errors allegedly committed by the hearing Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner and the pages in the transcript on which the alleged errors are recorded.

Rule T304. Dismissal of appeal.

Failure to file assignments of error may result in the dismissal of the appeal either upon the Motion of the non-appealing party or upon the Full Commission's own Motion.

Rule T305. Briefs.

(1) Appellant's brief shall be filed with the Industrial Commission in triplicate no later than 25 days after receipt of the transcript of the record or receipt of notice that there will be no transcript.

(2) Thereafter, appellee's brief shall be filed with the Industrial Commission in triplicate no later than 25 days after the service of appellant's brief. When an appellant fails to file a brief, appellee shall file his brief within 25 days after appellant's time for filing brief has expired. If both parties appeal, they shall each file an appellant's and appellee's brief on the schedule set forth herein. The parties may file with the Docket Director a written stipulation to a single extension of time for each party, not to exceed 30 days, if the matter has not been calendared for hearing.

(3) A party who fails to file a brief, will not be allowed oral argument before the Full Commission. Cases should be cited by North Carolina reports, and preferably, to Southeastern reports. Counsel shall not discuss matters outside the record, assert personal opinions or relate personal experiences, or attribute unworthy acts or motives to opposing counsel.

(4) Each brief filed pursuant to this Rule shall be accompanied by a written certification that the brief has been served by mail or in person upon the opposing party or parties.

Rule T306. Motion for new hearing.

A Motion for a New Hearing must be filed in writing, and supported by Affidavit. Such Motions filed during the pendency of an appeal to the Full Commission shall be argued before the Full Commission at the time of the hearing of the appeal.

Rule T307. Motions Before Full Commission.

During the pendency of an appeal to the Full Commission, any Motion by either party shall be filed in triplicate with the Industrial Commission and directed to the Chair if the case has not been calendared. If the case has been calendared the motion shall be directed to the Full Commission panel before whom the case is set. Every motion shall certify, in writing, that it has been served by mail or in person upon the opposing party or parties.

Motions for Reconsideration of a decision of the Full Commission shall be directed to the Commissioner who authored the Decision and Order.

Rule T308. Stays.

When a case is appealed to the Full Commission or to the Court of Appeals, all decisions and orders of a Deputy Commissioner or the Full Commission are stayed pending appeal.

Rule T309. New evidence.

No new evidence will be presented to, or heard by, the Full Commission unless the Commission in its discretion permits.

Rule T310. Waiver of oral argument.

Either or both parties, with permission of the Full Commission, may waive oral argument before the Full Commission. The Full Commission may in its discretion order that all oral argument in a particular case will be waived. If oral argument is waived by either of these methods, the Full Commission will issue a decision, based on the record, assignments of error, and briefs.

ARTICLE IV. APPEALS TO THE COURT OF APPEALS*Rule T401. Rules of Appellate Procedure.

Except as otherwise provided in N.C. Gen. Stat. § 143-293, in every case appealed to the Court of Appeals, the North Carolina Rules of Appellate Procedure governing appeals in an ordinary civil action shall apply.

Rule T402. Appeal bond.

The amount of the appeal bond shall be set by the Chair of the Industrial Commission or the Chair's designee.

Rule T403. Appeals to the Court of Appeals.

All Motions filed by the parties regarding appeal to the Court of Appeals shall be addressed to and ruled upon by the Chair of the Industrial Commission, or the Chair's designee.

Rule T404. Settling record on appeal.

Upon a proper Motion, the Chair of the Industrial Commission, or the Chair's designee, shall enter an Order settling a record on appeal after conducting a settlement conference, in accordance with the North Carolina Rules of Appellate Procedure. Settlement conferences shall be held at the Industrial Commission offices or by telephone conference.

ARTICLE V. RULES*Rule T501. Waiver of rules.

In the interest of justice, any Tort Claims Rule may be waived by a Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, or the Full Commission.

Rule T502. Rulemaking.

Prior to adopting, deleting or amending any Tort Claims Rule of the Industrial Commission which affects the substantive rights of parties, the Industrial Commission will give at least 30 days notice of the proposed change in Rules. Such notice will be given by publishing, in a newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in North Carolina, notice of such proposed change. Such notice will include an invitation to any interested party to submit in writing any objection, suggestion or other comment with respect to the proposed Rule change or to appear before the Full Commission at a time and place designated in the notice for the purpose of being heard with respect to the proposed Rule change.

CHILDHOOD VACCINE-RELATED INJURY RULES OF THE NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

With amendments received through September 10, 1997.

Article I. Administration

Rule

- 101. Locations of offices and hours of business.
- 102. Transaction of business by the Commission.
- 103. Official forms.

Article II. Rules of Commission

Rule

- 201. Rules of Civil Procedure.
- 202. Procedure.
- 203. Attorneys fees.
- Index follows Rules.

ARTICLE I. ADMINISTRATION

Rule 101. Locations of offices and hours of business.

The offices of the Industrial Commission are located in the Dobbs Building, 430 North Salisbury Street, in Raleigh, North Carolina 27611. The same office hours will be observed by the Industrial Commission as are or may be observed by other State offices in Raleigh.

Rule 102. Transaction of business by the Commission.

The Commission will remain in continuous session subject to the call of the Chairman to meet as a body for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before it.

Rule 103. Official forms.

The use of any printed forms other than those approved and adopted by this Commission is prohibited. Approved forms may be obtained from the Commission. Insurance carriers and self-insurers may prepare forms for their own use, provided: (1) that the color of the paper upon which the form is printed shall be substantially identical to that used on the approved Commission's form, (2) no statement, question, or information blank contained on the approved Commission's form is omitted from the substituted form, and (3) such substituted form is substantially identical in size and format with the approved Commission's form.

ARTICLE II. RULES OF COMMISSION

Rule 201. Rules of Civil Procedure.

The Rules of Civil Procedure apply in cases involving a purported Childhood Vaccine-Related Injury, so long as such rules are consistent with Article 17 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes, except as hereinafter specifically provided.

Rule 202. Procedure.

Upon provision of a copy of the claim and supporting documentation, including all available medical records pertaining to the alleged injury, as provided in N.C.G.S. § 130A-425(b), further proceedings shall be suspended for a period of ninety (90) days during which the responsible government agencies shall determine and report their position on the issues listed in N.C.G.S. § 130A-426(a). If the said agencies agree that the claimant is entitled to money compensation meeting or exceeding the maximum amount set forth in § 130A-427(b), the Commission shall so notify the claimant and respondents, and further notify them of the services the Department of Human Resources proposes to provide pursuant to § 130A-427(a)(5). The Commission shall thereafter allow the parties a reasonable period of time to settle the matter before proceeding to hearing.

Rule 203. Attorneys fees.

At the conclusion of the case, counsel for the plaintiff shall submit to the Commission an account of time and services rendered the plaintiff for consideration in setting a fee pursuant to § 130A-427(a)(4).

Rule 3(a). Filing and docket fees.

Upon filing a notice of appeal appellant shall pay the clerk of the district court a fee of $105.00, which includes a $5.00 filing fee for the notice of appeal, and a $100.00 fee for docketing the appeal in this Court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 3(b). Docketing statement.

To assist counsel in giving prompt attention to the substance of an appeal, to help reduce the ordering of unnecessary transcripts, to provide the Clerk of the Court of Appeals at the commencement of an appeal with the information needed for effective case management, and to provide necessary information for any mediation conference conducted under Local Rule 33, counsel filing a notice of appeal for any direct or cross-appeal must complete and file a docketing statement, using the form provided by the clerk of the district court. The Clerk of the Court of Appeals will provide a similar form for petitions for review, applications for enforcement, and Tax Court appeals.

Two copies of the docketing statement and attachments must be received and filed in the Court of Appeals within 14 days of filing the notice of appeal, with a copy served on the opposing party or parties. Docketing statements for petitions for review, applications for enforcement, and Tax Court appeals must be received and filed with the Clerk of the Court of Appeals within 14 days of docketing of the petition, application, or tax appeal. A copy of the docketing statement must be served on the opposing party or parties.

Each copy of the docketing statement served or filed shall have attached to it copies of:

- (a) the notice of appeal, application for enforcement, or petition for review;
- (b) the docket sheet of the court or agency from which the appeal is taken;
- (c) the judgment order sought to be reviewed and any opinion or findings;
- (d) any opinion, findings, or recommendation of a magistrate judge, an administrative law judge, a Social Security Appeals Council, or a bankruptcy court underlying the order at issue; and
- (e) any transcript order.

Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues, counsel will make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. Failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth above will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissing a case under Local Rule 45.

If an opposing party concludes that the docketing statement is in any way inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, the Clerk's Office should be informed in writing of any errors and any proposed additions or corrections within 7 days of service of the docketing statement, with copies to all other parties. (Amended effective June 8, 1994; amended effective September 28, 1994; amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective March 4, 1998.)

Rule 5. Interlocutory orders.

The Court of Appeals will initially enter a petition for permission to appeal upon the miscellaneous docket; a docket fee shall not be required unless the petition is granted. A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must be filed with the petition and answer. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. Upon granting the petition, the Court of Appeals will notify the district court by copy of the order and transfer the case to the regular docket. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 5.1. Appeals by permission (Deleted December 1, 1998).

Rule 6. Appeal in a Bankruptcy Case from a Final Judgment, Order, or Decree of a District Court or of a Bankruptcy Appellate Panel.

(a) Appeal from a judgment, order or decree of a district court exercising original jurisdiction in a bankruptcy case. An appeal to a court of appeals from a final judgment, order or decree of a district court exercising jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334 shall be taken in identical fashion as appeals from other judgments, orders or decrees of district courts in civil actions.

(b) Appeal from a judgment, order or decree of a district court or bankruptcy appellate panel exercising appellate jurisdiction in a bankruptcy case.

(1) Applicability of other rules. All provisions of these rules are applicable to an appeal to a court of appeals pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 158(d) from a final judgment, order or decree of a district court or bankruptcy appellate panel exercising appellate jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 158(a) or (b), except that:

- (i) Rules 3.1, 4(a)(4), 4(b), 5.1, 9, 10, 11, 12(b), 13-20, 22-23, and 24(b) are not applicable;

(ii) the reference in Rule 3(c) to “Form 1 in the Appendix of Forms” shall be read as a reference to Form 5; and

(iii) when the appeal is from a bankruptcy appellate panel, the term “district court” as used in any applicable rule means “appellate panel.”

(2) Additional rules. In addition to the rules made applicable by subsection (b)(1) of this rule, the following rules shall apply to an appeal to a court of appeals pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 158(d) from a final judgment, order or decree of a district court or of a bankruptcy appellate panel exercising appellate jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 158(a) or (b):

(i) Effect of a Motion for Rehearing on the Time for Appeal. If any party files a timely motion for rehearing under Bankruptcy Rule 8015 in the district court or the bankruptcy appellate panel, the time for appeal to the court of appeals for all parties runs from the entry of the order disposing of the motion. A notice of appeal filed after announcement or entry of the district court’s or bankruptcy appellate panel’s judgment, order, or decree, but before disposition of the motion for rehearing, is ineffective until the date of the entry of the order disposing of the motion for rehearing. Appellate review of the order disposing of the motion requires the party, in compliance with Appellate Rules 3(c) and 6(b)(1)(ii), to amend a previously filed notice of appeal. A party intending to challenge an alteration of amendment of the judgment, order, or decree shall file an amended notice of appeal within the time prescribed by Rule 4, excluding 4(a)(4) and 4(b), measured from the entry of the order disposing of the motion. No additional fees will be required for filing the amended notice.

(ii) The record on appeal. Within 10 days after filing the notice of appeal, the appellant shall file with the clerk possessed of the record assembled pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 8006, and serve on the appellee, a statement of the issues to be presented on appeal and a designation of the record to be certified and transmitted to the clerk of the court of appeals. If the appellee deems other parts of the record necessary, the appellee shall, within 10 days after service of the appellant’s designation, file with the clerk and serve on the appellant a designation of additional parts to be included. The record, redesignated as provided above, plus the proceedings in the district court or bankruptcy appellate panel and a certified copy of the docket entries prepared by the clerk pursuant to Rule 3(d) shall constitute the record on appeal.

(iii) Transmission of the record. When the record is complete for purpose of the appeal, the clerk of the district court or the appellate panel shall transmit it forthwith to the clerk of the court of appeals. The clerk of the district court or of the appellate panel shall number the documents comprising the record and shall transmit with the record a list of documents correspondingly numbered and identified with reasonable definiteness. Documents of unusual bulk or weight, physical exhibits other than documents, and such other parts of the record as the court of appeals may designate by local rule, shall not be transmitted by the clerk unless the clerk is directed to do so by a party or by the clerk of the court of appeals. A party must make advance arrangements with the clerk for the transportation and receipt of exhibits of unusual bulk or weight. All parties shall take any other action necessary to enable the clerk to assemble and transmit the record. The court of appeals may provide by rule or order that a certified copy of the docket entries shall be transmitted in lieu of the redesignated record, subject to the right of any party to request at any time during the pendency of the appeal that the redesignated record be transmitted.

(iv) Filing of the record. Upon receipt of the record, the clerk of the court of appeals shall file it and shall immediately give notice to all parties of the date on which it was filed. Upon receipt of a certified copy of the docket entries transmitted in lieu of the redesignated record pursuant to rule or order, the clerk of the court of appeals shall file it and shall immediately give notice to all parties of the date on which it was filed. (Added March 6, 1997.)

Rule 8. Stay or injunction pending appeal.

Filing a notice of appeal does not automatically stay the operation of the judgment, order or decision for which review is sought. If an application to the district court for temporary relief pending appeal is not practicable, counsel must make a specific showing of the reasons the application was not made to the district court in the first instance. Any motion to the Court of Appeals should include copies of all previous applications for relief and their outcome. A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must accompany the motion and any response unless the parties have previously filed disclosure statements with the Court in the case. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. If any party deems that parts of the record or other materials are essential to a fair presentation of the issues regarding a motion, copies of these papers must be attached to each copy of the motion. The motion will usually be considered by a panel of the Court. If time is of the essence, a single judge who should ordinarily be resident in the state of the trial court proceeding may determine the motion or grant temporary relief until the matter can be considered by the Court. The selection of motion panels is similar to the process set forth in I.O.P. 34.1 for hearing panels. An order granting a stay or injunction pending appeal remains in effect until issuance of the mandate or further order of the Court and may be conditioned upon the filing of a supersedeas bond in the district court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 9(a). Release prior to judgment of conviction.

A criminal defendant may be released in accordance with the conditions set by the district court prior to judgment of conviction. If the district court refuses to release the prisoner, or sets conditions for release that cannot be met, the order is appealable as a matter of right and will be given prompt consideration by the Court of Appeals. Counsel should submit memoranda in support of their position on appeal and, in cases involving corporate defendants, Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statements required by FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1 and Form A. The appeal is usually decided without oral argument upon the materials presented by the parties. A motion for release pending determination of the appeal may be filed. The motion may be acted upon by a single judge, but the appeal itself must be submitted to a three-judge panel for decision. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 9(b). Release after conviction and notice of appeal.

After the district court has ruled on a motion for bail or reduction of bail pending appeal, the appellant may renew the motion for release, or for a modification of the conditions of release, before the Court of Appeals without noting an additional appeal. A copy of the district court statement of reasons should accompany the motion. The motion will be submitted to a three-judge panel for decision. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 9(c). Recalcitrant witnesses.

When an appeal arises from the incarceration of a witness who refuses to testify or produce evidence in any court or grand jury proceeding, the Court of Appeals is required by statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1826, to decide the appeal within 30 days of the filing of the notice of appeal. Therefore, counsel should immediately contact the Clerk's office regarding all such witness contempt matters so that the appeal may be expedited for resolution within the statutory guidelines. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 10(a). Retention of the record on appeal in the district court.

In cases in which all parties are represented by counsel on appeal, the district court clerk will transmit a certificate to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals as soon as the record on appeal is complete. The certificate will state that the record is complete and available to the Court of Appeals upon request. Receipt of the district court clerk's certificate will have the same effect as the receipt of the record on appeal. The district court will then retain the record on appeal until and unless a judge of this Court asks the Clerk of this Court to obtain it. Upon receipt of a request from the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, the clerk of the district court will assemble and transmit the record on appeal within 24 hours. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 10(b). Records on appeal.

The preparation and transmittal of the record on appeal is the obligation of the clerk of the lower court, board or agency, and any questions concerning form or content should be addressed to the trial forum in the first instance. A record on appeal consists of a specific number of volumes of pleadings, transcripts, and exhibits. Parties should check with the clerk of the lower court, board or agency to determine whether everything relevant to the issues on appeal will be included initially in the record on appeal in order to obviate motions to supplement the record. The record is transmitted to the appellate court as soon as it is complete, except as provided in Local Rule 10(a). Local Rule 10(a) does not apply to records in cases in which one or more parties are proceeding without counsel on appeal. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 10(c). Transcripts.

(1) Responsibilities and designation. The appellant has the duty of ordering transcript of all parts of the proceedings material to the issues to be raised on appeal whether favorable or unfavorable to appellant's position. Transcript Order forms are provided to appellant by the clerk of the district court at the time the notice of appeal is filed. Appellant should complete the form and distribute the appropriate parts of the form to the clerk of the Court of Appeals, the court reporter, the clerk of the district court, and the appellee.

Before the transcript order is mailed, appellant must make appropriate financial arrangements with the court reporter for either immediate payment in full or in other form acceptable to the court reporter, payment pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act, or at government expense pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 753(f).

In cross-appeals each party must order those parts of the transcript pertinent to the issues of such appeals. The parties are encouraged to agree upon those parts of the transcript jointly needed and to apportion the cost, with additional portions being ordered and paid for by the party considering them essential to that party's appeal.

If the entire transcript of proceedings is not to be prepared, the appellant's docketing statement filed pursuant to Local Rule 3(b) may constitute the statement of issues required by FRAP 10(b)(3)(A).

(2) Monitoring and receipt by clerk. Failure to order timely a transcript, failure to make satisfactory financial arrangements with the court reporter, or failure to specify in adequate detail those proceedings to be transcribed will subject the appeal to dismissal by the clerk for want of prosecution pursuant to Local Rule 45. The Clerk's Office is charged with monitoring the status of transcripts pending with court reporters.

(3) Statement in lieu of transcript. The parties may prepare and sign a statement of the case in lieu of the transcript or the entire record on appeal.

The use of a statement in lieu of a transcript of a hearing substantially accelerates the appellate process. The statement should contain a description of the essential facts averred and proved or sought to be proved and a summary of pertinent testimony.

(4) Guidelines for preparation of appellate transcripts in the fourth circuit. An appendix to these rules contains the guidelines adopted by the Fourth Circuit Judicial Council to define the obligations of appellants, appellees, clerks of the district court, court reporters and the Clerk of the Court of Appeals in the ordering, preparation, and filing of transcripts completed pursuant to these rules. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 10(d). Sealed records.

The Court of Appeals expects that motions to seal all or any part of the record will be presented to, and resolved by, the lower court or agency — in accordance with applicable law — during the course of trial, hearing, or other proceedings below. In the rare event that a change of circumstances occurs during the pendency of an appeal that warrants reconsideration of a sealing issued decided below, or initial consideration of the need to seal all or part of the record on appeal, an appropriate motion may be filed with the Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Such motions will be referred by the clerk to a panel of the Court.

Material contained in the record subject to a protective order remains subject to that order on appeal unless modified or amended by the Court of Appeals. Material subject to a protective order shall be available to counsel only if permitted by that order.

In any case involving sealed materials, at the time of filing a brief or appendix counsel shall file a separate certification as to whether a copy of, or excerpt from, any sealed document is included in the appendix, or argument relating to any sealed document is included in the brief. If the certification is affirmative, the appendix or brief will be sealed by order of this Court. Every effort shall be made by counsel to include such sealed material, and argument related thereto, in a supplement to the brief or appendix which can be sealed, thereby avoiding the need to seal the remainder of the brief or appendix. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 10(e). Supplemental records, modification or correction.

Disputes concerning the accuracy or composition of the record on appeal should be resolved in the trial court in the first instance, although the Court of Appeals has the power, either on motion or of its own accord, to require that the record be corrected or supplemented. It is unnecessary to seek permission of the Court of Appeals to supplement the record and the record may be supplemented by the parties by stipulation or by order of the district court at any time during the appellate process. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 11(a). Transcript acknowledgements.

Upon receipt of an order for a transcript, the clerk of the Court of Appeals will prepare for the reporter a transcript order acknowledgement which will set forth the date the transcript order was received in the Clerk's Office and the transcript due date, computed from the order receipt date in accordance with the time limits set forth in the applicable district court reporter management plan. If the transcript order is correct in all respects, except for an order date error in the reporter's favor, no response will be required from the reporter. If the reporter believes that there is a problem with the transcript order, he or she must complete a copy of the acknowledgement form noting the problem and return it to the Court of Appeals within 7 days of receipt of the form by the reporter, or within such further time as the Court of Appeals allows. The time for completion of the transcript will automatically cease to run until the problem has been remedied. The clerk of the Court of Appeals will send a new transcript order acknowledgement setting forth new transcript order and filing dates taking into account the delay caused by resolving the problem with the original transcript order. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 11(b). Time limits for filing transcripts.

Although FRAP 11(b)(1)(B) requires that transcripts be completed within 30 days from the purchase order date, this court routinely uses instead the time limits set forth in the district court reporter management plans. All of the plans establish a 60-day period for preparation of transcripts, with the following exceptions:

(1) Special provisions adopted by the Fourth Circuit Judicial Council for appeals by incarcerated criminal defendants.

(a) transcripts of 1000 pages or less shall be filed within 30 days of transcript order and completion of satisfactory financial arrangements.

(b) transcripts of more than 1000 pages shall be filed within the time ordered by the clerk of the court of appeals.

(2) Special circumstances, such as

(a) bail appeals,

(b) death penalty cases, or

(c) other expedited procedures in which the transcript shall be filed within the time ordered by the Clerk of the Court of Appeals. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 11(c). Exhibits.

Counsel should be aware that certain portions of the record will not be transmitted to the Court of Appeals as part of the record. If bulky documents and physical exhibits are required by a party for oral argument, the party must make advance arrangements with the clerks of both courts for their transportation and receipt. Such arrangements are best made after the completion of the briefing schedule on appeal and receipt of notice of oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 11(d). Access of counsel to original record.

Counsel desiring to use the record on appeal in preparing their case should make arrangements with the clerk of the district court for access to the record. Under Local Rule 10(a), records in cases in which all parties are represented by counsel are retained by the district court clerk during appeal unless a judge of the Court of Appeals requests that they be obtained. If the record is transmitted to the Court of Appeals, the record may be withdrawn upon proper application and returned to the trial court or the nearest district court clerk's office for counsel's review. Law professors representing indigents by Court appointment may request that the record be sent to the law school for their review. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(a). Appeals by aggrieved non-parties in the lower court.

If the appellant was not a party to the lower court proceeding, the appeal shall be styled "In re _____, Appellant," and the title of the action in the district court shall also be given. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(b). Joint appeals/cross-appeals and consolidations.

For the purpose of identifying consolidated appeals and cross-appeals, the earliest docketed appeal will be designated the lead case and identified by an "L" following its docket number. The parties should designate lead counsel for each side and communicate lead counsel's identity in writing to the clerk within 10 days of the consolidation order. Although most consolidations will be on the Court's own motion, a party is not precluded from filing a request. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(c). Expedition of appeals.

The Court on its own motion or on motion of the parties may expedite an appeal for briefing and oral argument. Any motion to expedite should state clearly the reasons supporting expedition, the ability of the parties to present the appeal on the existing record, and the need for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 12(d). Abeyance.

In the interest of docket control the Court may, either on its own motion or upon request, place a case in abeyance pending disposition of matters before this Court or other courts which may affect the ultimate resolution of an appeal. During the period of time a case is held in abeyance the appeal remains on the docket but nothing is done to advance the case to maturity and resolution. If a case is held in abeyance for cases other than a Fourth Circuit case, the parties will be required to make periodic status reports. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 12(e). Intervention.

A party who appeared as an intervenor in a lower court proceeding shall be considered a party to the appeal upon filing a notice of appearance. Otherwise, a motion for leave to intervene must be filed with the Court of Appeals. Any notice of appearance or motion to intervene should indicate the side upon which the movant proposes to intervene. The provisions of FRAP 15(d) govern intervention in appeals from administrative agencies. Intervenors are required to join in the brief for the side which they support unless leave to file a separate brief is granted by the Court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 15(a). Docketing fee.

Upon filing a petition for review of an agency order, petitioner shall pay the prescribed docketing fee of $100, payable to the Clerk, U.S. Court of Appeals, or submit a properly executed application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended December 4, 1996.)

Rule 15(b). Petitions for Review.

Whenever filing a petition for review or an application or cross-application for enforcement, the party shall attach to the petition, application or cross-application a copy of the agency order for which review or enforcement is sought. The petition, application or cross-application shall also be accompanied by a list of respondents specifically identifying the respondents' names and the addresses where respondents may be served with the copies of the petition, application or cross-application. (Added December 4, 1996.)

Rule 18. Procedures.

This Court's local rules accompanying FRAP 8 and 27 apply also to applications for stays under FRAP 18. (Added effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 21(a). Case captions for extraordinary writs.

A petition for a writ of mandamus or writ of prohibition shall not bear the name of the district judge, but shall be entitled simply "In re _____, Petitioner." To the extent that relief is requested of a particular judge, unless otherwise ordered, the judge shall be represented pro forma by counsel for the party opposing the relief, who shall appear in the name of the party and not that of the judge. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 21(b). Petitions for mandamus or prohibition.

Strict compliance with the requirements of FRAP 21 is required of all petitioners, even pro se litigants. Petitioner must pay the prescribed docket fee of $100, payable to the Clerk, U.S. Court of Appeals; submit the forms required by Local Rule 21(c)(1) for cases subject to that Local Rule; or submit a properly executed application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis. The parties are required to submit Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statements with the petition and answer. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A.

After docketing, the clerk shall submit the application to a three-judge panel. If time is of the essence, application may be made to a single circuit judge, who ordinarily should be resident in the state of the trial court proceeding, seeking temporary relief under 28 U.S.C. § 1651 until the matter can be considered by a three-judge panel.

If the Court believes the writ should not be granted, it will deny the petition without requesting an answer. Otherwise the Court will direct the clerk to obtain an answer. After an answer has been filed, the Court ordinarily will decide the merits of the petition on the materials submitted without oral argument. Occasionally, however, briefs may be requested and the matter set for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended September 25, 1996.)

Rule 21(c). Fees and Costs for Prisoner Petitions for Mandamus, Prohibition, or other Extraordinary Relief.

(1) Proceedings arising out of civil matters. A prisoner filing a petition for writ of mandamus, prohibition, or other extraordinary relief in a matter arising out of a civil case must pay the full $100 docket fee. A prisoner who is unable to prepay this fee may apply to pay the fee in installments by filing with the Court of Appeals (1) an application to proceed without prepayment of fees; (2) a certified copy of the prisoner's trust fund account statement for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal, obtained from the appropriate official of each prison at which the prisoner is or was confined; and (3) a form consenting to the collection of fees from the prisoner's trust account.

The Court of Appeals will assess an initial partial filing fee of 20% of the greater of:

(a) the average monthly deposits to the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the petition; or

(b) the average monthly balance in the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the petition.

The Court will direct the agency having custody of the prisoner to collect this initial partial fee from the prisoner's trust account, and to collect the remainder of the $100 fee, as well as any other fees, costs, or sanctions imposed by the Court, in monthly installments of 20% of the preceding month's deposits credited to the prisoner's account. The agency having custody of the prisoner shall forward payments from the prisoner's account to the Clerk, U.S. Court of Appeals, each time the amount in the account exceeds $10 until all fees, costs, and sanctions are paid for the petition.

If a prisoner proceeding under this rule fails to file the forms or make the payments required by the Court, the appeal will be dismissed pursuant to Local Rule 45.

(2) Effect of prior actions and appeals on proceedings arising out of civil matters. A prisoner who has, on three or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it was frivolous, malicious, or failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, may not proceed in a matter arising out of a civil case without prepayment of fees unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

(3) Proceedings arising out of criminal matters. A prisoner who is unable to prepay the full $100 docket fee for a petition for writ of mandamus, prohibition, or other extraordinary relief arising out of a criminal case may apply to proceed without the prepayment of fees by filing an application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis. (Added effective September 25, 1996.)

Rule 22(a). Certificates of appealability.

All applications for certificates of appealability shall either be in the form of a motion under FRAP 27(a) or be accompanied by informal briefs pursuant to Local Rule 34(b), regardless of whether the petitioner is represented by counsel. An application for a certificate of appealability may be referred to a panel of three judges. If all the judges on the panel conclude that the certificate should not issue, the certificate will be denied; but if any judge of such panel is of the opinion that the applicant has made a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right, the certificate will issue. The certificate shall indicate which specific issue or issues satisfy the required showing. If the Court grants a certificate of appealability, it may thereafter affirm, reverse or remand without further briefing or direct full briefing and oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended effective June 5, 1996; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 22(b). Death penalty cases and motions for stay of execution.

(1) Statement certifying existence of sentence of death. Whenever a petition for writ of habeas corpus or motion to vacate a federal sentence in which a sentence of death is involved is filed in the district court or the Court of Appeals, the petitioner shall file with the petition a statement certifying the existence of a sentence of death and the emergency nature of the proceedings and listing any proposed date of execution, any previous cases filed by petition in federal court and any cases filed by petitioner pending in any other court. The clerk of the district court shall immediately forward to the Court of Appeals a copy of any such statement filed, and shall immediately notify by telephone the Court of Appeals upon issuance of a final order in that case. If a notice of appeal is filed, the clerk of the district court shall transmit the available record forthwith. The clerk of the Court of Appeals will maintain a special docket for such cases and these cases shall be presented to the Court of Appeals on an expedited basis.

(2) Lodging of documents. In cases in which an execution date has been set, counsel shall lodge with the clerk of the Court of Appeals all district court documents as they are filed and any pertinent state court materials. If an execution date is imminent, counsel may also lodge proposed appellate papers in anticipation of having to seek emergency appellate relief.

(3) Motion for stay of execution. Any motion for stay of execution shall be considered initially in conjunction with any pending application for a certificate of appealability. Should a party file a motion to stay execution or a motion to vacate an order granting a stay of execution, the following documents shall accompany such motion:

- (a) The habeas petition or motion to vacate filed in the district court;
- (b) Each brief or memorandum of authorities filed by either party in the district court;
- (c) Any available transcript of proceedings before the district court;
- (d) The memorandum opinion giving the reasons advanced by the district court for denying relief;
- (e) The district court judgment denying relief;
- (f) The application to the district court for stay;
- (g) Any certificate of appealability or order denying a certificate of appealability;
- (h) The district court order granting or denying a stay and a statement of reasons for its action; and
- (i) A copy of the docket entries of the district court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended June 5, 1996.)

Rule 22(c). Petitions for rehearing in death penalty cases.

(1) All death penalty cases. Once the Court's mandate has issued in a death penalty case, any petition for panel or en banc rehearing should be accompanied by a motion to recall the mandate and motion to stay the execution.

Counsel should be aware that the process for distributing materials by the Clerk's Office ordinarily requires a minimum of three days for all members of the Court to receive a petition. Generally, the Court will not enter a stay of execution solely to allow for additional time for counsel to prepare, or for the Court to consider, a petition for rehearing. Consequently, counsel should take all possible steps to assure that any such petition is filed sufficiently in advance of the scheduled execution date to allow it to be considered by the Court. Counsel should notify the Clerk's Office promptly of their intention to file a petition for rehearing so that arrangements can be made in advance for the most expeditious consideration of the matter by the Court.

(2) Emergency petitions. In extraordinary circumstances, when the petition cannot be filed earlier than three days before a scheduled execution date, the Clerk's Office will endeavor to inform the members of the panel that issued the Court's decision of the filing of a petition for panel or en banc rehearing within a shorter period of time. At the direction of a panel member, similar efforts will be made to inform the full Court of the matter. The Clerk's Office will give notice to counsel by telephone of the Court's decision on such petitions. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 22(d). Motions for authorization.

Any individual seeking to file in the district court a second or successive application for relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 and § 2255 shall first file a motion with the Court of Appeals for authorization as required by 28 U.S.C. § 2244, on the form provided by the clerk for such motions. The motion shall be entitled "In re _____, Movant." The motion must be accompanied by copies of the § 2254 or § 2255 application which movant seeks authorization to file in the district court, as well as all prior § 2254 or § 2255 applications challenging the same conviction and sentence, all court opinions and orders disposing of those applications, and all magistrate judge's reports and recommendations issued on those applications. The movant shall serve a copy of the motion with attachments on the respondent named in the proposed application and shall file an original and three copies of the motion with attachments in the Court of Appeals. Failure to provide the requisite information and attachments may result in denial of the motion for authorization.

If the Court requires a response to the motion, it will direct that the response be received by the clerk for filing within no more than seven days. The Court will enter an order granting or denying authorization within 30 days of receipt of the motion by the clerk for filing, and the clerk will certify a copy of the order to the district court. If authorization is granted, a copy of the application will be attached to the certified order for filing in the district court. No motion or request for reconsideration, petition for rehearing, or any other paper seeking review of the granting or denial of authorization will be allowed. (Added effective June 5, 1996.)

Rule 24. Prisoner appeals.

(a) Payment of Fees and Costs Required. A prisoner appealing a judgment in a civil action must pay in full the $105 fee required for commencement of the appeal. A prisoner who is unable to prepay this fee may apply to pay the fee in installments by filing with the Court of Appeals (1) an application to proceed without prepayment of fees; (2) a certified copy of the prisoner's trust fund account statement or institutional equivalent for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal, obtained from the appropriate official of each prison at which the prisoner is or was confined; and (3) a form consenting to the collection of fees from the prisoner's trust account.

The Court of Appeals will assess an initial partial filing fee of 20% of the greater of:

(1) the average monthly deposits to the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal; or

(2) the average monthly balance in the prisoner's account for the six-month period immediately preceding the filing of the notice of appeal.

Based upon the prisoner's consent, the Court will direct the agency having custody of the prisoner to collect this initial partial fee from the prisoner's trust account, and to collect the remainder of the $105 filing fee, as well as any other fees costs, or sanctions imposed by the Court of Appeals, in monthly installments of 20% of the preceding month's deposits credited to the prisoner's account. The agency having custody of the prisoner shall forward payments from the prisoner's account to the clerk of the district court each time the amount in the account exceeds $10 until all fees, costs, and sanctions are paid for the appeal.

If a prisoner proceeding under this rule fails to file the forms or make the payments required by the Court, the appeal will be dismissed pursuant to Local Rule 45.

(b) Effect of Prior Actions and Appeals. A prisoner who has, on three or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it was frivolous, malicious, or failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, may not proceed on appeal without prepayment of fees unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury. (Added effective September 25, 1996.)

Rule 25(a). Paper size, number of copies, attachments.

(1) Paper size. The Judicial Conference of the United States has adopted 8½ x 11 inch lettersize paper as the standard for use throughout the federal judiciary. All documents and other papers submitted to this Court must conform to this standard.

(2) Number of copies, attachments. Unless otherwise provided by rule, all papers except briefs and appendices submitted to the Fourth Circuit for filing and for consideration by the Court must be in the form of an original paper and three copies. Any attachments to motions which are necessary to an understanding of the matters set forth in the motion must be submitted with three copies and conform to the standard paper size unless advance permission is sought to submit oversized materials. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 25(b). Filing papers, service, certificate of service.

(1) Filing papers. Papers except briefs and appendices are not timely filed unless actually received by the Clerk's Office within the time fixed for filing. Papers are deemed filed upon receipt by the Clerk's Office and papers may be presented either in person or by mail.

Papers may be transmitted for filing by use of telephonic facsimile transmission equipment. In such cases, the original document signed by counsel need not be filed. Although the Clerk's Office has a fax machine, material may be transmitted directly to the Clerk's Office only when an emergency situation exists and advance permission has been obtained to use the Clerk's Office machine. Several printing services in Richmond will accept papers by fax for filing with the Court. Their telephone numbers may be obtained from the Clerk's Office.

(2) Service. Service on a party represented by counsel must be on all counsel of record.

(3) Certificate of service. All papers must be accompanied by a valid certificate of service. The certificate of service of a brief should be bound with the brief as the last, unnumbered page. A certificate of service can be prepared in advance of actual mailing or hand delivery of the paper served. If service is not actually accomplished in the manner and on the date stated in the certificate, an amended certificate of service is required. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 25(a) has been amended to delete the reference to typeset briefs because FRAP 32(a) no longer provides for typeset briefs.

The first sentence of the last paragraph of Rule 25(b)(1) has been moved to Local Rule 27(d) because it refers to the filing of responses to motions. The final sentence of Local Rule 25(b)(1) has been deleted because it duplicates the information in the first sentence of Local Rule 27(d)(1).

Rule 26. State holidays and inclement weather.

Whenever a party in computing a filing or service date relies upon an extension of time due to the inaccessibility of the Clerk's Office because of inclement weather or other conditions, or due to a state holiday, counsel must certify such reliance in the certificate of service or by separate written declaration. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 26.1. Disclosure of corporate affiliations and other entities with a direct financial interest in litigation.

(a) All parties to a civil or bankruptcy case, and all corporate defendants in a criminal case, whether or not they are covered by the terms of FRAP 26.1, shall file a corporate affiliate/financial interest disclosure statement. This rule does not apply to the United States, to state and local governments in cases in which the opposing party is proceeding without counsel, or to parties proceeding in forma pauperis.

(b) The statement shall set forth the information required by FRAP 26.1 and the following:

(1) A trade association shall identify in the disclosure statement all members of the association, their parent corporations, and any publicly held companies that own 10% or more of a member's stock.

(2) All parties shall identify any publicly held corporation, whether or not a party to the present litigation, that has a direct financial interest in the outcome of the litigation by reason of a franchise, lease, other profit sharing agreement, insurance, or indemnity agreement.

(3) Whenever required by FRAP 26.1 or this rule to disclose information about a corporation that has issued shares to the public, a party shall also disclose information about similarly situated master limited partnerships, real estate investment trusts, or other legal entities whose shares are publicly held or traded.

(c) The disclosure statement shall be on a form provided by the Clerk. A negative statement is required if a party has no disclosures to make.

(d) The disclosure statement shall be filed within 10 days of receipt of the notice of docketing and the disclosure form, unless earlier pleadings are submitted for the Court's consideration, in which case the disclosure statement shall be filed at that time. The parties are required to amend their disclosure statements when necessary to maintain their current accuracy. (Amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 26.1(b)(1) has been changed to conform the disclosure requirements for trade associations to the general amendments in FRAP 26.1.

Rule 27(a). Content of motions, notification and consent.

In cases where all parties are represented by counsel, all motions shall contain a statement by counsel that counsel for the other parties to the appeal have been informed of the intended filing of the motion. The statement shall indicate whether the other parties consent to the granting of the motion, or intend to file responses in opposition. (Amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 27(a) has been deleted as unnecessary because the provision has been incorporated into FRAP 27(e).

Rule 27(b). Procedural orders acted on by clerk; reconsideration thereof.

Motions and applications for orders if consented to, or if unopposed after due notice to all interested parties has been given or waived, or if the orders sought are procedural or relate to the preparation or printing of the appendix and briefs on appeal, or are such as are ordinarily granted as of course and without notice or hearing, need not be submitted to the Court, or to a judge thereof. Such orders may be entered for the Court by the clerk, who shall forthwith send copies thereof to the parties.

Any party adversely affected by an order entered by the clerk pursuant to this rule shall be entitled to request reconsideration of the clerk's action by the Court, if within 14 days after entry of the order, such party shall file with the clerk and serve upon the parties to the proceedings a request, in writing, for reconsideration, vacation or modification of the order, stating the grounds for such request. The clerk shall thereupon submit to the Court the request for reconsideration, vacation or modification, the motion or application upon which the order was entered, and any responses by other parties which may have been filed in support or opposition to the request. The Court may thereafter take such action as may be proper. (Amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 27(c) has been redesignated 27(b), and the title has been changed from “Non-Controversial Orders Granted by the Clerk” to “Procedural Orders Acted on by the Clerk.” The change better characterizes the clerk’s delegation of authority.

Rule 27(c). Form of papers; Number of copies.

All motions should be filed with the clerk and comply with FRAP 27(d). Three copies must be filed with the original. A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must accompany the motion unless previously filed with the Court. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. Counsel should always review carefully the specific rule which authorizes relief to ascertain the requirements and any motion should contain or be accompanied by any supporting documents required by a specific rule. If a motion is supported by attachments, these materials should also be served and filed with each copy of the motion. The parties should not make requests for procedural and substantive relief in a single motion, but should make each request in a separate motion. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 27(d). Responses; replies.

(1) Responses. Although any party may file a response to a motion, a party need not respond to a motion until requested to do so by the Court. The three-day mailing period permitted by FRAP 26(c) does not apply to responses requested by the Court or clerk by letter wherein a response date is set forth in the request. A Disclosure of Corporate Affiliations and Other Financial Entities with a Direct Financial Interest in Litigation statement must accompany any response to a motion unless previously filed with the Court. See FRAP 26.1, Local Rule 26.1, and Form A. If the Court acts upon a motion without a response, any party adversely affected by such action may by application to the Court request reconsideration, vacation or modification of the Court’s action.

(2) Replies. The Court will not ordinarily await the filing of a reply before reviewing a motion and response. If movant intends to file a reply and does not want the Court to actively consider the motion and response until a reply is filed, movant shall notify the clerk in writing of the intended filing of the reply and request that this Court not act on the motion until the reply is received. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 27(e) has been redesignated Local Rule 27(d) and the seven-day period for filing a response has been deleted from the local rule because FRAP 27(a)(3)(A) now affords ten days for a response. Reference in the local rule to the absence of a standard time period for filing a reply is deleted because FRAP 27(a)(4) now provides a seven-day reply period. The local rule retains, however, the statement that the court will ordinarily not await the filing of a reply before reviewing the motion or response. Replies are not routinely filed and waiting an additional seven days before actively considering a matter simply delays the disposition of motions by the court. The local rule is amended to provide that when a movant intends to file a reply, the movant shall inform the clerk that a reply is forthcoming and specifically request that the motion not be considered until a reply is received. Subsection 3 of the local rule has been deleted because the statement is now contained in FRAP 27(a)(2)(C)(iii).

Rule 27(e). Single judges and emergency motions.

A single judge of the Fourth Circuit may entertain and decide motions, except a single judge may not dismiss or otherwise ultimately determine an appeal. Presentation of certain emergency motions can be made by application to a single judge at the judge's resident chambers, but it is a matter of an individual judge's discretion as to whether he or she will entertain an emergency motion as a single judge. Applications to a single judge should ordinarily be made to a circuit judge who is resident in the state where the application originated. If time permits, counsel are urged to follow the preferred procedure of presenting all motions to the clerk for presentation to the Court. Counsel should contact the Clerk's Office before making application to a single judge and copies of all papers presented to the judge should also be presented to the clerk for filing. The action of a single judge may be reviewed by the Court or a panel thereof.

Motions filed with the clerk may be submitted and decided by a single judge or by a two- or three-judge panel of the Court. When deemed advisable, motions may be submitted to the full Court for decision. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 27(f). Motions for summary disposition.

Motions for summary affirmance, reversal or dismissal are reserved for extraordinary cases only and should not be filed routinely. Counsel contemplating filing a motion to dispose summarily of an appeal should carefully consider whether the issues raised on appeal are in fact manifestly unsubstantial and appropriate for disposition by motion. Motions for summary affirmance or reversal are seldom granted.

Motions for summary disposition should be made only after briefs are filed. If such motions are submitted before the completion of the briefing schedule, the Court will defer action on the motion until the case is mature for full consideration.

Motions to dismiss based upon the ground that the appeal is not within the jurisdiction of the Court or for other procedural grounds may be filed at any time. The court may also sua sponte summarily dispose of any appeal at any time. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 28(a). Consolidated cases and briefs.

Related appeals or petitions for review will be consolidated in the Office of the Clerk, with notice to all parties, at the time a briefing schedule is established. One brief shall be permitted per side, including parties permitted to intervene, in all cases consolidated by Court order, unless leave to the contrary is granted upon good cause shown. In consolidated cases lead counsel shall be selected by the attorneys on each side and that person's identity made known in writing to the clerk within 7 days of the date of the order of consolidation. In the absence of an agreement by counsel, the clerk shall designate lead counsel. The individual so designated shall be responsible for the coordination, preparation and filing of the briefs and appendix.

Rule 28(b). Attachments to briefs.

Each party shall include, in the body of the brief or in an addendum thereto, the verbatim text of the relevant portion of any constitutional provision, treaty, statute, ordinance, rule or regulation cited in the brief, if its construction is sought, there is controversy among the parties concerning its proper application to the case, or it is otherwise pertinent to the substantive issues on appeal. Each party shall also include in the addendum any unpublished opinion cited pursuant to Local Rule 36(c). Should a party wish to supplement the brief with matters other than those enumerated above, the additional material shall be presented to the Court under separate cover, accompanied by a motion for leave to file that specifically identifies the proposed material, indicates whether it is a matter of record, and sets forth good cause for deviating from the general prohibition of attachments to briefs. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

The last sentence of Local Rule 28(b) has been deleted because the clerk's current practice is to hold a non-conforming brief and require its correction rather than return the brief for resubmission in proper form.

Rule 28(c). Responsibilities of counsel listed on a brief.

The Court will interpret the listing of an attorney on a brief as a representation that he or she is capable of arguing the appeal if lead counsel is unavailable. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 28(d). Joint appeals and consolidations.

Where multiple parties are directed to file a consolidated brief, counsel on the same side of the case should confer and agree upon a means for assuring that the positions of all parties are addressed within the length limits allowed and that each counsel will have an opportunity to review and approve the consolidated brief before it is filed.

Motions to file separate briefs are not favored by the Court and are granted only upon a particularized showing of good cause, such as, but not limited to, cases in which the interest of the parties are adverse. Generally unacceptable grounds for requests to file separate briefs include representations that the issues presented require a brief in excess of the length limitations established by FRAP 32(a)(7) (appropriately addressed by a motion to exceed length limit), that counsel cannot coordinate their efforts due to different geographical locations, or that the participation of separate counsel in the proceedings below entitles each party to separate briefs on appeal.

If a motion to file separate briefs is granted, the length of such briefs may be limited by the Court. The parties shall continue to share the time allowed for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 28(d) has been moved to Local Rule 32(b) and amended to conform to FRAP 32(a)(7).

Rule 28(e). Citation of additional authorities.

Counsel may, without leave of Court, present a letter drawing the Court's attention to supplemental authorities under Rule 28(j). An original and three copies of the letter should be filed with the clerk and a copy of the letter should be mailed to all counsel of record. No argument should be made in the letter. The Court may grant leave for or direct the filing of additional memoranda, which may include additional argument, before, during or after oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 28(f). Statement of facts.

Every opening brief filed by appellants in this Court shall include a separate section, the title of which is STATEMENT OF FACTS. In this section the attorneys will prepare a narrative statement of all of the facts necessary for the Court to reach the conclusion which the brief desires. The said STATEMENT OF FACTS will include exhibit, record, transcript, or appendix references showing the source of the facts stated. An appellee's brief shall also include a STATEMENT OF FACTS so prepared unless appellee is satisfied with appellant's statement of facts. (Added effective June 5, 1996; amended effective December 4, 1996; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 28(g), which has been redesignated 28(f), has been amended to conform to FRAP 28(a)(7) (listing the statement of facts as a separate section) and FRAP 28(b) (providing that appellee is not required to include a statement of facts unless appellee is dissatisfied with appellant's statement).

Rule 29. Motion for leave to file brief as amicus curiae (Deleted December 1, 1998).*NOTE

Local Rule 29 has been deleted because the federal rule now details the filing requirements for amicus curiae briefs.

Rule 30(a). Attorney sanctions for unnecessary appendix designations.

The Court, on its own motion or on motion of any party, may impose sanctions against attorneys who unreasonably and vexatiously increase the costs of litigation through the inclusion of unnecessary material in the appendix. Attorneys shall receive reasonable notice and opportunity to respond before the imposition of any sanction. A party's motion for the imposition of sanctions will be entertained only if filed within 14 days after entry of judgment and only if counsel for the moving party previously objected to the designation of the allegedly unnecessary material in writing to opposing counsel within 10 days of the material's designation. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 30(b). Appendix contents; Number of copies.

Although there is no limit on the length of the appendix except as provided in Local Rule 32(a), it is unnecessary to include everything in the appendix. The appendix should contain only those parts of the record vital to the understanding of the basic issues on appeal. The use of a selectively abridged record allows the judges to refer easily to relevant parts of the record and saves the parties the considerable expense of reproducing the entire record.

In all criminal appeals seeking review of the application of the sentencing guidelines, appellant shall include the sentencing hearing transcript and presentence report in the appendix.

Pursuant to the authority granted by FRAP 30(a)(3), the Court requires that only six copies of the appendix must be filed with appellant's opening brief and a copy served on counsel for each party separately represented. Appointed counsel may file five copies and any party proceeding in forma pauperis who is not represented by Court-appointed counsel may file four copies. If the Court allows a deferred appendix the parties routinely file four page-proof copies of the brief in lieu of the requisite number of copies. After the deferred appendix is filed, the parties must replace their page-proof copies with the requisite number of copies of their final brief, which must contain proper references to the appendix. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 30(c). Responsibility of parties.

Notwithstanding that FRAP 30 provides that the appellant shall prepare and file the appendix, the Court considers the coordination of preparing the appendix to be the responsibility of both sides. The failure of a side to designate does not absolve the other side from the responsibility.

Except under the most extraordinary circumstances, supplementary appendices will not be accepted. If the appellant omits from the appendix the portions designated by the appellee, the appellant will be required to file a corrected appendix incorporating such material, and to bear the cost regardless of the outcome of the appeal.

If a party files a motion for leave to file a supplemental appendix, the motion must specifically identify the contents of the supplemental appendix, state that the items are matters of record, and set forth good cause why the original appendix should not be returned for insertion of the additional materials. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 30(d). Dispensing with appendix.

Motions to proceed on the original record pursuant to FRAP 30(f) are carefully reviewed in the Fourth Circuit and are not usually granted unless the appellant is proceeding in forma pauperis, the record is short, or the appeal is expedited. Even if the motion is granted, counsel must include an abbreviated appendix consisting of:

- i. pertinent district court docket entries,
- ii. indictment or complaint,
- iii. judgment or order being appealed,
- iv. notice of appeal,
- v. any crucial portions of the transcript of proceedings referred to in appellant's brief,
- vi. a copy of the order granting leave to proceed on the original record.

The requisite number of copies of the abbreviated appendix as set forth in Local Rule 30(b) must be filed with the brief, but it may be included as part of the brief rather than being reproduced separately. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 31(a). Shortened time for service and filing of briefs in criminal cases.

Pursuant to the authority conferred by FRAP 31(a)(2), the time for serving and filing briefs in criminal appeals is shortened as follows: the appellant shall serve and file appellant's brief and appendix within thirty-five days after the date on which the briefing order is filed; the appellee shall serve and file appellee's brief within twenty-one days after service of the brief of the appellant; the appellant may serve and file a reply brief within ten days after service of the brief of the appellee. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 31(b). Briefing orders.

A formal briefing schedule shall be sent to the parties upon receipt of the record, notification that the record is complete pursuant to Local Rule 10(a), or when the Clerk determines that no hearing was held for which a transcript is necessary—whichever occurs first. Thus, the time for designating the contents of the joint appendix and the filing of briefs is controlled by the briefing order and not the receipt of the record as provided in FRAP 31(a)(1). (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 31(c). Filing and service.

Briefs and appendices are deemed filed on the date of mailing if first class mail or other classes of mail at least as expeditious are used. If a courier service is used, the briefs and appendices are deemed timely filed if the briefs and appendices are given to the courier service on or before the due date to be dispatched to the Clerk's Office for delivery within three calendar days. Filing must be within the time allowed by the briefing order. A brief must be accompanied by a valid certificate of service, which should be bound with the brief as the last, unnumbered page. A certificate of service can be prepared in advance of actual mailing or hand delivery of the paper served. If service is not actually accomplished in the manner and on the date stated in the certificate, an amended certificate of service is required.

Extensions will be granted only when extraordinary circumstances exist. A motion for an extension of time to file a brief must be filed well in advance of the date the brief is due and must set forth the additional time requested and the reasons for the request. The Court discourages these motions and may deny the motion entirely or grant a lesser period of time than the time requested. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 4, 1996.)

Rule 31(d). Number of copies.

Each party must file eight copies of the brief with the clerk and serve two copies on counsel for each party separately represented. Appointed counsel may file six copies and serve one copy on counsel for each party separately represented. Any party proceeding in forma pauperis who is not represented by Court-appointed counsel may file four copies, with service of one copy on counsel for each party separately represented. If an en banc hearing or rehearing en banc is scheduled, additional copies of briefs may be requested. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 32(a). Reproduction of briefs and appendices.

Double-sided copying of briefs is permitted but not preferred. Double-sided copying of appendices is preferred in all cases. If an appendix is prepared by a commercial printer in a court-appointed case, the materials contained in the appendix should be reproduced on both sides of a sheet because reimbursement for copying expenses will be limited to 35 cents per double-sided sheet of the joint appendix. No joint appendix in a court-appointed case should exceed 250 sheets without advance permission from the Court; unless such permission is granted, reimbursement of copy expenses will be limited to 250 sheets. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 32(a) has been deleted in its entirety as superseded by FRAP 32(a)(7).

Former Local Rule 32(b) has been redesignated Local Rule 32(a). Consistent with the FRAP amendments, it deletes reference to typeset briefs. It recasts as a preference the court's former requirement that materials in the joint appendix be reproduced on both sides of a sheet in court-appointed cases. FRAP 32(d) requires the court to accept any document in conformity with the requirements of FRAP but permits the court by local rule or order in a particular case to accept documents that do not meet all the FRAP form requirements. FRAP 32(a)(1) and 32(b) provide that briefs and appendices should be copied on only one side of the paper. Several years ago, the Court adopted a double-sided copying requirement and limited the size of the appendix to control excessive reproduction costs in Criminal Justice Act cases. The provision has proved an effective cost reduction mechanism which should be retained if possible. The amended local rule does this by stating that reimbursement will be limited to $.35 per double-sided sheet if the appendix is reproduced by a commercial printer, and that reimbursement will be limited to 250 sheets (500 pages) unless counsel obtained leave to file a longer appendix.

Rule 32(b). Length of briefs.

The Fourth Circuit encourages short, concise briefs. Under no circumstances may a brief exceed the limits set forth in FRAP 32(a)(7) without the Court's advance permission.

A motion for permission to submit a longer brief must be made to the Court of Appeals at least 10 days prior to the due date of the brief and must be supported by a statement of reasons. These motions are not favored and will be granted only for exceptional reasons. (Amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 32(b) contains some of the information previously found in old Local Rule 28(d), but deletes the second sentence of old Local Rule 28(d), which was superseded by limits set forth in FRAP 32(a)(7). The last sentence of former Local Rule 28(d) has also been deleted from Local Rule 32(b) because footnotes and narrow margins can no longer be used to circumvent the size limitations for briefs established by the new rules.

Rule 32(c). Correction of briefs and appendices.

If briefs, appendices, or other papers are illegible or are not in the form required by the federal rules or by this Court's local rules or standards when filed, counsel will be required to file corrected copies of the document. If the corrected copies are not submitted within the time allowed by the clerk, they must be accompanied by a motion to file out of time. (Added effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Former Local Rule 32(c) has been deleted because FRAP 32(a)(2)(F) requires counsel's phone number.

Rule 33. Circuit mediation conferences.

All civil and agency cases in which all parties are represented by counsel on appeal will be reviewed by a circuit mediator after the filing of the docketing statements required by Local Rule 3(b). The circuit mediator will determine whether a mediation conference may assist either the Court or the parties. Counsel for a party may also request a conference if counsel believes it will be of assistance to the Court or the parties. Counsel's participation is required at any scheduled conference. Mediation conferences will generally be conducted by telephone but may be conducted in person in the discretion of a circuit mediator. Mediation conferences may be adjourned from time to time by a circuit mediator. Purposes of the mediation conference include:

- (a) Jurisdictional review;
- (b) Simplification, clarification, and reduction of issues;
- (c) Discussion of settlement; and
- (d) Consideration of any other matter relating to the efficient management and disposition of the appeal.

Although the time allowed for filing of briefs is not automatically tolled by proceedings under this local rule, if the parties wish to pursue, or are engaged in, settlement discussions, counsel for any party may move to extend the briefing schedule. The mediator, through the Clerk of the Court, may enter orders which control the course of proceedings and, upon agreement of the parties, dispose of the case.

Statements and comments made during all mediation conferences and papers or electronic information generated during the process are not included in Court files except to the extent disclosed by orders entered under this local rule. Information disclosed in the mediation process shall be kept confidential and shall not be disclosed by a circuit mediator, counsel, or parties to the judges deciding the appeal or to any other person outside the mediation program participants. (Adopted and effective June 8, 1994; amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective March 4, 1998.)

Rule 34(a). Oral argument; Pre-argument review and summary disposition of appeals; Statement regarding the need for oral argument.

In the interest of docket control and to expedite the final disposition of pending cases, the chief judge may designate a panel or panels to review any pending case at any time before argument for disposition under this rule.

In reviewing pending cases before argument, the panel will utilize the minimum standards set forth in FRAP 34(a)(2). If all of the judges of the panel to which a pending appeal has been referred conclude that oral argument is not to be allowed, they may make any appropriate disposition without oral argument including, but not limited to, affirmance or reversal.

Because any case may be decided without oral argument, all major arguments should be fully developed in the briefs. In furtherance of the disposition of pending cases under this rule, parties may include in their briefs at the conclusion of the argument a statement setting forth the reasons why, in their opinion, oral argument should be heard. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 34(b). Informal briefs.

Whenever an application for a certificate of appealability from the denial of a writ of habeas corpus or a motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 is filed, or whenever any pro se appeal is filed, the clerk shall notify the appellant that appellant shall file, within twenty-one days after receipt of such notice, an informal brief, listing the specific issues and supporting facts and arguments raised on appeal. Appellant's informal brief and any informal brief filed by appellee shall be considered, together with the record and other relevant papers, by the panel to which the proceeding has been referred. The Court will limit its review to the issues raised in the informal brief.

The informal brief may be submitted on a form provided by the clerk and shall provide the specific information required by the form. The parties need not limit their briefs solely to the form. An additional supporting memorandum may be attached if a party deems it necessary in order to address adequately the issues raised, but the briefs with any attachments shall not exceed the length limitations established by FRAP 32(a)(7). It is not necessary to cite cases in an informal brief. Two copies of the brief and attachments, if any, must be filed with the Court and a copy mailed to opposing counsel.

Once an informal briefing schedule has been established the parties may file a formal brief only with the permission of the Court. The Court initially reviews cases that are informally briefed under its procedures set forth in Local Rule 34(a) pertaining to pre-argument review.

If the panel reviewing an informal brief submitted by an indigent pro se litigant determines that further briefing and possible oral argument would be of assistance, counsel will be appointed and directed to file additional formal briefs. In any appeal that has been informally briefed, the Court may direct that additional briefs be filed prior to oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended June 5, 1996, September 25, 1996; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 34(c). Court sessions and notification to counsel.

The court sits in Richmond, Virginia, for five consecutive days in October, November, December, February, March, April, May and June for its regular court terms. Court sessions are usually the first full week of each month, but adjustments are made because of holidays and elections, and special sessions may be scheduled at any time, anywhere in the circuit. Panels of the court also regularly sit in the first full week of a scheduled month in Baltimore, Maryland, usually at least three times per year. On specified days during the summer months, panels sit in various cities throughout the circuit.

The Court initially hears and decides cases in panels consisting of three judges with the Chief Judge or most senior active judge presiding. Each panel regularly hears oral argument in four cases each day during court week; additional cases are added as required.

Attorneys appearing for oral argument must register with the Clerk's Office on the morning of argument to learn of courtroom assignment, order of appearance, and allocation of oral argument time. Counsel not already a member of the Fourth Circuit bar will be admitted to practice before the Court at that time upon compliance with the provisions of Local Rule 46(b). Registration commences at 8:00 a.m. and must be completed by 8:30 a.m., with the exception of Friday, when registration commences at 7:15 a.m. and must be completed by 7:45 a.m.

The Court convenes at 9:30 a.m., with the exception of Friday, when it convenes at 8:30 a.m.

Preparation for the argument calendar begins in the Clerk's Office approximately two months prior to argument. Immediately upon receiving notice that a case has been tentatively assigned to an argument session, counsel must inform the clerk of any conflict or other matter that would affect scheduling of the case for that session. Once a case has been scheduled for argument, it will be removed from the argument calendar only for extreme unforeseeable problems. Excusal from an established oral argument date is not granted because of a prior professional commitment. Although a case will not be removed from the calendar because of a scheduling conflict by counsel after the notification of oral argument has been issued, the Court may direct another lawyer from the same firm to argue the appeal if counsel of record cannot be present. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 34(d). Argument time.

Briefs for the cases assigned to a hearing panel are distributed by the clerk to the judges on a hearing panel at the time the hearing panel assignments are made. The members of the Court hearing oral argument will have read the briefs before the hearing and therefore will be familiar with the case. In oral argument, counsel should emphasize the dispositive issues.

Since the appellant is allowed to open and close the argument, counsel for appellant should indicate at registration before oral argument how much time counsel wants to reserve for rebuttal. It is recommended that no more than two attorneys argue per side. Each side is normally allowed 20 minutes, even in consolidated cases, but counsel may not need the full time allotted or the Court may shorten the time allotted. In social security disability cases, black lung cases, and labor cases where the primary issue is whether the agency's decision is supported by substantial evidence and in criminal cases where the primary issue involves the application of the sentencing guidelines, each side is limited to 15 minutes. In black lung cases in which the Director, Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, has been granted leave to file a separate brief, the Director will share argument time with whichever side the Director's brief supports.

If counsel believes that more time is needed for oral argument, a written motion setting forth the reasons for additional time and whether the other parties consent must be submitted well in advance of the hearing date. The Court may sua sponte extend the allotted time during the argument or it may terminate the argument whenever in its judgment further argument is unnecessary. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998; amended effective June 1, 1999.)

NOTE

Local Rule 34(d) was amended to provide that the court may reduce argument time from 30 minutes when extended argument is unnecessary.

Rule 34(e). Motion to submit on briefs.

As soon as possible upon completion of the briefing schedule or within 10 days of tentative notification of oral argument, whichever is earlier, any party may file a motion to submit the case on the briefs without the necessity of oral argument. Such motions are not granted as a matter of course. A motion to submit on briefs should not be used to alleviate a scheduling conflict after the notification of oral argument has been issued. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 34(e) has been amended to conform to the court's practice of requiring that motions to submit on the briefs be filed within ten days of notification to counsel that a case is tentatively calendared. This notification may occur before briefing is completed.

Rule 35. En banc proceedings.

(a) Petition for rehearing en banc. A petition for rehearing en banc must be made at the same time, and in the same document, as a petition for rehearing. The request for en banc consideration shall be stated plainly in the title of the petition. Petitions for rehearing en banc will be distributed to all active and senior judges of the Court, and to any visiting judge who may have heard and decided the appeal.

(b) Decision to hear or rehear a case en banc. A majority of the circuit judges who are in regular active service may grant a hearing or rehearing en banc. For purposes of determining a majority under this rule, the term majority means of all judges of the Court in regular active service who are presently serving, without regard to whether a judge is disqualified. Unless a judge requests that a poll be taken on the petition, none will be taken. If no poll is requested, the panel's order on a petition for rehearing will bear the notation that no member of the Court requested a poll. If a poll is requested and hearing or rehearing en banc is denied, the order will reflect the vote of each participating judge. A judge who joins the Court after a petition has been submitted to the Court, and before an order has been entered, will be eligible to vote on the decision to hear or rehear a case en banc.

(c) Decision of cases heard or reheard en banc. An en banc hearing will be before all eligible, active and participating judges of the Court. An en banc rehearing will be before all eligible and participating active judges, and any senior judge of the Court who sat on the panel that decided the case originally. An active judge who takes senior status after a case is heard or reheard by an en banc Court will be eligible to participate in the en banc decision. A judge who joins the Court after argument of a case to an en banc Court will not be eligible to participate in the decision of the case. A judge who joins the Court after submission of a case to an en banc Court without oral argument will participate in the decision of the case. Granting of rehearing en banc vacates the previous panel judgment and opinion; the rehearing is a review of the judgment or decision from which review is sought and not a review of the judgment of the panel. (The circuit takes the position that the change of wording in 28 U.S.C. § 46(c) referring to participation in en banc decisions does not alter the long-standing rule that the en banc Court reviews the decision from which review is sought in this Court, not the decision of a panel.)

(d) Additional copies of briefs and appendix for en banc hearing or rehearing. The Court's order granting hearing or rehearing en banc may require the parties to file additional copies of the briefs and appendix. Each party will bear the initial cost of additional copies of its own briefs. The party that requested the hearing or rehearing en banc will bear the initial cost of filing additional copies of the appendix. In the event that cross petitions for hearing or rehearing en banc are granted, the parties will share equally the initial cost of preparing additional copies of the appendix. (Amended effective March 9, 1994; amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended December 4, 1996; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 36(a). Publication of decisions.

Opinions delivered by the Court will be published only if the opinion satisfies one or more of the standards for publication:

- i. It establishes, alters, modifies, clarifies, or explains a rule of law within this Circuit; or
- ii. It involves a legal issue of continuing public interest; or
- iii. It criticizes existing law; or
- iv. It contains a historical review of a legal rule that is not duplicative; or
- v. It resolves a conflict between panels of this Court, or creates a conflict with a decision in another circuit.

The court will publish opinions only in cases that have been fully briefed and presented at oral argument. Opinions in such cases will be published if the author or a majority of the joining judges believes the opinion satisfies one or more of the standards for publication, and all members of the court have acknowledged in writing their receipt of the proposed opinion. A judge may file a published opinion without obtaining all acknowledgments only if the opinion has been in circulation for ten days. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 36(b). Unpublished dispositions.

Unpublished opinions give counsel, the parties, and the lower court or agency a statement of the reasons for the decision. They may not recite all of the facts or background of the case and may simply adopt the reasoning of the lower court. They are sent only to the trial court or agency in which the case originated, to counsel for all parties in the case, and to litigants in the case not represented by counsel. Any individual or institution may receive copies of all published and certain unpublished opinions of the Court by paying an annual subscription fee for this service. In addition, copies of such opinions are sent to all circuit judges, district judges, bankruptcy judges, magistrate judges, clerks of district court, United States Attorneys, and Federal Public Defenders upon request. All opinions are available on ABBS, the Appellant Bulletin Board System, for a minimum of six months after issuance. The Federal Reporter periodically lists the result in all cases involving unpublished opinions. Copies of any unpublished opinion are retained in the file of the case in the Clerk's Office and a copy may be obtained from the Clerk's Office for $2.00.

Counsel may move for publication of an unpublished opinion, citing reasons. If such motion is granted, the unpublished opinion will be published without change in result. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 36(c). Citation of unpublished dispositions.

In the absence of unusual circumstances, this Court will not cite an unpublished disposition in any of its published opinions or unpublished dispositions. Citation of this Court's unpublished dispositions in briefs and oral arguments in this Court and in the district courts within this Circuit is disfavored, except for the purpose of establishing res judicata, estoppel, or the law of the case.

If counsel believes, nevertheless, that an unpublished disposition of any court has precedential value in relation to a material issue in a case and that there is no published opinion that would serve as well, such disposition may be cited if counsel serves a copy thereof on all other parties in the case and on the Court. Such service may be accomplished by including a copy of the disposition in an attachment or addendum to the brief pursuant to the procedures set forth in Local Rule 28(b). (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

CASE NOTES

Use of Unpublished Dispositions. — Since unpublished opinions are not regarded as binding precedent, such opinions cannot be considered in deciding whether particular conduct violates clearly established law for purposes of adjudging entitlement to qualified immunity. Hogan v. Carter, 85 F.3d 1113 (4th Cir. 1996), cert. denied, 519 U.S. 974, 117 S. Ct. 408, 136 L. Ed. 2d 321 (1996).

Rule 39(a). Printing costs.

The cost of printing or otherwise producing necessary copies of briefs and appendices shall be taxable as costs at a rate equal to actual cost, but not higher than $4.00 per page of photographic reproduction of typed material. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 39(a) has been amended to delete reference to printing costs for typeset briefs.

Rule 39(b). Bill of costs.

The verified bill of costs may be that of a party or counsel, and should be accompanied by the printer's itemized statement of charges. When costs are sought for or against the United States, counsel should cite the statutory authority relied upon. Taxation of costs will not be delayed by the filing of a petition for rehearing or other postjudgment motion. A late affidavit for costs must be accompanied by a motion for leave to file. The clerk rules on all bills of costs and objections in the first instance. (Added effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 39(c). Recovery of costs in the district court.

The only costs generally taxable in the Court of Appeals are: (1) the docketing fee if the case is reversed; and (2) the cost of printing or reproducing briefs and appendices, including exhibits.

Although some costs are "taxable" in the Court of Appeals, all costs are recoverable in the district court after issuance of the mandate. If the matter of costs has not been settled before issuance of the mandate, the clerk will send a supplemental "Bill of Costs" to the district court for inclusion in the mandate at a later date.

Various costs incidental to an appeal must be settled at the district court level. Among such items are: (1) the cost of the reporter's transcript; (2) the fee for filing the notice of appeal; (3) the fee for preparing and transmitting the record; and (4) the premiums paid for any required appeal bond. Application for recovery of these expenses by the successful party on appeal must be made in the district court, and should be made only after issuance of the mandate by the Court of Appeals. These costs, if erroneously applied for in the Court of Appeals, will be disallowed without prejudice to the right to reapply for them in the district court. (Added effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 40(a). Filing of petition.

Although petitions for rehearing are filed in a great many cases, few are granted. Filing a petition solely for purposes of delay or in order merely to reargue the case is an abuse of privilege.

Whenever a request for rehearing en banc is contained in a petition, such fact must be stated plainly on the cover of and in the title of the document.

The Court requires 4 copies of the petition. If the petition contains a request for rehearing en banc, the Court requires 20 copies. In either case, a pro se party who is indigent need file only the original. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 40(b). Statement of purpose.

A petition for rehearing must contain an introduction stating that, in counsel's judgment, one or more of the following situations exist:

- i. A material factual or legal matter was overlooked in the decision.
- ii. A change in the law occurred after the case was submitted and was overlooked by the panel.
- iii. The opinion is in conflict with a decision of the United States Supreme Court, this Court, or another court of appeals and the conflict is not addressed in the opinion.
- iv. The proceeding involves one or more questions of exceptional importance.

A petition should only be made to direct the Court's attention to one or more of the above situations. The points to be raised should be succinctly listed in counsel's statement of purpose. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 40(b) has been amended to add a fourth ground for filing a petition for rehearing. The local rule now incorporates the standard contained in FRAP 35(b)(1). Because the statement of purpose section of a petition for rehearing is not a requirement of FRAP, the provision in Local Rule 40(b) regarding rejection of a petition which fails to contain such a statement has been deleted.

Rule 40(c). Time limits for filing petitions.

The Court strictly enforces the time limits for filing petitions for rehearing and petitions for rehearing en banc. The Clerk's Office will deny as untimely any petition received in the Clerk's Office later than 45 days after entry of judgment in any civil case where the United States, or an agency or officer thereof is a party, or 14 days after the entry of judgment in any other case. The only grounds for an extension of time to file a petition, or to accept an untimely petition, are as follows:

i. the death or serious illness of counsel, or of a member of counsel's immediate family (or in the case of a party proceeding without counsel, the death or serious illness of the party or a member of the party's immediate family); or

ii. an extraordinary circumstance wholly beyond the control of counsel or of a party proceeding without counsel.

Petitions for rehearing and petitions for en banc rehearing from incarcerated persons proceeding without the assistance of counsel are deemed filed when they are delivered to prison or jail officials. All other such petitions are deemed filed only when received in the Clerk's Office. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 40(d). Papers filed after denial of a petition for rehearing.

Except for timely petitions for rehearing en banc, cost and attorney fee matters, and other matters ancillary to the filing of an application for writ of certiorari with the Supreme Court, the Office of the Clerk shall not receive motions or other papers requesting further relief in a case after the Court has denied a petition for rehearing or the time for filing a petition for rehearing has expired. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

Rule 41. Motion for stay of the mandate.

A motion for stay of the issuance of the mandate shall not be granted simply upon request. Ordinarily the motion shall be denied unless there is a specific showing that it is not frivolous or filed merely for delay. The motion must present a substantial question or set forth good or probable cause for a stay. Stay requests are normally acted upon without a request for a response. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 42. Voluntary dismissals.

In civil cases, the stipulation of dismissal or motion for voluntary dismissal may be signed by counsel. In criminal cases, however, the agreement or motion must be signed or consented to by the individual party appellant personally or counsel must file a statement setting forth the basis for counsel's understanding that the appellant wishes to dismiss the appeal and the efforts made to obtain the appellant's written consent. Counsel must serve a copy of this statement on appellant. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 45. Dismissals for failure to prosecute.

When an appellant in either a docketed or non-docketed appeal fails to comply with the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure or the rules or directives of this Court, the clerk shall notify the appellant or, if appellant is represented by counsel, appellant's counsel that upon the expiration of 15 days from the date thereof the appeal will be dismissed for want of prosecution, unless prior to that date appellant remedies the default. Should the appellant fail to comply within said 15-day period, the clerk shall then enter an order dismissing said appeal for want of prosecution, and shall issue a certified copy thereof to the clerk of the district court as and for the mandate. In no case shall the appellant be entitled to reinstate the case and remedy the default after the same shall have been dismissed under this rule, unless by order of this Court for good cause shown. The dismissal of an appeal shall not limit the authority of this Court, in an appropriate case, to take disciplinary action against defaulting counsel. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

Local Rule 45 eliminates the requirement that the clerk notify appellant personally of counsel's default before dismissing an appeal for failure to prosecute.

Rule 46(a). Legal assistance to indigents by law students.

An eligible law student with the written consent of an indigent and the attorney of record may appear in this Court on behalf of that indigent in any case. An eligible law student with the written consent of the United States Attorney or authorized representative may also appear in this Court on behalf of the United States in any case. An eligible law student with the written consent of the State Attorney General or authorized representative may also appear in this Court on behalf of that state in any case. In each case, the written consent shall be filed with the clerk.

An eligible law student may assist in the preparation of briefs and other documents to be filed in this Court, but such briefs or documents must be signed by the attorney of record. The student may also participate in oral argument with leave of the Court, but only in the presence of the attorney of record. The attorney of record shall assume personal professional responsibility for the law student's work and for supervising the quality of that work. The attorney should be familiar with the case and prepared to supplement or correct any written or oral statement made by the student.

In order to make an appearance pursuant to this rule, the law student must:

1. Be duly enrolled in a law school approved by the American Bar Association;
2. Have completed legal studies amounting to at least four (4) semesters, or the equivalent if the school is on some basis other than a semester basis;
3. Be certified by the dean of the student's law school as being of good character and competent legal ability which certification shall be filed with the clerk. This certification may be withdrawn by the dean at any time by mailing notice to the clerk or by termination by this Court without notice of hearing and without any showing of cause;
4. Be introduced to the Court by an attorney admitted to practice before this Court;
5. Neither ask for nor receive any compensation or remuneration of any kind from the person on whose behalf the student renders services, but this shall not prevent an attorney, legal aid bureau, law school, public defender agency, a State, or the United States from paying compensation to the eligible law student, nor shall it prevent any agency from making such charges for its services as it may otherwise properly require;

6. Certify in writing that he or she has read and is familiar with the Code of Professional Responsibility or Rules of Professional Conduct in force in the state in which the student's law school is located. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 46(b). Admission to practice.

Only attorneys admitted to the bar of this Court may practice before the Court. An attorney may be named on a brief filed in this Court without being admitted to the bar of the Fourth Circuit, provided that at least one lawyer admitted to practice in this Court also appears on the brief. Any other document submitted by an attorney who is not a member of the bar of the Fourth Circuit will be accepted for filing conditioned on his or her qualifying for membership within a reasonable time.

Each applicant for admission to the bar of this Court shall file with the clerk an application on the form approved by the Court and furnished by the clerk. Thereafter, upon written or oral motion of a member of the bar of the Court, the Court will act upon the application. A qualified attorney may be admitted upon personal appearance in open court. It is not necessary that an applicant appear in open court for the purpose of being admitted unless the Court shall otherwise order.

The requisite $40.00 fee must accompany the application, but attorneys appointed by the Court to represent a party in forma pauperis, counsel for the United States and any agency thereof who has a case pending before this Court, and law clerks to the judges of the Court and to the district judges, magistrate judges, and bankruptcy judges within this Circuit shall be admitted to the bar of this Court without the payment of an admission fee.

Fees collected by the clerk from applicants for admission shall be deposited in a bank designated by the Court and shall be used for the benefit of the bench and bar in the administration of justice. A certificate indicating that an attorney has been admitted to practice before the Fourth Circuit will be sent to counsel by mail after admission. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 46(c). Appearance of counsel; Withdrawal; Substitutions.

Each attorney of record must file a written appearance with the clerk within 10 days after the appeal is docketed or after being retained or appointed. At the time of docketing, the clerk will send to each counsel or party in the trial court a "designation of counsel" form. This form should be filled out and returned to the Clerk of the Fourth Circuit within 10 days. Thereafter, the Court will send correspondence, notices of oral argument, and copies of final decisions only to those attorneys who have filed their appearance forms. More than one attorney of the same firm may sign the same form. This form does not affect the credit line listed on printed opinions, as that information is furnished to publishing firms from those names listed on the briefs.

Once an appearance in an appeal has been filed, an attorney may not withdraw from representation without notice to the party he or she is representing and consent of the Court. A motion to withdraw should state fully the reason for the request. Substitution of counsel of record can be accomplished by submitting a counsel of record form or written appearance for new counsel along with existing counsel's motion to withdraw or strike appearance. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 46(d). Appointment of counsel.

In direct criminal appeals of indigents, appointment of counsel is made upon the docketing of the appeal without prior notice to the attorney who represented the indigent in the case below. The Court will pay a maximum of $2,500 plus reasonable expenses in direct criminal appeals. The duty of counsel appointed under the CJA extends through advising an unsuccessful appellant in writing of the right to seek review in the Supreme Court. If the appellant requests in writing that a petition for a writ of certiorari be filed and in counsel's considered judgment there are grounds for seeking Supreme Court review, counsel shall file such a petition. If appellant requests that a petition for a writ of certiorari be filed but counsel believes that such a petition would be frivolous, counsel may file a motion to withdraw with the Court of Appeals. The motion must reflect that a copy was served on the client and that the client was informed of the right to file a response to the motion within seven days. The Clerk will hold the motion after filing for fifteen days before submitting it to the Court to allow time for appellant's response, if any, to be received.

Assignment of counsel is discretionary in other indigent cases. Therefore, such cases receive a preliminary review before a decision is made regarding appointment of counsel. In assigning counsel, the Court may direct counsel to brief a particular issue, but counsel is free to address any additional issues which appear to be meritorious.

Unless compensation for legal services becomes available to assigned counsel by statute, the Court will pay the attorney a maximum fee of $750 plus expenses.

To receive payment from the Court, court-appointed or court-assigned counsel in all cases must submit to the Clerk's Office an itemized statement of expenses, with receipts, within sixty days of final disposition of the case. Depending upon the course of the case, this may be sixty days from (1) the date of judgment, (2) dismissal of the appeal, or (3) denial of a petition for rehearing. Before the expiration of the sixty-day time period the Court, for good cause shown, may grant counsel an extension of time to file the application for compensation and reimbursement. If court-appointed counsel files a petition for writ of certiorari with the Supreme Court, the 60-day period for applying for compensation and reimbursement runs from the date of filing the petition for writ or certiorari. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 46(e). Attorney's fees and expenses.

The Court may award attorney's fees and expenses whenever authorized by statute. Any application for an award must include a reference to the statutory basis for the request and a detailed itemization of the amounts requested. Court-appointed counsel may apply for an award of fees and expenses, but any award by the Court is in lieu of the regular appointment fees provided by the Court. In certain agency cases, counsel may submit the standard government form for fees and expenses provided by the agency for approval by the Court. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Legal Periodicals. — For note, "Attorney Fees, Freedom of Information, and Pro Se Litigants: Per Se Prohibitions Frustrate Policies," see 26 Wm. & Mary L. Rev. 349 (1985).

Rule 46(f). Proceeding pro se.

An individual may proceed without the aid of counsel, but should so inform the Court at the earliest possible time. In any pro se appeal, the clerk shall notify the parties that they shall file informal briefs as provided by Local Rule 34(b). The Court will limit its review to the issues raised in the informal briefs and will consider the need for the appointment of counsel when reviewing the appeal under Local Rule 34(a). Cases involving pro se litigants are ordinarily not scheduled for oral argument. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; further amended September 25, 1996.)

Rule 46(g). Rules of disciplinary enforcement.

(1) A member of the bar of this Court may be disciplined by this Court as a result of

(a) Conviction in any court of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any state, territory or commonwealth of the United States, of any felony or of any lesser crime involving false swearing, misrepresentation, fraud, willful failure to file income tax returns, deceit, bribery, extortion, misappropriation, or theft;

(b) Imposition of discipline by any other court of whose bar the attorney is a member, or an attorney's disbarment by consent or resignation from the bar of such court while an investigation into allegations of misconduct is pending;

(c) Conduct with respect to this Court which violates the rules of professional conduct or responsibility in effect in the state or other jurisdiction in which the attorney maintains his or her principal office, the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, the local rules of this Court, or orders or other instructions of this Court; or

(d) Any other conduct unbecoming a member of the bar of this Court.

(2) Discipline may consist of disbarment, suspension from practice before this Court, monetary sanction, removal from the roster of attorneys eligible for appointment as court-appointed counsel, reprimand, or any other sanction that the Court may deem appropriate. Disbarment is the presumed discipline for conviction of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a) above. The identical discipline imposed by another court is presumed appropriate for discipline taken as a result of that other court's action pursuant to paragraph (1)(b). A monetary sanction imposed on disciplinary grounds is the personal responsibility of the attorney disciplined, and may not be reimbursed by a client.

(3) The clerk reviews reports received from other courts concerning discipline imposed on members of the bar of this Court. He refers to the Court all disbarments, suspensions, resignations during the pendency of misconduct investigations, and other actions sufficient to cast doubt upon the member's continuing qualification to practice before this Court.

(4) The clerk issues a notice to show cause why a member of the bar shall not be disciplined by this Court upon receipt of official notification of an attorney's conviction of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a) or of the imposition of discipline by another court referred to this Court pursuant to paragraph (3) above, or upon the Court's determination that cause may exist for discipline pursuant to paragraphs (1)(c) or (1)(d). Such notice is sent by certified mail, directs that a response be filed within 30 days of the date of the notice, and directs that the attorney complete and return to the clerk within that time a declaration of the names and addresses of other bars to which he or she is admitted, using the form supplied by the clerk, whether or not the attorney chooses otherwise to respond to the notice. The clerk also appends a copy of Local Rule 46(g).

(5) Upon receiving official notification that a member of the bar has been convicted of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a), the clerk automatically will issue an order suspending the attorney's privilege to practice before this Court pending the Court's determination of appropriate discipline.

(6) An attorney to whom a notice to show cause has been sent may consent to disbarment, by filing with the clerk an affidavit stating that the attorney desires to consent to disbarment and that:

(a) The attorney's consent is freely and voluntarily rendered; the attorney is not being subjected to coercion or duress; the attorney is fully aware of the implications of so consenting;

(b) The attorney is aware that there is a presently pending proceeding involving allegations that there exist grounds for the attorney's discipline, the nature of which the attorney shall specifically set forth;

(c) The attorney acknowledges that the material facts so alleged are true; and

(d) The attorney so consents because the attorney knows that he or she cannot successfully defend himself or herself.

The order disbarring the attorney on consent is a matter of public record. However, the affidavit will not be publicly disclosed or made available for use in any other proceeding except upon order of this Court.

(7) If the attorney fails to respond to the notice within 30 days, or such other time as the court shall allow, the clerk enters an order imposing the presumptive discipline. If no presumptive discipline is specified for the conduct, the clerk notifies the court of the attorney's non-response and the court takes such action as it deems appropriate.

(8) All matters pertaining to discipline of attorneys are submitted to the court's Standing Panel on Attorney Discipline, which consists of three active circuit judges, each of whom is appointed by the Chief Judge to serve on the Panel for a three-year term. The initial members of the Standing Panel are appointed for terms of one, two, and three years so that the Panel members' terms are staggered for continuity of decisionmaking. If any member of the Standing Panel is unable to hear a particular matter, the clerk randomly designates another active circuit judge to the Panel for the purpose of disposing of that matter.

(9) The Standing Panel considers all materials submitted by an attorney to whom notice to show cause has issued. The Panel may request further information from a court that has previously imposed discipline on the attorney, or from its disciplinary agency. A copy of any such information is made available to the attorney or to his or her counsel. Should an attorney request a hearing on the matter it will be heard by the Standing Panel at a time and place of its choosing.

(10) The Court may at any time appoint counsel to investigate or prosecute a disciplinary matter, or to represent an indigent attorney instructed to show cause. The Court prefers to appoint as prosecuting counsel the disciplinary agency of the highest court of the state in which the attorney maintains his or her principal office. However, if the state disciplinary agency declines appointment, or the Court deems other counsel more appropriate, it may appoint any other member of the bar as prosecuting counsel. Counsel appointed either for prosecution or defense will be compensated for his or her services according to the Court's plan for appointment of counsel in criminal cases, from the attorney admission fund.

(11) The Court's order imposing discipline will set forth the nature of the discipline imposed; if disbarment or suspension from practice before the court, the terms upon which reinstatement will occur or be considered by the court; and any instructions to the clerk concerning the notification of the court's action to be given to other courts or official bodies.

(12) The clerk is responsible for

(a) Automatically initiating show cause proceedings when official notice of an attorney's conviction of a crime specified in paragraph (1)(a) or discipline by another court pursuant to paragraph (3) is brought to his or her attention;

(b) Bringing to the attention of the Standing Panel instances of violations by members of the bar of this court of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, this court's local rules, or this Court's orders or other instructions that may warrant discipline;

(c) Obtaining declarations of the names and addresses of other bars of which an attorney possibly subject to discipline by this court may be a member; and

(d) Unless directed otherwise by the Court, within 10 days of the imposition of discipline upon a member of the bar of this Court, notifying all other courts of those bars the attorney reports that he or she is a member, and the American Bar Association's National Disciplinary Data Bank, of the Court's action, enclosing a certified copy of the Court's order. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

Rule 47(a). Procedures for adoption of local rules and internal operating procedures.

Following tentative approval of an amendment to its Local Rules or Internal Operating Procedures, and consultation with its Advisory Committee on Rules and Procedures, the Court of Appeals will provide public notice of the proposed amendment and an opportunity for comment.

The Court will set a period for comment for each proposed amendment, based upon the urgency of the matter involved. If the Court determines that there is an immediate need for a rule, the Court may provide that an amendment take immediate effect, and promptly thereafter afford notice and opportunity for comment.

Notice of a proposed amendment will be provided by distribution of the proposed change to all district judges, bankruptcy judges, magistrate judges, district and bankruptcy clerks, United States Attorneys, and state bar associations within the Circuit. Notice will also be sent to all legal newspapers and bar journals within the Circuit. Such notice shall include the text of a proposed amendment, unless it is lengthy. If the amendment is lengthy, the notice will describe the purpose and effect of the proposed amendment, and advise interested parties to obtain copies of the text of the proposed amendment from the clerk. Any person or organization requesting routine notice of proposed amendments to the Court's rules and internal operating procedures may, by letter to the clerk, be placed on the mailing list for such proposed changes.

All comments will be addressed to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals. If comments are received, they will be circulated to all members of the Court prior to the effective date of the proposed amendment, unless the amendment was given immediate effect.

Rule 47(b). Advisory committee on rules and procedures.

The Court's Advisory Committee on Rules and Procedures shall consist of five attorneys, one from each of the states constituting the Fourth Circuit.

The members shall be appointed by the Chief Judge of the Circuit for three-year terms. The terms shall be staggered, so that no more than two members' terms expire in any year. No person may serve more than two full three-year terms.

The Chief Judge of the Circuit shall designate one of the members to serve as chair of the Committee. The Clerk shall serve as the Court's principal liaison with the Committee.

The Committee shall study the Court's local rules and internal operating procedures, make recommendations concerning them, and advise the Court concerning all proposed changes to them.

Editor's Note. — Each operating procedure (I.O.P.) has been given a number which corresponds to the number of the rule in the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure to which it pertains, and the court has attempted not to repeat any information that can be found in the body of any rule. Whenever possible, information concerning practices and procedures of this court are set forth in the published internal operating procedures of the court rather than in the local rules. The court has adopted a local rule only in those circumstances where the rule establishes specific affirmative obligations on the parties proceeding before the court, delegates additional authority to the clerk or creates certain options which the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure indicate can only be exercised by creation of a local rule.

IOP 3.1. Transmission of district court order.

The clerk of the district court shall transmit to the clerk of the court of appeals a copy of the order appealed from, along with copies of the materials required by FRAP 3(d)(1). (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

IOP 6.1. Bankruptcy appeals.

The Fourth Circuit has not established panels of three bankruptcy judges to hear appeals from bankruptcy courts pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 158.

IOP 11.1. Sanctions for court reporter's failure to file a timely transcript.

The Fourth Circuit Judicial Council has implemented a resolution of the Judicial Conference of the United States which mandates sanctions for the late delivery of transcripts. For transcripts not delivered within 60 days of the date ordered and payment received therefor, the reporter may charge only 90 percent of the prescribed fee; for a transcript not delivered within 90 days the reporter may charge only 80 percent of the prescribed fee with the following exception. For transcripts not delivered within the time limits set forth in Local Rule 11(b), the reporter may charge only 90 percent of the prescribed fee; for a transcript not delivered within 30 days after that time the reporter may charge only 80 percent of the prescribed fee. The time period in criminal proceedings for the preparation of transcripts that are ordered before sentencing shall not begin to run until after entry of the judgment and commitment order. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

IOP 12.1. Organization of the court's docket (Deleted December 1, 1998).

IOP 22.1. Death penalty cases.

Once a notice of appeal has been filed in a case involving a sentence of death where an execution date has been set, a panel of three judges will be promptly identified for consideration of all matters related to the case. The position of coordinator of case information in death penalty cases has been established in the Clerk's Office of the Court of Appeals for the purpose of establishing personal liaison with district court personnel and counsel to aid in the expeditious treatment of appeals involving a sentence of death. An expedited briefing schedule will be established when necessary to allow the Court the opportunity to review all issues presented. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective June 1, 1999.)

IOP 34.1. Calendar assignments and panel composition.

The Clerk of Court maintains a list of mature cases available for oral argument and on a monthly basis merges those cases with a list of three-judge panels provided by a computer program designed to achieve total random selection.

The composition of each panel usually changes each day during court week except on those occasions where only one panel is sitting in a given geographical location. Every effort is made to assign cases for oral argument to judges who have had previous involvement with the case on appeal by way of a preargument motion or a previous decision concerning the matter, but there is no guarantee that any of the judges who have previously been involved with an appeal will be assigned to a hearing panel. The varied assignment of judges to panels and the independent assignment of varied cases to panels is designed, insofar as practicable, to assure the opportunity for each judge to sit with all other judges an equal number of times, and to assure that both the appearance and the fact of presentation of particular types of cases to particular judges is avoided. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

IOP 34.2. Disposition without oral argument.

A decision against oral argument must be unanimous, and if a case is decided without oral argument the decision on the merits must be unanimous also. Whenever at least one member of the review panel determines that oral argument would be of assistance, the panel notifies the clerk who places the case on the oral argument calendar. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

IOP 36.1. Opinion preparation assignments.

The custom of the Fourth Circuit is to reserve judgment at the conclusion of oral argument. A conference of the panel is held promptly after oral argument, usually immediately after the presentation of the case. Although a tentative decision may be reached at this conference, additional conferences are sometimes necessary. Opinion assignments are made by the Chief Judge on the basis of recommendations from the presiding judge of each panel on which the Chief Judge did not sit.

IOP 36.2. Circulation of opinions in argued cases and announcement of decision.

Although one judge writes the opinion, every panel member is equally involved in the process of decision. An appeal may be heard and decided by two of the three judges assigned to a panel, when one judge becomes unavailable. If a panel is reduced to two and the two cannot agree, however, the case will be reargued before a new three-judge panel which may or may not include prior panel members.

When a proposed opinion in an argued case is prepared and submitted to other panel members, copies are provided to the non-sitting judges including the senior judges and their comments are solicited. The opinion is then finalized. The Clerk's Office never receives advance notice of when a decision will be rendered, so counsel should not call for such information.

It is the policy of the Fourth Circuit to mail a copy of the opinion to counsel on the day judgment is entered. Upon written request, counsel will be called on that day and informed of the disposition of the case; the text of the opinion will not be read over the telephone. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

IOP 36.3. Summary opinions.

If all judges on a panel of the Court agree following oral argument that an opinion in a case would have no precedential value, and that summary disposition is otherwise appropriate, the Court may decide the appeal by summary opinion. A summary opinion identifies the decision appealed from, sets forth the Court's decision and the reason or reasons therefor, and resolves any outstanding motions in the case. It does not discuss the facts or elaborate on the Court's reasoning.

IOP 40.1. Submission of petitions for rehearing to the court.

The Clerk's Office will hold any petition for rehearing or petition for rehearing en banc until the time for filing all such petitions, or any extension thereof granted in the particular case, has run. Thereafter, all petitions for rehearing in the same case will be distributed to the Court simultaneously. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

IOP 40.2. Panel rehearing.

The panel of judges who heard and decided the appeal will rule on the petition for rehearing. Such panel may include a senior circuit judge or a visiting judge sitting in the Fourth Circuit by designation.

If a petition for rehearing is granted, the original judgment and opinion of the Court are vacated and the case will be reheard before the original panel. The Court may direct the filing of additional briefs, or the parties may seek leave of Court to file additional briefs. (Amended effective December 1, 1995.)

IOP 41.1. Issuance of the mandate.

On the date of issuance of the mandate, the Clerk of the Court will issue written notice to the parties and the clerk of the lower court that the judgment of the Court of Appeals takes effect that day. The trial court record will be returned to the clerk of that court once the mandate has issued.

IOP 41.2. Petitions for writs of certiorari.

A petition for a writ of certiorari must be filed with the Supreme Court within 90 days of the entry of judgment in a criminal case or a civil case. The time for the petition does not run from the issuance of the mandate, but from the date of judgment which is also the opinion date. If a petition for rehearing or a petition for rehearing en banc is timely filed, the time runs from the date of denial of that petition. Counsel should consult the Rules of the Supreme Court for details on how to proceed with the petition.

The Rules of the Supreme Court do not require that the record accompany a petition for certiorari and the record will not be forwarded unless specifically requested by the petitioner or counsel. Requests to certify and transmit the record to the Supreme Court prior to action on the petition for a writ of certiorari are disfavored by the Supreme Court. The Clerk of the Supreme Court will request the record from the Court of Appeals when review of the record is desired by the Supreme Court prior to action on a petition for writ of certiorari or upon granting certiorari if the record has not been transmitted earlier. The same procedures are followed for Supreme Court review by certification pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1254(2).

If a case is remanded to the Court of Appeals from the Supreme Court, the case shall be reopened under the original docket number and the Court of Appeals may require additional briefs and oral argument, summarily dispose of the case, or take any other action consistent with the Supreme Court's opinion. (Amended effective December 1, 1995; amended effective December 1, 1998.)

NOTE

I.O.P. 41.2 is amended to clarify, consistent with amendments to FRAP 35, that a timely petition for rehearing en banc will now stay the time to petition for certiorari.

IOP 45.1. Clerk's office.

The Clerk's Office is located on the fifth floor of the United States Courthouse Annex in Richmond, Virginia, and is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. every weekday, except federal holidays. All correspondence concerning cases pending before the Court should be addressed to:

Clerk, United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit
1100 East Main Street, Suite 501
Richmond, Virginia 23219
Telephone 804/771-2213

IOP 45.2. Public information.

Information concerning the status of appeals and the operation of rules and procedures may be obtained from the Clerk's Office by telephone inquiry. Matters of public record may be reviewed upon request at the Clerk's Office and case documents may be transmitted to the district court for review by counsel upon proper application to the Clerk's Office.

IOP 47.1. Judicial conference.

(a) There shall be held each year a conference of all the circuit and district judges, all bankruptcy judges and all full-time magistrate judges of the Circuit for the purpose of considering the business of the courts, advising means of improving the administration of justice within such Circuit, and discussion of ideas with respect to the administration of justice. It shall be the duty of every judge of the Circuit in active service and every full-time magistrate judge to attend such conference.

(b) The first day of the conference shall be devoted to a session for the judges alone, in which there shall be discussed matters affecting the state of the dockets and the administration of justice in their respective districts.

(c) Members of the bar to be chosen, as hereafter set forth, shall be members of the conference and shall participate in its discussions and deliberations on the second and third days.

(d) Members of the conference from the bar shall be as provided in I.O.P. 47.2 as approved by the active circuit judges sitting from time to time in administrative session.

(e) The Circuit Executive of this Court shall be the secretary of the conference, and shall make and preserve an accurate record of its proceedings.

(f) Each member of the bar chosen to be a member of the conference shall pay an annual membership fee in an amount fixed by the Court of Appeals, to be applied to the payment of the expenses of the conference as approved by the Chief Judge of the Circuit. The payment of the annual membership fee by members of the bar is a condition to retention of conference membership. The Chief Judge may excuse the payment of the fee in individual cases.

IOP 47.2. Bar membership in the judicial conference of the circuit.

Commencing with the 1997 annual conference, the members of the conference of the bar are as follows:

A. Ex officio members.

1. The Attorney General of the United States, or designee.

2. The presidents of the state bar associations of the states of the Circuit. When two bar associations in the same state are both recognized under this rule, the president of each shall be entitled to attend, and the maximum number of members of the conference from the bar, from any state, under this provision, shall be limited to two. As long as there is only one state bar association in Maryland, the Bar Association of Baltimore City may be treated as a state bar association under this provision.

3. All United States Attorneys in the Circuit.

4. All Federal Public Defenders in the Circuit.

5. All Chief Justices of the courts of last resort of the states comprising this Circuit.

6. All Attorneys General of the states comprising this Circuit.

7. The Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces.

8. The Chief Judge of the United States Tax Court.

9. One representative of each accredited law school within the Circuit.

B. Members designated by judges.

1. Each active and senior circuit judge and each active and senior district judge may annually designate two lawyers to be invited by the Chief Judge as guests of the conference.

2. By attending three conferences as guests invited under (1) above, a lawyer retains permanent membership in the conference. Permanent membership entitles the member to attend all annual conferences. (Amended effective February 16, 1993; further amended September 25, 1996.)

APPENDICES

Appendix A. Resolution respecting bar membership in the judicial conference of the circuit.

Editor's note. — The United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit adopted new I.O.P. 47.2, which was formerly Appendix A, effective April 30, 1992.

Appendix B. Guidelines for preparation of appellate transcripts in the Fourth Circuit.*I. INTRODUCTION*A. Purpose

These guidelines set forth in detail the following:

1. Duties of the district court clerk's office, appellant and appellee in ordering the transcript;
2. Responsibilities of the court reporter for preparing and timely filing the transcript;
3. Duties of the court of appeals for acknowledging transcript orders and monitoring the timeliness of the filing of transcripts;
4. Procedures for court reporters to follow in requesting extensions of time and waivers of fee sanctions;
5. Criteria to be used by the court of appeals in acting on requests for extensions and waivers;
6. Common problems that have been encountered by court reporters and the court of appeals in the ordering, preparation and filing of transcripts; and
7. Provisions for supplementation of these Guidelines by local procedures adopted by a district court.

B. Relation to Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure

Although Rule 11(b), Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, requires transcripts to be filed within thirty days of the purchase order date, the court of appeals will use the time limits set forth in the district court reporter management plans governing the application of fee sanctions as the time periods within which transcripts will be due. All of the plans establish a 60-day period for preparation of transcripts without financial penalty. Exceptions are:

1. Special provisions adopted by the Fourth Circuit Judicial Council for appeals by incarcerated criminal defendants;
2. Special circumstances, such as
  - (a) bail appeals,
  - (b) death penalty cases,
  - (c) expedited sentencing appeals,
  - (d) recalcitrant witness appeals, or
  - (e) other expedited procedures.

The Table on the next page sets forth the time requirements in detail.

TABLE OF TRANSCRIPT DUE DATES AND APPLICABLE SANCTIONS

NATURE OF CASE	LENGTH OF TRANSCRIPT	TRANSCRIPT DUE	10% FEE SANCTION	20% FEE SANCTION
Direct criminal appeals, appellant incarcerated	1000 pages or less	within 30 days of transcript order or judgment and commitment order, whichever is later	if filed after 30th day	if filed after 60th day more than 1000 pages	as ordered by clerk following consultation with reporter and parties	if due date missed	if due date missed by more than 30 days
All other cases, in other than exceptional circumstances	Any length	within 60 days of transcript order or judgment and commitment order, whichever is later	if filed after 60th day	if filed after 90th day
Exceptional circumstances (e.g., bail appeals, death penalty cases, expedited sentencing appeals, etc.)	Any length	as ordered by clerk following consultation with reporter and parties	*	*

*Twenty percent fee sanction automatically imposed if due date missed. Letter to chief district judge, after consultation with chief circuit judge requiring immediate preparation of the transcript.

C. Effective Date

These guidelines will take effect on June 1, 1986, and will apply to all Fourth Circuit cases subject to F.R.A.P. 11(b) in which the transcript is ordered after that date.

D. Definitions

For purposes of these Guidelines, references to appellant-appellee will refer to counsel for appellant-appellee unless appellant-appellee is proceeding pro se, in which case all duties and responsibilities are those of appellant-appellee individually.

II. ORDERING AND ACKNOWLEDGING TRANSCRIPTS

A. Duties of District Court Clerk's Office

1. When a notice of appeal is filed, the district court clerk's office will furnish appellant with a copy of the Transcript Order form.

2. Upon entry of an order authorizing preparation of a transcript at government expense pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act or 28 U.S.C. § 753(f), the district court reporter coordinator or appeals deputy will notify the court of appeals of the date on which the order was entered.

3. When substitute reporters or contract reporters are used, the district court reporter coordinator or district court appeals deputy will furnish them with copies of these guidelines and explain the procedures to be followed in preparing appellate transcripts.

4. When the transcript is filed, the district court clerk's office will see that the court reporter or the court reporter coordinator mails a copy of the reporter's certification to the court of appeals.

B. Duties of Appellant

1. Within ten days after filing the notice of appeal, the appellant is required by F.R.A.P. 10(b)(1) to order from the court reporter such transcript of the proceedings as the appellant deems necessary.

2. By service of a copy of the Docketing Statement, appellant will notify appellee(s) that (a) a transcript is not needed for the appeal, (b) a transcript is already on file in the district court, or (c) less than the complete transcript will be ordered. The statement of issues in the Docketing Statement will satisfy the requirement of F.R.A.P. 10(b)(3).

3. Before a transcript can be ordered, the appellant must obtain from the court reporter an estimate of the length of the transcript and make appropriate financial arrangements with the reporter (1) by immediate payment in full or by another payment arrangement acceptable to the reporter, (2) payment pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act, or (3) payment at government expense pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 753(f). [Local Rule 10(c)(1)]. Payment or acknowledgment of financial arrangements satisfactory to the reporter must accompany the court reporter's copy of the Transcript Order. [F.R.A.P. 10(b)(4)].

4. In criminal cases, counsel may seek authorization from the district court to order transcript after entry of verdict but prior to sentencing. The district court may authorize the early ordering of transcript if it determines that defense counsel has informed the defendant of the right to appeal and the defendant has instructed counsel to appeal regardless of the nature or length of the sentence imposed. The time requirements for the preparation of transcripts that are ordered before sentencing shall not begin to run until after entry of the judgment and commitment order.

5. To order a transcript, the appellant completes the Transcript Order form furnished by the district court clerk's office and distributes the copies as follows:

court reporter —	mail original to court reporter within 10 days of filing notice of appeal district court —	file copy in district court clerk's office within 10 days of filing notice of appeal
court of appeals —	attach copies to both copies of Docketing Statement filed in court of appeals clerk's office within 14 days of filing notice of appeal
opposing counsel —	attach copy to Docketing Statement served on opposing counsel within 14 days of filing notice of appeal

A separate Transcript Order must be prepared for each court reporter from whom a transcript is requested.

6. Failure by the appellant to timely order a transcript, failure to make satisfactory financial arrangements with the court reporter, or failure to specify in adequate detail those proceedings to be transcribed will subject the appeal to dismissal by the clerk of the court of appeals for want of prosecution pursuant to Local Rule 45.

7. When supplemental transcripts are requested, appellant must complete another Transcript Order form, make satisfactory financial arrangements with the reporter, and distribute copies to the same persons to whom the original Transcript Order was sent.

8. If payment is waived by the reporter at the time of ordering the transcript, the appellant must make full payment upon receipt of the reporter's invoice. If payment is not made within a reasonable period of time, the appeal will be subject to dismissal by the clerk of the court of appeals pursuant to Local Rule 45.

9. Transcripts ordered under the Criminal Justice Act do not include opening and closing statements, voir dire, or jury instructions unless prior special authorization has been received by appellant. CJA Form 24 forms should be obtained from the district court and submitted to the district court judge for approval. In multi-defendant cases involving CJA defendants, only original transcripts should be purchased from the court reporter(s). Requests for copies will be arranged by the district court using commercial printers. Contact the district court reporter coordinator or district court clerk's office for further instructions.

10. When an appellant has ordered a transcript, he or she is obligated to pay the reporter for it. If the appeal is dismissed voluntarily, the appellant is nonetheless responsible to the reporter for the cost of transcript prepared prior to the reporter's receipt of notification from the appellant of the appeal's dismissal.

C. Duties of Appellee

1. If the appellee deems a transcript of other parts of the proceedings to be necessary, he or she is required by F.R.A.P. 10(b)(3), within ten days after service of the Docketing Statement by the appellant, to file and serve on the appellant a designation of additional parts to be included. Unless within ten days after service of such designation the appellant has ordered such parts, and has so notified the appellee, the appellee may within the following ten days either order the parts or move the district court for an order requiring the appellant to do so.

2. If the appellee wishes to obtain a copy of the transcript which has been ordered by the appellant, he or she may do so by ordering the copy directly from the court reporter. Satisfactory financial arrangements must be completed with the reporter before obtaining the copy. It is not appellant's responsibility to order and pay for a copy of the transcript for appellee.

D. Duties of the Court Reporter

1. Upon receipt of the Transcript Order form and completion of satisfactory financial arrangements, the reporter must prepare the required transcript within the time set forth in the applicable district court reporter management plan.

2. The appellant attaches copies of the transcript order to the two copies of the Docketing Statement filed with the court of appeals. Upon receiving the transcript order, the court of appeals will complete and send to the reporter, and to the court reporter coordinator and the district court, a Transcript Order Acknowledgment form to verify the transcript order. A copy of the Acknowledgment form will be sent to the reporter along with a photocopy of the Transcript Order. The Acknowledgment will contain the order date and the date by which the transcript must be filed to avoid sanctions. The order date set out in the Transcript Order Acknowledgment form will be the date the Transcript Order form was received by the court of appeals. The due date is computed from this date by the court of appeals in accordance with the time specified in the district court reporter management plans. If the Transcript Order form is complete and accurate and satisfactory financial arrangements have been completed, NO RESPONSE IS REQUIRED FROM THE COURT REPORTER TO THE TRANSCRIPT ORDER FORM OR THE TRANSCRIPT ACKNOWLEDGMENT FORM.

3. If there is a problem with the order date (e.g., the court reporter had not received the Transcript Order by the date it was received in the court of appeals), with financial arrangements with the appellant, with identification of the transcript ordered, with proper designation of the court reporters involved in the case, or with any other aspect of the Transcript Order, the court reporter must complete and mail a copy of the Acknowledgment form to the court of appeals within seven days of receipt by the reporter (time may be extended for vacation, serious illness or other unusual circumstances). A copy should also be sent to the court reporter coordinator. The court reporter need not inform the court of appeals if he or she in fact received the Transcript Order before the order date shown on the Acknowledgment. The court reporter may use any additional time so created for preparation of the transcript without fear of incurring a sanction for late filing. The court of appeals' Acknowledgment constitutes an implied fee sanction waiver to the due date set forth on the form.

4. The time for completion of the transcript will stop running automatically upon the reporter's mailing of the Acknowledgment form, indicating a problem with the terms of the order, for whatever reasonable period of time is required for the reporter or district court reporter coordinator to resolve the problem with the appellant. The court of appeals transcript coordinator will be in touch with the reporter or district court reporter coordinator upon receipt of the Acknowledgment form to offer assistance, such as notification to the appellant that the appeal will be dismissed if the problem is not remedied promptly.

5. When the problem has been remedied, the court of appeals will send a revised Transcript Order Acknowledgment setting forth a new transcript filing date reflecting the delay caused by the problem with the original Transcript Order.

6. Unless the court of appeals is notified of a problem with the Transcript Order, or of some other reason why the information on the Transcript Order Acknowledgment form prepared by the court of appeals is incorrect, the reporter will be held to the schedule set forth therein absent the granting of an extension of time. It is the court reporter's responsibility to notify the court of appeals of any problem.

7. If the transcript is estimated to be more than 1000 pages and is ordered in a criminal appeal in which the appellant is incarcerated, the reporter will receive an acknowledgment form with the order date and a due date which will be established by the court of appeals.

8. When the transcript has been completed and the court copy filed in the district court, a copy of the reporter's certification setting forth the date the transcript was filed in the district court must be sent to the court of appeals by the court reporter, or by the court reporter coordinator, to notify the court of appeals that the transcript has been filed and to provide a means for the court of appeals to verify that the proper fee reduction was taken by the reporter if the transcript was not timely filed.

9. Unless a written motion is filed by the appellant with the court of appeals, and an extension granted by the clerk of the court of appeals, requests by an appellant that a reporter suspend or delay preparation of a transcript that has been ordered will have no effect on the date the transcript is due, or on the appellant's obligation to pay for it when it is prepared. The only exception is when a motion for voluntary dismissal of the appeal has been granted; in that instance the appellant is responsible for paying only for that portion of the transcript completed prior to the reporter's receipt of notification from the appellant of the appeal's dismissal.

E. Duties of Court of Appeals

1. F.R.A.P. 10(b)(1) requires the appellant to order the transcript within ten days after filing the notice of appeal. If the completed form is not received by the court of appeals within that time, making reasonable allowance for delivery by mail, the court of appeals will notify the appellant that no order has been received and that failure to comply with F.R.A.P. 10(b)(1) will subject the appeal to dismissal by the clerk for want of prosecution pursuant to Local Rule 45.

2. When the court of appeals receives the Transcript Order form, it will be reviewed for any obvious defects (e.g., multiple reporters on one form, or incompleteness as far as nature of proceedings requested or certification of satisfaction of financial requirements). If it appears to be in order, the court of appeals will prepare for the reporter a Transcript Order Acknowledgment showing the date the Transcript Order was received in the court of appeals and the due date, computed in accordance with the time limits set forth in the applicable district court reporter management plan. The court of appeals clerk's office will work together with reporters and parties to remedy any deficiencies in the Transcript Order that are brought to its attention by the reporter. (See Section D.3 - 8 for full description of procedures.)

III. REPORTS

Reports on outstanding transcripts will be generated monthly and will be distributed to the court reporters involved, as well as to the district court clerks or their court reporter coordinators. If the report shows a transcript outstanding when it has actually been filed, the reporter or district court reporter coordinator should call the court of appeals and report the date of filing. If everything in the report is correct and none of the transcripts are overdue, no response is required from the reporter.

IV. TIME LIMITS FOR FILING TRANSCRIPTS— FEE REDUCTION SANCTIONS

A. Requests for Extensions of Time

As set forth in the district court reporter management plans, all requests for extensions of time for the filing of appellate transcripts (F.R.A.P. 11(b) transcripts) are submitted to the clerk of the court of appeals. They should be in writing, on the designated form. A request for an extension of time will automatically constitute a corresponding request for a waiver of any applicable fee reduction sanction. Requests for extensions must be mailed ten days in advance of the deadline from which relief is sought, unless unforeseen circumstances make later requests necessary, in which case the reasons will be set out by the reporter in the request. When requesting an extension, the information furnished should be very specific. Failure to submit complete information will delay action on the request and lead to additional paperwork for the reporter. After reviewing the request for extension, the court of appeals will issue an order granting, granting in part, or denying the request, which will set forth the resulting timeframes for purposes of fee sanction imposition. Counsel, the district court reporter coordinator, and the district court clerk will also receive copies of this order.

B. Grounds for Extensions of Time

1. Excessive burden of transcript, considering length and complexity of the proceedings ordered within a short period of time. District court reporter coordinators are expected to make court reporter assignments within a district so as to anticipate and to avoid to the extent possible the imposition of excessive transcript loads on individual reporters. When these efforts are unsuccessful, reporters may apply for relief from applicable fee sanctions and have the court of appeals assign the relative priority to be given to competing appellate transcript orders. The fact that a reporter has accumulated orders for more than 3000 pages within three months will be presumed to establish the existence of an "excessive burden." The existence of outstanding overdue transcripts may or may not be grounds for extending the time for subsequently ordered transcripts. In computing the amount of transcript for purposes of demonstrating excessive burden, the reporter can include all transcripts ordered within ninety days of the request for extension. The reporter may include transcript obligations for the district court as well as those ordered for appellate purposes. However, the orders must be "firm orders". A "firm order" for an appellate transcript is one for which the court of appeals has received a Transcript Order from the appellant. For a district court transcript it is an order communicated by a judge or a party; it cannot be a reporter's speculation that an order will be forthcoming.

2. Vacation. A reporter can plan to take reasonable vacations, as authorized by the district court, and obtain extensions of deadlines that would fall within those periods or become impossible to meet in light of them.

3. Unavoidable, excessive time required for attendance in court. It is the responsibility of the district court reporter coordinator to adjust reporter assignments to ensure that the needs of the trial and appellate courts can be met. Occasions may arise, nonetheless, when a court reporter's courtroom obligations, including official travel required to reach the courtroom, prevent his or her meeting transcript obligations. Reasonable extensions of time will be given in such instances.

4. Incapacitation or serious illness. A reporter may certify to the clerk of the court of appeals that he or she has become temporarily incapacitated or seriously ill, and obtain reasonable relief from pending deadlines. This ground does not include common colds or other ailments that would not prevent attendance in court.

5. Unforeseen emergencies. Reporters may seek extensions for any other good cause which makes the completion of a transcript within the allotted time impossible.

V. SANCTIONS

A. Fee Reduction Sanctions

An official court reporter will be required to deduct from his or her charges for a completed transcript not timely filed with the district court the amount of any fee reduction sanction applicable by the terms of a district court reporter management plan.

B. Removal from Courtroom and Request for Substitute Reporter

The chief judge of the court of appeals, following consultation with the chief judge of the district court, may order a reporter to remain out of the courtroom, and pay the costs of a satisfactory substitute reporter, if a transcript is ninety days overdue.

VI. MONITORING OF TRANSCRIPT FILING

The clerk of the court of appeals will monitor the filing of all appellate transcripts and the fees charged by reporters when a transcript is filed untimely. The fee sanction mechanism exists by virtue of the district court reporter management plans which require reporters to take fee reductions if a transcript is not filed on time. Therefore, the court of appeals will not issue a sanction order. It is the reporter's duty to abide by the provisions of his or her district court reporter management plan and to take a fee reduction if one is applicable.

The court of appeals will take no action if the transcript is filed on time or, if not filed on time, the appropriate fee reduction has been taken as shown by the copy of the certification that the reporter submitted to the court of appeals when the transcript was filed. If a fee reduction was applicable and was not taken by the reporter, the court of appeals will send a letter to the reporter setting forth the fee reduction that should have been taken. Copies of this letter will be sent to counsel, the district court reporter coordinator (if any) and the judge to whom the reporter reports or the chief district judge. If the certification is not submitted within a reasonable period after the filing of the transcript, the reporter will be requested to submit a copy of his or her invoice.

The court of appeals will also send a letter to the chief district judge when a transcript is sixty days overdue. The letter will identify the particular transcript involved and the date of the order. Copies of the letter will be sent to the judge (if any) to whom the reporter reports, the district court reporter coordinator, the district court clerk, and the reporter. The letter will alert the chief judge of the district court to the possibility that the reporter may be required to remain out of the courtroom, paying for a substitute reporter, until the transcript is completed, if the transcript becomes ninety days overdue.

VII. COMMON PROBLEMS

A. Transcripts Prepared at Government Expense

1. Criminal Justice Act [18 U.S.C. § 3006A(6)]. When the reporter receives the approved CJA form, preparation of the transcript should begin immediately. The date of receipt of the approved CJA form will begin the running of the time for delivery of the transcript and the imposition of sanctions, except when the transcript is ordered before sentencing as set forth in II.B.4 above.

Pursuant to the provisions of the September 1987 amendment to the Guidelines for the Administration of the Criminal Justice Act, in multi-defendant cases involving CJA defendants, no more than one original transcript should be purchased from the court reporter on behalf of CJA defendants. One of the appointed counsel or the district court should arrange for the duplication, at commercially competitive rates, of enough copies of the transcript(s) for each of the CJA defendants for whom a transcript has been approved.

2. In Forma Pauperis Litigants [28 U.S.C. § 753(f)]. When an order is entered directing preparation of a transcript at government expense pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 753(f), the transcript order date is the date the reporter receives the court's order authorizing preparation of the transcript. The order date is not postponed until receipt of a completed AO Form 19, since the government is under an obligation to pay for the transcript once it is ordered by the court.

B. Supplemental Transcripts

Supplemental transcripts are usually ordered after the original transcript has been filed and a briefing schedule established by the court of appeals. Therefore, these transcripts should be expedited. Counsel is under an obligation to notify the court of appeals that a supplemental transcript has been ordered. The court of appeals will then send the Transcript Order Acknowledgment form to the reporter with the request that the reporter prepare these transcripts as quickly as possible.

C. Expedited Proceedings

When a transcript is requested for an expedited proceeding, the due date for filing the transcript is established by the court of appeals. If an expedited transcript is requested and prepared within seven days after receipt or notification of the order, the court reporter may charge the higher rates for expedited transcripts.

Transcripts for appeals arising from a criminal sentence imposed under 18 U.S.C. § 3742 will only be expedited if a motion for expedited review of criminal sentence is granted by the court of appeals. Only those portions of the transcript pertinent to the appeal must be prepared on an expedited basis. The court reporter will be notified by the court of appeals when a motion to expedite has been granted.

In bail appeals, only the portion of the transcript dealing with the bail issue should be ordered on a rush basis. Even though there may be other portions of the transcript that the appellant has ordered, the portion dealing with the bail issue should be prepared first.

In expedited proceedings, a twenty percent fee sanction from the regular transcript rate will be imposed if the due date is missed. At the same time, a letter will be sent to the chief judge of the district court, advising of the delinquency and warning that the chief judge of the court of appeals may order the reporter to remain out of the courtroom, and pay the costs of a satisfactory substitute reporter, if the transcript is not filed immediately. IF THE COURT REPORTER ANTICIPATES A PROBLEM WITH PROMPT PREPARATION OF AN EXPEDITED TRANSCRIPT, THE DISTRICT COURT REPORTER COORDINATOR AND THE COURT OF APPEALS SHOULD BE NOTIFIED IMMEDIATELY.

D. Payment for Transcript

The court of appeals approves of reporters' demanding a substantial deposit or full payment in advance for preparation of a transcript. In those instances where a reporter does not demand full payment in advance, and upon transcript completion has not been paid fully by the appellant, the following procedures should be followed:

1. Timely file the court copy of the transcript with the district court clerk's office.

2. Contact the court of appeals immediately and a letter will be sent to the appellant stating that if full payment is not made to the court reporter within fifteen days of the date of the letter, the appeal will be dismissed for failure to prosecute.

Fee reduction sanctions will be applicable if the court copy of the transcript is not timely filed. Problems with payment for the transcript after its completion will have no effect on the established due date.

E. Substitute Reporters

When an official court reporter hires a substitute, the official reporter still retains responsibility for the timely filing of the transcript. All provisions applicable to an official court reporter will be applicable to the substitute. If there is a problem with the filing of a transcript, the official court reporter will be notified as well as the substitute reporter. All correspondence and orders by the court of appeals will be sent to both reporters. The substitute can request extensions of time and waivers of applicable fee sanctions from the court of appeals. However, all guidelines applicable to the official reporter will be applicable to the substitute reporter and the proper procedures for requesting extensions must be followed.

F. Contract Reporters

Contractual reporting services in district courts are provided as supplements to the services of official staff. Contractual services are used after the district court reporter coordinator has determined that no official court reporter is available. Contract reporters must follow the procedures set out below.

1. All contractors are subject to the provisions of the Terms and Conditions of AO Form 355, Contracts for Court Reporting Services, governing time of filing (30 days from date of order) and fee sanctions for late delivery of transcripts (2% for each day or fraction of a day the transcript is late, but not less than 10% and not more than 50% of the price of the transcript).

2. All contractors — whether or not the written standard contract is signed — must meet the Terms and Conditions of AO Form 355 as set forth above.

3. Extensions of time for filing transcripts for F.R.A.P. 11(b) cases may be requested in writing following the procedures set forth in these Guidelines. However, the court of appeals cannot waive the fee sanctions set out in AO Form 355. A waiver of applicable fee reduction sanctions may be requested, in writing, from the contracting officer. A copy of the letter requesting a waiver of fee sanctions should be sent to the court of appeals.

G. Filing of Transcripts with the District Court

When the proceedings that are transcribed have been taken in another division of the district court, the reporter may file the court copy of the transcript in the district in which his or her office is located. That division will file stamp the copy and forward it to the appropriate division for inclusion in the record to be transmitted to the court of appeals.

VIII. ADDITIONAL LOCAL PROCEDURES

Following prior consultation with the clerk of the court of appeals, a district court may institute supplemental local procedures designed to adapt these Guidelines to the structure of court reporting services in place in that district.

INSTRUCTIONS TO APPELLANT FOR ORDERING TRANSCRIPT

You have ten days after filing your notice of appeal to order transcript from the court reporter and file a copy of this form with the clerk of the district court. Within fourteen days of filing the notice of appeal, additional copies of this form must be filed with two copies of the Docketing Statement with the clerk of the court of appeals and served with the Docketing Statement on opposing counsel.

DO NOT SUBMIT THIS FORM UNTIL YOU HAVE MADE SATISFACTORY FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE COURT REPORTER.

1. Contact each court reporter involved in reporting the proceedings, obtain an estimate of total pages, and make arrangements for payment. If you are unsure of the reporter(s) involved, contact the district court clerk's office for that information. A SEPARATE TRANSCRIPT ORDER MUST BE PREPARED FOR EACH COURT REPORTER FROM WHOM A TRANSCRIPT IS REQUESTED. MAKE COPIES OF BLANK FORM AS NECESSARY.

2. If payment is waived by the reporter until completion of the transcript, the appellant must remit full payment within a reasonable period of time upon receipt of the reporter's invoice.

3. If this was an electronic recording from the District of Maryland, contact the district court reporter coordinator for further instructions.

4. Transcripts ordered under the Criminal Justice Act do not include opening and closing statements, voir dire, or jury instructions unless prior special authorization has been received by the appellant. Request CJA Form 24 from the district court and submit the form(s) to the district court judge for approval. A separate CJA Form 24 must be completed for each court reporter. In multi-defendant cases involving CJA defendants, only original transcripts should be purchased from the court reporter(s). Requests for copies will be arranged by the district court using commercial printers. Contact the district court reporter coordinator or district court clerk's office for further instructions.

5. Complete the Transcript Order in its entirety.

6. Distribute the Transcript Order as follows:

- court reporter — mail original to court reporter within 10 days of filing notice of appeal
- district court — file copy in district court clerk's office within 10 days of filing notice of appeal
- court of appeals — attach copies to both copies of Docketing Statement filed in court of appeals clerk's office within 14 days of filing notice of appeal
- opposing counsel — attach copy to Docketing Statement served on opposing counsel within 14 days of filing notice of appeal

IF THE TRANSCRIPT ORDER IS NOT FILED WITHIN THE TIME PERIODS SET FORTH ABOVE, PROCEDURES WILL BE INITIATED TO DISMISS THE APPEAL FOR FAILURE TO PROSECUTE.

If you have further questions, contact the Clerk's Office, U.S. Court of Appeals (804-771-2213).

Appendix C. Plan of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit in implementation of the Criminal Justice Act.

The Judicial Council of the Fourth Circuit adopts the following plan, in implementation of the Criminal Justice Act.

I. RIGHT TO COUNSEL

1. Direct Appeals: In every direct appeal involving a person

(a) who is charged with a felony or misdemeanor (other than a petty offense), or with juvenile delinquency by the commission of an act which, if committed by an adult, would be such a felony or misdemeanor, or with a violation of probation, or who is held in custody as a material witness, or who appeals from parole proceedings conducted pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 4106A, or,

(b) for whom the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution requires the appointment of counsel or for whom, in a case in which he faces the loss of liberty, any federal law requires the appointment of counsel, whether the appeal be by a defendant from a judgment of conviction or from an order revoking probation, or by the United States from a judgment of acquittal or dismissal, a defendant shall be entitled to be represented by counsel as a matter of right.

If the appeal involves a petty offense for which confinement is authorized, the court may appoint counsel for a financially eligible person upon a determination that the interests of justice so require.

In these cases, unless an application for the appointment of counsel has already been received, or notice of appearance has been filed by retained counsel, the clerk of this court shall promptly notify the defendant of his right to counsel and shall inform him that counsel will be appointed if he is financially unable to obtain adequate representation. Where an attorney had previously been appointed to represent the defendant in district court, that attorney shall be reappointed, without prior notice, upon the docketing of the appeal in this court. If there is no such reappointment, either because defendant appeared pro se or was represented by retained counsel in the district court, the clerk shall appoint the attorney of record in the district court, where appropriate, or select an appointee from a panel of approved attorneys.

In pro se cases in which the appellant exercises his right to represent himself as suggested by Faretta v. California, 422 U.S. 806 (1975); 28 U.S.C. § 1654, the court may find it appropriate to appoint standby counsel for the appellant to assist in the appeal to protect the integrity and ensure the continuity of the judicial proceedings. (McKaskle v. Wiggins, 465 U.S. 168 (1984); Faretta, supra). Accordingly, if a pro se appellant is represented, at least in part, by standby counsel, compensation may be provided under the CJA.

2. Collateral Proceedings: In an appeal in a collateral proceeding brought by the petitioner from an order denying the relief requested pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255, a petitioner shall not be entitled to be represented by counsel as a matter of right. In these cases, counsel will be appointed only after the court has decided to hear the case on the merits, as in the granting of leave to appeal or the issuance of a certificate of probable cause. However, in an appeal brought by the United States or a state from an order granting the relief requested, a petitioner shall be entitled to representation as a matter of right.

Similarly, in an appeal under 18 U.S.C. § 4245, a defendant shall not be entitled to be represented by appointed counsel, unless the appeal is taken by the United States.

In any case brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255, the court may, on motion of the petitioner or on its own motion, appoint counsel where the court determines that (a) petitioner is financially unable to obtain adequate representation and (b) the interests of justice require legal representation, as when petitioner needs the assistance of counsel to go forward with an apparently meritorious petition. The clerk shall thereupon appoint the attorney of record in the district court, where appropriate, or select an appointee from a panel of approved attorneys. This process also applies to cases involving an appeal under 18 U.S.C. § 4245.

Where a petitioner is under sentence of death, the clerk shall appoint counsel upon receipt of the notice of appeal.

II. APPOINTMENT OF COUNSEL

1. Court Order: Every appointment of counsel pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act and this Plan shall be made by an order of this court. A prerequisite to appointment shall be an affirmative finding by the court that a defendant is financially unable to employ counsel. However, where counsel was appointed in the lower court, this court will presume, until reason to the contrary appears, that the defendant remains financially unable to retain counsel, and no such finding shall be required.

The selection of counsel under the Criminal Justice Act shall be the exclusive responsibility of the court, and no person entitled to court-appointed counsel shall be permitted to select counsel to represent him.

2. Retroactivity: An appointment may be made retroactive to include any representation furnished to an indigent by an attorney prior to appointment pursuant to this Plan.

3. Scope: A person for whom counsel is appointed shall be represented at every stage of the proceedings, through appeal, including ancillary matters appropriate to the proceedings and a petition for writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court.

4. Substitution of Counsel: The court may, in the interests of justice, substitute one appointed counsel for another at any stage of the proceedings. The total compensation to be paid both attorneys shall not exceed the statutory maximum for one appointment, unless the case involves extended or complex representation.

5. One Attorney for Multiple Defendants: In appeals involving multiple defendants, separate counsel will normally be appointed for each defendant, unless there has been a waiver on the record by the defendants or good cause is shown. If one attorney is appointed to represent more than one defendant, a separate order of appointment shall be entered for each defendant. The attorney may be compensated for his services up to the maximum for each defendant represented; however, time spent in common on one or more defendants must be prorated.

6. Multiple Appointments for One Defendant: In capital cases, and in other cases of extreme difficulty where the interests of justice so require, the court may appoint an additional attorney to represent a defendant. Each attorney so appointed shall be eligible to receive the maximum compensation allowed under the Criminal Justice Act.

7. Defendant's Objection to Appointed Attorney: The court shall give consideration to a defendant's expression of dissatisfaction with his counsel only if specific grounds for dissatisfaction are stated. Appointed counsel shall be relieved only when the court, in its discretion, determines that the interests of justice so require.

8. Attorney's Motion to Withdraw: An attorney appointed to represent a defendant in the lower court is generally obliged to continue that representation upon appeal. An attorney who does not desire to continue the representation must file a motion to withdraw with the clerk of this court promptly after filing the notice of appeal. The motion must set forth specific grounds for granting withdrawal; defendant's dissatisfaction with counsel is not sufficient grounds. Also, should counsel, during the course of an appeal, encounter a specific reason which suggests the inappropriateness of further representation of the defendant, counsel should promptly file a motion to withdraw. In any event, counsel has a duty to continue to represent the defendant until a motion to withdraw is granted.

III. DEFENDANT'S FINANCIAL STATUS

1. Filing Application: A defendant who, in the district court, was represented by employed counsel, or was unrepresented, or was represented by appointed counsel but has nonetheless been requested to file a new application in this court, may apply to this court for the appointment of counsel. Such application shall be accompanied by an affidavit disclosing the applicant's financial status and any resources available to him to compensate counsel.

2. Re-examination by Court: The court, at any time, may re-examine a defendant's financial status as it bears upon the appointment of counsel and, thereupon, (a) appoint counsel to represent the defendant, if the defendant is not already represented or is unable to pay previously retained counsel, (b) terminate the appointment of counsel, or (c) require a partial payment of counsel fees by the defendant. The defendant shall furnish such financial and related information as may be requested during the re-examination, unless he desires to proceed without counsel.

3. Insufficiency of Funds; Partial Payment: If a defendant's net financial resources and anticipated income are in excess of the amount needed to provide him and his dependents with the necessities of life and to provide for his release on bond, but are insufficient to pay fully for retained counsel, this court will find the defendant eligible for the appointment of counsel but will direct him to pay the available excess funds to the clerk at the time of appointment. The court may increase or decrease the amount of such payments and impose appropriate conditions, where applicable. All such payments by the defendant shall be received pursuant to the prescriptions of subsection (f) of the Criminal Justice Act.

4. Family Resources: Funds and property standing in the name of, or held by, members of a defendant's family will be considered available for the payment of the fees of retained counsel if there is a finding, upon a reasonable basis of fact, that the family has indicated a willingness and a financial ability to pay all or part of the costs of representation. The initial determination of a defendant's eligibility for the appointment of counsel should be made without regard to family resources unless the family plans and is financially able to retain counsel promptly.

5. Attorney's Information: If at any time after appointment, counsel obtains information that a client is financially able to make payment, in whole or in part, for legal services in connection with his representation, and the source of the attorney's information is not protected as a privileged communication, counsel shall so advise this court.

IV. PANEL OF ATTORNEYS

1. Composition: The clerk, subject to this court's approval, shall prepare a list of attorneys from which appointments shall be made. Attorneys, to be eligible for appointment, must be admitted to practice before this court under Rule 46 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, and must be competent to provide adequate representation to those persons entitled to counsel under the Criminal Justice Act. In preparing a list, the clerk may review and consider the panels approved for use in the several District Courts in the Fourth Circuit, the recommendations of Bar Associations, Legal Aid Agencies, and Defender Organizations, if any, and the court's own experience with attorneys.

2. Periodic Revision: The panel shall be revised periodically to ensure an adequate number of competent attorneys to provide effective representation to all persons entitled to appointed counsel.

3. Appointments: Appointments shall be made by the clerk on a rotational basis, subject to this court's discretion. Consideration will be given to the nature of the case, the place of the trial, the residence of the indigent person if on bail, the place of confinement, and other relevant matters. In death penalty cases at least one attorney appointed must have been admitted to practice in the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals for not less than five years, and must have had not less than three years experience in the handling of appeals in the Fourth Circuit in felony cases. For good cause however, the court may appoint another attorney whose background, knowledge, or experience would otherwise enable him or her to properly represent the petitioner, with due consideration to the seriousness of the possible penalty and to the unique and complex nature of the litigation. The Court will look to the factors articulated in the American Bar Association's guidelines for selection of appellate counsel in capital cases including the length of bar membership, general experience in criminal defense litigation, and specific experience in death penalty appeals and appeals of murder, aggravated murder or other serious felonies. The Court will also consider whether counsel has attended and successfully completed a recent training or educational program on criminal advocacy which focused on the appeal of cases in which a sentence of death was imposed. Finally, the Court will review the availability of ongoing consultation support to appointed counsel from experienced counsel.

When the court determines that the appointment of an attorney, who is not a member of the CJA panel, is appropriate in the interest of justice, judicial economy, or some other compelling circumstance warranting his or her appointment, the attorney may be admitted to the CJA panel pro hac vice and appointed to represent the appellant. These appointments should be made only in exceptional circumstances, such as the appointment in a death penalty case of an attorney furnished by a state or local public defender organization or legal aid agency where the attorney had represented the appellant during prior state court proceedings. Further, the attorney should possess such qualities as would qualify him or her for admission to the CJA panel in the ordinary course of panel selection.

4. Removal from the Panel: An attorney may be removed from the panel by the clerk for twice refusing to accept an appointment or by the court for any good reason.

V. ATTORNEY'S DUTY TO CONTINUE REPRESENTATION

1. Trial Counsel: Every attorney, including retained counsel, who represented a defendant in the district court shall continue to represent the client after termination of those proceedings, unless relieved of further responsibility by this court. Where counsel has not been relieved:

If there is a judgment of conviction or an order revoking probation, counsel shall inform the defendant of his right to appeal and of his right to have counsel appointed on appeal. If so requested by the defendant, counsel shall file a timely notice of appeal. Thereafter, unless the defendant otherwise so instructs, counsel shall take appropriate and timely steps to perfect and present the appeal, including, where appropriate, the ordering of such part of the transcript as may be necessary for consideration on appeal.

Similarly, if there is an appeal by the United States from an order or judgment adverse to it, counsel shall continue to represent the client.

In any case brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255 which results in an order by the district court denying the relief requested, counsel shall inform the petitioner of his right to appeal and of the court's authority to appoint appellate counsel in its discretion. If so requested by the petitioner, counsel shall file a timely notice of appeal and a motion for appointment of appellate counsel, and counsel's duty is thereby ended. On the other hand, if petitioner is granted the relief requested, counsel shall continue to represent the petitioner in the event the respondent appeals the judgment.

2. Appellate Counsel: Every attorney, including retained counsel, who represents a defendant in this court shall continue to represent his client after termination of the appeal unless relieved of further responsibility by this court or the Supreme Court. Where counsel has not been relieved:

If the judgment of this court is adverse to the defendant, counsel shall inform the defendant, in writing, of his right to petition the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. If the defendant, in writing, so requests and in counsel's considered judgment there are grounds for seeking Supreme Court review, counsel shall prepare and file a timely petition for such a writ and transmit a copy to the defendant. Thereafter, unless otherwise instructed by the Supreme Court or its clerk, or unless any applicable rule, order or plan of the Supreme Court shall otherwise provide, counsel shall take whatever further steps are necessary to protect the rights of the defendant, until the petition is granted or denied.

If the appellant requests that a petition for writ of certiorari be filed but counsel believes that such a petition would be frivolous, counsel may file a motion to withdraw with this court wherein counsel requests to be relieved of the responsibility of filing a petition for writ of certiorari. The motion must reflect that a copy was served on the client.

If the United States seeks a writ of certiorari to review a judgment of this court, counsel shall take all necessary steps to oppose the United States' petition.

Similarly, in any proceeding brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2241, 2254, or 2255 which results in an order by this court, appointed counsel shall take those steps necessary, as set forth above, to protect the rights of the defendant in the Supreme Court.

VI. COMPENSATION AND REIMBURSEMENT OF EXPENSES

1. Voucher: Upon the completion of service in this court, appointed counsel shall submit a voucher for compensation and reimbursement on the Criminal Justice Act form currently approved by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts. Vouchers shall be submitted no later than 60 days after the final disposition of the case, unless good cause is shown. The clerk will determine the amount of compensation and reimbursement to be paid. The approved voucher will then be reviewed by the Circuit Executive, signed by the Chief Judge, and forwarded to the Administrative Office for payment or further handling.

2. Hourly Rates: For work done before January 1, 1996, counsel may be compensated at rates not exceeding $60.00 per hour for time expended in court and $40.00 per hour for time reasonably expended out of court. For work done on or after January 1, 1996, counsel may be compensated at rates not exceeding $65.00 per hour for in court time and $45.00 per hour for out of court time unless the Judicial Conference determines that a higher rate is justified. In death penalty cases these maximum rates do not apply. Counsel in these cases may be compensated at such rates as the Court determines to be reasonably necessary, within the $75-$125 per hour range. Time spent awaiting oral argument is considered to be time expended out of court.

3. Maximum Compensation Allowable: In any direct appeal, except in death penalty cases and in appeals from probation revocation proceedings, the total compensation, exclusive of expenses, shall not exceed $2,500.00 for an attorney's services rendered in this court. In death penalty cases compensation is in such amounts as the court determines to be reasonably necessary.

In any collateral proceeding, or in any case where a post-trial motion has been made after the entry of judgment, or in appeals from probation revocation proceedings, the total compensation, exclusive of expenses, shall not exceed $750.00 for an attorney's services rendered in this court.

In all cases where there has been a substitution of counsel, or where multiple defendants have been represented by one attorney or multiple appointments have been made for one defendant, total compensation shall be determined pursuant to Section II, Paragraphs 4, 5, and 6.

Payment in excess of the prescribed limitations may be made to provide fair compensation in a case involving extended or complex representation, upon approval by the Chief Judge of this court or other active circuit judge designated by him. Counsel claiming in excess of the statutory maximum must submit with his voucher a detailed memorandum supporting and justifying counsel's claim that the representation given was in a complex or extended case, and that the excess payment is necessary to provide fair compensation. If the legal or factual issues in a case are unusual, thus requiring the expenditure of more time, skill and effort by the lawyer than would normally be required in an average case, the case is "complex". If more time is reasonably required for total processing than would normally be required in the average case, the case is "extended". Attorneys seeking compensation have the burden of providing sufficient details to support their claim that the case is more complex or time consuming than the average case. This burden also exists with regard to the reasonableness of hours claimed for representation.

4. Reimbursable Expenses: Counsel shall be entitled to reimbursement for reasonably incurred out-of-pocket expenditures. Travel by privately owned automobile should be claimed at the mileage rate currently applicable to federal employee travel, plus parking fees and tolls. Transportation other than by privately owned automobile should be claimed on an actual expense basis. Necessary airline travel will be reimbursed only at coach class rates. Expenditures for meals and lodging, as well as for telephone toll calls, telegrams, and copying are reimbursable. The cost of photocopying or similar copying services is reimbursable, while the cost of printing is not. Where photocopying services are performed in counsel's office, the reimbursement shall be limited to out-of-pocket expenses, not to exceed 15 cents per copy. For photocopying and other services in preparation of briefs and appendices by commercial printers, reimbursement shall not exceed 35 cents per copy. All materials contained in appendices prepared by commercial printers in court-appointed cases will be reproduced on both sides of a sheet. No joint appendix in a court-appointed case shall exceed 250 sheets without advance permission from the Court. Compensation paid to law students for legal research is reimbursable, but expenses incurred by the law student in assisting counsel are not. When necessary for adequate representation in death penalty cases, reasonable employment and compensation of public and private organizations which provide consulting services to counsel are reimbursable to assist in such areas as records completion, identification of potential issues, exhaustion of state remedies, and review of draft pleadings and briefs. Detailed receipts are required for all travel and lodging expenses, non-office copying services, and any other expense in excess of $50.00. Failure to provide detailed receipts may result in the expense being denied. Any expense in excess of $50.00 must be itemized in a manner which will permit a review of the amount expended.

5. Representation to the Supreme Court: Counsel's time and expenses involved in the preparation of a petition for a writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court, and in the protection of the defendant's rights up until the time that Court disposes of a petition, should be included in the voucher for services performed in this court.

6. Number of Copies: Appointed counsel is required to file six copies of the brief and five copies of the appendix with the clerk of the court, with service of one copy on counsel for each party separately represented. Appointed counsel shall be entitled to reimbursement for the cost of photocopying required copies.

7. Non-reimbursable Expenses: General office overhead, personal items and non-legal personal services for the person represented, filing fees, services of process, and printing are non-reimbursable. (A person represented under the Criminal Justice Act is not required to pay filing fees or costs, or give security therefor, nor must he file the 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a) affidavit, for an appeal.)

8. Authorized Transcripts: Authorized transcripts should not be claimed in the voucher by an attorney. The Administrative Office will pay the appropriate court reporter directly.

9. Interim Payment of Expenses: This court, in rare cases, will entertain requests for interim reimbursement of extraordinary and substantial expenses.

10. Direct Payment from Person Represented: No appointed counsel shall accept a payment or a promise of payment from a defendant for representation in this court without prior authorization from the court on an appropriate Criminal Justice Act form.

11. Public Defender: Where a defendant is represented by a federal public defender, the defender shall be compensated solely by his federal salary and shall not submit a Criminal Justice Act form for compensation.

12. Non-appointed Co-Counsel: Non-appointed attorneys may not be compensated, but an appointed attorney may claim compensation for services furnished by a partner, associate, or co-counsel, within the maximum compensation allowed to the appointed attorney.

VII. RULES, REGULATIONS, FORMS

1. Rules and Regulations: This Plan shall be subject to and held to have been amended pro tanto by any rule or regulation adopted by the Judicial Conference of the United States concerning the operation of plans under the Criminal Justice Act.

The Judicial Council or this court may adopt rules or regulations concerning the operation of this Plan, which, when promulgated, shall have the same force as provisions of this Plan.

2. Forms: Forms approved by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts for use in the administration of the Criminal Justice Act shall be used whenever appropriate. Where there are no approved forms, this court may approve and require the use of designated forms or other instruments.

VIII. ADMINISTRATION

Generally; clerk's office: Any act to be done by the court may be done by any judge of the court, by the clerk, or by a deputy clerk pursuant to delegated authority.

IX. DEFINITIONS

1. Supreme Court: Supreme Court of the United States.

2. Administrative Office: Administrative Office of the United States Courts.

3. This court; the court: The United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

4. Criminal Justice Act: Criminal Justice Act of 1964, 18 U.S.C. § 3006A, as amended by Public Law 91-447, approved October 14, 1970; Public Law 93-412, approved September 3, 1974; Public Law 97-164, approved April 2, 1982; Public Law 98-473, approved October 12, 1984; and Public Law 99-651, approved November 14, 1986.

5. Defendant; Defendants: Where appropriate in this Plan, the word “defendant” or “defendants” shall be construed to include petitioner or petitioners in a collateral proceeding.

6. Judicial Council: Judicial Council of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of the United States.

X. AMENDMENTS

This Plan may be amended at any time by the Judicial Council effective when a copy of the amendatory resolution is filed with the Administrative Office or at such later date as may be specified in the resolution.

XI. EFFECTIVE DATE

This amended plan is effective February 26, 1996.

Appendix D. Docketing statement instructions.

1. Counsel for appellant must file two copies of a docketing statement with all attachments within fourteen days of filing the notice of appeal for every case appealed or cross-appealed to the court of appeals. The docketing statement must be received by the court of appeals clerk's office within the fourteen days allowed to be deemed timely filed. Copies must be served on the opposing party or parties.

2. The attorney filing the notice of appeal is responsible for filing the docketing statement, even if different counsel will handle the appeal. In the case of multiple appellants represented by separate counsel, the parties must confer and decide who will file the docketing statement. Appellants proceeding pro se may file a docketing statement, but are not required to do so.

3. The docketing statement is not a brief but will be used by the conference attorney for pre-briefing review of civil cases in which all parties are represented by counsel, and in mediation conducted in such cases under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 33. The nature of proceedings and relief sought should be stated succinctly. The issues should be framed with reference to the specific facts and circumstances of the case. Conclusory statements such as "the judgment of the trial court is not supported by the law or facts" are unacceptable. Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues in the brief, counsel should make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. The docketing statement should not contain motions or other requests for interim relief. If counsel in a civil case believes a mediation conference would be beneficial, counsel may make a confidential request for mediation by contacting the Pre-argument Conference Program directly at (919) 541-7848.

4. Counsel's failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissal of the appeal under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 45. The Court will not initiate action under Local Rule 45 for failure to file the docketing statement in a pro se case.

5. If an opposing party concludes that the docketing statement is in any way inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, that party should file two copies of any additions or corrections to the docketing statement with the clerk's office within seven days of service of the docketing statement, with copies to all other parties.

6. You must attach to this docketing statement:

- ADDITIONAL PAGES CONTAINING EXTENDED ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ON THIS FORM.
- THE NOTICE OF APPEAL.
- THE DISTRICT COURT DOCKET SHEET.
- A COPY OF THE ORDER OR JUDGMENT FROM WHICH THE APPEAL IS TAKEN.
- ANY OPINION OR FINDINGS.

Appendix E. Docketing Statement — Agency — Instructions.

1. Counsel for the petitioner or applicant must file two copies of a docketing statement for any petition for review, cross petition, application for enforcement, or cross application within fourteen days of docketing of the petition or application. The docketing statement must be received by the clerk's office within the fourteen days allowed to be deemed timely filed. Copies must be served on the opposing party or parties. Petitioners proceeding pro se may file a docketing statement but are not required to do so.
2. Only one docketing statement shall be filed for each petition or application. If there are multiple petitioners or applicants, the parties should confer and decide who will file the docketing statement. A list of all names and addresses of parties, their attorneys and attorneys' names and addresses, and a certification that all parties have conferred and concurred in the filing must be attached to the docketing statement.
3. The docketing statement is not a brief and should not contain argument or motions. The nature of proceedings and relief sought should be stated succinctly. The issues should be expressed in terms and circumstances of the case but without unnecessary detail. Conclusory statements such as "the findings of the administrative law judge are not supported by the law or facts" are unacceptable. Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues, counsel should make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. The docketing statement will be used in any mediation conducted under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 33. If counsel in a case in which all parties are represented by counsel believes a mediation conference would be beneficial, counsel may make a confidential request for mediation by contacting the Court's Pre-argument Conference Program directly at (919) 541-7848.
4. Counsel's failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth above will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissal under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 45. The Court will not initiate action under Local Rule 45 for failure to file the docketing statement in a pro se case.
5. Appendix F. Docketing statement — Tax court.

1. Counsel for appellant must file two copies of a docketing statement with all attachments for every case appealed or cross-appealed to the court of appeals within fourteen days of the docketing of the notice of appeal. The docketing statement must be received by the clerk's office within the fourteen days allowed to be deemed timely filed. Copies must be served on the opposing party or parties.
2. The attorney filing the notice of appeal is responsible for filing the docketing statement, even if different counsel will handle the appeal. In the case of multiple appellants represented by separate counsel, the parties must confer and decide who will file the docketing statement. Appellants proceeding pro se may file a docketing statement, but are not required to do so.
3. The docketing statement is not a brief and should not contain argument or motions. The nature of proceedings and relief sought should be stated succinctly. The issues should be expressed in terms and circumstances of the case but without unnecessary detail. Conclusory statements such as "the judgment of the tax court is not supported by the law or facts" are unacceptable. Although a party will not be precluded from raising additional issues, counsel should make every effort to include in the docketing statement all of the issues that will be presented to the Court. The docketing statement will be used in any mediation conducted under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 33. If counsel in a case in which all parties are represented by counsel believes a mediation conference would be beneficial, counsel may make a confidential request for mediation by contacting the Court's Pre-argument Conference Program directly at (919) 541-7848.
4. Counsel's failure to file the docketing statement within the time set forth above will cause the Court to initiate the process for dismissal of the appeal under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 45. The Court will not initiate action under Local Rule 45 for failure to file the docketing statement in a pro se case.
5. If an opposing party concludes that the docketing statement is in any way inaccurate, incomplete, or misleading, that party should file two copies of any additions or corrections to the docketing statement with the clerk's office within seven (7) days of service of the docketing statement, with copies to all other parties.

Form — Complaint of Judicial Misconduct or Disability

Index follows Rules.

Notice to Persons Considering Filing a Complaint of Judicial Misconduct or Disability

Most complaints of judicial misconduct or disability filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 372(c) in the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit in recent years have been dismissed because they did not allege conduct falling within the reach of the statute. The time and effort of complainants, and of the Court, are wasted by complaints concerning matters that do not come within the coverage of the statute. This notice is issued to draw attention to those portions of the statute, and the Fourth Circuit Judicial Council's Rules Governing Complaints of Judicial Misconduct and Disability, that describe the sorts of conduct that are, and are not, properly raised in a judicial complaint.

The law authorizes complaints about judges who have "engaged in conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the courts." This term includes such things as the use of a judge's office to obtain special treatment for friends and relatives, acceptance of bribes, improperly engaging in discussions with lawyers or parties to cases in the absence of representatives of opposing parties, and other abuses of judicial office. It could include habitual failure to decide matters in a timely fashion, or bias against persons of a particular class as demonstrated by actions in a series of cases over a substantial period of time.

This term does not include a judge's making wrong decisions — Even very wrong decisions — In particular cases, a complaint that a judge has exhibited bias toward a particular person, made an improper ruling or series of procedural rulings in a case, treated a person or party unfairly, or wrongly decided a case, is not a ground for relief under the judicial complaint and disability statute. Such matters can, and should, be raised in an appeal of the judge's decision to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, following the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure.

The statute also authorizes complaints about judges who are “unable to discharge all the duties of office by reason of mental or physical disability.” A judge is mentally or physically disabled if he or she is unable to comprehend the nature of the proceedings over which he or she presides, to understand the principles of law involved, or to remember testimony and argument sufficiently well to render fair judgments in the matters coming before him or her for decision. The statute is designed to cover both temporary and permanent disability. The statute does not attempt to define the conditions that could produce such disability, but they could include a mental disease or defect, senility, or drug or alcohol dependency.

These subjects are covered in further detail in Rule 1 of the Fourth Circuit Rules Governing Complaints of Judicial Misconduct or Disability and in §§ 1 and 3(B) of 28 U.S.C. § 372(c).

CHAPTER I. FILING A COMPLAINT

Rule 1. When to use the complaint procedure.

(a) Purpose of the procedure. The purpose of the complaint procedure is to improve the administration of justice in the federal courts by taking action when judges have engaged in conduct that does not meet the standards expected of federal judicial officers or are physically or mentally unable to perform their duties. The law's purpose is essentially forward-looking and not punitive. The emphasis is on conditions that interfere with the proper administration of justice in the courts.

(b) What may be complained about. The law authorizes complaints about United States circuit judges, district judges, bankruptcy judges or magistrate judges who have “engaged in conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts” or who are “unable to discharge all the duties of office by reason of mental or physical disability.”

“Conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts” is not a precise term. It includes such things as use of the judge's office to obtain special treatment for friends and relatives, acceptance of bribes, improperly engaging in discussions with lawyers or parties to cases in the absence of representatives of opposing parties, and other abuses of judicial office. It does not include making wrong decisions — even very wrong decisions — in cases. The law provides that a complaint may be dismissed if it is “directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling.”

“Mental or physical disability” may include temporary conditions as well as permanent disability.

(c) Who may be complained about. The complaint procedure applies to judges of the United States court of appeals, judges of United States district courts, judges of United States bankruptcy courts, and United States magistrate judges. These rules apply, in particular, only to judges of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit and to district judges, bankruptcy judges, and magistrate judges of federal courts within the Fourth Circuit. The circuit includes the federal courts in the states of Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Complaints about other officials of federal courts should be made to their supervisors in the various courts. If such a complaint cannot be resolved satisfactorily at lower levels, it may be referred to the chief judge of the court in which the official is employed. The circuit executive, whose address is 1100 East Main Street, Suite 617, Richmond, Virginia 23219-3538, is sometimes able to provide assistance in resolving such complaints.

(d) Time for filing complaints. A complaint may be filed at any time. However, complaints should be filed promptly. A complaint may be dismissed if it is filed so long after the events in question that the delay will make fair consideration of the matter impossible. A complaint may also be dismissed if it does not indicate the existence of a current problem with the administration of the business of the courts.

(e) Limitations on use of the procedure. The complaint procedure is not intended to provide a means of obtaining review of a judge's decision or ruling in a case. The judicial council of the circuit, the body that takes action under the complaint procedure, does not have the power to change a decision or ruling. Only a court can do that.

The complaint procedure may not be used to have a judge disqualified from sitting on a particular case. A motion for disqualification should be made in the case.

Also, the complaint procedure may not be used to force a ruling on a particular motion or other matter that has been before the judge too long. A petition for mandamus can sometimes be used for that purpose. (Amended September 25, 1996.)

Rule 2. How to file a complaint.

(a) Form. Complaints should be filed on the official form for filing complaints, which is reproduced in the appendix to these rules. Forms may be obtained by writing or telephoning the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, 1100 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia 23219, 804-771-2213. Forms may be picked up in person at the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals or any district court or bankruptcy court within the circuit.

(b) Statement of facts. A statement should be attached to the complaint form, setting forth with particularity the facts on which the claim of misconduct or disability is based. The statement should not be longer than five pages (five sides), and the paper size should not be larger than the paper the form is printed on. Normally, the statement of facts will include —

- (1) A statement of what occurred;
- (2) The time and place of the occurrence or occurrences;

(3) Any other information that would assist an investigator in checking the facts, such as the presence of a court reporter or other witness and their names and addresses.

(c) Legibility. Complaints should be typewritten if possible. If not typewritten, they must be legible.

(d) Submission of documents. Documents such as excerpts from transcripts may be submitted as evidence of the behavior complained about; if they are, the statement of facts should refer to the specific pages in the documents on which relevant material appears.

(e) Number of copies. Only an original is required.

(f) Signature and oath. The form must be signed and the truth of the statements verified in writing under oath. As an alternative to taking an oath, the complainant may declare under penalty of perjury that the statements are true. The complainant's address must also be provided.

(g) Anonymous complaints. Anonymous complaints are not handled under these rules. However, anonymous complaints received by the clerk will be forwarded to the chief judge of the circuit for such action as the chief judge considers appropriate. See Rule 20.

(h) Where to file. Complaints should be sent to Clerk, United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit
1100 East Main Street, Room 501
Richmond, Virginia 23219

The envelope should be marked "Complaint of Misconduct" or "Complaint of Disability." The name of the judge complained about should not appear on the envelope.

(i) No fee required. There is no filing fee for complaints of misconduct or disability.

(j) Chief judge's authority to initiate complaint. In the interest of effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts and on the basis of information available to the chief judge of the circuit, the chief judge may, by written order stating reasons therefor, identify a complaint as authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 372(c)(1) and thereby dispense with the filing of a written complaint. A chief judge who has identified a complaint under this rule will not be considered a complainant and, subject to the second sentence of rule 18(a), will perform all functions assigned to the chief judge under these rules for the determination of complaints filed by a complainant.

Rule 3. Action by clerk of court of appeals upon receipt of a complaint.

(a) Receipt of complaint in proper form.

(1) Upon receipt of a complaint against a judge filed in proper form under these rules, the Clerk of the Court of Appeals will open a file, assign a docket number, and acknowledge receipt of the complaint. The clerk will promptly send copies of the complaint to the chief judge of the circuit (or the judge authorized to act as chief judge under Rule 18(f)), to the circuit executive, and to each judge whose conduct is the subject of the complaint. The original of the complaint will be retained by the clerk.

Upon the issuance of an order by the chief judge identifying a complaint under Rule 2(j), the clerk will thereafter expeditiously process such complaint as otherwise provided by these rules.

(2) If a district judge or magistrate judge is complained about, the clerk will also send a copy of the complaint to the chief judge of the district court in which the judge or magistrate judge holds his or her appointment. If a bankruptcy judge is complained about, the clerk will send copies to the chief judges of the district court and the bankruptcy court. However, if the chief judge of a district court or bankruptcy court is a subject of the complaint, the chief judge's copy will be sent to the judge of such court in regular active service who is most senior in date of commission among those who are not subjects of the complaint.

(b) Receipt of complaint about official other than a judge of the fourth circuit. If the clerk receives a complaint about an official other than a judge of the Fourth Circuit, the clerk will not accept the complaint for filing and will advise the complainant in writing of the procedure for processing such complaints.

(c) Receipt of complaint about a judge of the fourth circuit and another official. If a complaint is received about a judge of the Fourth Circuit and another official, the clerk will accept the complaint for filing only with regard to the judge, and will advise the complainant accordingly.

(d) Receipt of complaint not in proper form. If the clerk receives a complaint against a judge of this circuit that does not comply with the requirements of Rule 2, the clerk will accept the complaint for filing, advise the complainant in writing of the defects in the submission, require that they be remedied within fifteen days of the date of the clerk's letter, and dismiss the complaint without prejudice if the complainant does not remedy them. The clerk will notify the chief judge and the circuit executive of each such dismissal. The chief judge may direct the reinstatement of any such complaint.

CHAPTER II. REVIEW OF A COMPLAINT BY THE CHIEF JUDGE

Rule 4. Review by the chief judge.

(a) Purpose of chief judge's review. When a complaint in proper form is sent to the chief judge by the clerk's office, the chief judge will review the complaint to determine whether it should be (1) dismissed, (2) concluded on the ground that corrective action has been taken, (3) concluded because intervening events have made action on the complaint no longer necessary, or (4) referred to a special committee.

(b) Inquiry by chief judge. In determining what action to take, the chief judge may conduct a limited inquiry for the purpose of determining (1) whether appropriate corrective action has been or can be taken without the necessity of a formal investigation, (2) whether intervening events have made action on the complaint unnecessary, and (3) whether the facts stated in the complaint are either plainly untrue or are incapable of being established through investigation. For this purpose, the chief judge may, individually or through the circuit executive, request the judge whose conduct is complained of to file a written response to the complaint. The chief judge may also, individually or through the circuit executive, communicate orally or in writing with the complainant, the judge whose conduct is complained of, and other people who may have knowledge of the matter, and may review any transcripts or other relevant documents. The chief judge will not undertake to make findings of fact about any matter that is reasonably in dispute.

(c) Dismissal. A complaint will be dismissed if the chief judge concludes —

(1) that the claimed conduct, even if the claim is true, is not “conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts” and does not indicate a mental or physical disability resulting in inability to discharge the duties of office;

(2) that the complaint is directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling;

(3) that the complaint is frivolous, a term that includes making charges that are wholly unsupported;

(4) that, under the statute, the complaint is otherwise not appropriate for consideration.

(d) Corrective action. The complaint proceeding will be concluded if the chief judge determines that appropriate action has been taken to remedy the problem raised by the complaint or that action on the complaint is no longer necessary because of intervening events.

(e) Appointment of special committee. If the complaint is not dismissed or concluded, the chief judge will promptly appoint a special committee, constituted as provided in Rule 9, to investigate the complaint and make recommendations to the judicial council. However, ordinarily a special committee will not be appointed until the judge complained about has been invited to respond to the complaint and has been allowed a reasonable time to do so. In the discretion of the chief judge, separate complaints may be joined and assigned to a single special committee; similarly, a single complaint about more than one judge may be severed and more than one special committee appointed.

(f) Notice of chief judge's action.

(1) If the complaint is dismissed or the proceeding concluded on the basis of corrective action taken or because intervening events have made action on the complaint unnecessary, the chief judge will prepare a supporting memorandum that sets forth the allegations of the complaint and the reasons for the disposition. The memorandum will not include the name of the complainant or of the judge whose conduct was complained of. The order and the supporting memorandum will be provided to the complainant, the judge, and any judge entitled to receive a copy of the complaint pursuant to Rule 3(a)(2). The complainant will be notified of the right to petition the judicial council for review of the decision and of the deadline for filing a petition.

(2) If a special committee is appointed, the clerk will notify the complainant, the judge whose conduct is complained of, and any judge entitled to receive a copy of the complaint pursuant to Rule 3(a)(2) that the matter has been referred and will inform them of the membership of the committee.

(g) Public availability of chief judge's decision. Materials related to the chief judge's decision will be made public at the time and in the manner set forth in Rule 17.

(h) Report to judicial council. The clerk will report annually to the judicial council of the circuit on actions taken under this rule.

CHAPTER III. REVIEW OF CHIEF JUDGE'S DISPOSITION OF A COMPLAINT

Rule 5. Petition for review of chief judge's disposition.

If the chief judge dismisses a complaint or concludes the proceeding on the ground that corrective action has been taken or that intervening events have made action unnecessary, a petition for review may be addressed to the judicial council of the circuit. The judicial council may affirm the order of the chief judge, return the matter to the chief judge for further action, or, in exceptional cases, take other appropriate action.

Rule 6. How to petition for review of a disposition by the chief judge.

(a) Time. A petition for review must be received in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals within 30 days of the date of the clerk's letter to the complainant transmitting the chief judge's order.

(b) Form. A petition should be in the form of a letter, addressed to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, beginning "I hereby petition the judicial council for review of the chief judge's order . . ." There is no need to enclose a copy of the original complaint.

(c) Legibility. Petitions should be typewritten if possible. If not typewritten, they must be legible.

(d) Number of copies. Only an original is required.

(e) Statement of grounds for petition. The letter should set forth a brief statement of the reasons why the petitioner believes that the chief judge should not have dismissed the complaint or concluded the proceeding. It should not repeat the complaint; the complaint will be available to members of the circuit council considering the petition.

(f) Signature. The letter must be signed.

- (g) Where to file. Petition letters should be sent to Clerk, United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit
1100 East Main Street, Room 501
Richmond, Virginia 23219

The envelope should be marked "Misconduct Petition" or "Disability Petition." The name of the judge complained of should not appear on the envelope.

- (h) No fee required. There is no fee for filing a petition under this procedure.

Rule 7. Action by clerk of court of appeals upon receipt of a petition for review.

(a) Receipt of timely petition in proper form. Upon receipt of a petition for review filed within the time allowed and in proper form under these rules, the clerk of the court of appeals will acknowledge receipt of the petition. The clerk will promptly send to the circuit executive copies of (1) the complaint form and statement of facts, (2) any response filed by the judge, (3) any record of information received by the chief judge in connection with the chief judge's consideration of the complaint, (4) the chief judge's order disposing of the complaint, (5) any memorandum in support of the chief judge's order, (6) the petition for review, (7) any other documents in the files of the clerk that appear to be relevant and material to the petition, and (8) a list of any documents in the clerk's files that are not being sent because they are not considered relevant and material. Upon receipt of these materials, the circuit executive will promptly send copies to each member of the judicial council except for any member disqualified under Rule 18. The clerk will also send the same materials, to the chief judge of the circuit, and each judge whose conduct is at issue, except that materials previously sent to a person may be omitted.

(b) Receipt of untimely petition. The clerk will dismiss a petition that is received after the deadline set forth in Rule 6(a).

(c) Receipt of timely petition not in proper form. Upon receipt of a petition filed within the time allowed but not in proper form under these rules (including a document that is ambiguous about whether a petition for review is intended), the clerk will acknowledge receipt of the petition, call the petitioner's attention to the deficiencies, and give the petitioner the opportunity to correct the deficiencies within 15 days of the date of the clerk's letter or within the original deadline for filing the petition, whichever is later. If the deficiencies are corrected within the time allowed, the clerk will proceed in accordance with paragraph (a) of this rule. If the deficiencies are not corrected, the clerk will dismiss the petition.

Rule 8. Review by the judicial council of a chief judge's order.

(a) Mail ballot. Each member of the judicial council to whom a ballot was sent will return a signed ballot, or otherwise communicate the member's vote, to the circuit executive. The ballot form will provide opportunities to vote to (1) affirm the chief judge's disposition, or (2) place the petition on the agenda of a meeting of the judicial council. The form will also provide an opportunity for members to indicate that they have disqualified themselves from participating in consideration of the petition.

Votes will be tabulated when all members of the judicial council to whom ballots were sent have either voted or indicated that they are disqualified. Members who have disqualified themselves will be treated for this purpose as if ballots had not been sent to them.

If all of the votes cast should be for affirmance, the chief judge's order will be affirmed, and the circuit executive will prepare an appropriate order to that effect. If any of the members vote to place the petition on the agenda of a council meeting, that will be done.

(b) Availability of documents. Upon request, the clerk will make available to any member of the judicial council or to the judge complained about any document from the files that was not sent to the council members pursuant to Rule 7(a).

(c) Vote at meeting of judicial council. If a petition is placed on the agenda of a meeting of the judicial council, council action may be taken by a majority of the members present and voting.

(d) Rights of judge complained about.

(1) At any time after the filing of a petition for review by a complainant, the judge complained about may file a written response with the Clerk of the Court of Appeals and shall do so if requested by the judicial council. The clerk will promptly distribute copies of the response to each member of the judicial council who is not disqualified, to the chief judge, and to the complainant. The judge may not otherwise communicate with council members about the matter, either orally or in writing.

(2) The judge complained about will be provided by the clerk with copies of any communications that may be addressed to the members of the judicial council by the complainant.

(e) Notice of council decision.

(1) The circuit executive will transmit the council's order, any accompanying memorandum in support of the order, and any ballots returned, to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals for inclusion in the official file.

(2) The order of the judicial council, together with any accompanying memorandum in support of the order, will be provided by the clerk to the complainant, the judge, and any judge entitled to receive a copy of the complaint pursuant to Rule 3(a)(2).

(3) If the decision is unfavorable to the complainant, the complainant will be notified by the clerk that the law provides for no further review of the decision.

(4) A memorandum supporting a council order will not include the name of the complainant or the judge whose conduct was complained of. If the order of the council affirms the chief judge's disposition, a supporting memorandum will be prepared only if the judicial council concludes that there is a need to supplement the chief judge's explanation.

(f) Public availability of council decision. Materials related to the council's decision will be made public at the time and in the manner set forth in Rule 17.

CHAPTER IV. INVESTIGATION AND RECOMMENDATION BY SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Rule 9. Appointment of special committee.

(a) Membership. A special committee appointed pursuant to Rule 4(e) will consist of the chief judge of the circuit and equal numbers of circuit and district judges. If a complaint is about a district judge, bankruptcy judge, or magistrate judge, the district judge members of the committee will be from districts other than the district of the judge complained about.

(b) Presiding officer. At the time of appointing the committee, the chief judge will designate one of its members (who may be the chief judge) as the presiding officer. When designating another member of the committee as the presiding officer, the chief judge may also delegate to such member the authority to direct the Clerk of the Court of Appeals to issue subpoenas related to proceedings of the committee.

(c) Bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge as adviser. If the judicial officer complained about is a bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge, the chief judge may designate a bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge, as the case may be, to serve as an adviser to the committee. The chief judge will designate such an adviser if, within two days of notification of the appointment of the committee, the bankruptcy judge, or magistrate judge complained about requests that an adviser be designated. The adviser will be from a district other than the district of the bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge complained about. The adviser will not vote but will have the other privileges of a member of the committee.

(d) Provision of documents. The clerk will send to each member of the committee and to the adviser, if any, copies of (1) the complaint form and statement of facts, and (2) any other documents on file pertaining to the complaint (or to that portion of the complaint referred to the special committee).

(e) Continuing qualification of committee members. A member of a special committee who was qualified at the time of appointment may continue to serve on the committee even though the member relinquishes the position of chief judge, active circuit judge, or active district judge, as the case may be, but only if the member continues to hold office under Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution of the United States.

(f) Inability of committee member to complete service. In the event that a member of a special committee can no longer serve because of death, disability, disqualification, resignation, retirement from office, or other reason, the chief judge of the circuit will determine whether to appoint a replacement member, either a circuit or district judge as the case may be. However, no special committee appointed under these rules will function with only a single member, and the quorum and voting requirements for a two-member committee will be applied as if the committee had three members.

Rule 10. Conduct of an investigation.

(a) Extent and methods to be determined by committee. Each special committee will determine the extent of the investigation and the methods of conducting it that are appropriate in light of the allegations of the complaint. If, in the course of the investigation, the committee develops reason to believe that the judge may have engaged in misconduct that is beyond the scope of the complaint, the committee may, with written notice to the judge, expand the scope of the investigation to encompass such misconduct.

(b) Criminal matters. In the event that the complaint alleges criminal conduct on the part of a judge, or in the event that the committee becomes aware of possible criminal conduct, the committee will consult with the appropriate prosecuting authorities to the extent permitted by 28 U.S.C. § 372(c)(14) in an effort to avoid compromising any criminal investigation. However, the committee will make its own determination about the timing of its activities, having in mind the importance of ensuring the proper administration of the business of the courts.

(c) Staff. The committee may arrange for staff assistance in the conduct of the investigation. It may use existing staff of the circuit executive or may arrange, through the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, for the hiring of special staff to assist in the investigation.

(d) Delegation. The committee may delegate duties in its discretion to sub-committees, to staff members, to individual committee members, or to an adviser designated under Rule 9(c). The authority to exercise the committee's subpoena powers may be delegated only to the presiding officer. In the case of failure to comply with such subpoena, the judicial council or special committee may institute a contempt proceeding consistent with 28 U.S.C. § 332(d).

(e) Report. The committee will file with the clerk for transmission through the circuit executive to the judicial council a comprehensive report of its investigation, including findings of the investigation and the committee's recommendations for council action. Any findings adverse to the judge will be based on evidence in the record. The report will be accompanied by a statement of the vote by which it was adopted, any separate or dissenting statements of committee members, and the record of any hearings held pursuant to Rule 11.

(f) Voting. All actions of the committee will be by vote of a majority of all of the members of the committee.

Rule 11. Conduct of hearings by special committee.

(a) Purpose of hearings. The committee may hold hearings to take testimony and receive other evidence, to hear argument, or both. If the committee is investigating allegations against more than one judge it may, in its discretion, hold joint hearings or separate hearings.

(b) Notice to judge complained about. The judge complained about will be given adequate notice in writing of any hearing held, its purposes, the names of any witnesses whom the committee intends to call, and the text of any statements that have been taken from such witnesses. The judge may at any time suggest additional witnesses to the committee.

(c) Committee witnesses. All persons who are believed to have substantial information to offer will be called as committee witnesses. Such witnesses may include the complainant and the judge complained about. The witnesses will be questioned by committee members, staff, or both. The judge will be afforded the opportunity to cross-examine committee witnesses, personally or through counsel.

(d) Witnesses called by the judge. The judge complained about may also call witnesses and may examine them personally or through counsel. Such witnesses may also be examined by committee members, staff, or both.

(e) Witness fees. Witness fees will be paid as provided in 28 U.S.C. § 1821.

(f) Rules of evidence; oath. The Federal Rules of Evidence will apply to any evidentiary hearing except to the extent that departures from the adversarial format of a trial make them inappropriate. All testimony taken at such a hearing will be given under oath or affirmation.

(g) Record and transcript. A record and transcript will be made of any hearing held.

(h) Supporting personnel. The Clerk of the Court of Appeals will arrange for the attendance at such hearings of deputy clerks, court reporters, and other necessary staff, from the staff of the court of appeals or the staff of a district court proximate to the location of the hearing.

Rule 12. Rights of judge in investigation.

(a) Notice. The judge complained about is entitled to written notice of the investigation (Rule 4(f)), to written notice of expansion of the scope of an investigation (Rule 10(a)), and to written notice of any hearing (Rule 11(b)).

(b) Presentation of evidence. The judge is entitled to a hearing, and has the right to present evidence and to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents at the hearing. Upon request of the judge, the chief judge or his designee will direct the Clerk of the Court of Appeals to issue a subpoena in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 332(d)(1).

(c) Presentation of argument. The judge may, at any time, submit to the clerk written argument for consideration by the special committee, and will be given a reasonable opportunity to present oral argument at an appropriate stage of the investigation.

(d) Attendance at hearings. The judge will have the right to attend any hearing held by the special committee and to receive copies of the transcript and any documents introduced, as well as to receive copies of any written arguments submitted by the complainant to the committee.

(e) Receipt of committee's report. The judge will have the right to receive the report of the special committee at the time it is filed with the judicial council.

(f) Representation by counsel. The judge may be represented by counsel in the exercise of any of the rights enumerated in this rule. The costs of such representation may be borne by the United States as provided in Rule 14(h).

Rule 13. Rights of complainant in investigation.

(a) Notice. The complainant is entitled to written notice of the investigation as provided in Rule 4(f). Upon the filing of the special committee's report to the judicial council, the complainant will be notified by the clerk that the report has been filed and is before the council for decision. Although the complainant is not entitled to a copy of the report of the special committee, the judicial council may, in its discretion, release a copy of the report of the special committee to the complainant.

(b) Opportunity to provide evidence. The complainant is entitled to be interviewed by a representative of the committee. If it is believed that the complainant has substantial information to offer, the complainant will be called as a witness at a hearing.

(c) Presentation of argument. The complainant may at any time submit to the clerk written argument for consideration by the special committee. In the discretion of the special committee, the complainant may be permitted to offer oral argument.

(d) Representation by counsel. A complainant may submit written argument through counsel and, if permitted to offer oral argument, may do so through counsel.

CHAPTER V. JUDICIAL COUNCIL CONSIDERATION OF RECOMMENDATIONS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Rule 14. Action by judicial council.

(a) Purpose of judicial council consideration. After receipt of a report of a special committee, the judicial council will determine whether to dismiss the complaint, conclude the proceeding on the ground that corrective action has been taken or that intervening events make action unnecessary, refer the complaint to the Judicial Conference of the United States, or order corrective action.

(b) Basis of council action. Subject to the rights of the judge to submit argument to the council as provided in Rule 15(a), the council may take action on the basis of the report of the special committee and the record of any hearings held. If the council finds that the report and record provide an inadequate basis for decision, it may (1) order further investigation and a further report by the special committee or (2) conduct such additional investigation as it deems appropriate.

(c) Dismissal. The council will dismiss a complaint if it concludes —

(1) That the claimed conduct, even if the claim is true, is not “conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts” and does not indicate a mental or physical disability resulting in inability to discharge the duties of office;

(2) That the complaint is directly related to the merits of a decision or procedural ruling;

(3) That the facts on which the complaint is based have not been demonstrated; or

(4) That, under the statute, the complaint is otherwise not appropriate for consideration.

(d) Conclusion of the proceeding on the basis of corrective action taken. The council will conclude the complaint proceeding if it determines that appropriate action has already been taken to remedy the problem identified in the complaint or that intervening events make such action unnecessary.

(e) Referral to judicial conference of the United States. The judicial council may, in its discretion, refer a complaint to the Judicial Conference of the United States with the council's recommendations for action. It is required to refer such a complaint to the Judicial Conference of the United States if the council determines that a circuit judge or district judge may have engaged in conduct —

(1) That might constitute ground for impeachment; or

(2) That, in the interest of justice, is not amenable to resolution by the judicial council.

(f) Order of corrective action. If the complaint is not disposed of under paragraphs (c) through (e) of this rule, the judicial council will take other action to assure the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts. Such action may include, among other measures —

(1) Censuring or reprimanding the judge, either by private communication or by public announcement;

(2) Ordering that, for a fixed temporary period, no new cases be assigned to the judge;

(3) In the case of a magistrate judge, ordering the chief judge of the district court to take action specified by the council, including the initiation of removal proceedings pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 631(i);

(4) In the case of a bankruptcy judge, removing the judge from office pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 152;

(5) In the case of a circuit or district judge, requesting the judge to retire voluntarily with the provision (if necessary) that ordinary length-of-service requirements will be waived;

(6) In the case of a circuit or district judge who is eligible to retire but does not do so, certifying the disability of the judge under 28 U.S.C. § 372(b) so that an additional judge may be appointed.

(g) Combination of actions. Referral of a complaint to the Judicial Conference of the United States under paragraph (e) or to a district court under paragraph (f)(3) of this rule will not preclude the council from simultaneously taking such other action under paragraph (f) as is within its power.

(h) Recommendation about fees. Upon the request of a judge whose conduct is the subject of a complaint, the judicial council may, if the complaint has been finally dismissed, recommend that the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts award reimbursement, from funds appropriated to the judiciary, for those reasonable expenses, including attorneys' fees, incurred by that judge during the investigation, which would not have been incurred but for the requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 372(c) and these rules.

(i) Notice of action of judicial council. Council action will be by written order. Unless the council finds that, for extraordinary reasons, it would be contrary to the interests of justice, the order will be accompanied by a memorandum setting forth the factual determinations on which it is based and the reasons for the council action. The memorandum will not include the name of the complainant or of the judge whose conduct was complained about. The order and the supporting memorandum will be provided by the clerk to the complainant, the judge, and any judge entitled to receive a copy of the complaint pursuant to Rule 3(a)(2). However, if the complaint has been referred to the Judicial Conference of the United States pursuant to paragraph (e) of this rule and the council determines that disclosure would be contrary to the interests of justice, such disclosure need not be made. The complainant and the judge will be notified by the clerk of any right to seek review of the judicial council's decision by the Judicial Conference of the United States and of the procedure for filing a petition for review.

(j) Public availability of council action. Materials related to the council's action will be made public at the time and in the manner set forth in Rule 17.

Rule 15. Procedures for judicial council consideration of a special committee's report.

(a) Rights of judge complained about. Within 15 days after the receipt of the report of a special committee, the judge complained about may file a written response with the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, who will forward it to all members of the judicial council and to the circuit executive. The judge will also be given an opportunity to present oral argument to the council, personally or through counsel. The judge may not otherwise communicate with council members about the matter, either orally or in writing.

(b) Conduct of additional investigation by the council. If the judicial council decides to conduct additional investigation, the judge complained about will be given adequate prior notice in writing of that decision and of the general scope and purpose of the additional investigation. The conduct of the investigation will be generally in accordance with the procedures set forth in Rules 10 through 13 for the conduct of an investigation by a special committee. However, if hearings are held, the council may limit testimony to avoid unnecessary repetition of testimony presented before the special committee.

(c) Voting. Council action will be taken by a majority of those members of the council who are not disqualified, except that a decision to remove a bankruptcy judge from office requires a majority of all the members of the council.

CHAPTER VI. MISCELLANEOUS RULES

Rule 16. Confidentiality.

(a) General rule. Consideration of a complaint by the chief judge, a special committee, or the judicial council will be treated as confidential business, and information about such consideration will not be disclosed by any judge, or employee of the judicial branch or any person who records or transcribes testimony except in accordance with these rules.

(b) Files. All files related to complaints of misconduct or disability, whether maintained by the clerk, the circuit executive, the chief judge, members of a special committee, members of the judicial council, or staff, will be maintained separate and apart from all other files and records, with appropriate security precautions to ensure confidentiality.

(c) Disclosure in memoranda of reasons. Memoranda supporting orders of the chief judge or the judicial council, and dissenting opinions or separate statements of members of the council, may contain such information and exhibits as the authors deem appropriate, and such information and exhibits may be made public pursuant to Rule 17.

(d) Availability to judicial conference. In the event that a complaint is referred under Rule 14(e) to the Judicial Conference of the United States, the clerk will provide the Judicial Conference with copies of the report of the special committee and any other documents and records that were before the judicial council at the time of its determination. Upon request of the Judicial Conference or its Committee to Review Circuit Council Conduct and Disability

Orders, in connection with their consideration of a referred complaint or a petition under 28 U.S.C. § 372(c)(10) for review of a council order, the clerk will furnish any other records related to the investigation.

(e) Availability to district court. In the event that the judicial council directs the initiation of proceedings for removal of a magistrate judge under Rule 14(f)(3), the clerk will provide to the chief judge of the district court copies of the report of the special committee and any other documents and records that were before the judicial council at the time of its determination. Upon request of the chief judge of the district court, the judicial council may authorize release of any other records relating to the investigation.

(f) Impeachment proceedings. The judicial council may release to the legislative branch any materials that are believed necessary to an impeachment investigation of a judge or a trial on articles of impeachment.

(g) Consent of judge complained about. Any materials from the files may be disclosed to any person upon the written consent of both the judge complained about and the chief judge of the circuit. The chief judge may require that the identity of the complainant be shielded in any materials disclosed.

(h) Disclosure by judicial council in special circumstances. The judicial council may authorize disclosure of information about the consideration of a complaint, including the papers, documents, and transcripts relating to the investigation, to the extent that the council concludes that such disclosure is justified by special circumstances and is not prohibited by 28 U.S.C. § 372(c)(14).

(i) Disclosure of identity by judge complained about. Nothing in this rule will preclude the judge complained about from acknowledging that he or she is the judge referred to in documents made public pursuant to Rule 17.

Rule 17. Public availability of decisions.

(a) General rule. A docket-sheet record of orders of the chief judge and the judicial council and the texts of any memoranda supporting such orders and any dissenting opinions or separate statements by members of the judicial council will be made public when final action on the complaint has been taken and is no longer subject to review.

(1) If the complaint is finally disposed of without appointment of a special committee, or if it is disposed of by council order dismissing the complaint for reasons other than mootness or because intervening events have made action on the complaint unnecessary, the publicly available materials will not disclose the name of the judge complained about without his or her consent.

(2) If the complaint is finally disposed of by censure or reprimand by means of private communication, the publicly available materials will not disclose either the name of the judge complained about or the text of the reprimand.

(3) If the complaint is finally disposed of by any other action taken pursuant to Rule 14(d) or (f) except dismissal because intervening events have made action on the complaint unnecessary, the text of the dispositive order will be included in the materials made public, and the name of the judge will be disclosed.

(4) If the complaint is dismissed as moot, or because intervening events have made action on the complaint unnecessary, at any time after the appointment of a special committee, the judicial council will determine whether the name of the judge is to be disclosed.

The name of the complainant will not be disclosed in materials made public under this rule unless the chief judge orders such disclosure.

(b) Manner of making public. The records referred to in paragraph (a) will be made public by placing them in a publicly accessible file in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals at 1100 East Main Street, Room 501, Richmond, Virginia 23219. The clerk will send copies of the publicly available materials to the Federal Judicial Center, 1520 H Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20005, where such materials will also be available for public inspection. In cases in which memoranda appear to have precedential value, the chief judge may cause them to be published.

(c) Decision of judicial conference standing committee. To the extent consistent with the policy of the Judicial Conference Committee to Review Circuit Council Conduct and Disability Orders, opinions of that committee about complaints arising from this circuit will also be made available to the public in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

(d) Special rule for decisions of judicial council. When the judicial council has taken final action on the basis of a report of a special committee, and no petition for review has been filed with the Judicial Conference within 30 days of the council's action, the materials referred to in paragraph (a) will be made public in accordance with this rule as if there were no further right of review.

(e) Complaints referred to the judicial conference of the united states. If a complaint is referred to the Judicial Conference of the United States pursuant to Rule 14(e), materials relating to the complaint will be made public only as may be ordered by the Judicial Conference.

Rule 18. Disqualification.

(a) Complainant. If the complaint is filed by a judge, that judge will be disqualified from participation in any consideration of the complaint except to the extent that these rules provide for participation by a complainant. A chief judge who has identified a complaint under Rule 2(j) will not be automatically disqualified from participating in the consideration of the complaint but may consider in his or her discretion whether the circumstances warrant disqualification.

(b) Judge complained about. A judge whose conduct is the subject of a complaint will be disqualified from participating in any consideration of the complaint except to the extent that these rules provide for participation by a judge who is complained about.

(c) Disqualification of chief judge on consideration of a petition for review of a chief judge's order. If a petition for review of a chief judge's order dismissing a complaint or concluding a proceeding is filed with the judicial council pursuant to Rule 5, the chief judge will not participate in the council's consideration of the petition. In such a case, the chief judge may file a written communication with the clerk for transmission to all of the members of the judicial council and the circuit executive, with copies provided to the complainant and to the judge complained about. The chief judge may not otherwise communicate with council members about the matter, either orally or in writing.

(d) Member of special committee not disqualified. A member of the judicial council who is appointed to a special committee will not be disqualified from participating in council consideration of the committee's report.

(e) Judge under investigation. Upon appointment of a special committee, the judge complained about will automatically be disqualified from serving on (1) any special committee appointed under Rule 4(e), (2) the judicial council of the circuit, (3) the Judicial Conference of the United States, and (4) the Committee to Review Circuit Council Conduct and Disability Orders of the Judicial Conference of the United States. The disqualification will continue until all proceedings regarding the complaint are finally terminated, with no further right of review. The proceedings will be deemed terminated 30 days after the final action of the judicial council if no petition for review has at that time been filed with the Judicial Conference.

(f) Substitute for disqualified chief judge. If the chief judge of the circuit is disqualified from participating in consideration of the complaint, the duties and responsibilities of the chief judge under these rules will be assigned to the circuit judge in regular active service who is the most senior in date of commission of those who are not disqualified. If all circuit judges in regular active service are disqualified, the judicial council may determine whether to refer the complaint to a circuit judge from another circuit pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 291(a), or whether it is necessary, appropriate, and in the interest of sound judicial administration to permit the chief judge to dispose of the complaint on the merits. Members of the judicial council who are named in the complaint may participate in this determination if necessary to obtain a quorum of the judicial council.

(g) Judicial council action where multiple judges are disqualified. Notwithstanding any other provision in these rules to the contrary, a member of the judicial council who is subject to the complaint may participate in the disposition thereof if (a) participation by members who are subjects of the complaint is necessary to obtain a quorum of the judicial council, and (b) the judicial council votes that it is necessary, appropriate, and in the interest of sound judicial administration that such complained-against members be eligible to act. Members of the judicial council who are subjects of the complaint may participate in this determination if necessary to obtain a quorum of the judicial council. Under no circumstances, however, shall the judge who acted as chief judge of the circuit in ruling on the complaint under Rule 4 be permitted to participate in this determination. (Amended effective August 13, 1997.)

Rule 19. Withdrawal of complaints and petitions for review.

(a) Complaint pending before chief judge. A complaint that is before the chief judge for a decision under Rule 4 may be withdrawn by the complainant with the consent of the chief judge.

(b) Complaint pending before special committee or judicial council. After a complaint has been referred to a special committee for investigation, the complaint may be withdrawn by the complainant only with the consent of both (1) the judge complained about and (2) the special committee (before its report has been filed) or the judicial council.

(c) Petition for review of chief judge's disposition. A petition to the judicial council for review of the chief judge's disposition of a complaint may be withdrawn by the petitioner at any time before the judicial council acts on the petition.

Rule 20. Availability of other procedures.

The availability of the complaint procedure under these rules and 28 U.S.C. § 372(c) will not preclude the chief judge of the circuit or the judicial council of the circuits from considering any information that may come to their attention suggesting that a judge has engaged in conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts or is unable to discharge all the duties of office by reason of disability.

Rule 21. Availability of rules and forms.

These rules and copies of the complaint form prescribed by Rule 2 will be available without charge in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, 1100 East Main Street, Room 501, Richmond, Virginia 23219, and in each office of the clerk of a district court or bankruptcy court within this circuit.

Rule 22. Effective date.

These rules apply to complaints filed on or after September 1, 1991 and to all complaints pending as of that date that were filed on or after March 1, 1991. The handling of complaints filed before that date will be governed by the rules previously in effect.

Rule 23. Advisory committee.

The advisory committee appointed by the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit for the study of rules of practice and internal operating procedures under Fourth Circuit Local Rule 47(b) shall also constitute the advisory committee for the study of these rules, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 2077(b), and shall make any appropriate recommendations to the circuit judicial council concerning these rules.

I. GENERAL RULES*Rule 1.00. Scope and citation of local rules.

These local rules of practice shall govern the conduct of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina except when the conduct of this court is governed by federal statutes and rules. A judge or magistrate judge, for good cause and in his discretion, may alter these rules in any particular case. These rules shall be cited: "Local Rule _____, EDNC."

Legal Periodicals. — For article analyzing the 1983 amendments to Rules 6, 7, 11, 16, 26, 52, 53, and 67, FRCP, and the adoption of Rules 72 to 76, FRCP, noting local rule changes to related rules, and suggesting further changes, see 20 Wake Forest L. Rev. 819 (1984).

Rule 2.00. Attorneys.*Rule 2.01. Roll of attorneys.

The bar of this court consists of those heretofore admitted and those hereafter admitted as prescribed by this Local Rule 2.00.

Rule 2.02. Eligibility.

A member in good standing of the bar of the Supreme Court of North Carolina is eligible for admission to the bar of this court.

Rule 2.03. Procedure for admission.

Before being presented to the court for taking the required oath, an applicant for admission shall certify in a written application that such applicant:

(a) Is a member in good standing of the bar of the Supreme Court of North Carolina; and,

(b) Has studied the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Criminal Procedure, the Federal Rules of Evidence, and the Local Rules of this court.

In addition to these certifications, the written application shall contain the certification of two attorneys who are members in good standing of the bar of this court that the applicant is of good moral character and professional reputation and meets the requirements for admission. An applicant may be admitted to practice in this court by a district judge, bankruptcy judge, or magistrate judge of this court or of the United States District Court for the Middle District or Western District of North Carolina upon oral motion by a member of the bar of this court. If the motion for admission is granted, the applicant shall take the following oath or affirmation:

I do solemnly swear that, to the best of my knowledge and ability, I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will demean myself as an attorney of this court, uprightly and according to law. So help me God.

Following the administration of the oath, the application shall be signed by the judge or magistrate judge and the applicant shall file the application, accompanied by a fee of $30.00, with the clerk. The clerk shall then issue the applicant a certificate of admission to the bar of this court. Upon the filing of a properly certified and executed application accompanied by the admission fee of $30.00, the clerk may accept for filing papers signed by the applicant. However, no applicant shall make an appearance on behalf of a client until the applicant has taken the oath.

Rule 2.04. Representation by local counsel who must sign all pleadings.

Litigants in civil and criminal actions, except governmental agencies and parties appearing pro se, must be represented by at least one member of the bar of this court who shall sign each pleading, motion, discovery procedure or other document filed in this court. If an attorney appears solely to bring the litigant in compliance with this rule, he shall in each instance designate himself "LR 2.04 Counsel." In signing the pleading, motion, discovery request or other document, counsel certifies that he is an authorized representative for communication with the court about the litigation, and the document conforms to the practice and procedure of this court. However, counsel does not make the certification required by Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Nevertheless, the requirements of Rule 11 must be complied with by out-of-state counsel. Signatures in the following form shall be sufficient to comply with this rule:

---

James M. Jones
Attorney for Defendant
Jones, Jones and Jones
P.O. Box 500
New York, NY 10050
(212) 555-1212

---

John B. Counselor
Attorney for Defendant
Abbott, Ball and Counselor
P.O. Box 50

LR 2.04 Counsel

CASE NOTES

Cited in Stevens v. Lawyers Mut. Liab. Ins. Co., 107 F.R.D. 112 (E.D.N.C. 1985).

Rule 2.05. Appearances by attorneys not admitted in the district.

Any person who is a member in good standing of the bar of a United States District Court and the bar of the highest court of any state or the District of Columbia and who is neither a resident of this state nor engaged in the practice of law in this state shall be permitted to appear in a particular matter in association with Rule 2.04 local counsel. Pursuant to this rule, counsel may enter a notice of appearance without the necessity of filing a motion to appear pro hac vice. The appearance of such a person in a particular matter shall confer jurisdiction upon this court for any alleged misconduct of that person or for any other purpose arising in the course of or in the preparation of such matter.

Rule 2.06. Pleadings, service, and attendance by local counsel in cases where out-of-state attorneys appear.

Pleadings and other documents filed in a case where an attorney appears who is not admitted to the bar of this court shall contain the individual name, firm name, address, and phone number of both the attorney making a special appearance under this Local Rule and the associated local counsel. In such a case, the service of all pleadings and notices as required shall be sufficient if served only upon the associated local counsel.

Rule 2.07. Withdrawal of appearance.

No attorney whose appearance has been entered shall withdraw his or her appearance or have it stricken from the record except with leave of the court.

Rule 2.08. Courtroom decorum.

Counsel shall conduct themselves with dignity and propriety. Counsel shall rise when addressing the court, and all statements to the court shall be made from counsel table or from behind the lectern facing the court. Counsel shall not approach the bench unless requested to do so by the court or unless permission is granted upon the request of counsel.

Rule 2.09. Questioning of witnesses.

Only one attorney for each party may question a particular witness unless the court allows otherwise. Counsel shall remain seated while questioning witnesses.

Rule 2.10. Professional standards.

The ethical standard governing the practice of law in this court is the Code of Professional Responsibility of the North Carolina State Bar, Incorporated now in force and as hereafter modified by the Supreme Court of North Carolina, except as may be otherwise provided by specific rule of this court. Counsel are directed to advise the clerk within ten days of disciplinary action taken against them resulting in suspension or disbarment. The disciplinary procedures of this court shall be on file with the clerk and furnished to counsel upon request.

CASE NOTES

Stated in Furbush v. Otsego Mach. Shop, Inc., 914 F. Supp. 1275 (E.D.N.C. 1996).

Rule 2.11. Admission of attorneys previously admitted to the United States District Courts for the Middle or Western Districts of North Carolina.

Attorneys already admitted to the bar of either the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina or the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina may be admitted to the bar of this court upon tendering the application and fees required by Rule 2.03, together with a copy of the order admitting the attorney to practice in one of the other districts, without the necessity of taking the oath that is otherwise required.

Rule 3.00. Court schedule and conduct of business.

Rule 3.01. Headquarters of the clerk.

The headquarters of the clerk of court shall be in Raleigh.

Rule 3.02. Divisions of the district.

There shall be four divisions of the court. Headquarters of each division and the counties comprising each division are as follows:

Name of Division	Headquarters	Counties
Northern Division	Elizabeth City	Bertie	Hertford
		Camden	Northampton
		Chowan	Pasquotank

Rule 3.03. Assignment of cases to a division.

(a) Civil actions. The clerk shall assign all civil actions to a division when the action is filed or removed. If one or more plaintiffs are residents of this District, the clerk shall assign the case to the division in which the first named such plaintiff resides. If no plaintiff resides in the District and one or more defendants reside in the District, the clerk shall assign the action to the division in which the first named such defendant resides. In the event no party resides in the District but the claim is alleged to have arisen in the District or to involve real property in the District, the clerk shall assign the action to the division in which such claim is alleged to have arisen or in which the real property is situated. In all other instances, a case shall be assigned to a division in the discretion of the clerk.

(b) Criminal actions. The clerk shall assign all criminal indictments to a division when an indictment is filed or transferred. If the indictment alleges the crime occurred within the District, the clerk shall assign the action to the division in which the crime is alleged to have occurred. In cases where it is not alleged that the crime occurred in the District or in cases in which it is unclear in which division the alleged crime occurred, the clerk shall assign the indictment to the division in which the first named defendant, who resides within this District, resides. In all other instances, an indictment shall be assigned to a division in the discretion of the clerk.

(c) Residence of corporation. For the purposes of this Local Rule, a corporate plaintiff shall be deemed to reside in the state in which it was incorporated and in the district and division in which it has its principal office; and, a corporate defendant shall be deemed to reside in the division in which the corporation is alleged (1) to be incorporated and have its principal office, or (2) to be licensed to do business or (3) to be doing business.

(d) United States as plaintiff. For the purposes of this Local Rule, in cases where the United States, its agencies or officers acting in an official capacity, is the plaintiff it shall be deemed that such plaintiff does not reside in this district.

Rule 3.04. Court in continuous session.

This court shall be in continuous session in all divisions of the District on all business days throughout the year. All matters of either a criminal or civil nature not reached at the regular sessions of court are deemed to be in an open status and subject to being called for disposition before the next regular session of court upon reasonable notice to the interested parties.

Rule 3.05. Correspondence.

Correspondence addressed to the court shall indicate that copies have been transmitted to all other parties and failure to transmit the same to all other parties may result in sanctions by the court. Such correspondence shall not become a part of the record in the case.

Rule 3.06. Forms of pleadings, motions and documents.

All pleadings, motions, discovery procedures, memoranda and other papers filed with the clerk or the court shall:

- (a) be double-spaced on standard letter size (8½ x 11) paper, with all typed matter appearing in at least 11 point type and not exceeding 6½ by 9½ inches;
- (b) state the court and division in which the action is pending;
- (c) bear, except for initial filing, the case number assigned by the clerk;
- (d) contain the caption of the case;
- (e) if applicable, state the title of the pleading, motion, discovery procedure or document and the federal statute or rule number under which the party is proceeding;
- (f) contain the individual name, firm name, address, telephone number, fax number and State Bar identification, where applicable, of all attorneys who appear for the filing party, including an attorney making a special appearance pursuant to Local Rule 2.05;
- (g) bear the date when signed by counsel;
- (h) be signed by counsel as required by Local Rule 2.04;
- (i) on all documents, the signature of parties and counsel shall be followed, on the line immediately below, by the typed or printed name in the exact form as the signature. In preparation of documents for signature by a judge or magistrate judge, a blank space shall be provided below the signature line in which the name may be typed or printed; and
- (j) have each page numbered sequentially. The following forms are examples to be followed:

Rule 3.07. Filing and service of papers.

Unless otherwise specifically provided for, the original of all pleadings and other papers required to be filed or served shall be filed with the clerk in the office of the clerk in Raleigh, Fayetteville, New Bern or Wilmington regardless of the division to which the case is assigned. When the law requires a proceeding to be heard and determined by a district court of three judges, pleadings and other documents shall be filed in triplicate. In all cases, whenever a pleading (subsequent to the complaint) or other paper is required to be filed with the clerk or with the court, a copy thereof shall be served upon opposing parties as provided in Rule 5(b), F.R.Civ.P.

Rule 3.08. Discovery materials not to be filed unless ordered or needed.

Depositions upon oral examination and interrogatories, requests for documents, notices to take a deposition, requests for admissions, and answers and responses thereto are not to be filed unless by order of the court or for use in the proceeding. All such papers must be served on other counsel or parties entitled to service of papers filed with the clerk. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court if needed or so ordered.

Rule 3.09. Change of address.

All attorneys and pro se parties must notify the court within 10 days of any change of address. Failure to notify the court in a timely manner of an address change may result in dismissal of the action or the imposition of such other relief that the court deems just and proper.

759 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. 1986).

Rule 4.00. Motion practice.*Rule 4.01. Time for filing.

All motions in civil cases except those relating to the admissibility of evidence at trial must be filed on or before 30 days following the conclusion of the period of discovery. If an extension of the original period of discovery is approved by the court, the time for filing motions is automatically extended to 30 days after the new date.

Rule 4.02. *General requirements.

All motions shall be concise and shall state precisely the relief requested. Motions shall conform to the general motions requirements, standards and practices set forth in the applicable Federal Rules of Procedure and in Local Rule 3.06. Time for the filing of pre-trial motions in criminal cases is governed by Local Rule 44.00.

Rule 4.03. *Motions relating to discovery and inspection.

No motions to compel discovery will be considered by the court unless the motion sets forth, by item, the specific question, interrogatory, etc., objected to, along with the grounds supporting or in opposition to the objection. A discovery motion in a criminal action (Rule 16, F.R.Crim.P.) shall state that a request for discovery and inspection was made and denied.

Rule 4.04. *Supporting memoranda.

Except for motions which the clerk may grant as specified in Local Rule 9.00, all motions made other than in a hearing or trial shall be filed with an accompanying supporting memorandum in the manner prescribed by Local Rule 5.01. Where appropriate, motions shall be accompanied by affidavits or other supporting documents.

CASE NOTES

Cited in Sterling Forest Assocs. v. Barnett-Range Corp., 673 F. Supp. 1394 (E.D.N.C. 1987).

Rule 4.05. *Responses to motions.

Any party may file a written response to any motion. The response may be a memorandum in the manner prescribed by Local Rule 5.01 and may be accompanied by affidavits and other supporting documents. When the response is not a memorandum, the written response shall be accompanied by a supporting memorandum in the manner prescribed by Local Rule 5.01 and, when appropriate, by affidavits and other supporting documents. Responses and accompanying documents shall be filed within 20 days after service of the motion in question unless otherwise ordered by the court or prescribed by the applicable Federal Rules of Procedure. Responses and accompanying documents relating to discovery motions shall be filed within ten (10) business days after service of the motion in question unless otherwise ordered by the court.

Rule 4.06. *Replies.

(a) Non-discovery motions. Replies to responses are discouraged. However, except as provided in Local Rule 4.06(b), a party desiring to reply to matters initially raised in a response to a motion or in accompanying supporting documents shall file the reply within 10 days after service of the response, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(b) Discovery motions. Replies are not permitted in discovery disputes. See Rule 23.06(b).

Rule 4.07. Subsequently decided authority.

A suggestion of subsequently decided controlling authority, without argument, may be filed at any time prior to the court's ruling and shall contain only the citation to the case relied upon if published or a copy of the opinion if the case is unpublished.

Rule 4.08. Affidavits.

Ordinarily, affidavits will be made by the parties and other witnesses and not by counsel for the parties. However, affidavits may be made by counsel for a party if the sworn facts are known to counsel or counsel can swear to them upon information and belief, and

(a) the facts relate solely to an uncontested matter; or

(b) the facts relate solely to a matter of formality and there is no reason to believe that substantial evidence will be offered in opposition to the facts; or

(c) the facts relate solely to the nature and value of the legal services rendered for the party by such counsel or counsel's law firm; or

(d) the refusal to accept the affidavit would work a substantial hardship on the party and the court finds that its acceptance of the affidavit would not be such as to require that counsel or counsel's law firm be disqualified from continuing to appear for the party.

Rule 4.09. Hearings on motions.

Hearings on motions may be ordered by the court in its discretion. Unless so ordered, motions shall be determined without hearing.

Rule 4.10. Frivolous or delaying motions.

Where the court finds that a motion is frivolous or filed for delay, costs may be assessed against the party or counsel filing such motion.

Rule 4.11. Motions for an extension of time to perform an act.

All motions for an extension of time to perform an act required or allowed to be done within a specified time must show good cause, prior consultation with opposing counsel and the views of opposing counsel. The motion must be accompanied by a separate proposed order granting the motion.

Editor's note. — By amendment effective January 1, 1986, Rules 4.00 to 4.08 were renumbered as 4.01 to 4.09, respectively.

By amendment effective February 1, 1989, Rules 4.07 to 4.09 were renumbered as 4.08 to 4.10, respectively.

CASE NOTES

Time for Response. — The federal rules permit a court to set a time other than that provided in Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 56(c) in which a party must respond to a motion for summary judgment, to forego any hearing on the motion, and to promulgate local rules to that effect. Byrd v. City of Fayetteville, 110 F.R.D. 71 (E.D.N.C. 1986), aff'd, 819 F.2d 1137 (4th Cir. 1987).

Failure to Provide Analysis or Caselaw.

— Where defendant, in broad and conclusory fashion, sought specification, through a bill of particulars, of matters not set forth in the indictment which defendant alleged were essential to the preparation of his defense, but provided no hint of legal analysis to support his position and no citation to caselaw or other authority, the motion was filed in direct violation of Rule 4.04. United States v. King, 121 F.R.D. 277 (E.D.N.C. 1988).

Plaintiffs' failure to file a supporting memorandum to accompany any of their other motions as required by Eastern District Local Rule 4.04 justified denial of the motion. Plotkin v. Association of Eye Care Ctrs., Inc., 710 F. Supp. 156 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Response to Reply Struck. — Where plaintiff filed a memorandum in response to defendant's reply and defendant then filed a Motion to Strike this memorandum, as this rule does not authorize the filing of a response to a reply, plaintiff's memorandum in response to defendant's reply was struck pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Simmons v. Al Smith Buick Co., 841 F. Supp. 168 (E.D.N.C. 1993).

Applied in Plotkin v. Association of Eye Care Ctrs., Inc., 710 F. Supp. 156 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Quoted in Faircloth v. United States, 837 F. Supp. 123 (E.D.N.C. 1993).

Rule 5.00. Supporting memoranda.

Rule 5.01. Form and content.

A memorandum shall be in the form prescribed by Local Rule 3.06 and shall contain:

- (a) a concise summary of the nature of the case;
- (b) a concise statement of the facts that pertain to the matter before the court for ruling;
- (c) the argument (brevity is expected) relating to the matter before the court for ruling with appropriate citations in accordance with Local Rules 5.02, 5.03, and 5.04;
- (d) copies of any decisions in cases cited as required by Local Rules 5.03 and 5.04; and
- (e) where the supporting memorandum opposes a motion for summary judgment a short and concise statement of the material facts as to which it is contended that there exists a genuine issue to be tried.

Rule 5.02. Citation of published decisions.

Published decisions cited should include parallel citations, the year of the decision, and the court deciding the case. The following are illustrations:

- (1) State Court Citation: Rawls v. Smith, 238 N.C. 162, 77 S.E.2d 701 (1953).
- (2) District Court Citation: Smith v. Jones, 141 F. Supp. 248 (E.D.N.C. 1956).
- (3) Court of Appeals Citation: Smith v. Jones, 237 F.2d 597 (4th Cir. 1956).
- (4) United States Supreme Court Citation: Smith v. Jones, 325 U.S. 196, 65 S.Ct. 1120, 89 L.Ed. 1154 (1956). If a petition for certiorari or an appeal was filed in the United States Supreme Court, the disposition of the case in that court should always be shown with parallel citations. For example: Carson v. Warlick, 238 F.2d 724 (4th Cir. 1956), cert. denied, 353 U.S. 910, 77 S.Ct. 665, 1 L.Ed.2d 664 (1957).

Rule 5.03. Citation of decisions not appearing in certain published reports.

Decisions published outside the West Federal Reporter System, the official North Carolina reports and the official United States Supreme Court reports (e.g. CCH Tax Reports, Labor Reports, U.S.P.Q., reported decisions of other states or other specialized reporting services) may be cited if the decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the memorandum is filed.

Rule 5.04. Citation of unpublished decisions.

Unpublished decisions may be cited only if the unpublished decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the memorandum is filed. The unpublished decision of a United States District Court may be considered by this court. The unpublished decision of a United States Circuit Court of Appeals will be given due consideration and weight but will not bind this court. Such unpublished decisions should be cited as follows: United States v. John Doe, 5:94-50-CR (or CV) (E.D.N.C. January 7, 1994) and United States v. Norman, No. 74-2398 (4th Cir. June 27, 1975).

Rule 5.05. Length of memoranda.

Except as otherwise provided by Local Rule 23.06, memoranda in support of or in opposition to a motion (other than a motion regarding discovery) shall not exceed thirty (30) pages in length without prior court approval. Memoranda in support of or in opposition to a discovery motion shall not exceed ten (10) pages in length without prior court approval. Reply memoranda (where allowed) shall not exceed ten (10) pages in length without prior court approval. These limitations apply to memoranda submitted in connection with an appeal in a bankruptcy proceeding.

CASE NOTES

Applied in United States v. One 1985 Mercedes Benz Auto., 716 F. Supp. 211 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Rule 6.00. Jurors.*Rule 6.01. Jury lists.

When the jury for a session of the court is drawn, the clerk shall furnish a copy of the list to members of the bar of this court upon their request therefor. The list shall set out the name, address, occupation and employer of each juror and, where available, the name, address, occupation and employer of the spouse of each juror. The jurors and their families shall not be contacted, either directly or indirectly, in an effort to secure information concerning the background of any member of the jury panel. When the jurors are seated in the jury box, a chart or list shall be furnished by the clerk to the parties or their counsel, showing the name and seating assignment of each juror.

Rule 6.02. Examination of jurors.

The court shall conduct the examination of prospective jurors. Counsel shall file prior to trial a list of any voir dire questions counsel desires the court to ask the jury other than routine questions such as (1) the occupations and addresses of jurors and their spouses, (2) the identity and relation of jurors, the parties, counsel and witnesses and (3) the knowledge of the jurors concerning the case.

Rule 6.03. Contact with trial jurors.

Following the discharge of a jury from further consideration of a case, no attorney or party litigant shall individually or through an investigator or any person acting for such attorney or party litigant ask questions of or make comments to a member of that jury or the members of the family of such a juror that are calculated merely to harass or embarrass such a juror or member of such juror's family or to influence the actions of such a juror or a member of such juror's family in future jury service.

Rule 7.00. Release of information to news media.

Rule 7.01. *Court personnel.

All court personnel, including but not limited to, the marshal and deputy marshals and office personnel, the clerk and deputy clerks and office personnel, probation officers and office personnel, bailiffs, court reporters, and the judges' and magistrate judges' office personnel, are prohibited from disclosing to any person, where it can reasonably be expected to be disseminated by means of public communication, without authorization of the court, information relating to any pending matter, civil or criminal, that has not been filed as a part of the public records of the court. This proscription applies to the divulgence of any information concerning arguments and hearings held in chambers or otherwise outside the presence of the jury or the public.

Rule 7.02. *Copies of public records.

The members of the news media and others may obtain copies of all public records from the clerk upon payment of copying fees.

Rule 7.03. *Criminal matters.

In addition to the provisions of this Local Rule 7.00, the provisions of Local Rule 45.00 shall apply to all criminal matters.

Rule 8.00. Photographing and reproducing court proceedings.

The taking of photographs in the courtroom, court offices or in the corridors immediately adjacent thereto, during judicial proceedings or during any recess of the court, and the transmitting or sound-recording of such proceedings for broadcasting by radio or television shall not be permitted. Proceedings designated and conducted as ceremonies, such as naturalization proceedings, the administration of oaths of office to officers of the court, presentation of portraits and other ceremonial occasions, may be photographed in or broadcast from the courtroom, with the permission and under the supervision of the court.

Rule 9.00. Powers and duties of the clerk.

Rule 9.01. *Approval of security.

The clerk or deputy clerk is authorized to approve all recognizances, stipulations, bonds, guaranties, or undertakings, in the penal sum prescribed by statute or order of the court, whether the security be property, or personal or corporate surety.

Rule 9.02. *Seizure of person or property.

All acts and duties pertaining to the seizure of person or property as provided by the law of the State of North Carolina authorized to be done by a judge or the clerk of the state court may be done in like cases by a judge of this court or the clerk of this court, respectively.

Rule 9.03. Orders and judgments.

The clerk or deputy clerk is authorized to enter the orders and judgments listed below without further direction of the court. However, such action may be suspended, altered or rescinded by the court for cause shown.

- (a) Consent orders for substitution of attorneys.
- (b) Orders enlarging time periods in civil actions authorized to be entered by the court by Rule 6(b), F.R.Civ.P.
- (c) Orders extending for a reasonable amount of time the period within which an act must be performed under the local rules of this court.
- (d) Consent order dismissing an action, except in bankruptcy proceedings and in cases to which Rule 23(c) F.R.Civ.P. and Rule 66, F.R.Civ.P. apply.
- (e) Orders cancelling liability on bonds.
- (f) Orders changing the time of opening and adjourning court in the absence of the judge.
- (g) Judgments by default as provided for in Rule 55(a) and 55(b)(1), F.R.Civ.P.
- (h) Orders authorizing service of process by a person other than a United States Marshal pursuant to Rule 4(c), F.R.Civ.P.
- (i) Certification of law students and supervising attorneys pursuant to Local Rule 13.00.
- (j) Any other motion, rule or order which may be granted of course or without notice.
- (k) Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 956, the clerk or a deputy clerk, when there is need to serve a complaint and attachment upon a vessel, or any other process incident to admiralty and maritime claims, either in rem or in personam, are empowered to grant and enter an order authorizing any sheriff or any deputy sheriff, or other suitable person, to serve all such process.

CASE NOTES

Stated in Boon Partners v. Advanced Fin. Concepts, Inc., 917 F. Supp. 392 (E.D.N.C. 1996).

Rule 9.04. Handling of exhibits.

The clerk shall be the custodian of all exhibits admitted into evidence. Upon ten days notice by mail to counsel for all parties, the clerk may, within 30 days after the entry of final judgment, destroy or otherwise dispose of the exhibits.

Rule 9.05. Deposit of registry funds in interest-bearing accounts.

Whenever an order of court directs the clerk to place registry funds into interest-bearing accounts, counsel shall confer with the clerk, within five days after receipt of the order, concerning the manner and place of investment. If counsel and the clerk do not agree, the clerk shall seek further direction from the court. No officer or employee of this court shall incur any liability for failure to invest or for improper investment unless counsel have complied with their obligations under this local rule.

Rule 9.06. Court libraries.

The clerk shall maintain the court libraries in the district. Use of the facilities is limited to judicial officers, court staff and members of the bar of this court. Books shall not be removed from the library without the consent of the person responsible for the maintenance of the particular library, and shall not be removed from the courthouse under any circumstances. A violation of this rule shall be punishable as for contempt of court.

Rule 9.07. *Jurisdictional agreements with other courts.

The clerk shall maintain all jurisdictional agreements entered into by the Chief District Judge of this court and the Chief District Judge of any other United States District Court and a copy of such agreements shall be furnished to counsel upon request.

Rule 9.08. *Handling of sealed documents.

A party desiring to file material under seal must first file a motion seeking leave to file the information under seal. At the time the motion to file the material under seal is filed, the proposed sealed material shall be stamped received and placed in a locked file cabinet. If the motion to file material under seal is allowed, the sealed material shall be filed nunc pro tunc as of the date it was originally received. If the motion to file the material under seal is denied, the movant will be given an option of retrieving the material or having it filed publicly nunc pro tunc as of the date it was originally received. When the material is filed under seal, the docket will indicate generically the type of document filed under seal but it will not contain a description that would disclose its identity. Within 30 days after the case is closed, counsel must retrieve the sealed documents. Failure to retrieve the sealed documents will result in the documents being unsealed and available for public inspection.

Rule 10.00. Sureties.

Rule 10.01. *Security.

Except as otherwise provided by law, every recognizance, stipulation, bond, guaranty, or undertaking shall be with security that consists of either (1) cash or negotiable government bonds, or (2) one or more sureties, as provided by law or the applicable Federal Rules of Procedure. A judge may enter pertinent orders restricting any bonding company or surety company from being accepted as surety upon any bond in any case or matter in this district.

Rule 10.02. *Use of real property as security.

Whenever a surety seeks to justify assets by demonstrating ownership of real property, a judge or magistrate judge shall determine by satisfactory evidence that the property is of sufficient unencumbered value to protect the interests of the adverse party.

Rule 10.03. *Prohibited sureties.

Members of the bar, administrative officers and employees of this court, and the marshal and deputies and assistants thereto shall not act as surety in any matter, criminal or civil, pending in this court.

Rule 11.00. Civil rights actions by prisoners under 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

All complaints on behalf of state prisoners seeking relief under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 and federal prisoners challenging conditions of confinement shall be filed with the clerk in compliance with the instructions of the clerk and on the appropriate form available without charge. An original and one copy of the complaint for the court and one copy of the complaint for each defendant named in the action shall be filed.

CASE NOTES

Cited in Owens-El v. United States Att'y Gen., 759 F.2d 349 (4th Cir. 1985).

Rule 12.00. Habeas corpus actions (28 U.S.C. § 2254) and 28 U.S.C. § 2255 motions.

All petitions on behalf of prisoners seeking relief under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 and 2255 shall be filed with the clerk in compliance with the instructions of the clerk and on the appropriate form available without charge. Such proceedings shall be governed by the rules promulgated by the United States Supreme Court.

Rule 13.00. Student practice rule.

Rule 13.01. *Compliance with rule.

Students may participate as counsel in civil and criminal cases in this court subject to their compliance with all of the requirements of this Local Rule 13.00.

Rule 13.02. *Eligibility.

An eligible student must:

- (a) be duly enrolled in a law school;
- (b) have completed at least three semesters of legal studies;
- (c) have knowledge of the Federal Rules of Civil and Criminal Procedure, the Federal Rules of Evidence, the Code of Professional Responsibility, and the Local Rules of this court;
- (d) be supervised by a supervising attorney as defined in Local Rule 13.03;
- (e) be certified by the Dean of the Law School where the student is enrolled, or the Dean's designee, as being of good character, sufficient legal ability, and adequately trained to fulfill the responsibilities of a legal intern to both the client and the court;
- (f) be certified by the court to practice pursuant to this Local Rule 13.00; and,
- (g) decline personal compensation for his or her legal services from a client or any other source.

Rule 13.03. *Supervising attorney.

A supervisor must:

- (a) either (1) have faculty or adjunct faculty status at a law school at which a portion of the supervisor's duties includes supervision of students in a clinical program; or (2) be a member of the bar of this court for at least two years, who in the determination of the court, is competent to carry out the role of supervising attorney;
- (b) be admitted to practice in this court;
- (c) be certified by the court as a student supervisor;
- (d) be present with the student at all times in court, and at other proceedings in which testimony is taken;
- (e) co-sign all pleadings or other documents filed with the court;

(f) assume full personal and professional responsibility for a student's guidance and any work undertaken and for the quality of the student's work, and to be available for consultation with represented clients;

(g) assist and counsel the student in activities mentioned in Local Rule 13.05, and review such activities with the student, all to the extent required for proper practical training of the student and the protection of the client; and

(h) supplement oral or written work of the student as necessary to insure proper representation of the client.

Rule 13.04. *Certification of student and supervisor.

(a) Student. The court's certification of a student to practice under this Local Rule 13.00 shall be filed with the clerk and shall remain in effect for 18 months or until the student graduates from law school, whichever is earlier. Certification to appear generally or in a particular case may be withdrawn by the court at any time, in the discretion of the court, and without any showing of cause.

(b) Supervising attorney. Certification of the supervising attorney shall be filed with the clerk, and shall remain in effect indefinitely unless withdrawn by the court, in its discretion, and without any showing of cause.

Rule 13.05. *Activities.

A certified student may under the personal supervision of his or her supervisor:

(a) represent any client including federal, state or local governmental bodies, if the client on whose behalf the certified student is appearing has consented in writing to that appearance and the supervising lawyer has given written approval of that appearance;

(b) represent a client in any criminal, civil or administrative matter; however, the court retains the authority to limit a student's participation in any individual case;

(c) in connection with matters in this court, engage in other activities on behalf of the client in all ways that a licensed attorney may, under the general supervision of the supervising lawyer; however, a student shall make no binding commitments on behalf of a client absent prior client and supervisor approval, and in any matters, including depositions, in which testimony is taken the student must be accompanied by the supervising lawyer. Documents or papers which are filed shall be read, approved, and co-signed by the supervising lawyer. The court retains the authority to establish exceptions to such activities; and,

(d) prior to oral participation by a certified student in a hearing or trial, the supervising attorney shall provide the court with a written statement of the scope of participation anticipated on the part of the certified student.

Rule 14.00. *Naturalization.

Petitions for naturalization will be considered and acted upon, and appropriate ceremonies conducted in connection therewith, on Wednesday of the first week of any regular session of court at which naturalization hearings are set, beginning at 2:00 o'clock P.M., unless otherwise ordered by the court. The court may at other times, in its discretion, for good cause shown, and upon reasonable prior notice by the applicant to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, consider and act upon petitions for naturalization by members of the armed services, seamen on merchant vessels registered under the laws of the United States, and members of the immediate families and dependents of such personnel, and in other exceptional cases.

Rule 15.00. Sanctions.

If an attorney or any party fails to comply in good faith with any local rule of this court, the court in its discretion may impose sanctions.

Rule 16.00. Taxation of juror costs.*Rule 16.01. *Settlement before trial.

Whenever a civil action scheduled for jury trial is settled or otherwise disposed of in advance of the actual trial, then, except for good cause shown, juror costs for one day shall be assessed equally against the parties and their counsel or otherwise assessed or relieved as directed by the court. Juror costs include attendance fees, per diem, mileage, and parking. No juror costs will be assessed if notice of settlement or other disposition of the case is given to the court one full business day prior to the scheduled trial date. In asbestos-related litigation, notice must be given to the court five full business days prior to the scheduled trial date.

Rule 16.02. *Settlement before verdict.

Except upon a showing of good cause, the court shall assess the juror costs equally against the parties and their counsel whenever a civil action proceeding as a jury trial is settled at trial in advance of the verdict. The judge may, in his discretion, direct that the juror costs be relieved or that they be assessed other than equally among the parties and their counsel.

Rules 17.00 to 19.00. Reserved for future purposes.

II. CIVIL RULES

Rule 20.00. Minors and incompetents as parties.*Rule 20.01. *Representation.

Representation of minor and incompetent parties in a civil action shall be in accordance with Rule 17(c), F.R.Civ.P. Appointments of guardians ad litem by any state court shall satisfy the requirements of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure unless the court finds that the interests of the parties so represented are not being adequately protected.

Rule 20.02. *Settlement or dismissal of actions.

No civil action to which a minor or incompetent person is a party shall be compromised, settled, discontinued, or dismissed without an Order of Approval entered by the court. It shall be the responsibility of counsel for the minor or incompetent parties to prepare a proposed Order of Approval for submission to the court. The Order of Approval shall bear the written consent of (1) counsel for all the parties to the action, (2) the legal representative of minor or incompetent parties, and (3), in the case of minors, at least one of the natural parents or persons standing in loco parentis. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the Order of Approval shall contain statements as to the following:

(a) that all parties are properly represented and are properly before the court; that no questions exist as to misjoinder or nonjoinder of parties; and that the court has jurisdiction over the subject matter and the parties;

(b) if the minor or incompetent parties are plaintiffs, a summary of contentions sufficient to show that the complaint states a claim upon which relief can be granted; if the minor or incompetent parties are defendants, a statement of contentions sufficient to show that no affirmative defenses could clearly be raised in bar of recovery;

(c) a summary of services rendered by counsel for the minor or incompetent parties, along with an opinion as to the fairness and reasonableness of the settlement, if any; and

(d) in cases involving claims for personal injuries asserted by minor or incompetent parties, an estimate of actual and foreseeable medical, hospital and related expenses and a statement by an examining physician setting forth the nature and extent of the plaintiff's injuries, extent of recovery and prognosis.

Rule 20.03. Approval of counsel fees and payment of judgments.

In its Order of Approval, the court shall approve or fix the amount of the fee to be paid to counsel for the minor or incompetent parties and make appropriate provision for the payment thereof. The Order of Approval shall also provide the manner in which judgments, if any, are to be paid and may make specific provisions for the payment of medical, hospital and similar expenses when allowed by applicable law.

Rule 21.00. Consent of parties to civil trial jurisdiction of magistrate judges.

(a) Unless the judge to whom a civil action is assigned directs otherwise, the clerk shall routinely assign to a magistrate judge cases in which all parties consent to the exercise of civil trial jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c).

(b) Appeals from a judgment of a magistrate judge pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(4) shall lie to the judge to whom the case was originally assigned.

Rule 22.00. Subsequent litigation by parties proceeding in forma pauperis.

A plaintiff who has proceeded unsuccessfully in forma pauperis and had the costs of that litigation taxed against him must demonstrate that he has paid or made a reasonable effort to pay those costs prior to being authorized to proceed again in forma pauperis.

Rule 23.00. Civil discovery.

Rule 23.01. Conducting discovery.

In all civil actions, the parties shall schedule and conduct discovery in accordance with the order entered pursuant to Rule 16, F.R.Civ.P. All discovery motions and requests shall be propounded so as to allow the respondent sufficient time to answer prior to the time when discovery is scheduled to be completed. To shorten discovery time, it is expected that discovery procedures will proceed concurrently. After the time for completing discovery has expired, further discovery may proceed only by order of the court and may, in no event, interfere with the conduct of either the final pre-trial conference or the trial.

Rule 23.02. Numbering discovery procedures.

Each time a particular discovery procedure is used, it shall be sequentially numbered (e.g., "First Set," "Second Set," "First Request," "Second Request," etc.) so that it will be distinguishable from a prior procedure.

Rule 23.03. Form of interrogatories, responses and objections.

All interrogatories shall be served on opposing counsel. Three copies shall be served on counsel for the respondent. There shall be sufficient space following each question in which the respondent shall state the response. If the space provided is not sufficient, additional pages shall be attached. An objection to an interrogatory shall be made by stating the objection and the reason therefore in the space provided for the response. Before serving the interrogatories containing the responses and objections, if any, the responding party shall attach thereto a cover sheet containing a statement (1) that each response separately and fully answers each interrogatory, except those to which objections are made, and (2) the capacity, if any, in which such respondent is acting, which statement shall be signed and verified by the respondent. Where there are objections, there shall be attached to the interrogatories a second sheet, signed by counsel making such objection, stating the number of each such interrogatory and incorporating by reference the reason stated for each objection.

Rule 23.04. Depositions for use at trial.

Depositions de bene esse shall not be regarded as being within the rules applicable to discovery.

Rule 23.05. Deposition exhibits.

The parties are encouraged to mark all deposition exhibits consecutively during discovery without reference to the deposition taken or the party using the exhibit.

Rule 23.06. Discovery disputes — Expedited briefing schedule.

Any motion relating to a discovery conflict shall be handled on an expedited basis:

- (a) Memoranda in support or in opposition to a discovery motion shall not exceed ten (10) pages in length.
- (b) Responses and accompanying documents relating to discovery motions shall be filed within ten (10) days after service of the motion in question unless otherwise ordered by the court.
- (c) Replies are not permitted in discovery disputes.
- (d) In any instance in which oral argument is scheduled, counsel shall be given the option of oral presentations by telephone in lieu of a live appearance.

Rule 23.07. Exception from Rule 26(a)(1), F.R.Civ.P.

The provisions of F.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(1) (December 1, 1993) shall not be applicable to civil actions in this Court. Any references to F.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(1) in other portions of the Rules of Civil Procedure may be disregarded. As a result of the Court's election not to follow F.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(1), the following rules are adopted to implement the Rules of Civil Procedure:

- (a) Written discovery, in the form of interrogatories, requests for admission, or requests for production of documents, may be served with the summons and complaint. In that instance, answers, objections, or written responses to any of these forms of discovery shall be served within 45 days after service of the summons and complaint on the defendant receiving such discovery.
- (b) Through appropriate written discovery, a party may obtain discovery of the existence and contents of any insurance agreement under which any person carrying on an insurance business may be liable to satisfy part or all of a judgment which may be entered in an action or to indemnify or reimburse for payments made to satisfy the judgment. The discovery permitted shall include inspection and copying of such agreement pursuant to F.R.Civ.P. 34. Information concerning the insurance agreement is not by reason of disclosure admissible in evidence at trial. For purposes of this subparagraph, an application for insurance shall not be treated as part of an insurance agreement.

(c) In accordance with F.R.Civ.P. 16(b), this Court will routinely issue a request for a discovery plan and will thereafter enter a scheduling order. The planning meeting of counsel required by F.R.Civ.P. 26(f) and the report of counsel contemplated by said rule are a mandatory part of the process of formulating a scheduling order. A report in the form hereinafter set forth shall be sufficient to comply with F.R.Civ.P. 26(f), although the parties may include greater detail or additional topics. If the parties cannot agree on a joint report, each party shall file a separate Rule 26(f) report setting forth its position on disputed matters.

Rule 24.00. Final civil pre-trial conference.

Rule 24.01. *Scheduling and notice.

A final pre-trial conference shall be scheduled in every civil action after the time for discovery has expired. The Clerk shall give at least 25 days notice of such conference.

In the Court's discretion and upon request of any party or on the Court's own initiative, a preliminary or "working" pre-trial conference may be scheduled.

Rule 24.02. *Preparation by counsel for final pre-trial conference.

At least ten days prior to the final pre-trial conference, trial counsel for each of the parties shall confer and prepare a proposed final pre-trial order. It shall be the duty of counsel for the plaintiff to arrange for this conference. In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the conference of attorneys shall be held in the office of the attorney nearest the headquarters of the division to which the action has been assigned. Each counsel shall bring to the conference copies of exhibits to be introduced into evidence, lists of witnesses to be called, and designations of discovery material to be used at trial. To the extent this local rule is in conflict with F.R.C.P. 26(a)(3), this rule shall take precedence.

Rule 24.03. *Form of pre-trial order.

The pre-trial order shall be prepared in one sequential document without reference to attached exhibits or schedules and shall contain the following in five separate sections, numbered by roman numerals, as indicated:

(a) I. Stipulations. Stipulations covering jurisdiction, joinder, capacity of the parties, all relevant and material facts, legal issues and factual issues.

(b) II. Contentions. Contentions covering matters on which the parties have been unable to stipulate, including jurisdiction, misjoinder, capacity of the parties, relevant and material facts, legal issues and factual issues. Claims and defenses as to which no contentions are listed in the pre-trial order are deemed abandoned.

(c) III. Exhibits. A list of exhibits that each party may offer at trial, including any map or diagram, numbered sequentially, which numbers shall remain the same throughout all further proceedings. Copies of all exhibits shall be provided to opposing counsel not later than the attorney conference provided for in Rule 24.02. The court may excuse the copying of large maps or other exhibits. Except as otherwise indicated in the pre-trial order, it will be deemed that all parties stipulate that all exhibits are authentic and may be admitted into evidence without further identification or proof. Grounds for objection as to authenticity or admissibility must be set forth in the pre-trial order. When practicable, trial exhibits should carry the same number as in the depositions and references to exhibits in depositions should be changed to refer to the trial exhibit number.

(d) IV. Designation of pleadings and discovery materials. The designation of all portions of pleadings and discovery materials, including depositions, interrogatories and requests for admission that each party may offer at trial by reference to document volume, page number, and line. Objection by opposing counsel shall be noted by document volume, page number and line, and reasons for such objections shall be stated. It is not necessary to designate a deposition, or any portion of a deposition, that is to be used solely for cross-examination.

(e) V. Witnesses. A list of the names and addresses of all witnesses each party may offer at trial, together with a brief statement of what counsel proposes to establish by their testimony.

Rule 24.04. Conduct of the final pre-trial conference.

(a) Purpose. To resolve any disputes concerning the contents of the pre-trial order.

(b) Counsel shall be fully prepared to present to the court all information and documentation necessary for completion of the pre-trial order. Failure to do so shall result in the sanctions provided by this rule.

(c) Sanctions. Failure to comply with the provisions of Rule 24.04(b) may result in the imposition of a monetary fine not to exceed $250.00 against the offending counsel and may result in any other sanction allowable by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure against the parties or their counsel.

(d) Counsel for all parties shall be responsible for preparing the final pre-trial order and presenting it to the Court properly signed by all counsel at a time designated by the Court. Upon approval by the Court, the original shall be filed with the Clerk. Failure to provide a unified pre-trial order may result in sanctions being imposed against all parties to the action.

(e) To the extent this local rule is in conflict with F.R.C.P. 26(a)(3), this rule shall take precedence.

Rule 24.05. Sample pre-trial order.

A pre-trial order in the following form shall be sufficient to comply with these rules:

JOHN DOE, by his guardian	)	No. 5:94-CV-125-F
ad litem, JANE DOE	)

Rule 25.00. Attorney preparations for civil trial.

Five business days preceding the first day of the session at which a civil action is set for trial, counsel for all parties shall file with the clerk:

Rule 25.01. In all cases.

(a) A concise memorandum of authorities on all anticipated evidentiary questions and on all contested issues of law;

(b) Motions relating to the admissibility of evidence; however, no party shall be required to file a written response to a motion in limine which is filed after the pre-trial conference has taken place.

Rule 25.02. In jury cases.

(a) A list of all voir dire questions as required by Local Rule 6.02;

(b) Requests for Jury Instructions. Those requests to Devitt & Blackmar (3d Ed.), 5th Circuit Pattern Instructions, and North Carolina Pattern Instructions shall be by reference. All other requests shall contain citations to supporting authorities.

Rule 25.03. In non-jury cases.

Proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law.

Rule 25.04. Late developments in the case.

Counsel shall immediately inform the court, opposing counsel and counsel in the next succeeding two cases on the calendar of any settlement or of any developments of an emergency which may necessitate a motion for continuance.

CASE NOTES

Responsibility of Conferring. — The responsibility for arranging the attorney conference to prepare for final pre-trial rests with the plaintiff. However, it is incumbent upon counsel to confer and prepare for the conference. An attorney opposed only by a pro se litigant is not permitted to sit back blithely and not discharge the responsibility to confer simply because there is not an attorney on the other side. Harrell v. United States, 117 F.R.D. 86 (E.D.N.C. 1987).

Exchange of Witness Lists. — One of the most immediate tasks for responsible counsel in preparing for any case is to seek to interview those witnesses involved in the transactions which form the basis for the litigation. The courts clearly recognize the importance of this task by demanding, at a minimum, that counsel exchange witness lists well in advance of trial. United States v. Stroop, 121 F.R.D. 269 (E.D.N.C. 1988).

Abandonment of Cause of Action. — Separate cause of action for “emotional distress” in complaint seeking damages for wrongful death was not mentioned in the pretrial order and was deemed abandoned under subdivision (b) of this rule. Livingston v. United States, 817 F. Supp. 601 (E.D.N.C. 1993).

Cited in Southeastern Sav. & Loan Ass’n v. Rentenbach Constructors, Inc., 114 Bankr. 441 (E.D.N.C. 1989).

Rule 26.00. Civil trials.*Rule 26.01. Opening statements.

At the beginning of the trial, each party (beginning with the party having the burden of proof on the first issue) shall, without argument and in such reasonable time as the court allows, state to the court and the jury the following:

- (a) the substance of the claim, counterclaim, crossclaim or defense; and
- (b) what counsel contends the evidence will show. Parties not having the burden of proof on the first issue may elect to make an opening statement immediately prior to presenting evidence, rather than at the beginning of the trial.

Rule 26.02. Witnesses.

Counsel may not release a person from a subpoena without notice to opposing counsel and leave of court. A party objecting to the release of a person shall bear all costs incident to such person which arise subsequent to the request for release. The court may, in its discretion and in the interest of justice, permit a party to call and examine a witness not listed in the final pre-trial order.

Rule 26.03. Exhibits.

(a) All exhibits shall be premarked with stickers obtained from the clerk’s office with the sequential numbers as listed in the pre-trial order. Each exhibit introduced at trial shall contain the case number of the action on the exhibit sticker and a party designation where there are differing plaintiffs and defendants introducing exhibits.

(b) Copies of all exhibits, properly bound, shall be provided to the court at the beginning of the trial.

(c) The original exhibit shall bear a sticker. After receipt into evidence, it shall remain in the custody of the courtroom deputy, except when being used by a witness or viewed by the jury.

(d) Copies of all exhibits shall bear the photostatic image of the sticker or a typed or printed reproduction thereof.

(e) Counsel are encouraged to provide one or more copies of exhibits for use by the jury.

(f) Upon presentation of an exhibit to a witness, counsel shall announce to the court the exhibit number. The exhibit shall not be handed to opposing counsel. Should opposing counsel contend that a copy has not been provided or that the exhibit has been lost or misplaced, that shall be brought to the attention of the court.

Rule 26.04. *Closing argument.

The court will set the times for closing argument after consultation with parties. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the party with the burden of proof shall open and close the arguments. The opening argument may not be waived.

Rule 26.05. *Taking verdicts and polling the jury.

The court may take the verdict of the jury in open court in the absence of any party or counsel. Unless the contrary affirmatively appears of record, it will be presumed that the parties were present or by their voluntary absence waived their presence. The jury will not be polled unless a party requests a poll at the time the verdict is taken or unless a poll is ordered by the court.

Rule 27.00. Civil contempt.

Rule 27.01. *Rights of contemnor.

In all cases of civil contempt, the contemnor shall have due notice of the contempt charges, opportunity to reply to the charges and notice of the date and place of hearing in open court from which the public shall not be excluded.

Rule 27.02. *Summary contempt proceedings.

In contempt proceedings where the court may act summarily, the contemnor shall have the right to defend against the charges and to offer evidence in the form of affidavits. The movant shall have the right to offer similar evidence.

Rule 27.03. *Plenary contempt proceedings.

In contempt proceedings where the court may not act summarily, the presentation of evidence is governed by Rule 1101 of the Federal Rules of Evidence. In no case of civil contempt, however, shall the parties be entitled to trial by jury, but rather the district judge before whom the matter is tried shall find the facts and enter a judgment or order in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure applicable to non-jury cases.

Rule 28.00. Application for costs.

All applications for costs must be made within 14 days after entry of judgment. Objections to applications for costs must be filed within 10 days after service of the application for costs. Replies are discouraged.

Rule 29.00. Exceptions from discovery provisions.

F.R.Civ.P. 26(f) shall not apply to the following types of cases: prisoner civil rights and habeas corpus actions, bankruptcy appeals, social security appeals, and asbestos litigation.

III. ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION*Rule 30.00. Court-hosted settlement conferences.

The Court, upon its own initiative or at the request of any party, may order a settlement conference at a time and place to be fixed by the Court. Upon request by all parties to an action, the Court shall order a settlement conference. A District Judge other than the Judge assigned to the case, or a Magistrate Judge, will normally preside at such a settlement conference. At least one attorney for each of the parties who is fully familiar with the case shall attend the settlement conference for each party. Each individual party or a representative of a corporate or governmental agency party with full settlement authority also shall attend the settlement conference. Other interested parties, such as insurers, shall attend through fully authorized representatives and are subject to the provisions of this Rule. The settlement conference Judge or Magistrate Judge may, however, upon prior written application, allow a party or representative having full settlement authority to be telephonically available. The parties, representatives and attorneys are required to be completely candid with the settlement conference Judge or Magistrate Judge so that he or she may properly guide settlement discussions. The Judge or Magistrate Judge presiding over the settlement conference may make such other and additional requirements of the parties and conduct the proceedings as shall seem proper to the Judge or Magistrate Judge in order to expedite an amicable resolution of the case. The settlement Judge or Magistrate Judge will not discuss the substance of the conference with anyone, including the Judge to whom the case is assigned, and may excuse the parties or the attorneys from the conference any time. During the settlement conference, the settlement Judge or Magistrate Judge also may confer ex parte with any parties, representatives or attorneys, to meet jointly or individually with the parties and/or representatives without the presence of counsel, and to elect to have the parties and/or representatives meet alone without the presence of the settlement Judge or Magistrate Judge or counsel with the specific understanding that any conversation relative to settlement will not constitute an admission and will not be used in any form in the litigation or in the event of trial.

Rule 31.00. Summary trials.*Rule 31.01. Eligible cases.

The assigned Judge may, after consultation with counsel, refer for summary jury trial any civil case in which jury trial has been properly demanded. Either or both parties may move the Court to order summary jury trial; however, the Court will not require a party to participate against its will.

Rule 31.02. Selection of cases.

Cases selected for summary jury trial should be those in which counsel feel that a non-binding verdict by the jury could be helpful in a subsequent settlement negotiation. Since an investment of time by counsel and by the Court is necessary for the procedure, it should be used only in those cases that would take more than seven (7) trial days to try.

Rule 31.03. Procedural considerations.

Summary jury trial is a flexible ADR process. The procedures to be followed should be determined by the assigned Judge in advance of the scheduled summary jury trial date, in light of the circumstances of the case and after consultation with counsel. The following matters should be considered by the assigned Judge and counsel in structuring a summary jury trial.

a. Presiding judge. Either a District Judge or a Magistrate Judge may preside over a summary jury trial. During the process, the summary jury trial judge will ordinarily participate in on-going settlement negotiations and may have ex-parte conferences with each side. For this reason, normally a judge other than the trial judge will be selected to preside over the summary jury trial.

b. Submission of written materials. Counsel must submit proposed jury voir dire questions, jury instructions and briefs on any novel issues of law within three (3) working days before the date set for summary jury trial. In addition, counsel may also choose to submit other items, such as a statement of the case, stipulations, and exhibit lists.

c. Attendance. Summary jury trials are effective in promoting settlement because, among other reasons, they give parties their “day in court” (meeting a need to voice their position in a public forum), and because they allow parties to see the merits of their opponent’s position. It is therefore critical that the parties and all other persons or entities involved in the settlement decision attend the summary jury trial. This includes all individual parties and representatives of corporations and other parties and insurers vested with full settlement authority. Since absence of any decision maker makes the process less likely to proceed, this attendance requirement can be waived only by order of the Court.

d. Size of jury panel. The jury shall consist of 6 to 12 members.

e. Voir dire. Each counsel may exercise a maximum of 2 peremptory challenges. There will be no alternate jurors. Counsel will be assisted in the exercise of challenges by a brief voir dire examination to be conducted by the Court.

f. Transcript or recording. Upon consent of the parties, counsel may arrange for the proceedings to be recorded by a court reporter at his or her own expense. However, no transcript of the proceedings will be admitted in evidence at any subsequent trial unless the evidence would be otherwise admissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence.

g. Conference between counsel. Prior to trial, counsel are to confer with regard to the use of physical exhibits, including documents and reports, and reach such agreement as is possible. Prior to the day of the summary jury trial, the court will hear all matters in dispute and make appropriate rulings.

h. Timing. The summary jury trial should take no more than 1 and 1/2 days from jury selection to jury deliberation. In consultation with counsel before the summary jury trial, the Court shall establish a scheme of time allotment for presentations by counsel.

i. Case presentations. The attorney presentations shall be organized in the manner of a typical trial, except that no witness testimony will be allowed, absent the court’s permission. First, the plaintiff shall present an opening statement, followed immediately by defendant’s opening statement. Next, plaintiff and defendant shall present their cases-in-chief by informing the jury in more detail than the opening statement who the witnesses are and what their testimony would be. Finally, the plaintiff and then defendant will make closing arguments to the jury. Plaintiff may present a final rebuttal if his or her presentation time limit has not expired. The parties are free to divide their allotted time among the three trial segments as they see fit.

j. Manner of presentation. All evidence shall be presented through the attorneys for the parties. The attorneys may summarize and comment on the evidence and may summarize or quote directly from depositions, interrogatories, requests for admissions, documentary evidence and sworn statements of potential witnesses; however, no witness' testimony may be referred to unless the reference is based upon one of the products of the various discovery procedures, or upon a written, sworn statement of the witness, or upon sworn affidavits of counsel that the witness would be called at trial and will not sign an affidavit, and that counsel has been told the substance of the witness' proposed testimony by the witness. Demonstrative evidence, such as videotapes, charts, diagrams, and models may be used unless the Court finds, on objection, that this evidence is neither admissible nor accurately reflects evidence which is admissible.

k. Objections. Formal objections are discouraged. Nevertheless, in the event counsel makes a representation not supported by admissible evidence, an objection will be entertained. If such an objection is sustained, the jury will be instructed appropriately.

l. Jury instructions. Jury instructions will be given in an abbreviated form, adapted to reflect the nature of the proceeding. The jury will be instructed to return a unanimous verdict, if possible. Barring unanimity, the jury may be instructed to submit a statement of each juror's findings.

m. Jury deliberations. Jury deliberations should be limited in time.

n. Settlement negotiations. While the summary jury is deliberating, the presiding Judge should direct the parties to meet and explore settlement possibilities. The Judge may participate in this process.

o. Continuances. The proceedings may not be continued or delayed other than for short recesses at the discretion of the Court.

p. Final determination. Although ordinarily non-binding in nature, counsel may stipulate among themselves that a consensus verdict by the summary jury will be a final determination on the merits of the case and judgment may be entered thereon by the Court. In addition, counsel may stipulate to any other use of the verdict that will aid in resolution of the case. For example, the parties should consider a bracketed settlement with specific minimum and maximum settlement amounts and being bound by the summary jury's verdict within the brackets.

q. Trial. If the case does not settle as the result of the summary jury trial, it should proceed to trial on the scheduled date.

r. Limitation on admission of evidence. The assigned Judge shall not admit at a subsequent trial any evidence that there has been a summary jury trial, the nature or amount of any verdict, or any other matter concerning the conduct of the summary jury trial or negotiations related to it, unless:

(1) The evidence would otherwise be admissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence; or

(2) The parties have otherwise stipulated.

s. Purpose. These rules shall be construed to secure the just, speedy, effective, and inexpensive conclusion of the summary trial procedure. Bearing in mind that the summary jury trial should be flexible to meet the needs of any case in which it is used, the Judge presiding over the procedure may modify or disregard any of these rules and fashion instead an alternative deemed more likely to produce settlement.

Rule 31.04. Non-jury summary trials.

The Assigned Judge may, after consultation with counsel, refer any civil case for summary non-jury trial. Either or both parties may move the court to order summary non-jury trial; however, the Court will not require a party to participate against its will. The procedure for a summary non-jury trial shall be directed by the Court on a case-by-case basis.

Rule 32.00. Mediated settlement conferences.

Rule 32.01. *Definition.

Mediation is a supervised settlement conference presided on by a qualified, certified and neutral mediator to facilitate and promote conciliation, compromise and the ultimate resolution of a civil action.

Rule 32.02. *Referral.

The Court may at the request of the parties, order any action, or portion thereof, to be referred for a mediated settlement conference.

Rule 32.03. *Motion to dispense with mediation.

A party may move, within 10 days after the Court's order referring an action, or portion thereof, to mediation, to dispense with or defer the conference. The Court shall grant the motion only for good cause shown.

Rule 32.04. *Referral order.

The Court's order referring a civil action for a mediated settlement conference shall:

- (1) require the mediated settlement conference be held in the case,
- (2) establish a deadline for the completion of the conference,
- (3) appoint a mediator, and
- (4) state the rate of compensation of the appointed mediator.

Provided, however, in lieu of appointing a mediator in the referral order, the Court may direct the parties to notify the Court, within fourteen days of the entry of the Order referring the action for a mediated settlement conference, of the nomination of a mediator agreeable to all parties, together with the rate of the mediator's compensation. Upon notification of a mutually agreeable mediator, the Court will appoint the mediator nominated by the parties at the agreed date, unless the Court finds the mediator nominated is not qualified by training or experience to mediate all or some of the issues in the action. In the event of the failure of the parties to nominate a mediator within fourteen days, the Court shall appoint the mediator and state the rate of compensation of the appointed mediator.

Rule 32.05. *Mediators.

The Court may appoint as mediator any person certified as provided in Local Rule 32.06.

Rule 32.06. *Certified mediators.

(a) Certification of mediators. The chief judge shall certify those persons who are eligible and qualified to serve as mediators under this rule, in such numbers as the chief judge shall deem appropriate. Thereafter, the chief judge shall have complete discretion and authority to withdraw the certification of any certified mediator at any time.

(b) List of certified mediators. Lists of certified mediators shall be maintained in each division of the Court and shall be made available to counsel and the public upon request.

(c) Qualifications of certified mediators. An individual may be certified to serve as a mediator if:

(1) He or she is a former state judge who presided in a court of general jurisdiction and was also a member of the bar in the state in which he presided; or

(2) He or she is a retired federal judicial officer; or

(3) He or she has been certified as a mediator by the Administrative Office of the Courts pursuant to the Rules Implementing Court Ordered Mediated Settlement Conferences adopted by the Supreme Court of North Carolina pursuant to N.C.G.S. § 7A-38(d); or

(4) He or she has been a member of the North Carolina Bar for at least 10 years and is currently admitted to the Bar of this Court.

(d) Oath required. Every mediator shall take the oath or affirmation prescribed by 28 U.S.C. § 453 upon qualifying as a mediator.

(e) Disqualification of a mediator. Any person selected as a mediator may be disqualified for bias or prejudice as provided in 28 U.S.C. § 144, and shall be disqualified in any case in which such action would be required by a justice, judge, or magistrate judge governed by 28 U.S.C. § 455.

(f) Compensation of mediators. Mediators shall be compensated at the rate provided by standing order of the Court, as amended from time to time by the chief judge. Absent agreement of the parties to the contrary, the cost of the mediator's services shall be borne equally by the parties to the mediated settlement conference.

(g) Limitations on acceptance of compensation or other reimbursement. Except as provided by these rules, no mediator shall charge or accept in connection with the mediation of any particular case, any fee or thing of value from any other source whatever, absent written approval of the Court given in advance of the receipt of any such payment or thing of value.

(h) Mediators as counsel in other cases. Any member of the bar who is certified and designated as a mediator pursuant to these rules shall not for that reason be disqualified from appearing and acting as counsel in any other case pending before the Court.

Rule 32.07. *The mediated conference.

(a) Where conference is to be held. Unless all parties and the mediator otherwise agree, the mediated settlement conference shall be held in a United States District Courthouse. The mediator shall be responsible for reserving a place and making arrangements for the conference and for giving timely notice to all attorneys and unrepresented parties of the time and location of the conference.

(b) When conference is to be held. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, the mediated settlement conference shall begin no later than 60 days after the court's referral order. It shall be completed within 30 days after it has begun.

(c) Recesses. The mediator may recess the conference at any time and may set times for reconvening. No further notification is required for persons present at the recessed conference.

(d) The mediated settlement conference is not to delay other proceedings. The mediated settlement conference shall not be cause for the delay of other proceedings in this case, including the completion of discovery, the filing or hearing of motions, or the trial of the case, except by order of the Court.

(e) Memoranda. Each party may, at any time after appointment of the mediator, provide the mediator with a memoranda presenting his contentions and positions. The memoranda need not be served on other parties.

(f) Preparation. All parties shall be prepared to discuss, in detail and in good faith, the following:

- (1) all liability issues;
- (2) all damage issues; and
- (3) his or her position relative to settlement.

(g) Settlement documentation. In the event settlement is reached at the mediated settlement conference, the essential terms and conditions of the settlement should be noted and signed or initialled by all parties and/or counsel before departing the conference. More formal documentation may be prepared later on an agreed timetable if appropriate.

(h) Proceedings privileged. All proceedings of the mediated settlement conference, including any statement made by any party, attorney or other participant, shall, in all respects, be privileged and not reported, recorded, placed in evidence, made known to the trial court or jury, or construed for any purpose as an admission against interest. No party shall be bound by anything done or said at the conference unless a settlement is reached, in which event the agreement upon a settlement shall be binding upon all parties to the agreement.

Rule 32.08. Attendance at mediated settlement conference.

(a) The following persons shall physically attend a mediated settlement conference:

(1) All individual parties; or an officer, director or employee having authority to settle on behalf of a corporate party; or, in the case of a governmental agency, a representative of that agency with full authority to settle on behalf of the agency;

(2) The party's counsel of record, if any; and

(3) For any insured party against whom a claim is made, a representative of the insurance carrier who is not such carrier's outside counsel and who has full authority to settle the claim.

(b) In the event any party desires to be represented at the settlement conference other than as provided in Local Rule 32.08(a), the party shall promptly apply to the Mediator for leave to appear otherwise. Said application shall be delivered (not filed) to the mediator not later than eleven (11) days prior to the conference and shall contain:

(4) The reasons which make it impracticable for a party or a party's representative to appear as required by Local Rule 32.08(a);

(5) a detailed description of the authority to be exercised at the conference; and

(6) alternative proposals by which full authority may be exercised at the conference.

Such application shall be made only after all other alternatives have been, in good faith, considered and rejected. The application need not be transmitted to the opposing parties. Upon consideration of the application, the mediator, in his discretion, may excuse a party or representative from attending the settlement conference, may allow a party or representative to be available by telephone during the conference, to appear with limited authority or may, notwithstanding the application, require appropriate persons to appear as may be necessary to have full settlement authority at the conference.

Rule 32.09. Authority and duties of mediator.

(a) Authority of mediator. The mediator shall, at all times be in control of the mediated settlement conference and the procedures to be followed subject to the orders of the Court and this Rule.

(b) Duty of impartiality. The mediator has a duty to be impartial, and to advise all parties of any circumstances bearing on his or her possible bias, prejudice or lack of impartiality. Any person selected as a mediator shall be disqualified for bias, prejudice or impartiality as provided for by Title 28, U.S.C. § 144 and shall disqualify themselves in any action in which they would be required under Title 28 U.S.C. § 455 to disqualify themselves if they were a judge or magistrate judge. Any party may move the Court to enter an order disqualifying a mediator for good cause. Mediators have a duty to disclose any fact bearing on their qualifications which would be grounds for disqualification. If the Court rules that a mediator is disqualified from hearing a case, an order shall be entered setting forth the name of a qualified replacement. Nothing in this provision shall preclude mediators from disqualifying themselves or refusing any assignment. The time for mediation shall be tolled during any periods in which a motion to disqualify is pending.

(c) Duties at conference. The mediator shall define and describe the following to the parties at the beginning of mediated settlement conference:

- (1) The process of mediation.
- (2) The differences between mediation settlement conference and other forms of conflict resolution.
- (3) The costs of the mediated settlement conference.
- (4) The fact that the mediated settlement conference is not a trial, the mediator is not a judge, and the parties retain their right to trial if they do not reach settlement.
- (5) The circumstances under which the mediator may meet alone with either of the parties or with any other person.
- (6) Whether and under what conditions communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference.
- (7) The inadmissibility of conduct and statements as provided by Rule 408 of the Rules of Evidence.
- (8) The duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the parties.
- (9) The fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent of the parties.

(d) Private consultation. The mediator may meet and consult privately with any party or parties or their counsel during the conference.

(e) Declaring impasse. It is the duty of the mediator to timely determine when mediation is not viable, that an impasse exists, or that mediation should end.

(f) Reporting results of conference. The mediator shall report to the Court in writing within 5 days of the conclusion of the mediated settlement conference. The report shall include the parties attending the conference, and whether or not an agreement was reached by the parties. If an agreement is reached, the report shall state whether the action will conclude by consent judgment or voluntary dismissal and shall identify the person designated to file such a consent judgment or dismissal. If an agreement is not reached, the report shall state whether or not there has been compliance with the mediation requirements of this Rule and if not, in what respects compliance was not met.

Rule 32.10. Sanctions.

In the event a party fails to attend or to participate in good faith in a mediated settlement conference ordered by the Court without good cause, the Court may impose upon the party any lawful sanction, including but not limited to assessments of attorney fees, mediator fees and expenses, expenses incurred by parties attending the conference, contempt, or any other sanction authorized by Rule 37(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Rule 32.11. Judicial immunity.

A mediator appointed by the Court pursuant to these rules shall have judicial immunity in the same manner and to the same extent as a judge.

Rules 33.00 to 40.00. Reserved for future purposes.

IV. CRIMINAL RULES

Rule 41.00. Waiver of appearance in misdemeanor cases Rule 43(c)(2), F.R.CRIM.P.

A defendant in misdemeanor cases may execute a written waiver of appearance which contains the following statements:

(a) the designation of counsel to appear in behalf of the defendant and the granting to such counsel of full authority to enter on behalf of the defendant a plea of guilty, not guilty, or nolo contendere to the offense charged, or to a lesser offense or offenses in lieu thereof;

(b) a consent to trial by the magistrate judge; and, a waiver of: (1) the right to be tried and sentenced by a district judge, (2) the right to a jury trial, (3) the right to testify in person, and (4) the right to face his or her accusers;

(c) an agreement to be bound by the decisions of the court as in any other case of adjudication and the entry of judgment subject to the right of appeal as in any other case; and,

(d) the circumstances which justify the approval of the written waiver of appearance by the court. The waiver of appearance must (1) be in writing, (2) be signed by the defendant and his or her counsel, (3) be consented to by the United States Attorney or an Assistant United States Attorney and (4) be approved by the court.

Rule 42.00. Arraignment.

Rule 42.01. *Generally.

Ordinarily, arraignments shall be conducted by magistrate judges under the provisions of Rule 19(B)(4), F.R.Crim.P. The presence of the United States Attorney at arraignment is not mandatory, and in the absence of the United States Attorney the magistrate judge shall conduct the arraignment in accordance with Rule 10, F.R.Crim.P. When a judge conducts the arraignment, the United States Attorney or an Assistant United States Attorney shall be present.

Rule 42.02. *Appearance bond.

In the event a deed of trust is used to secure an appearance bond for a defendant, the grantor of the deed of trust will be responsible for all costs incurred in subsequently cancelling the deed of trust pursuant to the North Carolina General Statutes.

Rule 43.00. Criminal pre-trial discovery and inspection.

Rule 43.01. *Criminal pre-trial conference.

Within 20 days after indictment or initial appearance, whichever comes later, the United States Attorney shall arrange and conduct a pre-trial conference with counsel for the defendant.

At the pre-trial conference and upon the request of counsel for the defendant, the government shall permit counsel for the defendant:

(a) to inspect and copy or photograph any relevant written or recorded statements or confessions made by the defendant, or copies thereof, within the possession, custody or control of the government, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of due diligence may become known, to the attorney for the government;

(b) to inspect and copy or photograph any relevant results or reports of physical or mental examinations, and of scientific tests or experiments made in connection with the case, or copies thereof, within the possession, custody or control of the government, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of due diligence may become known to the attorney for the government;

(c) to inspect and copy or photograph any relevant recorded testimony of the defendant before a grand jury;

(d) to inspect and copy or photograph books, papers, documents, tangible objects, buildings or places which are the property of the defendant and which are within the possession, custody or control of the government;

(e) to inspect and copy or photograph the Federal Bureau of Investigation Identification Sheet indicating defendant's prior criminal record; and

(f) to inspect, copy or photograph any exculpatory evidence.

Rule 43.02. Discovery from defendant.

Thereafter and upon the request of the government, counsel for the defendant shall:

(a) permit the United States Attorney to inspect and copy or photograph any document or other physical object intended to be introduced as an exhibit of the defendant at the trial;

(b) permit the United States Attorney to inspect and copy or photograph any results or reports of physical or mental examinations and of scientific tests or experiments made in connection with the particular cases, or copies thereof, within the possession or control of the defendant, which the defendant intends to introduce as evidence at the trial or which were prepared by a witness whom the defendant intends to call at the trial when the results or reports relate to the testimony of such witness; and

(c) disclose the substance of any alibi or similar defense intended to be presented by the defendant.

Rule 43.03. Exchange of discovery by mail.

The United States Attorney and counsel for the defendant, in lieu of the conference, may agree to the exchange of discovery material by mail.

Rule 43.04. Further discovery or inspection.

In the event that either party thereafter moves to compel compliance with Local Rule 43.01 or for additional discovery or inspection, such motion shall be filed within the time period set by Local Rule 44.00. The motion shall contain:

(a) the statement that the prescribed conference was held;

(b) the date of said conference;

(c) the names of all counsel participating in the conference; and

(d) the statement that agreement could not be reached concerning the discovery or inspection that is the subject of the motion and the reasons given for the same.

Rule 43.05. Duty of disclosure.

Any duty of disclosure and discovery set forth in Local Rule 43.00 is a continuing one and the United States Attorney and counsel for the defendant shall produce voluntarily any additional relevant information gained by either of them.

CASE NOTES

This rule adds to the government's disclosure obligations under Rule 16, Fed. R. Crim. P., and requires the scheduling of a pre-trial conference at which Rule 16 materials should be given to a defendant. United States v. King, 121 F.R.D. 277 (E.D.N.C. 1988).

Rule 44.00. Time period for filing pre-trial motions in criminal cases.

All pre-trial motions, including but not limited to motions to suppress and motions under Rules 7, 12, 14, 16, and 41, F.R.Crim.P., shall be filed no later than 30 days after indictment or initial appearance, whichever comes later. Responses shall be filed within ten days after the service of such motions. Untimely motions may be summarily disregarded.

CASE NOTES

Stated in United States v. A-A-A Elec. Co., 607 F. Supp. 266 (E.D.N.C. 1985).

Rule 45.00. Publicity in criminal matters.

Rule 45.01. Statements by one participating in or associated with an investigation.

An attorney participating in or associated with the investigation of a criminal matter shall not make or participate in making any extra-judicial statement that a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication and that does more than state without elaboration:

- (a) information contained in a public record;
- (b) that the investigation is in progress;
- (c) the general scope of the investigation including a description of the offense and, if permitted by law, the identity of the victim;
- (d) a request for assistance in apprehending a suspect or assistance in other matters and the information necessary thereto; and
- (e) a warning to the public of any dangers.

Rule 45.02. Statements after filing complaint, information, or indictment, issuance of warrant or arrest.

An attorney or law firm associated with the prosecution or defense of a criminal matter shall not, from the time of the filing of a complaint, information, or indictment, the issuance of an arrest warrant, or arrest until the commencement of the trial or disposition without trial, make or participate in making an extra-judicial statement that a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication that relates to:

- (a) the character, reputation, or prior criminal record (including arrests, indictments, or other charges of crime) of the accused;
- (b) the possibility of a plea of guilty to the offense charged or to a lesser offense;
- (c) the existence or contents of any confession, admission, or statement given by the accused or the refusal or failure of the accused to make a statement;
- (d) the performance or results of any examinations or tests or the refusal or failure of the accused to submit to examination or tests;
- (e) the identity, testimony, or credibility of a prospective witness; or
- (f) any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, the evidence, or the merits of the case.

Rule 45.03. Statements that can be made.

This rule does not preclude an attorney during such period from announcing:

- (a) the name, age, residence, occupation, and family status of the accused;
- (b) if the accused has not been apprehended, any information necessary to aid in apprehension of the accused or to warn the public of any dangers the accused may present;

- (c) a request for assistance in obtaining evidence;
- (d) the identity of the victim of the crime;
- (e) the fact, time, and place of arrest, resistance, pursuit, and use of weapons;
- (f) the identity of investigating and arresting officers or agencies and the length of the investigation;
- (g) at the time of seizure, a description of the physical evidence seized, other than a confession, admission or statement;
- (h) the nature, substance, or text of the charge;
- (i) quotations from or references to public records of the court in the case;
- (j) the scheduling or result of any step in the judicial proceedings; or
- (k) that the accused denies the charges made against him.

Rule 45.04. Statements during jury selection or trial.

During the selection of a jury or the trial of a criminal matter, an attorney or a law firm associated with the prosecution or defense of a criminal matter shall not make or participate in making any extra-judicial statement that a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication and that relates to the trial, parties, or issues in the trial or other matters that are reasonably likely to interfere with a fair trial, except that the attorney may quote from or refer without comment to public records of the court in the case.

Rule 45.05. Statements after trial, disposition without trial, or sentencing.

After the completion of a trial or disposition without trial of a criminal matter and prior to the imposition of sentence, an attorney or a law firm associated with the prosecution or defense shall not make or participate in making an extra-judicial statement that a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by public communication and that is reasonably likely to affect the sentence.

Rule 45.06. Statements of staff and employees.

An attorney shall exercise reasonable care to prevent employees and associates from making an extra-judicial statement that the attorney would be prohibited from making under this Local Rule 45.00 and Local Rule 7.00.

Rule 46.00. Petition for disclosure of presentence or probation records.

No confidential records of this court maintained by the probation office, including presentence and probation supervision records, shall be sought by any applicant except by written petition to this court establishing with particularity the need for specific information in the records. Whenever a probation officer is served with a subpoena or other judicial process seeking the production or disclosure of presentence and probation records and reports, the probation officer shall petition the Chief Judge of this court in writing for instructions with respect to responding to such process. In no event shall production or disclosure be made except pursuant to an order by a judge.

Rule 47.00. Time of issuance of subpoenas in criminal cases.

Subpoenas for witnesses in criminal cases shall be delivered to the Marshal or other person qualified to make service at least seven days prior to the Monday of the week in which the case is set for trial. The failure of the Marshal or other qualified person to serve a subpoena not delivered within this time period shall not constitute sufficient cause for a continuance.

Rule 48.00. Appearance of counsel in criminal cases.*Rule 48.01. *Obligation to notify the court.

A defendant who does not apply for representation at government expense, or who is deemed ineligible after application, must inform the court of the identity of retained counsel within 10 days of his first appearance before a judicial officer in this district. Retention of counsel outside this period will not constitute grounds for a continuance of pre-trial proceedings or trial unless the defendant demonstrates due diligence in attempting to retain counsel.

Rule 48.02. *Notice of appearance.

Counsel representing a defendant in a criminal action shall file a Notice of Appearance with the Clerk and serve the U. S. Attorney and other counsel with a copy.

Rule 49.00. Attorney preparations for criminal trial.

(a) Unless the parties have previously entered into and executed a written plea agreement, counsel for each party shall file with the Clerk and the assigned judge, on or before the Thursday preceding the first day of the session at which the criminal action is set for trial:

- (1) Voir dire questions as required by Local Rule 6.02;
- (2) requests for jury instructions.

(b) Before jury selection begins, all parties shall file with the court a list of all witnesses each party, in good faith, reasonably anticipates will be called in its evidence-in-chief.

Rule 50.00. Procedures implementing sentencing guidelines.*Rule 50.01. *Scheduling of sentencing.

Sentencing proceedings shall be scheduled by the court at the time of adjudication of guilt not earlier than sixty (60) days following the adjudication of guilt.

Rule 50.02. *Time for completion of presentence report.

No later than thirty-five (35) days prior to sentencing, the probation officer shall complete and disclose the presentence investigation report to the defendant, counsel for the defendant, and counsel for the government.

Rule 50.03. *Time for filing objections to presentence report.

Within fourteen (14) days thereafter, counsel shall communicate, in writing, to the probation officer objections to any material information, sentencing classifications, guideline ranges, and policy statements contained in or omitted from the report. A copy shall be served on opposing counsel. The court may conduct a show cause hearing and/or disallow objections in any case where such objections are not timely filed.

Rule 50.04. Procedure for resolving objections to presentence report.

After receiving objections from counsel, the probation officer shall conduct such further investigation as may be necessary. Counsel shall jointly confer with the probation officer to discuss and attempt to resolve contested issues. Thereafter, the probation officer shall make such revisions to the presentence investigation report as the probation officer deems appropriate. Unresolved contested issues, including the position of counsel for the parties and the opinion of the probation officer, shall be contained in an addendum to the presentence investigation report.

Rule 50.05. Time for filing revised presentence report.

The revised presentence investigation report and addendum shall be delivered to the judge, the defendant, and counsel not later than seven (7) days prior to the sentencing hearing. The probation officer's sentencing recommendation shall be disclosed only to the judge.

Rule 50.06. Expedited procedures where defendant detained.

If it appears that a defendant may be detained pending trial and sentencing for a period of time exceeding the sentence likely to be imposed under the guidelines, the court, upon motion of counsel for defendant at the time of adjudication of guilt, may direct the probation office to expedite the sentencing timetable.

Rule 50.07. Court acceptance of presentence report.

The revised presentence investigation report may be accepted by the court as accurate except as to matters set forth in the addendum which shall be resolved as provided in Section 6A1.3 of the United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines Manual (November 1994).

Rule 50.08. Service of presentence report.

The presentence investigation report shall be deemed to have been disclosed when a copy is physically delivered or three (3) days after a copy is mailed. Such dates shall be certified on the report by the probation officer.

Rule 50.09. Procedure at sentencing.

Before final judgment is entered in a case, the court shall disclose to the defendant, defense counsel, and the attorney for the government, the court's tentative findings of fact and interpretation of applicable guidelines and shall afford the parties an opportunity to object to said tentative findings of fact and interpretation of the guidelines.

Rule 50.10. Filing of presentence report under seal.

The final presentence investigation report, addendum, and probation officer's recommendation shall be filed with the Clerk under seal for inclusion in the record and shall be otherwise disclosed only upon order. Defendants and counsel may retain their copies.

Rule 50.11. *Role of defense counsel in presentence investigation.

Upon adjudication of guilt, the probation officer will initiate the presentence investigative process. Counsel for the defendant shall advise the probation officer attending court whether or not the defendant will submit to an interview with the officer and whether or not counsel desires to be present at the interview. Counsel, if attending, and the defendant shall make themselves available for the interview on the day of adjudication with the U. S. Marshal's Service providing, in custody cases, an appropriate location sufficient for accommodating a private interview at the court site or in the immediate vicinity thereof. If extraordinary circumstances prohibit conducting the interview on the day of adjudication, the probation officer will make arrangements to interview the defendant within three (3) working days following adjudication and afford defense counsel notice of the date, time, and location of the interview should counsel desire to attend.

Rules 51.00 to 59.00. Reserved for future purposes.*V. MAGISTRATE JUDGES*Rule 60.00. Standards of performance.

In performing duties for the court, a magistrate judge shall conform to all applicable provisions of federal statutes and rules, to the Local Rules and procedures of this court, and to the requirements specified in any order of reference from a judge.

Rule 61.00. Assignment of matters to magistrate judges.*Rule 61.01. *Criminal cases.

(a) Misdemeanor cases. Upon the filing of an information, complaint or violation notice, or the return of an indictment, all misdemeanor cases shall be assigned by the clerk to a magistrate judge, who shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of 18 U.S.C. § 3401 and the Rules of Procedure for the Trial of Misdemeanors before United States Magistrate Judges.

(b) Felony cases. Upon the return of an indictment or the filing of an information, all felony cases shall be assigned by the clerk to a magistrate judge for the conduct of an arraignment and such pre-trial conferences as are necessary, and for the hearing and determination of all pre-trial procedural and discovery motions, in accordance with Local Rule 62.04.

CASE NOTES

Cited in United States v. Fordham, 674 F. Supp. 196 (E.D.N.C. 1987).

Rule 61.02. *Civil cases.

Upon filing, all civil cases shall be assigned by the clerk to a magistrate judge for the conduct of such discovery and pre-trial conferences as are necessary and for the hearing and determination of all pre-trial procedural and discovery motions, in accordance with Local Rule 62.03. Where designated by a judge, the magistrate judge may conduct additional pre-trial conferences and hear motions and perform the duties set forth in Local Rules 62.04, 62.05 and 62.06. Where the parties consent to trial and disposition of a case by a certified magistrate judge under Local Rule 21.00, such case shall, with the approval of the judge to whom it was assigned at the time of filing, be reassigned to a certified magistrate judge for the conduct of all further proceedings and the entry of judgment.

Rule 61.03. General.

Nothing in these rules shall preclude a judge from reserving any proceeding for conduct by a judge, rather than a magistrate judge. The judge, moreover, may by order modify the method of assigning proceedings to a magistrate judge as changing conditions may warrant.

Rule 62.00. Authority of magistrate judges.

Rule 62.01. Duties under 28 U.S.C. § 636(a).

A magistrate judge is authorized to perform the duties prescribed by 28 U.S.C. § 636(a), and may:

- (a) exercise all the powers and duties conferred or imposed upon United States commissioners by law and the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure;
- (b) administer oaths and affirmations, impose conditions of release under 18 U.S.C. § 3146, and take acknowledgements, affidavits, and depositions; and
- (c) conduct extradition proceedings, in accordance with 18 U.S.C. § 3184.

Rule 62.02. Disposition of misdemeanor cases — 18 U.S.C. § 3401.

A magistrate judge may:

- (a) try persons accused of, and sentence persons convicted of, misdemeanors committed within this district in accordance with 18 U.S.C. § 3401;
- (b) direct the probation service of the court to conduct a presentence investigation in any misdemeanor case; and
- (c) conduct a jury trial in any misdemeanor case where the defendant so requests and is entitled to trial by jury under the Constitution and laws of the United States.

Rule 62.03. Determination of non-dispositive pre-trial matters — 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A).

A magistrate judge may hear and determine any procedural or discovery motion or other pre-trial matter in a civil or criminal case, other than the motions which are specified in Local Rule 62.04.

Rule 62.04. Recommendations regarding case-dispositive motions — 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B).

(a) A magistrate judge may submit to a judge a report containing proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition by the judge of the following pre-trial motions in civil and criminal cases:

- 1. Motions for injunctive relief, including temporary restraining orders and preliminary and permanent injunctions;
- 2. Motions for judgment on pleadings;
- 3. Motions for summary judgment;
- 4. Motions to dismiss or permit the maintenance of a class action;
- 5. Motions to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted;
- 6. Motions to involuntarily dismiss an action;
- 7. Motions for review of default judgments;
- 8. Motions to dismiss or quash an indictment or information made by a defendant; and

9. Motions to suppress evidence in a criminal case.

(b) A magistrate judge may determine any preliminary matters and conduct any necessary evidentiary hearing or other proceeding arising in the exercise of the authority conferred by this Local Rule 62.04.

Rule 62.05. Prisoner cases under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 and § 2255.

A magistrate judge may perform any or all of the duties imposed upon a judge by the rules governing proceedings in the United States district courts under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 and § 2255. In so doing, a magistrate judge may issue any preliminary orders and conduct any necessary evidentiary hearing or other appropriate proceeding and shall submit to a judge a report containing proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition of the petition by the judge. Any order disposing of the petition shall only be made by a judge.

Rule 62.06. Prisoner cases under 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

A magistrate judge may issue any preliminary orders and conduct any necessary evidentiary hearing or other appropriate proceeding and shall submit to a judge a report containing proposed findings of fact and recommendations for the disposition of petitions filed by prisoners challenging the conditions of their confinement.

Rule 62.07. Special master references.

A magistrate judge may be designated by a judge to serve as special master in appropriate civil cases in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(2) and Rule 53, F.R.Civ.P. Upon the consent of the parties, a magistrate judge may be designated by a judge to serve as special master in any civil case, notwithstanding the limitations of Rule 53(b), F.R.Civ.P.

Rule 62.08. Conduct of trial and disposition of civil cases upon consent of the parties — 28 U.S.C. § 636(c).

Subject to the provisions of Local Rule 21.00, a certified magistrate judge may conduct any or all proceedings in any civil case which is filed in this court, including the conduct of a jury or non-jury trial, and may order the entry of a final judgment, in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(c). In the course of conducting such proceedings, a magistrate judge may hear and determine any and all pre-trial and post-trial motions, including case-dispositive motions.

Rule 62.09. Other duties.

A magistrate judge is also authorized to:

(a) exercise general supervision of civil and criminal calendars, conduct calendar and status calls, and determine motions to expedite or postpone the trial of cases for the judges;

(b) conduct discovery conferences, pre-trial conferences, settlement conferences, omnibus hearings, and related pre-trial proceedings in civil and criminal cases;

(c) Conduct arraignments in criminal cases not triable by the magistrate judge and take not guilty pleas in such cases;

(d) receive grand jury returns in accordance with Rule 6(f), F.R.Crim.P.;

(e) accept waivers of indictment, pursuant to Rule 7(b), F.R.Crim.P.;

(f) conduct voir dire and select petit juries for the court;

(g) accept petit jury verdicts in civil cases in the absence of a judge;

(h) conduct necessary proceedings leading to the potential revocation of probation;

(i) issue subpoenas, writs of habeas corpus ad testificandum or habeas corpus ad prosequendum, or other orders necessary to obtain the presence of parties, witnesses or evidence needed for court proceedings;

(j) order the exoneration or forfeiture of bonds;

(k) conduct proceedings for the collection of civil penalties of not more than $200.00 assessed under the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971, in accordance with 46 U.S.C. § 1484(d);

(l) conduct examinations of judgment debtors in accordance with Rule 69, F.R.Crim.P.;

(m) conduct proceedings for initial commitment of narcotics addicts under Title III of the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act;

(n) perform the functions specified in 18 U.S.C. § 4107, 4108 and 4109, regarding proceedings for verification of consent by offenders to transfer to or from the United States and the appointment of counsel therein; and

(o) perform the duties specified by the Federal Debt Collection Procedures Act of 1990, 28 U.S.C. §§ 3001 et seq.;

(p) perform any additional duty consistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States.

Rule 63.00. Review and appeal.

Rule 63.01. Appeal of non-dispositive matters — 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A).

Any party may appeal from a magistrate judge's order determining a motion or matter under Local Rule 62.03 within ten days after issuance of the magistrate judge's order, unless a different time is prescribed by the magistrate judge or a judge. Such party shall file with the clerk, and serve on the magistrate judge and all parties, a written statement of appeal which shall specifically designate the order, or part thereof, appealed from and the basis for any objection thereto. A judge shall consider the appeal and shall set aside any portion of the magistrate judge's order found to be clearly erroneous or contrary to law. The judge may also reconsider sua sponte any matters determined by a magistrate judge under this rule.

Rule 63.02. Review of case-dispositive motions and prisoner litigation — 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B).

Any party may object to a magistrate judge's proposed findings, recommendations or report under Local Rules 62.04, 62.05 or 62.06, within ten days after being served with a copy thereof. Such party shall file with the clerk, and serve on the magistrate judge and all parties, written objections which shall specifically identify the portions of the proposed findings, recommendations or report to which objection is made and the basis for such objections. Any party may respond to another party's objections within ten days after being served with a copy thereof. A judge shall make a de novo determination of those portions of the report or specified proposed findings or recommendations to which objection is made and may accept, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the findings or recommendations made by the magistrate judge. The judge, however, need conduct a new hearing only in his or her discretion or where required by law, and may consider the record developed before the magistrate judge, making his or her own determination on the basis of that record. The judge may also receive further evidence, recall witnesses or recommit the matter to the magistrate judge with instructions.

Any party may seek review of, or action on, a special master report filed by a magistrate judge in accordance with the provisions of Rule 53(e), F.R.Civ.P.

Rule 63.04. Appeal from judgments in misdemeanor cases — 18 U.S.C. § 3402.

A defendant may appeal a judgment of conviction by a magistrate judge in a misdemeanor case by filing a notice of appeal and paying a $5.00 filing fee within ten days after entry of the judgment, and by serving a copy of the notice upon the United States Attorney. The scope of appeal shall be the same as on an appeal from a judgment of the district court to the court of appeals.

Rule 63.05. Appeal from judgments in civil cases disposed of on consent of the parties — 28 U.S.C. § 636(c).

(a) Appeal to the Court of Appeals. Upon the entry of judgment in any civil case disposed of by a magistrate judge on consent of the parties under authority of 28 U.S.C. § 636(c) and Local Rule 62.08, an aggrieved party shall appeal directly to the United States Court of Appeals for this circuit in the same manner as an appeal from any other judgment of this court.

(b) Appeal to a district judge.

1. Notice of appeal. In accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(4), the parties may consent to appeal any judgment in a civil case disposed of by a magistrate judge to a district judge, rather than directly to the Court of Appeals. In such case the appeal shall be taken by filing a notice of appeal with and paying a $5.00 filing fee to the clerk within 30 days after entry of the magistrate judge's judgment but if the United States or an officer or agency thereof is a party, the notice of appeal may be filed by any party within 60 days of entry of the judgment. For good cause shown, the magistrate judge or a judge may extend the time for filing the notice of appeal for an additional 20 days. A request for such extension, however, shall be made before the original time period for such appeal has expired. In the event a motion for a new trial is timely filed, the time for appeal from the judgment of the magistrate judge shall be extended to 30 days from the date of the ruling on the motion for a new trial, unless a different period is provided by the Federal Rules of Civil or Appellate Procedure.

2. Service of the notice of appeal. The clerk shall serve notice of the filing of a notice of appeal by mailing a copy thereof to counsel of record for all parties other than the appellant, or if a party is not represented by counsel to the party at his or her last known address.

3. Record on appeal. The record on appeal to a judge shall consist of the original papers and exhibits filed with the court and the transcript of the proceedings before the magistrate judge, if any. Every effort shall be made by the parties, counsel, and the court to minimize the production and costs of transcriptions of the record, and otherwise to render the appeal expeditious and inexpensive, as mandated by 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(4).

4. Memoranda. The appellant shall within 30 days of the filing of the notice of appeal file a typewritten memorandum, together with two additional copies, stating the specific facts, points of law, and authorities on which the appeal is based. The appellees shall file an answering memorandum within 30 days of the filing of the appellant's memorandum. The court may extend these time limits upon a showing of good cause made by the party requesting the extension. Such good cause may include reasonable delay in the preparation of any necessary transcript. If an appellant fails to file his or her memorandum within the time provided by this rule, or any extension thereof, the court may dismiss the appeal.

5. Disposition of the appeal by a judge. The judge shall consider the appeal on the record, in the same manner as if the case had been appealed from a judgment of the district court to the court of appeals and may affirm, reverse, or modify the magistrate judge's judgment, or remand with instructions for further proceedings. The judge shall accept the magistrate judge's findings of fact unless they are clearly erroneous, and shall give due regard to the opportunity of the magistrate judge to judge the credibility of the witnesses.

Rule 63.06. Appeals from other orders of a magistrate judge.

Appeals from any other decisions and orders of a magistrate judge not provided for in this Local Rule 63.00 should be taken as provided by governing statute, rule, or decisional law.

Rules 64.00 to 79.00. Reserved for future purposes.

VI. ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME CLAIMS

Rule 80.00. Title and scope.

These rules are entitled Admiralty Rules and may be cited as "Local Admiralty Rules" or "LAR". They apply to the maritime and admiralty proceedings as defined in Supplemental Rule A of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The Local Rules of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina apply to all civil cases, including admiralty and maritime proceedings, but if a local rule is inconsistent with an admiralty rule, the admiralty rule shall control. As used in these LAR, "court" means a U. S. District Judge or a U. S. District Magistrate Judge.

Rule 81.00. Process.

(a) Order authorizing the clerk to issue process of arrest, attachment or garnishment.

Except in actions by the United States for forfeitures, before the clerk will issue a summons and process of arrest, attachment or garnishment to any party, including intervenors, under Supplemental Rules B and C, the pleadings, the affidavit required by Rule B, and accompanying supporting papers must be reviewed by the court. The clerk may refer a motion under this provision to any magistrate judge or judge of the court who is reasonably available, regardless of the judge to whom the action is assigned. The motion may be heard and the decision thereon communicated to the clerk telephonically. If the court finds the conditions set forth in Rules B or C appear to exist, as appropriate, the court shall authorize the clerk to issue process. Supplemental process or alias process may thereafter be issued by the clerk upon application without further order of the court.

(1) Order.

Upon approving the application for arrest, attachment or garnishment, the court will issue an order to the clerk to issue such process. The proposed form of order authorizing the issuance of such process and the proposed process itself shall be submitted to the court or the clerk before the court's review.

(2) Exigent circumstances.

If the plaintiff or his attorney certifies by affidavit submitted to the clerk that exigent circumstances make review by the court impracticable, the clerk shall issue a summons and warrant of arrest or process of attachment and garnishment. In actions by the United States for forfeitures for federal statutory violations, the clerk, upon filing of the complaint, shall forthwith issue a summons and warrant for arrest of the vessel or other property without requiring a certification of exigent circumstances.

(b) Return of process — Supplemental Rules C and D.

Unless otherwise ordered by the court, all process from this court within the scope of Supplemental Rules C and D, F.R.Civ.P. shall be returnable by claim within ten days after execution of the process and by motion or answer within twenty days following claim.

(c) Return of process — Supplemental Rule B.

Unless otherwise ordered by the court, Rule 9(h), F.R.Civ.P., process from this court in personam shall be by civil summons returnable twenty days after service of the process except process within the contemplation of Supplemental Rule B, F.R.Civ.P. which shall be in conformity therewith.

(d) Registry of vessel information.

Whenever a vessel is to be served, the party seeking service shall inform the Marshal of the registry of the vessel to be served, provided, however, failure to so inform the Marshal shall not be cause for the Marshal to refuse to serve the said vessel or in any way invalidate service of process.

Rule 82.00. Issuance of process.

(a) Intangible property.

(1) Issuance and effect of summons. The summons issued pursuant to Supplemental Rule C(3) shall direct the person having control of the funds or other intangible property to show cause no later than ten (10) days after service why the funds or other property should not be delivered to the court to abide the judgment. The court, for good cause shown, may shorten or lengthen the time. Service of the summons has the effect of an arrest of the property and brings it within the control of the court.

(2) Payment to marshal. The person who is served may deliver or pay over to the Marshal the property or funds proceeded against, or a part thereof, sufficient to satisfy the claim. If such payment is made, the person served is excused from any duty to show cause.

(3) Manner of showing cause. The claimant of the property may show cause why the property should not be delivered to the court by serving and filing a claim as provided in Supplemental Rule C(6) within the time allowed to show cause, and by serving and filing an answer to the complaint within twenty (20) days thereafter.

(4) Effect of failure to show cause. If a claim is not filed within the time stated in the summons, or an answer is not filed within the time allowed under this Rule, the person who was served shall deliver or pay to the Marshal the property or funds proceeded against, or a part thereof, sufficient to satisfy plaintiff's claim.

(b) Seizure of property already in custody of an officer of the United States. In addition to the requirements of Supplemental Rule C(3), where property in the custody of an officer or employee of the United States is to be arrested or attached, the Marshal shall deliver a copy of the complaint and warrant for arrest, or summons and process of attachment, to such officer or employee or, if the officer or employee is not found within the district, then to the custodian of the property within the district. The Marshal shall notify such officer, employee or custodian not to relinquish such property from custody until ordered to do so by the court.

(c) Use of state procedures. When the plaintiff invokes a state procedure to attach or garnish property under Federal Rule 4(n), the process of attachment and garnishment shall so state.

(d) “Not within the district” defined. The phrase “not found within the district” in Supplemental Rule B(1) means that, in an in personam action, the defendant cannot be served with the summons and complaint as provided in F.R.Civ.P. 4(d).

Rule 83.00. Post arrest procedure.

(a) Whenever property is arrested, attached or garnished, any person claiming an interest in the property shall be entitled to a prompt hearing before the court on notice to the party bringing the arrest, attachment or garnishment and to all other parties who have appeared in the action. The hearing shall be noticed and scheduled as is a hearing on a request for temporary restraining order. At the hearing, the party that obtained the arrest, attachment or garnishment shall show cause why the arrest, attachment or garnishment order should not be vacated forthwith or other appropriate relief granted.

(b) If the arrest, attachment or garnishment was obtained under a certification of exigent circumstances, the party obtaining the arrest, attachment or garnishment shall have the burden to show that exigent circumstances existed.

(c) This Rule shall have no application to suits for seamen’s wages when process is issued upon a certification of sufficient cause filed pursuant to Title 46, U.S.C. §§ 603 and 604 or to action by the United States for forfeitures.

Rule 84.00. Publication.

(a) Publication required by Supplemental Rule (C)(4), F.R.Civ.P. shall be made once, without further court order, in any one of the following newspapers:

Elizabeth City division. Virginian Pilot, Norfolk, Virginia

The News and Observer, Raleigh, North Carolina

Wilmington division. Wilmington Morning Star, Wilmington, North Carolina

All other divisions. The News and Observer, Raleigh, North Carolina

(b) If the property arrested is not released within ten days after execution of process, publication hereunder shall, unless otherwise ordered, be caused by the plaintiff or intervenor to be made within seventeen days after execution of process.

(c) Such notice shall be substantially as follows, except and unless otherwise provided in actions for the enforcement of forfeitures for violation of any federal statute:

Rule 85.00. Stipulations for costs and security.

(a) Seamen. Seamen suing as provided in 28 U.S.C. § 1916 shall not be required to file a stipulation for costs in the first instance. The court may however, order a stipulation to be given at any time.

In all actions in rem brought by seamen in their own names and for their own benefit for wages, salvage, or the enforcement of laws for their health or safety without prepaying costs or fees or furnishing security therefor, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1916, the Marshal may at any time after service of process, attachment, or seizure of a vessel, petition any judge or magistrate judge of this court to require the posting of security for any or all reasonable expenses which have been or may be incurred while the vessel is in the custody of the Marshal. Upon filing such petition for the posting of security, a hearing date shall promptly be set by the court and the Marshal shall give notice of the time and place of such hearing by serving a copy of the notice of hearing together with a copy of the petition upon counsel of record for the parties or upon the parties, and by posting a copy of the same on the vessel.

(b) Increase or decrease in security. At any time, any party having an interest in the subject matter of the action may move the court, on due notice and for cause, for greater, better or lesser security; and any such order may be enforced by attachment or otherwise. The court may enter such order on its own motion, with or without notice.

(c) Deposit required before seizure. Any party, including any intervenor, who seeks arrest, attachment or garnishment of property in an action governed by Supplemental Rule E and Federal Rule 4(e) shall deposit with the Marshal the sum estimated by the Marshal to be sufficient to pay the fees and expenses of arresting, attaching, or garnishing and keeping the property for at least ten days, or such lesser amount as the Marshal deems sufficient. The Marshal is not required to execute process of arrest, attachment or garnishment until such deposit is made.

(d) Additional deposits required after seizure. Any party who has caused the Marshal to arrest, attach or garnish property shall advance additional sums from time to time as required by the Marshal to pay the fees and expenses of the Marshal until the property is released or disposed of as provided in Supplemental Rule E.

(e) Sanction for failure to make deposit. Any party who fails to make a deposit when required by the Marshal may be subject to sanctions including the release of the vessel.

Rule 86.00. Stipulations and undertakings.

(a) Except in cases instituted by the United States by information, or complaint of information upon seizures for any breach of the revenue, navigation, or other laws of the United States, stipulations or bonds in admiralty and maritime actions need not be under seal and may be executed on behalf of the stipulator or obligor by his/its agent or counsel. Stipulations for costs with corporate surety need not be signed or executed by the party, but may be signed on his/its behalf by his/its agent or counsel, and shall be sufficient in any event if executed only by the surety approved by the court.

(b) If, before or after commencement of suit, all parties accept any written undertaking to respond on behalf of the vessel or other property sued in return for foregoing the arrest or stipulating to the release of such vessel or other property, the undertaking shall become a party in place of the vessel or other property sued and be deemed referred to under the name of the vessel or other party in any pleading; order or judgment in the action referred to in the undertaking.

Rule 87.00. Pleadings and parties.

(a) Every complaint filed as a Rule 9(h), F.R.Civ.P. action shall set forth "In Admiralty" following the designation of the court, in addition to the statement, if any, contained in the body of the complaint pursuant to such rule.

(b) In actions under Supplemental Rule B, C or D, F.R.Civ.P. the business telephone number and address of the plaintiff's counsel or the plaintiff, if plaintiff appears pro se, shall be included.

(c) Every complaint in Supplemental Rules B and C, F.R.Civ.P. actions shall state the amount of the debt, damages, or salvage for which the action is brought, and shall include in addition thereto the amounts of unliquidated claims, including attorneys fees. The defendant or claimant may post bond pursuant to Supplemental Rule E(5) based on such allegations.

(d) In cases of salvage, the complaint shall also state to the extent known or estimated the value of the hull, cargo, freight and other property salvaged, the amount claimed, the names of the principal salvors, and that the suit is instituted in their behalf and in the behalf of all other persons interested or associated with them. There shall also be attached to the complaint a list of all known salvors and all persons believed entitled to share in the salvage, and also any agreement of consortium available and known to exist among them or any of them, including a copy of any such agreement.

Rule 88.00. Verification of pleadings and answers to interrogatories.

Every complaint and claim in Supplemental Rules B, C and D, F.R.Civ.P. actions shall be verified on oath or solemn affirmation by a party, or an officer of a corporate party. If no party or corporate officer is within the district, verification of a complaint, claim or answers to interrogatories may be made by an agent, attorney-in-fact or attorney of record, who shall state briefly the sources of his or her knowledge, information and belief, declare that the document affirmed is true to the best of his or her knowledge, information and belief, state the reason why verification is not made by the party or a corporate officer, and that he or she is authorized so to act. Any such verification will be deemed to have been made by the party to whom a document might apply as if verified personally. Any interested party may move the court, with or without a request for stay, for the personal oath of a party or all parties, or that of a corporate officer. If required by the court, such verification shall be procured by commission or as otherwise ordered.

Rule 89.00. Intervention.

(a) Unless otherwise ordered by the court, anyone having a claim against a vessel or other property previously arrested, attached, or garnished shall file an intervening complaint and not an original complaint, and shall arrest, attach, or garnish the vessel or property and, further, otherwise comply with these Rules in the same manner as the initial arresting, attaching or garnishing party.

(b) Any party intervening in the proceeding shall deposit funds to pay a fair share of expenses for the safekeeping of the property.

Rule 90.00. Default in action in rem.

(a) Notice required. A party seeking a default judgment in an action in rem must show to the satisfaction of the court that due notice of the action and arrest of the property has been given:

- (1) By publication, as required in LAR 84; and
- (2) By service on the master or other person having custody of the property; and

(3) By delivery under Federal Rule 5(b) to every other person who has not appeared in the action and is known to have an interest in the property.

(b) Persons with recorded interests.

(1) If the defendant property is a vessel documented under the laws of the United States, plaintiff must obtain a current certificate of ownership from the Coast Guard and give notice to the persons named therein who appear to have an interest.

(2) If the defendant property is a vessel numbered as provided in the Federal Boat Safety Act, plaintiff must obtain information from the issuing authority and give notice to other persons named in the records of such authority who appear to have an interest.

(c) Manner of giving notice. A required notice, other than by publication, of the action and arrest of the property shall be given by delivery under Federal Rule 5(b).

Rule 91.00. Entry of default.

After the time limit for filing an answer has expired, the plaintiff may request an entry of default under Federal Rule 55(a). Default will be entered upon showing that:

- (a) Notice has been given as required in LAR 91(a);
- (b) No one has appeared to claim the property;
- (c) The publication requirement under LAR 84 has been fulfilled; and
- (d) The time limit for answer has expired.

The plaintiff may move for judgment under Federal Rule 55(b) at any time after default has been entered.

Rule 92.00. Custody of property.

(a) Safekeeping of property when seized. When a vessel, cargo or other property is seized, the Marshal shall take custody and arrange for adequate and necessary security for its safekeeping which may include, in the Marshal's discretion, the placing of keepers on or near the vessel, or the appointment of a facility or person as custodian of the property in lieu of the Marshal. When a vessel with crew aboard is seized, the removal of such crew shall fall within the discretion of the United States Marshal.

(b) Cargo handling, repairs and movement of the vessel. Upon arrest or attachment of the vessel, no cargo handling, repairs or movement of the vessel may be made without a court order except in an emergency situation in the discretion of the Marshal. Written notice shall be given to the Marshal and to all parties who have appeared prior to the application for such order, and the certificate of service of such notice shall be filed with the clerk before application is made to the court. For good cause shown, the court may direct the Marshal to allow the conduct of cargo handling, repairs, movement of the vessel or other operations on a vessel under arrest or attachment. Neither the United States nor the Marshal shall be liable for the consequence of the undertaking or continuation of any such activities during the arrest or attachment.

(c) Motion for change in arrangements. Prior to or after a vessel, cargo or property has been taken into custody by the Marshal, any party then appearing may move the court to dispense with keepers or to remove or place the vessel, cargo or other property at a specified facility, to designate a substitute custodian, or for similar relief. Notice of the motion shall be given to the Marshal and to all parties who have appeared.

(d) Insurance. The Marshal may order insurance to protect the Marshal, his deputies, keepers and substitute custodians from liability assumed in arresting and holding the vessel, cargo or other property and performing whatever services are undertaken to protect the vessel, cargo or other property and maintain the court's custody. The party applying for arrest of the vessel, cargo or other property shall reimburse the Marshal for premiums paid for the insurance. The party applying for removal of the vessel, cargo or other property to another location, for designation of a substitute custodian, or for other relief that will require an additional premium shall reimburse the Marshal therefor. The premiums charged for the liability insurance are taxable as administrative costs while the vessel, cargo or other property is in custodia legis.

Rule 93.00. Appraisal.

(a) Order for appraisal. An order for appraisal of property so that security may be given or altered will be entered by the clerk at the written request of any interested party. If the parties do not agree in writing on the selection of the appraiser, the court will appoint the appraiser.

(b) Appraiser's oath. The appraiser shall be sworn to the faithful and impartial discharge of duties before any federal or state officer authorized by law to administer oaths, and a copy of the oath shall be filed with the clerk.

(c) Appraisal. The appraiser shall give one day's notice of the time and place of making the appraisal to the parties who have appeared in the action. The appraiser shall file the appraisal in writing with the clerk as soon as it is completed and shall serve it on all parties.

(d) Cost of appraisal. Absent stipulation of the parties or order of the court to the contrary, the appraiser shall be paid by the party requesting the appraisal. Appraiser's fees shall thereafter be taxed as the court orders.

Rule 94.00. Sale of property.

(a) Publication of notice of sale. Unless otherwise ordered upon a showing of urgency, impracticality or other good cause, or as provided by law, notice of the sale of property in an action in rem shall be published daily, at least twice, the first publication to be at least one calendar week prior to date of sale and the second publication to be at least three calendar days prior to date of sale, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(b) Place of sale. The place of sale will occur at the Federal Courthouse in the division in which the property is located unless the court otherwise directs.

(c) Payment of bid. The person whose bid is accepted shall immediately pay the Marshal either the full purchase price if the bid is no more than $500 or a deposit of $500 or ten percent of the bid, whichever is greater, if the bid exceeds $500. The bidder shall pay the balance of the purchase price within three court days following the sale. If an objection to the sale is filed within that time, the bidder is excused from paying the balance of the purchase price until three court days after the sale is confirmed. Payments to the Marshal shall be in cash, certified check or cashier's check. The court may specify different terms in any order of sale.

(d) Penalty for late payment of balance. A successful bidder who fails to pay the balance of the bid within the time allowed under these rules or a different time specified by the court shall also pay the Marshal the costs of keeping the property from the date payment of the balance was due to the date the bidder pays the balance and takes delivery of the property. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the Marshal shall refuse to release the property until this additional charge is paid.

(e) Penalty for default in payment of balance. A successful bidder who fails to pay the balance of the bid within the time allowed is in default and the court may at any time thereafter order a sale to the second highest bidder or order a new sale as appropriate. Any sum deposited by the bidder in default shall be forfeited and applied to pay any additional costs incurred by the Marshal by reason of the forfeiture and default, including costs incident to resale. The balance of the deposit, if any, shall be retained in the registry subject to further order of the court, and the court shall be given written notice of its existence whenever the registry deposits are reviewed.

(f) Report of sale by the marshal. At the conclusion of the sale, the Marshal shall forthwith file a written report with the court of the fact of sale, the date thereof, the price obtained, the name and address of the successful bidder, and any other pertinent information.

(g) Time and procedure for objection to sale. An interested person may object to the sale by filing a written objection with the clerk within three court days following the sale, serving the objection on all parties, the successful bidder and the Marshal, and depositing a sum with the Marshal that is sufficient to pay the expense of keeping the property for at least seven days. Payment to the Marshal shall be in cash, certified check, or cashier's check. The written objection must be endorsed by the Marshal with an acknowledgement of receipt of the deposit prior to filing with the clerk.

(h) Confirmation of sale without motion. A sale shall stand confirmed as of course without any affirmative action by the court unless (1) written objection is filed with the court within the time allowed under these rules, or (2) the purchaser is in default for failure to pay the balance due to the Marshal. The purchaser in a sale so confirmed as of course shall present a form of order reflecting the confirmation of the sale for entry by the clerk on the fourth court day following the sale. The Marshal shall transfer title to the purchaser upon presentation of such order by the clerk.

(i) Confirmation of the sale on motion. If an objection has been filed or if the successful bidder is in default, the Marshal, the objector, the successful bidder, or a party may move the court for relief. The motion will be heard summarily by the court. The person seeking a hearing on such motion shall apply to the court for an order fixing the date and time of the hearing and directing the manner of giving notice and shall give written notice of the motion to the Marshal, all parties, the successful bidder and the objector. The court may confirm the sale, order a new sale, or grant such other relief as justice requires.

(j) Disposition of deposits.

(1) Objection sustained. If an objection is sustained, sums deposited by the successful bidder will be returned to the bidder forthwith. The sum deposited by the objector will be applied to pay the fees and expenses incurred by the Marshal in keeping the property until it is resold, and any balance remaining shall be returned to the objector. The objector will be reimbursed for the expense of keeping the property from the proceeds of a subsequent sale.

(2) Objection overruled. If the objection is overruled, the sum deposited by the objector will be applied to pay the expense of keeping the property from the day the objection was filed until the day the sale is confirmed, and any balance remaining will be returned to the objector forthwith.

(k) Title to property. Failure of a party to give the required notice of the action and arrest of the vessel, cargo or other property or required notice of the sale may afford grounds for objecting to the sale but does not affect the title of a bona fide purchaser of the property without notice of the failure.

Rule 95.00. Release of seizures — Custodial cost — General bonds.

(a) Property seized by the Marshal may be released as follows:

(1) By the Marshal upon the receipt of security by the Marshal, accompanied by the endorsed express authorization for release signed by the party or counsel for the party as provided by Supplemental Rule E(5)(c), F.R.Civ.P. if all costs and charges of the court and its officers shall have first been paid. Monies received as part of any cash stipulation shall be delivered by the Marshal to the clerk for deposit in the registry of the court.

(2) In action entirely for a sum certain, by paying into the court the amount alleged in the complaint to be due, with interest at ten percent per annum thereon from the date claimed to be due to a date 24 months after the date the claim was filed, or by filing an approved stipulation for such alleged amount and interest. In either event, claim of the property shall be filed.

(3) In actions other than possessory, petitory, and partition, by filing, in addition to a claim of the property, an approved stipulation for the amount of the appraised or agreed value of the property seized, with interest (unless otherwise ordered by the court), interlocutory or final, and to pay the amount awarded by the final decree rendered by this court or by any appellate court, with interest.

(4) In possessory, petitory, and partition actions, only upon the order of the court, and on such security and terms as ordered.

(5) Upon the dismissal or discontinuance of the action or upon the written consent of the attorney for the party on whose behalf the property is detained, if all costs and charges of the court and its officers shall have first been paid.

(b) The Marshal shall not deliver any property so released until costs and charges of the Marshal shall first have been paid.

(c) In any general bond as provided for by Supplemental Rule E(5)(b), F.R.Civ.P. the vessel will be identified by name, nationality, dimension, official number or registration number, hailing port and port of documentation, to the extent applicable. The owner of such vessel shall also file complete designated United States address for communications to the owner or designated agent, which shall be by mail. Execution of process against the vessel so stayed under Supplemental Rule E(5)(b), F.R.Civ.P. shall be endorsed to the Marshal as stayed pursuant to the rule. Such process shall be served by the Marshal together with a copy of the complaint on the master or other person in whose charge or custody the vessel is found and the Marshal shall make his or her return thereof. If no master or other person in charge of custody is found aboard the vessel, the Marshal shall so make his or her return accordingly, and the clerk shall advise by mail the owner or designated agent, at the address furnished pursuant to this rule, of the nature of the action, any amount claimed, the plaintiff, the name and address of plaintiff's attorney, the case number, and the return day thirty days from the date of the Marshal's attempt. The clerk will maintain a current list of vessels subject to a general bond and file said bonds alphabetically by name of vessel and endorsed as provided by Supplemental Rule E(5)(b), F.R.Civ.P.

Rule 96.00. Taxation of costs.

If costs shall be awarded to either or any party, then the reasonable premium or expenses paid on all bonds or stipulations or other security by the party in whose favor such costs are allowed shall be taxed as a part of the costs of the case. In addition thereto, if costs shall be awarded to either or any party, then the reasonable expenses paid by a party incidental to or arising out of the attachment or arrest of any property in the proceedings or while said property is "in custodia legis" shall be taxed as a part of the costs of the case.

Rule 97.00. Stay of execution or of release of property after judgment or dismissal.

No execution of judgment shall issue nor shall seized property be released pursuant to judgment or order of dismissal, until ten days after its entry. Upon the filing of a motion for new trial or notice of appeal or motion to set aside default within said ten-day period, a further stay shall exist for a period not to exceed thirty days from the entry of judgment or dismissal to permit the entry of an order fixing the amount of a supersedeas bond and the filing of same.

Rule 98.00. Possessory actions — Short day return.

In all possessory actions upon special order of the court, process may be made returnable upon a short day. The answer shall be filed within such time as may be specifically ordered by the court, and a day of hearing then fixed, unless otherwise ordered. The hearing of possessory suits shall be given preference.

Rule 99.00. Claims after sale — How limited.

Claims upon the proceeds of sale of property under a final decree, except for seamen's wages, shall not be admitted in behalf of lienors who file their claims after the sale, to the prejudice of lienors who filed their claims before the sale, but shall be limited to remnants and surplus, unless for cause shown it shall be otherwise ordered.

IN RE:

LOCAL BANKRUPTCY RULES

ORDER

It appearing that local bankruptcy rules would facilitate the administration of bankruptcy cases in this district, and would assist the court in the management of contested matters and adversary proceedings; and

It further appearing that Bankruptcy Rule 9029 permits the United States District Court to authorize the bankruptcy judges to make rules of practice and procedure not inconsistent with the Official Bankruptcy Rules; and

It further appearing that by order of Chief United States District Judge W. Earl Britt, dated October 8, 1987, the bankruptcy judges of this district are authorized, subject to the requirements of Rule 83 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to make rules of practice and procedure not inconsistent with the Bankruptcy Rules, consistent with the authority of the district court to modify or abrogate any rules so adopted as appears appropriate. It further appearing that appropriate notice was given with an opportunity to comment; now therefore,

IT IS ORDERED that the bankruptcy rules attached hereto are hereby adopted and shall be referred to as Local Bankruptcy Rules, Eastern District of North Carolina, and shall be numbered in such a way as to refer to the Official Bankruptcy Rules.

Entered this 1st day of September, 1988.

Judge

PREFACE

The Local Bankruptcy Rules for the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina are adopted to facilitate the administration of bankruptcy cases, to assist the court in the management of contested matters and adversary proceedings and to provide for variations in the local practice in this court.

The numbering system for the Local Bankruptcy Rules is patterned after the Bankruptcy Rules which became effective August 1, 1983. Each local rule is keyed to an appropriate Bankruptcy Rule number and is numbered with a decimal to such Bankruptcy Rule number. For example, a local rule relating to Bankruptcy Rule 7001 will be numbered as Local Bankruptcy Rule No. 7001.1. This numbering system should facilitate the use of the local rules.

The Local Bankruptcy Rules will be cited as: "Local Bankruptcy Rule No. _____, EDNC".

PART I. COMMENCEMENT OF CASE; PROCEEDINGS RELATING TO PETITION AND ORDER FOR RELIEF

Rule 1002.1. Petition — General.

The required number of copies of petitions requesting relief under the Code is as follows:

- (1) Chapter 7 — original and one
- (2) Chapter 11 — original and five
- (3) Chapter 12 — original and two
- (4) Chapter 13 — original and one

Rule 1003.1. Involuntary petition.

The number of copies shall be as specified in Rule 1002.1.

Rule 1006.1. Fees — Installment payments.

(a) An application for permission to pay the filing fees in installments shall contain the following:

- (1) reasons why the debtor cannot pay the full fee at the time of filing;
- (2) a statement that the debtor's attorney has received no payment for fees and will accept none until the filing fees are paid in full;
- (3) a statement that the debtor does not owe any outstanding fees to the court on account of any other prior case;
- (4) signatures of both the debtor and the debtor's attorney.

(b) Following the filing of a petition and an application, each application will be reviewed by the court and an order entered granting or denying the application. Should the application be denied, the debtor shall have ten (10) days from the date of the order to pay the full fee. If the full fee is not paid within ten (10) days of the order, the petition may be dismissed by the court without any further prior notice.

(c) Final installments of the filing fee shall be paid within ten (10) days following the date first set for the meeting of creditors called pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 341, unless otherwise ordered by the court upon appropriate motion for extension and for cause shown.

(d) The debtor and the debtor's attorney are responsible for knowing the dates the payments are due. No reminders will be provided from the court of the due date. Upon failure to make any payment as scheduled, the petition is subject to dismissal after hearing on notice to the debtor and trustee.

Rule 1007.1. Lists, schedules and statements; Time limits.

(a) Schedules and statements required. In the instance of an accelerated chapter 11 case when the schedules and statements are not filed with the voluntary petition, a copy of the schedules and statements shall be filed within 15 days thereafter and served directly upon the bankruptcy administrator and the Internal Revenue Service. If the debtor is a corporation or limited partnership, then a copy of the schedules and statements shall be filed also within fifteen (15) days upon the following:

- (1) Securities & Exchange Commission

Branch of Reorganization

Suite 1000

3475 Lennox Road, N.E.

Atlanta, Georgia 30327-1323 or at the most current address on file with the clerk, and

(2) Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D.C. 20220

A certificate of service shall be attached to the original schedules and statements filed with the court reflecting that service has been made on each party.

(b) Twenty (20) largest unsecured creditors. The clerk of court is authorized to lodge for filing any voluntary chapter 11 reorganization petition that is not accompanied by the list of 20 largest unsecured creditors.

(c) Dismissal of case for failure to comply with Rule 1007(c) Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. In the event the schedules and statements are not filed with the petition in a voluntary case, they shall be filed within 15 days thereafter, unless a motion to extend the time for filing the schedules and statements is filed prior to the expiration of the 15 days. If the schedules and statements are not filed within 15 days of the filing of the petition and no motion to extend the time for filing is received by the clerk of court within the 15-day period, then the clerk of court may summarily dismiss the petition. A copy of this local rule shall be served on the debtor and his counsel at the time of the filing of a petition which is unaccompanied by the schedules and statements.

Rule 1007.2. Mailing — List or Matrix.

A petition requesting relief under chapters 7, 11, 12, or 13 shall be accompanied by a mailing matrix containing the complete mailing address, including zip code, for the following:

- (1) all creditors listed in the petition, alphabetically arranged;
- (2) Bankruptcy Administrator, Post Office Box 3758, Wilson, NC 27895-3758 or most current address, in chapters 7 and 11;
- (3) Internal Revenue Service, 320 Federal Place, ATTN: Special Procedures Staff, Greensboro, NC 27402 or the most current address on file with the clerk — except in chapters 7, 12 and 13 when the IRS is not listed as a creditor;
- (4) North Carolina Department of Revenue, Office Services Division, Bankruptcy Unit, Post Office Box 1168, Raleigh, NC 27602-1168 or the most current address on file with the clerk — except in chapters 7, 12 and 13 when the Department of Revenue is not listed as a creditor; and
- (5) Employment Security Commission, Post Office Box 26504, Raleigh, NC 27611 or the most current address on file with the clerk — except in chapters 7, 12 and 13 when the ESC is not listed as a creditor.
- (6) If the United States is a party, other than for taxes, the matrix should include the United States Attorney, 310 New Bern Avenue, Suite 800, Federal Building, Raleigh, NC 27601-1461 or the most current address on file with the clerk (EXAMPLE: FHA, FmHA, VA, SBA).

(7) If the debtor is a corporation, list the name, current mailing address, and title of each officer, director, insider, and managing executive.

(8) If the debtor is a partnership, list the name and current mailing address of each member of the partnership.

The matrix shall be prepared in the format approved by the clerk and its content shall be certified as accurate by the filing attorney or party. The party shall be responsible for any errors in or omissions from the listing.

Rule 1009.1. Amendments to Lists and Schedules.

Any amendment to a petition, list, schedule or statement shall be accompanied by a certificate of service in the form of a statement of the date and manner of service and of the names and addresses of the persons served and certified as correct by the person making the service.

Rule 1071.1. Divisions — Bankruptcy Court.

Divisions of the district. There shall be six divisions of the court. The headquarters of each division and the counties comprising each division are as follows:

Name of Division	Headquarters	Counties
Elizabeth City	Wilson	Bertie	Hertford
		Camden	Pasquotank
		Chowan	Perquimans

		Brunswick	New Hanover
		Columbus	Pender
Wilson	Wilson	Edgecombe	Northampton
		Greene	Wayne
		Halifax	Wilson
		Nash

Rule 1073.1. Assignment of Cases.

In accordance with the divisions established in Local Bankruptcy Rule 1071.1, the clerk shall assign all cases to a division when the case is filed. The place of filing shall be determined by the the debtor’s domicile, residence, principal place of business or location of the debtor’s principal assets immediately preceding the filing of the bankruptcy case. In cases involving an affiliate, a general partner or partnership, related cases may be filed in the division where the original case was filed.

In adversary proceedings when there is no pending bankruptcy case in this district, the division will be assigned at the discretion of the clerk.

PART II. OFFICERS AND ADMINISTRATION; NOTICES; MEETINGS; EXAMINATIONS; ELECTIONS;
ATTORNEYS AND ACCOUNTANTS

Rule 2002.1. Notice to creditors and other interested parties.

(a) Amended or supplemental schedules. The § 341 meeting will be scheduled and the clerk of court, or such other person as the clerk of court may designate, will notify the creditors listed on the matrix filed with the petition. If additional creditors are added either through schedules being filed after notice has been given or through amendments to the schedules, the debtor shall serve the § 341 notice on the creditors and file a certificate of service with the clerk of court within three (3) days after notice.

(b) Notice fee. The notice fee required pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1930 shall be collected by the clerk for each notice mailed by the office of the clerk of court only as required under Rule 2002(a), (b), (d), (e), (f) and (n), Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, in chapter 7 and 13 cases filed prior to December 1, 1992. In a chapter 7 case, the fee shall be payable from the estate and only to the extent there is an estate. In chapter 11, 12 and 13 cases, the fee shall be payable at confirmation pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(12), 11 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(2), and 11 U.S.C. § 1325(a)(2).

In the event a debtor files a request for conversion to another chapter or a voluntary dismissal, payment of the fee shall be a condition of the conversion or dismissal.

(c) Guide to service and notice requirements. The chart attached to these rules shall serve as a guide for the giving of notice to creditors and other parties in interest.

Rule 2003.1. Meeting of creditors and equity security holders.

(a) The bankruptcy administrator shall retain and preserve the taped recordings of the meeting of creditors required by 11 U.S.C. § 341(a) for a period of two years from the date of the meeting. After the expiration of two years from the date of the meeting, the bankruptcy administrator is authorized to erase or otherwise destroy the taped recordings.

(b) Upon the request of any entity, the bankruptcy administrator may certify and provide a copy of the recording of the meeting of creditors at the entity's expense.

Rule 2014.1. Employment of professional persons.

The chapter 11 debtor may not employ any professional person including but not limited to any attorney, accountant, appraiser, business consultant, broker, agent, or auctioneer without first obtaining approval of the court.

Rule 2015.1. Duty of trustee or debtor in possession to keep records, make reports, and give notice of case.

The standing chapter 13 trustees are authorized to charge a search fee when answering inquiries which require a search of the records for each name or item searched in the amount established under 28 U.S.C. § 1930(b), and to use the funds as a part of operating expenses. The trustees shall include in the chapter 13 trustee's annual report the amount of any search fees received.

Rule 2015.2. Duty of Chapters 7 and 11 trustee to give notice.

The chapters 7 and 11 trustee shall prepare and mail notices required under Rule 2002(a)(2), (3), (4), (7) and Rule 2002(f)(3) and (9), Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

The trustee shall provide 15 days notice to creditors and other parties in interest within which to object to any proposed use, sale or lease of property under Rule 6004(b), Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. The trustee shall prepare and file with the clerk of court within three (3) days thereafter a certificate of service showing when and to whom the notices were mailed.

Rule 2015.5. Trustees — Chapter 13 search fees.

The standing chapter 13 trustees are authorized to charge a search fee when answering inquiries which require a search of the records for each name or item searched in the amount established under 28 U.S.C. § 1930(b), and to use the funds as a part of operating expenses. The trustees shall include in the chapter 13 trustee's annual report the amount of any search fees received.

Rule 2070.1. Estate administration — Deposit of estate funds pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 345: Reporting requirements and collateralization of deposits exceeding $100,000.00.

(a) Initial deposit reports. Promptly after making the initial deposit or investment of the estate's funds, the trustee or the debtor in possession shall file a report with the bankruptcy administrator that identifies the depository or describes the investment and states the amount of any deposit or investment.

(b) Reports required from entities holding estate funds.

(1) An entity with which estate funds have been deposited or invested shall file a monthly report with the bankruptcy administrator in a format prescribed by the bankruptcy administrator indicating the amount credited to each bankruptcy estate account as of the date of the report.

(2) Whenever the total of deposited or invested estate funds not insured or guaranteed by the United States or backed by the full faith and credit of the United States reaches 95 percent of the amount of the bond or securities posted, the entity with which such funds are deposited or invested shall file a written statement with the bankruptcy administrator setting forth the total amount of such deposits not so insured, guaranteed or backed by the full faith and credit of the United States and the amount of the existing bond or securities.

(3) In the event that an entity holding estate funds fails to comply with the reporting requirements set forth in this rule, the bankruptcy administrator may direct the debtor in possession or the trustee to immediately withdraw all funds on deposit or invested with the entity with all interest payable thereon.

(c) Collateralization of deposits.

(1) If the monies of an estate which are on deposit exceed $100,000, or such other amount as may be insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the depository must post a bond or deposit securities of the kind specified in 31 U.S.C. § 9303 for any amount in excess of $100,000 with the Federal Reserve Bank. Court approval of the bond or deposit of securities must be obtained for a deposit or investment for which a bond is required under § 345(b) of the Code.

(2) Securities accepted for deposit in lieu of a surety on a depository bond shall be deposited in the custody of the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond or such other branch as may be approved by the bankruptcy administrator.

(3) Upon deposit of securities by the depository with the Federal Reserve Bank, a copy of the document evidencing the deposit shall be transmitted to the bankruptcy administrator.

(d) Deficiency in amount of bond or deposited securities. Whenever the bond and any deposited securities do not or will not constitute adequate security because of existing and expected deposits or investments, the depository or entity with which an investment is made shall increase the amount of the bond or the deposited securities within a time fixed by the bankruptcy administrator. If, within the time fixed, the depository or entity with which an investment is made fails to increase the amount of the bond or the deposited securities to an amount adequate for existing and expected deposits or investments, the bankruptcy administrator may direct the trustee or debtor in possession to withdraw all funds on deposit or invested with the entity together with all interest payable thereon.

PART III. CLAIMS AND DISTRIBUTION TO CREDITORS AND EQUITY INTEREST HOLDERS; PLANS

Rule 3002.1. Filing proof of claim or interest.

(a) In chapters 7 and 11 cases, all claims shall be filed with the clerk of court in accordance with Rule 5005, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

(b) In chapter 12 and 13 cases, all claims shall be filed with the appropriate standing trustee as provided in Local Bankruptcy Rule No. 5005.1, Eastern District of North Carolina.

Rule 3003.1. Filing proof of claim or equity security interest in Chapter 9 municipality or Chapter 11 reorganization cases.

The debtor shall notify each creditor whose claim is scheduled as contingent, disputed, or unliquidated of that fact within fifteen (15) days after filing the schedule of assets and liabilities or within fifteen (15) days after addition of any creditors to the petition. Failure to notify a creditor that its claim is listed as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated shall result in the creditor's claim being deemed filed in the amount listed as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, as though a proof of claim had been filed by the creditor. The debtor shall file a certificate of service with the clerk of court within three (3) days after service has been made.

CASE NOTES

Applicability to Divorce Action. — Where debtor listed pending divorce action against spouse appellee as a “chase in action” under the asset schedule, listing the value as “undetermined,” and where debtor did not schedule spouse as a creditor, but did place her name and address on the original mailing matrix, appellee was not aware that her marital rights were being extinguished and, therefore, was not bound by the confirmed Chapter 11 plan. Hoffman v. Hoffman, 157 Bankr. 580 (E.D.N.C. 1992), aff’d, 998 Bankr. 1009 (1993).

Rule 3003.2. Time for filing claims in a Chapter 11 case.

In a chapter 11 case, a proof of claim shall be filed within ninety (90) days after the date first set for the meeting of creditors called pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 341(a) of the Code, except as otherwise extended by order of the court.

Rule 3010.1. Payments to creditors in Chapter 13 individual's debt adjustment cases.

Rule 3010(b), Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, is amended to the extent that standing chapter 13 trustees are authorized to make payments to creditors in amounts smaller than $15.00 without waiting until that creditor's dividends accumulate to $15.00. The decision as to whether to make smaller payments shall be solely in the discretion of the trustee as to what is in the best interest of the individual estate.

Rule 3012.1. Valuation of security.

After notice, a chapter 13 trustee may recommend the value of a creditor's security at the § 341 meeting and, unless an objection is filed within twenty

(20) days after notice of the recommendation, the court may accept the recommendation of value for the purpose of distribution under the plan.

Rule 3017.1. Notices required to be sent by Chapter 11 debtors.

The debtor in possession in a chapter 11 case shall be responsible for mailing the following notices and documents to creditors, after having their form and content approved by the clerk of court, and for filing a certificate of mailing with the clerk of court within three (3) days of the date of the mailing:

- (1) notice of the meeting of creditors;
- (2) notice of the hearing on disclosure statement;
- (3) the plan, approved disclosure statement and the notice regarding balloting and date for hearing on confirmation;
- (4) confirmation order; and
- (5) any other notices as the court or clerk of court shall direct in a particular matter.

PART IV. THE DEBTOR: DUTIES AND BENEFITS

Rule 4001.1. Automatic stay — Relief from.

Standing modification of the automatic stay. The automatic stay provided in 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) is modified in bankruptcy cases as follows:

- (a) In chapter 13 cases, affected secured creditors may:
  - (1) contact the debtor about the status of insurance coverage on property used as collateral;
  - (2) if there are direct payments to creditors, contact the debtor about any payment in default.
- (b) In chapter 11 and 12 cases, the Internal Revenue Service and the North Carolina Department of Revenue may contact the debtor or the trustee and the debtor's depository to verify that all required tax deposits are being made and reported and that all tax returns are being filed and remittances paid in the manner prescribed by law. The debtor or trustee and the debtor's designated depository shall assist the Internal Revenue Service and the North Carolina Department of Revenue with the monitoring and verification of the provisions of this rule.
- (c) In chapters 7 and 13 cases, the Internal Revenue Services is authorized:
  - (1) to make income tax refunds, in the ordinary course of business, directly to the chapter 7 and 13 debtors unless otherwise ordered by the court or otherwise instructed by the chapter 7 trustee or the standing chapter 13 trustee;
  - (2) to offset against any refund due a debtor any taxes due the United States government;
  - (3) to assess any tax liability satisfied by offsetting any refunds, when such liability has not been assessed previously;
  - (4) to assess tax liabilities shown on voluntarily filed returns and other agreed-to liabilities.

Rule 4002.1. Debtor duties.

(a) The debtor filing a petition requesting relief under chapter 7 of the Code shall comply with the following:

- (1) Statement of intention. A chapter 7 debtor who is required to file a statement of intention pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 521(2)(A) shall serve a copy of the statement upon the creditor whose claim is secured by the property which is the subject of the statement. The debtor shall file a certificate of service with the clerk of court within three (3) days of the filing of the statement.

(2) Failure to perform statement of intention. If a chapter 7 debtor should fail to perform the intention as required by 11 U.S.C. § 521(2)(B), the court may, upon motion of the affected creditor, ex parte order the lifting of the stay of 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) and order the debtor to turn over the property to such creditor.

(b) Duties of chapter 11 debtor in possession.

(1) The debtor shall:

(A) Monthly report. File with the bankruptcy administrator monthly accountings, the first report being due within thirty (30) days after the filing of the petition and subsequent reports on or before the fifteenth day of each month thereafter. The debtor shall serve a copy of all monthly reports on the attorney and the chairman for the unsecured creditors committee. Such report shall be in a format prescribed by the bankruptcy administrator.

(B) Books of account. Close the present books of account as of the close of business on the date on which the petition is filed and shall open new books of account and a bank account in a court approved depository as of the opening of business on the next succeeding business day. In the new books of account, the debtor shall keep proper records of earnings, expenses, receipts and disbursements, and all obligations incurred and business transactions. The debtor shall preserve proper vouchers for all payments made on account of the disbursements. If the debtor is authorized to sue cash collateral, separate cash collateral accounts must be established and maintained pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 363(c)(4).

(C) Proof of insurance coverage. Keep the property of the debtor insured in a manner and to the extent as may be deemed necessary and prudent with loss payable clauses, in the case of pledged or mortgaged property, in favor of the appropriate secured creditors as their interests may appear. Within five (5) days of the filing of the petition, the debtor shall file with the bankruptcy administrator a verified statement or written evidence that worker's compensation, general liability, fire, theft and motor vehicle insurance are in full force and effect, together with all other insurance coverage ordinarily used in the debtor's operations.

(D) Tax accounts. Segregate and hold separate from all other funds, all monies withheld from employees or collected from others for taxes, including social security taxes, under any law of the United States or any state or subdivision thereof. The debtor shall deposit the funds so withheld or collected, together with the debtor's share of social security taxes in a separate bank account simultaneously with the collection or withholding. The debtor shall pay from the bank account to the appropriate taxing authority the amounts due at the times and in the manner prescribed by law.

(E) Banking institution. Advise the bankruptcy administrator, within ten (10) days of the filing of the petition, of the name of the bank to be used as the debtor's depository.

(F) Filing of plan and disclosure statement. File a plan or reorganization and a disclosure statement within one hundred twenty (120) days of the date of the filing of the petition commencing the case, unless otherwise ordered.

(G) Physical inventory. Procure a physical inventory, if applicable, upon the filing of the petition and file the inventory with the bankruptcy administrator within thirty (30) days of the filing of the petition or such other time as the court may direct.

(H) Projected operating statement. File with the bankruptcy administrator, within ten (10) business days of the filing of the petition commencing the case, a projected operating statement for the next thirty (30) days of operation under chapter 11. The statement must contain:

- (i) The estimated costs of operation for the next succeeding thirty (30) days;
- (ii) The estimated profit or loss for the period;
- (iii) The amount of cash available for the operation;

(iv) How the debtor intends to fund the cost of operation for the next thirty (30) days; and

(v) Any other and additional information that is pertinent to determine the desirability of continuing the debtor's business.

(I) Relationship with secured creditors and unsecured creditors committee. promptly respond to reasonable inquiries of secured creditors, the unsecured creditors committee, and any court appointed consultant.

(2) The debtor shall not:

(A) Payment to professionals. prior to confirmation of a plan of reorganization, compensate or remunerate itself, or any of its partners, officers, directors or shareholders in any manner without prior approval of the court. Any application for approval of compensation should set forth the name and proposed position of the individual sought to be employed along with a detailed description of the duties the individual is to perform, the number of hours each week the individual will devote to those duties and the reasons why the employment of the individual is necessary to the successful reorganization of the debtor. Also, the application should set forth the amount of compensation sought on a weekly or monthly basis and disclose all perquisites, benefits and consideration of any kind the individual is to receive, e.g., use of company vehicles, payment of life or health insurance premiums, reimbursement of expenses. The salary history of the individual for the year immediately preceding the filing of the petition shall be disclosed. The application shall be signed under oath. The court may reconsider applications to compensate principals sua sponte or at the request of the bankruptcy administrator, any creditor or other party in interest.

(B) Payment of prepetition debt. pay prepetition unsecured debt without approval of the court.

(c) Duties of chapter 12 debtor.

(1) The debtor shall:

(A) Monthly reports. file with the chapter 12 trustee monthly reports, the first report being due within thirty (30) days after the petition is filed. Subsequent reports are due no later than the fifteenth day of each month thereafter. The reports shall contain:

- (i) monthly receipts from every source;
- (ii) monthly disbursements by accounting classification;
- (iii) expenses charged and not paid;
- (iv) crop inventory (if applicable);
- (v) livestock inventory (if applicable);
- (vi) tax deposit statement (if applicable).

(B) Books of account. close the present books of account as of the close of business on the date on which the petition is filed and open new books of account and a bank account as of the opening of business on the next succeeding business day. In the new books of account, the debtor shall keep proper records of earnings, expenses, receipts, disbursements, and all obligations incurred and transactions had in the operation of the business. The debtor shall preserve proper vouchers for all payments made on account of the disbursements.

(C) Proof of insurance coverage. keep the property of the debtor insured in a manner and to the extent as may be deemed necessary with loss payable clauses, in the case of pledged or mortgaged property, in favor of the appropriate secured creditors as their interests may appear.

(D) Tax accounts. segregate and hold separate and apart from all other funds, all monies withheld from employees or collected from others for taxes, including social security taxes, under any law of the United States or any state or subdivision thereof. The debtor shall deposit the funds so withheld or collected, together with the debtor's share of social security taxes, in a separate bank account simultaneously with the collection or withholding. The debtor shall pay from the bank account to the appropriate taxing authorities the amounts due at the times and in the manner prescribed by law.

(E) Banking institution. advise the bankruptcy administrator within ten (10) days of the filing of the petition commencing the case under chapter 12 the name of the bank to be used as the debtor's depository.

(F) Filing of plan. file a plan of reorganization within ninety (90) days of the filing of the petition pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1221.

(G) Relationship with creditors. promptly respond to reasonable inquiries of creditors.

(2) The debtor shall not:

(A) Payments to principals. prior to confirmation of a plan of reorganization, compensate or remunerate itself or any of its partners, officers, directors or shareholders in any manner without prior approval of the court. Any application for approval of compensation should set forth the name and proposed position of the individual sought to be employed along with a detailed description of the duties the individual is to perform, the number of hours each week the individual will devote to those duties and the reasons why employment of the individual is necessary to the successful reorganization of the debtor. Also, the application should set forth the amount of compensation sought on a weekly or monthly basis and disclose all perquisites, benefits and consideration of any kind the individual is to receive, e.g., use of company vehicles, payment of life or health insurance premiums, reimbursement of expenses. The salary history of the individual for the year immediately preceding the filing of the petition shall be disclosed. The application shall be signed under oath.

(B) Payment of prepetition debt. pay prepetition unsecured debt without approval of the court.

(d) Duties of chapter 13 debtor. The debtor filing a petition requesting relief under chapter 13 of the Code shall comply with the following:

(1) Payments under plan. The debtor shall begin making the payments called for in the proposed plan on the first day of the first month following the month in which the chapter 13 case is filed. The payments shall be made directly to the standing chapter 13 trustee.

(2) Direct payments to creditors. If secured claims are to be paid outside the plan, the debtor must continue to make the regular scheduled payments to the secured creditor prior to confirmation.

(3) Disposition of property. The debtor shall not dispose of any property by sale or otherwise without prior approval of the trustee and an order of the court.

(4) Obtaining credit. The debtor shall not purchase additional property or incur additional debt for more than $5,000 without prior approval from the court. The debtor must give notice of the application to purchase additional property or to incur additional debt to the chapter 13 trustee who must respond within 5 days of receipt of the notice. If no objection is filed, the court may approve the application without a hearing.

(5) Adequate protection. When a case is dismissed prior to confirmation, the court may require the debtor to provide adequate protection to one or more secured creditors by directing the chapter 13 trustee to make adequate protection payments from funds received under paragraph (d)(1) of this rule.

(6) Collision insurance. If the collision insurance coverage lapses on a vehicle subject to a secured claim, the debtor shall immediately refrain from driving the vehicle.

		Harnett	Warren
		Johnston
Wilmington	Wilson	Bladen	Duplin
		Brunswick	New Hanover
		Columbus	Pender
Wilson	Wilson	Edgecombe	Northampton
		Greene	Wayne
		Halifax	Wilson
		Nash

(c) Assignment of cases to a division. The clerk shall assign all cases and proceedings to a division when the action is filed or removed. The place of filing shall be determined by the debtor's domicile, residence, principal place of business or location of the debtor's principal assets immediately preceding the filing of the bankruptcy case. In cases involving an affiliate, a general partner or partnership, related cases may be filed in the division where the original case was filed.

In adversary proceedings when there is no pending bankruptcy case in this district, the division will be assigned in the discretion of the clerk. (Amended effective January 2, 1992.)

Rule 5003.1. Duties of the clerk.

Orders and judgments. The clerk of court is authorized to enter the orders and judgments listed below without further direction of the court. However, such action may be suspended, altered or rescinded by the court for cause shown:

- (1) consent orders for the substitution of attorneys;
- (2) orders setting status conferences and preliminary conferences;

- (3) orders extending for a reasonable amount of time the period within which to file a response or answer to a complaint (first request only);
- (4) orders continuing trial with consent of all parties;
- (5) stipulations of dismissal or consent orders dismissing a proceeding;
- (6) judgments by default as provided for in Rule 55(a) and 55(b)(1), Federal Rules of Civil Procedure; and
- (7) orders canceling liability on bonds.

Rule 5005.1. Filing papers — Requirements.

(a) Claims. In chapter 12 and 13 cases, proofs of claim shall be filed directly with the appropriate standing trustee to whom the case is assigned. The address of the proper standing trustee will be shown on the notice of the meeting of creditors. Claims will be dated and stamped as “received” as of the date they arrive in the office of the trustee, and the claim shall be deemed filed with the court as of that date.

The staff of the standing chapter 12 and 13 trustee shall prepare a claims register for each case referred to that trustee and the claims register shall be transferred to the clerk of court and made a part of the permanent record at the closing of the case, together with the original claims.

(b) Papers filed with the clerk. All pleadings (including but not limited to complaints, answers, motions and applications) and all proposed orders shall be tendered by the party submitting the documents to the clerk of court, rather than directly to the judge unless otherwise specifically directed. The clerk of court shall first accomplish any necessary processing of the document before the document is forwarded to any judge of this court for consideration.

(c) Filing by facsimile.

(1) Filing. The following documents may be filed by facsimile transmission to the clerk.

(A) motions for a continuance stipulated to by all parties;

(B) withdrawal of motions that are scheduled for hearing; and

(C) any other filings allowed by the court.

(2) Faxed document serves as original. A document filed by facsimile serves as an original, and subjects the signer to the same penalties as an original document, including penalties of Rule 9011, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

Rule 5008.1. Deposit of estate funds pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 345: Reporting requirements and collateralization of deposits exceeding $100,000.00.

(a) Initial deposit reports. Promptly after making the initial deposit or investment of the estate’s funds, the trustee or the debtor in possession shall file a report with the bankruptcy administrator that identifies the depository or describes the investment and states the amount of any deposit or investment.

(b) Reports required from entities holding estate funds.

(1) An entity with which estate funds have been deposited or invested shall file a monthly report with the bankruptcy administrator in a format prescribed by the bankruptcy administrator indicating the amount credited to each bankruptcy estate account as of the date of the report.

(2) Whenever the total of deposited or invested estate funds not insured or guaranteed by the United States or backed by the full faith and credit of the United States reaches 95 percent of the amount of the bond or securities posted, the entity with which such funds are deposited or invested shall file a written statement with the bankruptcy administrator setting forth the total amount of such deposits not so insured, guaranteed or backed by the full faith and credit of the United States and the amount of the existing bond or securities.

(3) In the event that an entity holding estate funds fails to comply with the reporting requirements set forth in this rule, the bankruptcy administrator may direct the debtor in possession or the trustee to immediately withdraw all funds on deposit or invested with the entity with all interest payable thereon.

(c) Collateralization of deposits.

(1) If the monies of an estate which are on deposit exceed $100,000, or such other amount as may be insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the depository must post a bond or deposit securities of the kind specified in 31 U.S.C. § 9303 for any amount in excess of $100,000 with the Federal Reserve Bank. Court approval of the bond or deposit of securities must be obtained for a deposit or investment for which a bond is required under § 345(b) of the Code.

(2) Securities accepted for deposit in lieu of a surety on a depository bond shall be deposited in the custody of the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond or such other branch as may be approved by the bankruptcy administrator.

(3) Upon deposit of securities by the depository with the Federal Reserve Bank, a copy of the document evidencing the deposit shall be transmitted to the bankruptcy administrator.

(d) Deficiency in amount of bond or deposited securities. Whenever the bond and any deposited securities do not or will not constitute adequate security because of existing and expected deposits or investments, the depository or entity with which an investment is made shall increase the amount of the bond or the deposited securities within a time fixed by the bankruptcy administrator. If, within the time fixed, the depository or entity with which an investment is made fails to increase the amount of the bond or the deposited securities to an amount adequate for existing and expected deposits or investments, the bankruptcy administrator may direct the trustee or debtor in possession to withdraw all funds on deposit or invested with the entity together with all interest payable thereon.

PART VI. COLLECTION AND LIQUIDATION OF THE ESTATE

Rule 6005.1. Appraisers and auctioneers.

(a) Employment of auctioneer without application to the court. In a chapter 7 case where the gross sales proceeds of an auction conducted pursuant to this rule are reasonably anticipated by the trustee to be less than $50,000, the trustee may elect to employ an auctioneer without application to the court and shall be authorized without application to the court to pay the auctioneer a commission of fifteen percent (15%) of gross sales inclusive of all expenses of the auction, which are to be paid from the auctioneer's commission.

(b) Conditions precedent to employment. The trustee may employ and compensate an auctioneer without application to the court on the basis set out in (a) above only if the following conditions are satisfied in advance:

(1) the auctioneer to be employed under (a) above must have been employed in a chapter 7 case in this district as an auctioneer by order of this court within the prior twelve months;

(2) the auctioneer must be licensed and in good standing with the North Carolina Auctioneer's Commission consistent with North Carolina General Statute Section 85-B-3 and 4;

(3) the auctioneer must execute and deliver to the trustee the same affidavit that would be required in support of an application for employment of auctioneer otherwise filed with the court;

(4) the auctioneer must not have been censured or suspended by the bankruptcy administrator; and

(5) the affidavit executed by the auctioneer must affirmatively set out compliance with the conditions of (2) and (4) above.

The trustee shall be entitled to rely on the truth and accuracy of the affidavit submitted by the auctioneer.

(c) Report by trustee. The trustee shall prepare a report of sale that includes a report of such fees paid to the auctioneer, and shall be accompanied by the auctioneer's affidavit. The trustee shall file such report of sale with the clerk and serve copies on the bankruptcy administrator.

(d) Report by auctioneer. An auctioneer employed to conduct a sale on behalf of the bankruptcy estate shall file a report of sale following the conclusion of any sale within the time and in the format as prescribed by the bankruptcy administrator.

PART VII. ADVERSARY PROCEEDINGS

Rule 7003.1. Commencement of an adversary proceeding.

All complaints initiating adversary proceedings in bankruptcy cases shall be accompanied by an Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet (Form B 104), conforming substantially to Form No. 4 contained in these rules, which has been completed fully by the plaintiff.

Rule 7012.1. Motions in adversary proceedings.

(a) General requirements. All motions shall state with particularity the facts supporting the motion and shall state the relief requested. All motions, except those seeking a shortening or extension of any time period, shall be filed with an accompanying memorandum.

(b) Responses to motions. Any party may file a written response to any motion within twenty (20) days after service of the motion in question unless otherwise ordered by the court or prescribed by the applicable rules of bankruptcy procedure. The response may be a memorandum and may be accompanied by affidavits or other supporting documents. When the response is not a memorandum, the written response shall be accompanied by a supporting memorandum. In the event no response is filed, the court may proceed to rule on the motion.

(c) Hearings on motions. Hearings on motions may be ordered by the court in its discretion.

Rule 7016.1. Preliminary conference.

(a) Scheduling and notice. A preliminary conference may be scheduled at the discretion of the court. The clerk of court shall give at least twenty (20) days notice of the conference.

(b) Preparation by counsel for preliminary conference. Counsel shall be prepared to discuss at the conference the following:

(1) the issues raised by the pleadings;

(2) issues concerning jurisdiction, venue, or the authority of the bankruptcy court;

(3) whether the parties, if the proceeding is a non-core proceeding, have consented to the bankruptcy judge hearing and determining the proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(c)(2);

(4) the disposition of pending motions;

(5) the necessity, desirability, and timing of amendments to pleadings, joinder of additional parties, the filing of additional motions and discovery;

- (6) the possibility of settlement;
- (7) the need for additional pre-trial conferences;
- (8) the timing and form of disclosures under Bankruptcy Rule 7026(a)(1), (as amended December 1, 1993), including a statement of when disclosures under (a)(1) were made or should be made;
- (9) changes that should be made in the limitations on discovery imposed by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (as amended December 1, 1993); and
- (10) whether use of expert witnesses is contemplated, and if so, whether and when the disclosure of expert information as required by Bankruptcy Rule 7026(a)(2) should be required.

(c) Preliminary conference report. At least one week prior to the preliminary conference, counsel shall file with the clerk of court a joint report containing information concerning all the items to be discussed at the preliminary conference (see paragraph (b) of this rule).

(d) Disclosures. Unless counsel agree to disclosures at an earlier date, disclosures required to be made by Rule 7026(a) and (b) shall be made at the time and under the circumstances directed by the court in the scheduling order entered after receipt of the preliminary conference report.

Rule 7016.2. Final pre-trial conference.

(a) Scheduling and notice. A final pre-trial conference shall be scheduled at the discretion of the court. The clerk of court shall give at least thirty (30) days notice of the conference.

(b) Preparation by counsel for final pre-trial conference. At least ten (10) days prior to the final pre-trial conference, trial counsel for each of the parties shall confer and prepare a proposed final pre-trial order. In the event no pre-trial conference is scheduled, counsel shall confer, prepare and submit a proposed final pre-trial order to the court no later than ten days prior to the scheduled trial. It shall be the duty of the counsel for the plaintiff to arrange for this conference. The conference of attorneys shall be held in a mutually agreeable location or may be conducted by telephone conference. Each counsel shall bring to the conference or be responsible for the exchange of copies of exhibits to be introduced into evidence, lists of witnesses to be called and designations of discovery material to be used at the trial. The disclosure of witnesses and exhibits under this section supersedes the requirements of timing and format otherwise required by Bankruptcy Rule 7026(a)(3).

(c) Pre-trial order. The pre-trial order shall be prepared in one sequential document without reference to attached exhibits/or schedules and shall contain the following in five separate sections, numbered by Roman numerals, as indicated:

(1) I. Stipulations. Stipulations covering jurisdiction, joinder, capacity of the parties, all relevant and material facts, legal issues and factual issues.

(2) II. Contentions. Contentions covering matters on which the parties have been unable to stipulate, including jurisdiction, misjoinder, capacity of the parties, relevant and material facts, legal issues and factual issues. Claims and defenses as to which no contentions are listed in the pre-trial order are deemed abandoned.

(3) III. Exhibits. A list of exhibits that each party may offer at trial, including any map or diagram, numbered sequentially, which numbers shall remain the same throughout all further proceedings. Copies of all exhibits shall be provided to opposing counsel not later than the attorney conference provided for in Rule 7016.2(b). The court may excuse the copying of large maps or other exhibits. Except as otherwise indicated in the pre-trial order, it will be deemed that all parties stipulate that all exhibits are authentic and may be admitted into evidence without further identification or proof. Grounds for objection as to authenticity or admissibility must be set forth in the pre-trial order.

(4) IV. Designation of pleadings and discovery materials. The designation of all portions of pleadings and discovery materials, including depositions, interrogatories and request for admissions that each party may offer at trial by reference to document, volume, page number, and line. Objection by opposing counsel shall be noted by document, volume, page number and line, and reasons for such objections shall be stated.

(5) V. Witnesses. A list of the names and addresses of all witnesses each party may offer at trial, together with a brief statement of what counsel proposes to establish by their testimony.

(d) Pre-trial conference.

(1) Purpose. To resolve any disputes concerning the contents of the pre-trial order.

(2) Counsel shall be prepared to present to the court all necessary information and documentation necessary for completion of the pre-trial order. Failure to do so shall result in the sanctions provided by this rule.

(3) Sanctions. Rule 16(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure which provides for sanctions if a party or party's attorney fails to obey a scheduling or pre-trial order, or if no appearance is made on behalf of a party at a scheduling or pre-trial conference, or if a party or party's attorney is substantially unprepared to participate in the conference, or if a party or party's attorney fails to participate in good faith, is applicable to adversary proceedings pursuant to Rule 7016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

(4) Form of pre-trial order. A pre-trial order should be submitted in detail sufficient to comply with these rules. A sample pre-trial order is shown as Exhibit A of these rules.

Rule 7016.3. Trials.

(a) Opening statements. At the beginning of the trial, each party (beginning with the party having the burden of proof on the first issue) shall, without argument and in such reasonable time as the court allows, state to the court the following:

(1) the substance of the claim, counterclaim, crossclaim or defense; and

(2) what counsel contends the evidence will show. Parties not having the burden of proof on the first issue may elect to make an opening statement immediately prior to presenting evidence, rather than at the beginning of the trial.

(b) Witnesses. Counsel may not release a person from a subpoena without notice to opposing counsel and leave of court. A party objecting to the release of a person shall bear all costs incident to the person which arise subsequent to the request for release. The court, in its discretion and in the interest of justice, may permit a party to call and examine a witness not listed in the final pre-trial order.

(c) Exhibits.

(1) All exhibits shall be pre-marked with stickers obtained from the office of the clerk of court with the sequential numbers as listed in the pre-trial order.

(2) Copies of all exhibits, properly bound, shall be provided to the court at the beginning of the trial.

(3) The original exhibit shall bear a sticker. After receipt into evidence, it shall remain in the custody of the courtroom deputy, except when being used by a witness.

(4) Copies of all exhibits shall bear the photostatic image of the sticker or a typed or printed reproduction thereof.

(5) Upon presentation of an exhibit to a witness, counsel shall announce to the court the exhibit number. The exhibit shall not be handed to opposing counsel. Should opposing counsel contend that a copy has not been provided or that the exhibit has been lost or misplaced, it shall be brought to the attention of the court.

(d) Closing argument. The court will set the times for closing argument after consultation with parties. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the party with the burden of proof shall open and close the arguments. The opening argument may not be waived.

Rule 7026.1. General provisions governing discovery.

Transcripts of depositions upon oral examination and interrogatories, requests for production of documents, requests for admissions, and answers and responses thereto are not to be filed unless by order of the court or for use in the proceeding. All such papers must be served on other counsel or parties entitled to service of papers filed with the clerk of court. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court if needed or so ordered.

Rule 7041.1. Dismissal of actions for lack of prosecution.

Except where a complaint objecting to a discharge has been filed, an adversary proceeding may be dismissed by the court for lack of prosecution as follows:

(1) where no service of process has been made and certified to the court within thirty (30) days after the filing of the complaint; or

(2) where no responsive pleadings have been filed and plaintiff has not moved for entry of default within thirty (30) days after the time for filing responsive pleadings has expired.

Dismissal under this local rule shall be without prejudice unless the delay has resulted in prejudice to an opposing party.

Rule 7067.1. Deposit in court.

In the event a depository intended by the court to receive registry funds is not able, immediately upon the court's receipt of the registry funds, to pledge sufficient collateral for receipt of those funds, the funds may be retained temporarily in non-interest bearing U. S. Treasury accounts as necessary to arrange for their deposit in interest-bearing accounts.

CASE NO.: 86-02272-MN4

ADVERSARY PROCEEDING NO.:
M-86-0078-AP

FINAL PRE-TRIAL ORDER

DATE OF CONFERENCE: May 5, 1986

Appearance: John Y. Lawyer, Raleigh, North Carolina, for plaintiff; Sam X. Attorney, Fayetteville, North Carolina, for defendant.

I. STIPULATIONS

- A. All parties are properly before the court.
- B. The court has jurisdiction of the parties and of the subject matter.
- C. This is a core proceeding, or in the alternative, both parties have consented to hearing by the bankruptcy court.
- D. All parties have been correctly designated.
- E. There is no question as to misjoinder or nonjoinder of parties.
- F. Facts:

1. Plaintiff is a New York Corporation, licensed to do business and doing business in the State of North Carolina.

2. Defendant is a citizen of Wake County, North Carolina.

G. Legal Issues: The legal issue is whether the debt owed by the defendant to the plaintiff is nondischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2)(B).

H. Factual Issues:

1. Did the defendant receive money, property, services, or an extension, renewal, or refinancing of credit through the use of a statement in writing that was materially false?

2. Did the written statement relate to the defendant's or an insider's financial condition?

3. Did the plaintiff reasonably rely on the written statement?

4. Did the defendant make or publish the written statement with the intent to deceive plaintiff?

II. CONTENTIONS

A. Plaintiff

1. Facts:

(a) Plaintiff loaned defendant $XXX,XXX.XX based on written property appraisals that defendant had falsified materially.

(b) The written appraisals were on real property owned by the defendant.

(c) Plaintiff had no factual reason not to accept the appraisal and, therefore, reasonably relied on the appraisal.

EASTERN DISTRICT BANKRUPTCY RULES

(d) Defendant had the appraisal done simply for its use in obtaining the loan from plaintiff.

2. Law:

(a) The falsified property appraisal used by the defendant in obtaining a loan from the plaintiff has created a nondischargeable debt under 11 U.S.C. § 523(A)(2)(B).

B. Defendant

1. Facts:

(a) Defendant did not falsify the property appraisals he used in obtaining the loan from the plaintiff.

(b) Plaintiff is experienced as a commercial lender in the area and has made loans on property appraisals for 50 years.

(c) Defendant had the appraisal done at the plaintiff's request.

2. Law:

(a) The loan from plaintiff was not obtained through the use of a false appraisal and, therefore, the debt is dischargeable.

PART VIII. APPEALS TO DISTRICT COURT OR BANKRUPTCY APPELLATE PANEL

[Reserved]

PART IX. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Rule 9004.1. General requirements of form; Number of copies of other documents.

- (a) Caption. All pleadings, motions, discovery procedures, memoranda and other papers filed with the clerk or the court shall state the court and division in which the action is pending.
- (b) Number of copies of other documents. The number of documents required to be filed with the clerk of court other than those provided for in the rules of bankruptcy procedure or local bankruptcy rules is as follows:
- (1) any person requesting filed copies of documents for his office records must submit copies, in addition to those called for in the rules of bankruptcy procedure or local bankruptcy rules, together with a stamped, self-addressed envelope;
  - (2) any order or judgment that is tendered to the court for consideration shall have attached a sufficient number of copies for service on all parties required to receive notice of the order or judgment. Orders tendered without sufficient copies may not be considered until the required number of copies has been tendered;
  - (3) application for compensation .... original plus one;
  - (4) motions, applications, answers, responses and other general pleadings ..... original plus one. (Amended effective January 2, 1992.)

Rule 9007.1. Designation of parties to provide notice.

The clerk of court is authorized to designate the parties who shall provide the notice to creditors and parties in interest as required under the rules of bankruptcy procedure and the local bankruptcy rules.

Rule 9010.1. Representation and appearances; Powers of attorney.

Local Rule No. 2.00 of the Local Rules of Court for the United States District Court, Eastern District of North Carolina, entitled "Attorneys," is applicable in this court, with the following exceptions:

- (1) an individual may represent himself;
- (2) an entity may be represented at a meeting of creditors by its officers and agents; however, all courtroom appearances, except as previously indicated, pleadings, motions, and objections must be by an attorney admitted to practice before this court.

Rule 9010.2. Extent of an attorney's duty to represent.

Any attorney who files a bankruptcy petition for or on behalf of a debtor shall remain the attorney of record for all purposes including the representation of the debtor in all matters that arise in conjunction with the proceeding until the case is closed or the attorney is relieved upon application and court order. In the event additional fees are required, they must be applied for pursuant to Rule 2016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

CASE NOTES

Attorneys who, after filing bankruptcy petition, are indifferent to the needs of their clients are not entitled to compensation. In re Wright, 48 Bankr. 172 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. 1985).

Rule 9013.1. Motions: Form and service.

(a) Form. All pleadings, motions, discovery procedures, memoranda and other papers filed with the clerk or the court shall contain the individual name, firm name, address, telephone number and State Bar identification number, where applicable, of all attorneys who appear for the filing party.

(b) Service on trustee and attorney for debtor in possession. Any and all filings (except claims) in all proceedings and cases must be served on the trustee (including the standing chapter 12 and 13 trustee) for the debtor whether or not the trustee is a party to the proceeding. In chapter 11 cases, the attorney for the debtor in possession is to be served in like manner.

(c) Service on bankruptcy administrator. Any and all filings (except claims) in all chapter 7 and 11 cases must be served on the bankruptcy administrator.

(d) Certificate of service. Each pleading or document to be served on any party indicated in paragraphs (a) and (b) above shall have attached a certificate reflecting that service has been made on that party.

Rule 9014.1. Contested matters.

(a) Requirements of motion. A motion shall be accompanied by all exhibits and attachments referred to in the motion, together with a notice of motion and certification of service. The notice of motion shall give notice of the filing of the motion, allow for a specific response time to the motion and shall conform substantially to Local Form No. 1 in these rules.

(b) Content of motion. Motions seeking relief other than as to the debtor or the trustee shall recite the name and address of the party against whom relief is sought.

(c) Time for response. A response and accompanying affidavits, if any, to any motion shall be filed within fifteen (15) days from the date of the service of motion, unless otherwise ordered or provided in the rules of bankruptcy procedure or local bankruptcy rules.

(d) Service of motion. The moving party shall serve copies of the motion, together with all exhibits and attachments, accompanied by a notice of motion in the manner prescribed in Rule 7004, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, contemporaneously with the filing of the original motion and notice with the clerk of court, and shall attach a certificate of service to the original motion and notice to be filed with the clerk of court.

(e) Response. Any party against whom relief is sought may file a written response to the motion. The response may be accompanied by affidavits and other supporting documents and shall be served on all interested parties and service shall be certified to the court.

(f) Content of response. All responses shall contain sufficient information to reasonably disclose the basis for the party's position and what specific issues are contested. If a response is not in compliance with this provision, the court in its discretion may resolve the matter without a hearing.

(g) Hearing on motion. Unless a hearing is requested in the motion or in the response, motions may be determined without a hearing. A hearing on a motion may be ordered by the court in its discretion.

(h) Frivolous or delaying motions. Where the court finds that a motion is frivolous or filed for delay, costs may be assessed against the party or counsel filing the motion. Any party filing a request for a hearing shall appear at the hearing set by the court in support of the request or costs may be assessed.

(i) Disclosure requirements inapplicable. The disclosure requirements imposed by Bankruptcy Rule 7026(a) are inapplicable to contested matters.

Rule 9019.2. Mediated settlement conference.

(a) Order for mediated settlement conference.

(1) Order by court. The court may, by written order, require parties and their representatives to attend a pretrial mediated settlement conference in any adversary proceeding pending in the court.

(2) Timing of the order. The court may issue the order at any time after the time for the filing of answers has expired.

(3) Content of order. The court's order shall:

(A) require that a mediated settlement conference be held in the case;

(B) establish a deadline for the completion of the conference;

(C) state clearly that the parties have the right to select their own mediator as provided by section (b);

(D) state the rate of compensation of the court appointed mediator in the event that the parties do not exercise their right to select a mediator pursuant to section (b); and

(E) state that the parties shall be required to pay the mediator's fee at the conclusion of the settlement conference unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(4) Motion to dispense with mediated settlement. A party may move the court, within ten (10) days after the court's order, to dispense with the conference. The motion shall state the reasons the relief is sought, and shall be filed with the clerk of court and served on all opposing parties. Any party may file a written objection specifically stating his or her reasons for opposing the motion. The judge will rule upon such motion without a hearing.

(5) Motion for court ordered mediated settlement conference. In cases not ordered to mediated settlement conference, any party may move the court to order such a conference. The motion shall state the reasons why the order should be allowed and shall be served on nonmoving parties. Objections may be filed in writing with the court within ten (10) days after the date of the service of the motion. Thereafter, the judge shall rule upon the motion without a hearing.

(6) Motion to authorize the use of other settlement procedures. Within ten (10) days of the court's mediation order, any party may move the court to authorize the use of some other settlement procedure in lieu of a mediated settlement conference. The motion shall state the reasons the authorization is requested and that all parties consent to the motion. The court may order the use of any agreed upon settlement procedure. The deadline for completion of the authorized settlement procedure shall be as provided by rules authorizing the procedure or, if none, the deadline shall be as ordered for the mediated settlement conference.

(b) Selection of mediator.

(1) Selection of certified mediator by agreement of parties. The parties appearing of record may select a mediator certified pursuant to the rules of the Supreme Court of North Carolina. The plaintiff shall file with the court an approved Designation for Mediator notice form indicating Selection of Certified Mediator by Agreement within twenty-one (21) days of the court's order. This notice shall state the name, address and telephone number of the mediator selected; state the rate of compensation of the mediator; state that the mediator and the parties have agreed upon the selection and rate of compensation; and state that the mediator is certified pursuant to the rules of the Supreme Court.

(2) Nomination and court approval of noncertified mediator. The parties may select a mediator who does not meet the certification requirements of the Supreme Court but who, in the opinion of the parties and the judge, is otherwise qualified by training or experience to mediate the action.

If the parties select a noncertified mediator, the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney shall file with the judge an approved Designation of Mediator notice form indicating Nomination for Noncertified Mediator within twenty-one (21) days of the court's order. Such nomination shall state the name, address and telephone number of the mediator; state the training, experience or other qualifications of the mediator; state the rate of compensation of the mediator; and state that the mediator and the parties have agreed upon the selection and rate of compensation. The judge shall rule on the nomination without a hearing.

(3) Appointment of mediator by the court. If the parties cannot agree upon the selection of a mediator, the plaintiff shall submit a Designation of Mediator form indicating a Motion for Court Appointment of Mediator to the judge on behalf of the parties. The motion must be filed within twenty-one (21) days after the court's order and shall state that the parties and their attorneys have had a full and frank discussion concerning the selection of a mediator and have been unable to agree.

The motion shall state whether any party prefers a certified attorney mediator, and if so, the judge shall appoint a certified attorney mediator. The motion may state that all parties prefer a certified, nonattorney mediator, and if so, the judge shall appoint a certified, nonattorney mediator if one is on the list of certified mediators desiring to mediate cases in the district. If no preference is expressed, the judge may appoint a certified attorney mediator or a certified nonattorney mediator.

Upon receipt of a Motion for Court Appointment of Mediator, or in the event the plaintiff has not filed a Notice of Selection of Certified Mediator or Nomination of Noncertified Mediator with the court within twenty-one (21) days of the court's order, the judge shall appoint a mediator certified pursuant to these Rules. Only mediators that have indicated their desire to mediate cases in the Eastern District shall be appointed.

(4) Mediator information directory. To assist the parties in the selection of a mediator by agreement, a central directory of information on all certified mediators who wish to mediate cases in the Eastern District will be collected and maintained by the clerk of court.

(5) Disqualification of mediator. Any party may move for an order disqualifying the mediator. If the mediator is disqualified, a replacement mediator shall be selected or appointed pursuant to this rule. Nothing in this provision shall preclude mediators from disqualifying themselves upon written notice to the judge and the parties.

(c) The mediated settlement conference.

(1) Where conference is to be held. Unless all parties and the mediator otherwise agree, the mediated settlement conference shall be held in the United States Bankruptcy Courthouse or other public or community building in the Eastern District. The mediator shall be responsible for reserving a place and making arrangements for the conference and for giving timely notice of the conference to all attorneys, unrepresented parties and other persons and entities required to attend.

(2) When conference is to be held. The court's order issued pursuant to section (a)(2) shall state a date of completion for the conference. As a guiding principle, the conference should be held after the parties have had a reasonable time to conduct discovery but well in advance of the trial date.

(3) Request to extend date of completion. A party, or the mediator, may request the judge to extend the deadline for completion of the conference. The request shall state the reasons the continuance is sought and shall be served by the movant upon the other parties and the mediator. If any party does not consent to the request, said party shall promptly communicate its objection to the judge.

The judge may grant the request and enter an order setting a new date for the completion of the conference, which date may be set at any time prior to trial. The order shall be served on all parties and on the mediator by the person who sought the extension.

(4) Recesses. The mediator may recess the conference at any time and may set times for reconvening. No further notification is required for persons present at the recessed conference.

(5) Mediated settlement conference is not to delay other proceedings. The mediated settlement conference shall not be cause for the delay of other proceedings in the case, including the completion of discovery, the filing or hearing of motions, or the trial of the case, except by order of the judge.

(d) Dues of parties, representatives, and attorneys.

(1) Attendance. The following persons shall physically attend the entire mediated settlement conference until an agreement is reduced to writing and signed as provided by section (d)(3) or an impasse has been declared, unless excused by the judge or by the mediator with approval of all parties and attorneys:

(A) Parties.

(i) All individual parties;

(ii) Any party that is not a natural person or a governmental entity shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has been authorized to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle the action; and

(iii) Any party that is a governmental entity shall be represented at the conference by an employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has authority to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle the action; provided, if under law proposed settlement terms can be approved only by a board, the representative shall have authority to negotiate on behalf of the party and to make a recommendation to that board.

(B) Insurance company representatives. A representative of each liability insurance carrier, uninsured motorist insurance carrier, and underinsured motorist insurance carrier which may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action. Each carrier shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee, or agent, other than the carrier's outside counsel, who has the authority to make a decision on behalf of the carrier or who has been authorized to negotiate on behalf of the carrier and can promptly communicate during the conference with persons who have decision-making authority.

(C) Attorneys. At least one counsel of record for each party or other participant whose counsel has appeared in the action.

(2) Notifying lien holders. Any party or attorney who has received notice of a lien or other claim upon proceeds recovered in the action shall notify the lien holder or claimant of the date, time, and location of the mediated settlement conference and shall request the lien holder or claimant to attend the conference or make a representative available with whom to communicate during the conference.

(3) Finalizing agreement. Upon reaching agreement, either before or during the mediation conference, the settlement shall be immediately reduced to writing and signed by the parties, their counsel, and others with settlement authority. By stipulation of the parties, the agreement may be electronically or stenographically recorded. A consent judgment or one or more voluntary dismissals shall be filed with the Court by such persons as the parties shall designate.

(4) Reporting settlement. Upon reaching a settlement agreement before or during the conference, the parties and others with settlement authority, shall provide a copy of the executed written agreement to the mediator within seven (7) days of the settlement. The mediator shall attach a copy of the written agreement to the Report of Mediator filed pursuant to section (f)(2)(D) of these rules. Failure of the parties to provide a copy of the written agreement to the mediator on a timely basis may result in sanctions.

(e) Sanctions for failure to attend. If any person required to attend the conference pursuant to section (d) of these rules fails to attend without good cause, the judge may impose an appropriate monetary sanction, including but not limited to, the payment of fines, attorneys fees, mediator fees, expenses and losses of earnings incurred by persons attending the conference.

A party seeking sanctions against another party or person shall do so in a written motion stating the grounds for the motion and the relief sought. The motion shall be served upon all parties and on any person against whom sanctions are being sought. If the court imposes sanctions, it shall do so after notice and a hearing, and in a written order making findings of fact and conclusions of law.

(f) Authority and duties of mediator.

(1) Authority of mediator.

(A) Control of conference. The mediator shall at all times be in control of the conference and the procedures to be followed.

(B) Private consultation. The mediator may meet and consult privately with any participant or counsel during the conference.

(C) Scheduling the conference. The mediator shall make a good faith effort to schedule the conference at a time that is convenient with the participants, attorneys and mediator. In the absence of agreement, the mediator shall select the date for the conference.

(2) Duties of mediator.

(A) Generally. The mediator shall define and describe the following to the parties at the beginning of the conference:

(i) the process of mediation;

- (ii) the differences between mediation and other forms of conflict resolution;
- (iii) the costs of the mediated settlement conference;
- (iv) that the mediated settlement conference is not a trial, the mediator is not a judge, and the parties retain their right to trial if they do not reach settlement;
- (v) the circumstances under which the mediator may meet and communicate privately with any of the parties or with any other person;
- (vi) whether and under what conditions communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference;
- (vii) the inadmissibility of conduct and settlements as provided by applicable Rules of Evidence.
- (viii) the duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the participants; and

(ix) the fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent.

(B) Disclosure. The mediator has a duty to be impartial and to advise all participants of any circumstances bearing on possible bias, prejudice or partiality.

(C) Declaring impasse. It is the duty of the mediator to timely determine that an impasse exists and that the conference should end.

(D) Reporting results of conference. The mediator shall submit a Report of Mediator to the judge which indicates the results of the conference. This report shall be filed within 2 weeks of the conclusion of the conference or upon the receipt of a copy of a written settlement agreement, whichever comes first.

If an agreement was reached, the report shall state whether the action will be concluded by consent judgment or voluntary dismissal and shall identify the persons designated to file the consent judgment or dismissals. The mediator's report shall inform the court of the absence of any party, attorney, or insurance representative who was absent without permission from the conference.

The mediator shall attach the written settlement agreement prepared by the parties to the Report of Mediator.

(E) Scheduling and holding the conference. It is the duty of the mediator to schedule the conference and to conduct and conclude the conference prior to the conference completion deadline set out in the court's order. Deadlines for completion of the conference shall be strictly observed by the mediator unless the time limit is changed by a written order of the judge.

(3) Failure of mediator to comply with section (f). The judge may withhold future appointments of any mediator who does not fully comply with the requirement of section (f).

(4) Sanctions for failure to pay mediator's fee. Except when excused by these rules or by order of the court, failure of a party to make timely payment of the party's share of a mediator's fee at the conclusion of the conference may result in the imposition of sanctions.

(g) Compensation of the mediator.

(A) By agreement. When the mediator is stipulated to by the parties, compensation shall be as agreed upon between the parties and the mediator.

(B) By court order. When the mediator is appointed by the court, the mediator shall be compensated by the parties at an hourly rate set by the judge.

(C) Payment of compensation by parties. Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties or ordered by the court, costs of the mediated settlement conference shall be paid in equal shares by the parties. Multiple parties shall be considered one party when they are represented by the same counsel. Parties obligated to pay a share of the costs shall pay them equally unless the court otherwise orders.

(h) Communications with court. All communications concerning mediated settlement conferences should be addressed to the bankruptcy administrator.

Rule 9029.1. Sanctions.

(a) Failure to comply with local rules. If any attorney or party willfully fails to comply with any local rule of this court, the court, in its discretion, may impose sanctions.

(b) Sanctions under § 362(h). When determining sanctions under 11 U.S.C. § 362(h), the court shall consider whether the moving party notified and gave the offending unity to cure the alleged violation.

ADVERSARY PROCEEDING COVER SHEET (Reverse Side)

3-104
(Rev. 3/87)

ADVERSARY PROCEEDING COVER SHEET (Reverse Side)

This cover sheet must be completed by the plaintiff's attorney (or by the plaintiff if the plaintiff is not represented by an attorney) and submitted to the Clerk of the court upon the filing of a complaint initiating an adversary proceeding.

The cover sheet and the information contained on it do not replace or supplement the filing and service of pleadings or other papers as required by law, the Bankruptcy Rules, or the local rules of court. This form is required for the use of the clerk of the court to initiate the docket sheet and to prepare necessary indices and statistical records. A separate cover sheet must be submitted to the clerk of the court for each complaint filed. The form is largely self explanatory.

Parties. The names of the parties to the adversary proceeding exactly as they appear on the complaint. Give the names and addresses of the attorneys if known. Following the heading "Party," check the appropriate box indicating whether the United States is a party named in the complaint.

Cause of Action. Give a brief description of the cause of action including all federal statutes involved. For example, "Complaint seeking damages for failure to disclose information, Consumer Credit Protection Act, 15 U.S.C. §1601 et seq.," or "Complaint by trustee to avoid a transfer of property by the debtor, 11 U.S.C. §544."

Nature of Suit. Place an "X" in the appropriate box. Only one box should be checked. If the cause fits more than one category of suit, select the most definitive.

Origin of Proceedings. Check the appropriate box to indicate the origin of the case:

1. Original Proceeding.
2. Removed from a State or District Court.
4. Reinstated or Reopened.
5. Transferred from Another Bankruptcy Court.

Demand. On the next line, state the dollar amount demanded in the complaint in thousands of dollars. For $1,000 enter "1," for $10,000 enter "10," for $100,000 enter "100," if $1,000,000, enter "1000." If $10,000,000 or more, enter "9999." If the amount is less than $1,000, enter "0001." If no monetary demand is made, enter "XXXL" if the plaintiff is seeking non-monetary relief, state the relief sought, such as injunction or foreclosure of a mortgage.

Bankruptcy Case in Which This Adversary Proceeding Arises. Enter the name of the debtor and the docket number of the bankruptcy case from which the proceeding now being filed arose. Beneath, enter the district and divisional office where the case was filed, and the name of the presiding judge.

Related Adversary Proceedings. State the names of the parties and the six digit adversary proceeding number from any adversary proceeding concerning the same two parties or the same property currently pending in any bankruptcy court. On the next line, enter the district where the related case is pending, and the name of the presiding judge.

Filing Fee. Check one box. The fee must be paid upon filing unless the plaintiff meets one of the following exceptions. The fee is not required if the plaintiff is the United States government or the debtor. If the plaintiff is the trustee or a debtor in possession, and there are no liquid funds in the estate, the filing fee may be deferred until there are funds in the estate. (In the event no funds are ever recovered for the estate, there will be no fee). There is no fee for adding a party after the adversary proceeding has been commenced.

Signature. This cover sheet must be signed by the attorney of record in the box on the right of the last line of the form. If the plaintiff is represented by a law firm, a member of the firm must sign. If the plaintiff is pro se, that is, not represented by an attorney, the plaintiff must sign.

The name of the signatory must be printed in the box to the left of the signature. The date of the signing must be indicated in the box on the far left of the last line.

MIDDLE DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE MATTER OF LOCAL ) RULES OF CIVIL AND ) CRIMINAL PRACTICE IN ) THIS COURT )

ORDER ADOPTING LOCAL RULES OF CIVIL AND CRIMINAL PRACTICE

For good cause appearing to the Court,

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. The following Local Rules of Civil and Criminal Practice in the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina be and they hereby are adopted, effective at 12:01 a.m, on the 1st day of July, 1997. At that time these local rules shall supersede local rules therefore in effect and shall apply to all pending cases, unless the Court finds that their application in a specific case would result in injustice or hardship.

2. These rules are adopted in compliance with and pursuant to the authority of Rule 83, Fed.R.Civ.P.; Rule 57, Fed.R.Crim.P.; and other federal rules and statutes providing for district court local rules.

3. These rules conform to the uniform numbering system prescribed by the Judicial Conference of the United States. Each local rule is numbered according to its corresponding Federal Rule. Local rules for which there are no corresponding Federal Rules are correlated with the respective Federal Rule on local rulemaking. (Fed.R.Civ.P. 83; Fed.R.Crim.P. 57)

4. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9029, the Court authorizes the Bankruptcy Judges of this district to adopt Local Rules of Practice and Procedure for the Bankruptcy Court.

5. The Clerk is directed to make appropriate arrangements to see that these rules are published promptly and that copies of the rules are made available for distribution to the bar and the public.

This the 4th day of June, 1997.

ORDER

It appearing that local bankruptcy rules would facilitate the administration of bankruptcy cases in this district and would assist the court in the management and orderly disposition of contested matters and adversary proceedings; and

It further appearing that Rule 9029 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure permits the United States District Court to authorize bankruptcy judges to make and amend local rules of practice and procedure for the bankruptcy court which are consistent with Acts of Congress and the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure; and

It further appearing that by order of the United States District Court for the Middle District, dated June 4, 1997, the bankruptcy judges of this district are authorized, subject to the requirements of Rule 83 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to make and amend local rules of practice and procedure not inconsistent with Acts of Congress and the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure; and

It further appearing that appropriate public notice and an opportunity to comment regarding the rules attached hereto has been given; now, therefore

IT IS ORDERED that the local bankruptcy rules attached hereto are hereby adopted and shall be effective from and after June 4, 1997, with respect to all cases and proceedings before the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Middle District of North Carolina. Such rules shall be referred to as Local Bankruptcy Rules, Middle District of North Carolina.

This the 4th day of June, 1997.

PART I. LOCAL RULES OF CIVIL PRACTICE

I. SCOPE OF RULES—ONE FORM OF ACTION

Rule LR1.1. Scope of rules.

These rules shall govern the procedure and practice in all proceedings before this court, except for proceedings before the bankruptcy court. As used in these rules, the terms “judge” and “court” refer to either a United States District Judge or United States Magistrate Judge, unless the context or any rule of law indicates otherwise.

Rule LR1.2. Philosophy of rules.

These rules shall be construed and enforced in such manner as to avoid technical delay, encourage civility, permit just and prompt determination of all proceedings, and promote the efficient administration of justice.

II. COMMENCEMENT OF ACTION; SERVICE OF PROCESS; PLEADINGS; MOTIONS AND ORDERS

Rule LR3.1. Commencement of actions.

(a) Civil docket cover sheet. A civil docket cover sheet, in a form supplied by the clerk, must be completed and submitted in triplicate with any complaint commencing an action or any notice of removal from state court.

(b) Records to be removed. Upon removal of an action from state court, the removing party shall cause a complete copy of the state court file to be filed in this court.

Rule LR5.1. Additional copies for court use.

In addition to the original, a copy of the following documents shall be delivered to the clerk for use by the court when the original is filed:

- (1) A brief.
- (2) Proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law.
- (3) Requests for jury instructions.

If word processing equipment is used, in addition to the hard copy, submit a 3-½ inch disk utilizing WordPerfect software or ASCII format for briefs on dispositive motions, trial briefs, and proposed voir dire questions and jury instructions. If the software package used is other than WordPerfect, identify the type of software used. On the disk label, write the case name, case number, and list the documents included. If counsel's name is affixed to the jacket in which the disk is enclosed, the disk may be retrieved from the clerk's office after the case is closed. Failure to retrieve the disk will result in its destruction by the Clerk's office in accordance with LR83.5(c) and LCrR57.3(c).

Rule LR5.2. No filing of discovery papers.

Depositions and deposition notices, interrogatories, requests for documents, requests for admission, and answers and responses thereto shall not be filed unless the court so orders or unless the court will need such documents in a pretrial proceeding. All discovery papers must be served on other counsel or parties. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court when needed or ordered. Any party seeking to compel discovery or other pretrial relief based upon discovery material which has not been filed with the clerk must identify the specific portion of the material which is directly relevant and ensure that it is filed as an attachment to the application for relief.

Rule LR6.1. Extensions of time and continuances of hearings.

(a) Motions for an extension of time to perform an act. All motions for an extension of time to perform an act required or allowed to be done within a specified time must show good cause, prior consultation with opposing counsel, and the views of opposing counsel. Extensions will not be allowed unless the motion is made before the expiration of the specified time, except upon a showing of excusable neglect. Consent orders extending time may be signed by the clerk to the extent provided by LR77.2.

(b) Motions for continuance. All motions to continue a pretrial conference, hearing on a motion, or the trial of an action must be presented through the clerk's office for the court's consideration reasonably in advance of the hearing date and must reflect the views of opposing counsel.

III. PLEADINGS AND MOTIONS

Rule LR7.1. Form of pleadings and papers.

(a) Form. Pleadings, motions, briefs, and other papers submitted for filing must be typewritten, printed, or legibly handwritten on letter size paper. The pages shall be unfolded and shall be bound at the top and numbered at the bottom, without manuscript cover. The margin at the top of each page shall not be less than one and one-quarter inches, and bottom, left and right margins shall be set at not less than one inch. Typewritten documents should be double spaced. Mechanically reproduced copies which bear an original signature will be accepted by the court as originals.

The text of every document shall be printed in a font size of 11 or larger, so that the type size and face shall be no smaller than that contained in the United States Reports beginning with Volume 453. There shall be no more than 27 lines of regularly spaced text on a page.

(b) Identification of Documents. All papers submitted for filing shall follow the heading format set out in the Appendix of Forms, Fed.R.Civ.P., and papers submitted subsequent to the original complaint shall bear the case number.

(c) Telephone numbers and addresses. Parties or attorneys signing papers submitted for filing must state their telephone numbers, as well as their addresses, and the N.C. State Bar number of attorneys who are admitted to practice before this court.

(d) Exhibits to pleadings or papers. Bulky or voluminous materials should not be submitted for filing with a pleading or paper, or incorporated by reference therein, unless such materials are essential. The court may order any pleading or paper stricken if filed in violation of this rule.

(e) Civil rights actions by prisoners, 42 U.S.C. § 1983. All pro se complaints filed by state prisoners seeking relief under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 shall be filed with the clerk in compliance with the instructions of the clerk and on appropriate forms which are available without charge in the clerk's office. In each action, an original and one copy of the complaint for the court and one copy of the complaint for each defendant must be provided by the plaintiff.

Rule LR7.2. Briefs.

(a) Contents. All briefs filed with the court shall contain:

(1) A statement of the nature of the matter before the court.

(2) A concise statement of the facts. Each statement of fact should be supported by reference to a part of the official record in the case.

(3) A statement of the question or questions presented.

(4) The argument, which shall refer to all statutes, rules and authorities relied upon.

(b) Citation of cases. Cases cited should include parallel citations, the year of the decision, and the court deciding the case. If a petition for certiorari was filed in the United States Supreme Court, disposition of the case should be shown with three parallel citations [e.g. Carson v. Warlick, 238 F.2d 724 (4th. Cir. 1956), cert. denied, 353 U.S. 910, 77 S.Ct. 665, 1 L.Ed.2d.664 (1957)].

(c) Citation of unpublished decisions. Unpublished decisions may be cited only if the unpublished decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the brief is filed. Unpublished decisions should be cited as follows: Wise v. Richardson, No. C-70-191-S (M.D.N.C., Aug. 11, 1971).

(d) Citation of decisions not appearing in certain published reports. Decisions published in reports other than the West Federal Reporter System, the official North Carolina reports and the official United States Supreme Court reports (e.g., C.C.H. Reports, Labor Reports, U.S.P.Q. reported decisions of other states or other specialized reporting services) may be cited only if the decision is furnished to the court and to opposing parties or their counsel when the brief is filed.

(e) Additional copies of briefs for court use. At the time the original of a brief is filed, an additional (working) copy of the brief shall be delivered to the clerk for use by the judge.

Rule LR7.3. Motion practice.

(a) Form. All motions, unless made during a hearing or at trial, shall be in writing and shall be accompanied by a brief except as provided in section (i) of this rule. Each motion shall be set out in a separate pleading.

(b) Content. All motions shall state with particularity the grounds therefor, shall cite any statute or rule of procedure relied upon, and shall set forth the relief or order sought.

(c) Decided on motion papers and briefs.

(1) Motions shall be considered and decided by the court on the pleadings, admissible evidence in the official court file, and motion papers and briefs, without hearing or oral argument, unless otherwise ordered by the court. Special considerations thought by counsel sufficient to warrant a hearing or oral argument may be brought to the court's attention in the motion or response.

(2) The clerk shall give at least five days' notice of the date and place of oral argument. The court, however, for good cause shown may shorten the five-day notice period.

(d) Limitations on length of briefs. Briefs in support of motions and responsive briefs are limited in length to 20 pages, and reply briefs are limited to 10 pages.

(e) Movant's supporting documents and briefs. When allegations of facts not appearing of record are relied upon to support a motion, affidavits, parts of depositions, and other pertinent documents then available shall accompany the motion. If supporting documents are not then available, the party may move for an extension of time in accordance with section (g) of this rule.

(f) Response to motion and brief. The respondent, if opposing a motion, shall file a response, including brief, within 20 days after service of the motion (30 days if the motion is for summary judgment; see LR56.1(d)). If supporting documents are not then available, the respondent may move for an extension of time in accordance with section (g) of this rule. For good cause appearing therefor, a respondent may be required to file any response and supporting documents, including brief, within such shorter period of time as the court may specify.

(g) Extension of time for filing supporting documents and briefs. Upon proper motion accompanied by a proposed order, the clerk may enter an ex parte order, specifying the time within which supporting documents and briefs may be filed pursuant to sections (e) and (f), if it is shown in writing that such documents are not available or cannot be filed contemporaneously with the motion or response. The time allowed to an opposing party for filing a response shall not run during any such extension. If good cause to grant the motion is not apparent upon the face of the motion, the clerk may direct that the motion be served upon the opposing party, who shall be allowed 10 days to respond.

(h) Reply brief. A reply brief may be filed within 10 days after service of the response. A reply brief is limited to discussion of matters newly raised in the response.

(i) Suggestion of subsequently decided authority. As an addendum to a brief, response brief, or reply brief, a suggestion of subsequently decided controlling authority, without argument, may be filed at any time prior to the court's ruling and shall contain only the citation to the case relied upon, if published, or a copy of the opinion if the case is unpublished.

(j) Motions not requiring briefs. No brief is required by either movant or respondent, unless otherwise directed by the court, with respect to the following motions: (1) discovery motions in which the parties have agreed to the expedited procedures described in LR26.1(d); (2) for extension of time for the performance of an act required or allowed to be done, provided request therefor is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by previous orders; (3) to continue a pretrial conference, hearing, or the trial of an action; (4) to add parties; (5) to amend the pleadings; (6) to file supplemental pleadings; (7) to appoint a next friend or guardian ad litem; (8) for substitution of parties; and (9) to stay proceedings to enforce judgment. The above motions, while not required to be accompanied by a brief, must state good cause therefor and cite any applicable rule, statute, or other authority justifying the relief sought. These motions must be accompanied by a proposed order.

(k) Failure to file and serve motion papers. The failure to file a brief or response within the time specified in this rule shall constitute a waiver of the right thereafter to file such brief or response, except upon a showing of excusable neglect. A motion unaccompanied by a required brief may, in the discretion of the court, be summarily denied. A response unaccompanied by a required brief may, in the discretion of the court, be disregarded and the pending motion may be considered and decided as an uncontested motion. If a respondent fails to file a response within the time required by this rule, the motion will be considered and decided as an uncontested motion, and ordinarily will be granted without further notice.

CASE NOTES

Brief in Opposition to Motion. — Even if the opposition is futile and the motion to amend must be granted, subsection (a) allows defendant to file a brief in opposition to the motion if it so chooses. Fulk v. Hartford Life Ins. Co., 839 F. Supp. 1181 (M.D.N.C. 1993).

Combination Memorandum Inappropriate. — Where defendant combined a reply memorandum with a response memorandum in what appeared to be an attempt to circumvent subsection (g), this tactic appeared to violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the rule and counsel for defendant was cautioned against similar future actions. Fulk v. Hartford Life Ins. Co., 839 F. Supp. 1181 (M.D.N.C. 1993).

Pro Se Status of Plaintiffs. — Where plaintiffs failed to respond to defendants' motion for summary judgment, under this rule and rule 56.1(e), the Court could find the motion to be uncontested and grant it without further notice, but because of plaintiffs' pro se status, the Court acted with an abundance of caution and examined the motion closely on its merits. Baraukas v. Danek Med., Inc., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5122 (M.D.N.C. January 13, 2000).

Rule LR16.1. Initial pretrial proceedings.

(a) Requirement for initial pretrial order. There shall be an initial pretrial order entered pursuant to the provisions of Fed.R.Civ.P. 16(b) and 26(f) in every civil case, except in:

(1) Social Security cases and other actions for review of administrative decisions;

(2) Prisoner petitions;

(3) Summons or subpoena enforcement proceedings;

(4) Bankruptcy appeals;

(5) Government collection cases and forfeiture proceedings; and

(6) Cases brought by pro se plaintiffs.

The above categories of cases are exempted from the timing-and-sequence-of-discovery provisions of Rule 26(d), and the meeting of parties described in Rule 26(f). Category (1), (2), (3), and (4) cases require no pretrial management and are ready for adjudication on the pleadings of the parties, unless the court orders otherwise. Category (5) cases (government collections and forfeitures) shall be governed by a 90-day period of discovery from the filing of answer or other response, with dispositive motions due in accordance with LR56.1. Category (6) cases (brought by pro se plaintiffs) shall be governed by a scheduling order entered by the court after an initial pretrial conference, unless the Court determines, in its discretion, that no conference is necessary.

(b) Meeting of the parties. Within the time set by Fed.R.Civ.P. Rule 16(b), the clerk shall schedule an initial pretrial conference and give at least thirty (30) days notice thereof. The parties must hold their Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) meeting at least 14 days before the scheduled initial pretrial conference and submit to the court their report within 10 days thereafter. The parties may not stipulate out of the Rule 26(f) meeting but must meet to discuss a proposed discovery plan. Parties are not required to make initial disclosures identified in Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(1); the court elects to be exempt from the provisions of Rule 26(a)(1). At the Rule 26(f) meeting, the parties shall discuss:

(1) All matters identified in Rules 16(b) and (c) and 26(f),

(2) The possibility of settlement,

(3) The proper management track for the case under LR26.1,

(4) The timing of any mediated settlement conference under LR16.4 and LR83.10a-g, and the identity of any agreed-upon mediator,

(5) The nature of the documents and information believed necessary for the case,

(6) Issues of burden and relevance and the discoverability of different types of documents,

(7) A preliminary schedule for depositions, to be updated at reasonable intervals upon communication between the parties, and

(8) The decision of each party whether or not to consent to the trial jurisdiction of a magistrate judge.

Lead counsel for each party must meet and discuss the above-listed matters in a face-to-face meeting unless the offices of the parties' lead counsel are separated by more than 150 miles, in which event lead counsel may conduct the conference by telephone. In the absence of agreement to the contrary, the meeting of the parties shall be held in the office of the attorney nearest the court location where the initial pretrial conference is scheduled.

The parties shall jointly prepare a Rule 26(f) Report (LR16.2) if they are in agreement concerning a discovery plan for the case. If they do not agree, each shall file a separate Rule 26(f) Report (LR16.3), setting forth its position on disputed matters. The Reports must be filed with the court within 10 days of the Rule 26(f) meeting.

(c) Initial pretrial order by conference. If the parties are unable to reach agreement on a discovery plan and therefore submit separate Rule 26(f) Reports (LR16.3), they shall appear for the scheduled initial pretrial conference. Each party shall personally appear or be represented by an attorney who has full authority to bind the party on the matters for discussion at the conference. After hearing from the parties, the court will enter an initial pretrial order that will control the conduct of the litigation.

(d) Initial pretrial order upon the Joint Rule 26(f) report. If the parties reach agreement on a discovery plan and submit a joint Rule 26(f) Report, the court will enter an order on the basis of the proposed plan as submitted or as modified by the court. The parties shall submit to the clerk sufficient copies of the joint Report so that all parties can receive a copy after approval by the court. The court may, on its own motion, modify the plan if it finds in its discretion that the plan provides for an excessive amount of discovery or the parties' selection of a case management track under LR26.1 is unreasonable. The scheduled initial pretrial conference is automatically canceled upon the submission to the court of the joint Rule 26(f) Report.

(e) Discovery with respect to expert witnesses. The initial pretrial order, whether based upon a joint Rule 26(f) Report or a conference following the filing of separate reports, shall provide that discovery with respect to experts be conducted within the discovery period established in the case. The order shall set the date on which disclosure of expert information under Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(2) must be made.

Rule LR16.2. Joint Rule 26(f) report.

If the parties are in agreement concerning a discovery plan, they shall file a joint report in substantially the following form:

Joint Rule 26(f) Report

1. Pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) and LR16.1(b), a meeting was held on _____ date at _____ place and was attended by _____ for Plaintiff(s), and _____ for Defendant(s).

Rule LR16.4. Mediated settlement conferences.

(a) Mediated settlement conferences during discovery. In selected civil cases (see section [b] for a description of cases automatically selected for mediation) there shall be conducted a mediated settlement conference in accordance with LR83.10a-g. The conference may be set for any time during the discovery period, as agreed by the parties. In appropriate cases, the parties may wish to schedule the mediation early in the discovery period, after a first round of depositions or other discovery. In other cases, the parties may choose to set the conference near the end of the discovery period after all, or substantially all, discovery is complete. The parties shall discuss the timing of the mediated settlement conference during the Rule 26(f) meeting of the parties.

(b) Automatic selection by these rules. Several categories of civil cases are automatically selected for mediated settlement conferences, without specific order by the court. These categories include, according to designations on the civil cover sheet (1) contract [categories 110-140 and 160-195, specifically excluding 150-153], (2) tort [all categories, 310-385], (3) civil rights [all categories, 440-444], (4) labor [all categories, 710-791], (5) property rights [all categories, 820-840], (6) antitrust [category 410], (7) banks and banking [category 430], (8) securities/commodities/exchange [category 850] and (9) environmental matters [category 893]. The parties to these actions shall discuss mediation plans at the Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) meeting of the parties and report such plans in their Rule 26(f) Report in preparation for the entry of an initial pretrial order. See LR16.1(b)(c) and (d). Cases wherein the United States is a party or the plaintiff appears pro se are not included within this automatic selection for mediation.

(c) Exemption from mediated settlement conference. Any party, or parties jointly, may move for exemption from the requirement for a mediated settlement conference. The court will grant such a request only for good cause. A general assertion that settlement is unlikely or only a remote possibility does not serve as good cause for exemption.

CASE NOTES

Where pro se plaintiff had not made any attempt to settle the dispute and failed to show that defendant's proposed settlement was unfair, the court would deny her motion to compel, due to her failure to follow this rule, without prejudice to her filing a new motion within 15 days. Barlow v. Esselte Pendaflex Corp., 111 F.R.D. 404 (M.D.N.C. 1986), aff'd, 838 F.2d 1209 (4th Cir.), cert. denied, 488 U.S. 843, 109 S. Ct. 116, 102 L. Ed. 2d 90 (1988) (decided prior to the 1993 amendment).

IV. PARTIES

Rule LR17.1. Minors and incompetents as parties.

(a) Capacity to sue or be sued. Minors and incompetent persons may sue or defend only by their general or testamentary guardians within this state or by guardians ad litem appointed by this court.

(b) Appointment of guardian ad litem.

(1) Application for the appointment of a guardian ad litem to sue on behalf of a minor or incompetent may be made by motion submitted contemporaneously with a complaint. The complaint may be filed when the appointment is made by a judge.

(2) Application for the appointment of a guardian ad litem to defend on behalf of a minor or incompetent person may be filed after service of summons and complaint and before time has expired to answer or otherwise to respond.

(3) Applications for the appointment of a guardian ad litem by this court must:

- (i) set out facts requiring such appointment,
- (ii) suggest a natural person suitable for appointment,
- (iii) contain information about that person, including willingness to serve, upon which the court can judge his or her qualifications, and
- (iv) be accompanied by a proposed order of appointment.

(c) Termination of actions; Court hearing and approval.

(1) No civil action or proceeding in which a minor or incompetent person is a party may be compromised, settled, dismissed, or otherwise terminated without the approval of the court.

(2) In order to obtain court approval, a party must file a motion setting forth reasons justifying the termination and explaining its effect upon the rights of the minor or incompetent person.

(3) The court will conduct a hearing to determine whether the termination is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the minor or incompetent. The following persons must be present at the hearing unless excused by the court:

- (i) attorneys for all parties,
  - (ii) the minor or incompetent party,
  - (iii) the guardian ad litem or other legal representative, and
  - (iv) a parent or other person in loco parentis.
- (4) At the hearing the parties must establish to the satisfaction of the court:
- (i) the facts giving rise to the cause of action and the contentions of the parties with respect to liability and damage;
  - (ii) the facts concerning the nature and extent of any injury or damage suffered by the minor or incompetent person, supported by medical records and reports in personal injury cases;

(iii) medical and hospital expenses, if any, incurred or likely to be incurred;
(iv) the concurrence of the attorney, guardian ad litem or other legal representative that the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the minor or incompetent person;

(iv) the facts with respect to any related claims or liens, including separate claims of parents for expenses, and the disposition or status of such other claims.

(5) Ordinarily, the requirements of section (c)(4) of this rule may be satisfied by summaries made by the parties or their attorneys. In every case, the parties may present sworn testimony of witnesses, affidavits or documentary evidence, and the court reserves the right to call for such evidence at any time.

(d) Fees. At the hearing, the court will consider requests for counsel fees and a fee for services by the guardian ad litem or other legal representative and may make appropriate orders relating to payment of fees.

(e) Consent judgments approving settlement.

(1) Before a judgment approving a compromise settlement of claims of a minor or incompetent is presented to the court, it shall be consented and agreed to by counsel for the parties to the action and by the guardian ad litem or other legal representative of the minor or incompetent.

(2) The judgment presented should provide, inter alia, that the parties have agreed to a settlement of all matters in controversy between them, and the amount of the settlement; that the court has conducted a hearing on the matter; that the court has found that the proposed compromise settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the minor or incompetent; and that the court has approved the compromise settlement agreement.

(f) Payment of judgment. The amount of the judgment shall be paid into the office of the clerk of this court, and the clerk shall make such disbursements from the proceeds as provided by the judgment of the court. The balance of the proceeds of the judgment shall be paid to the legal guardian of the minor or incompetent, if within this state. If there is no such guardian, the balance of the proceeds shall be paid to the clerk of superior court of the county in this state in which the minor or incompetent resides. If the minor or incompetent does not reside within this state, the balance shall be paid to a legal guardian approved by the court.

Rule LR23.1. Class actions.

(a) Class action complaint. The complaint shall bear next to its caption the legend, "Complaint — Class Action." The complaint shall contain under a separate heading, styled "Class Action Allegations":

(1) A reference to the portion or portions of Rule 23, Fed.R.Civ.P., under which it is claimed that the suit is properly maintainable as a class action.

(2) Appropriate allegations claimed to justify class treatment, including, but not necessarily limited to:

(i) the size and definition of the alleged class,

(ii) the basis upon which the plaintiff claims

(A) to be an adequate representative of the class, or

(B) if the class is comprised of defendants, that those named as parties are adequate representatives of the class,

(iii) the alleged questions of law or fact claimed to be common to the class, and

(iv) for actions sought to be maintained under Rule 23(b)(3), Fed.R.Civ.P., allegations thought to support the findings required by that subdivision.

(b) Motion for class action determination. Within 90 days after the filing of a complaint in a class action, unless this period is extended by court order, the plaintiff shall file a separate motion for a determination under Rule 23(c)(1),

Fed.R.Civ.P., as to whether the case may be maintained as a class action. If a party wishes to present oral testimony to support or oppose the class action motion, the party must so inform the court in its motion or opposition. In ruling upon such a motion, the court may allow the action to be so maintained, may disallow and strike the class action allegations, or may order postponement of the determination pending discovery or such other preliminary procedures as appear to be appropriate and necessary in the circumstances. Whenever possible, where it is held that the determination should be postponed, a date will be fixed by the court for renewal of the motion.

(c) Class action counterclaims or cross-claims. The foregoing provisions shall apply, with appropriate adaptations, to any counterclaim or cross-claim alleged to be brought for or against a class.

(d) Burden of proof; Notice. The burden shall be upon any party seeking to maintain a case as a class action to present an evidentiary basis to the court showing that the action is properly maintainable as such. If the court determines that an action may be maintained as a class action, the party obtaining that determination shall initially bear the expenses of and be responsible for giving such notice as the court may order to members of the class.

V. DEPOSITIONS AND DISCOVERY

Rule LR26.1. Differentiated case management and discovery.

(a) Differentiated case management. Every case in which an initial pretrial order is entered pursuant to LR16.1(b)-(d) shall be assigned, by agreement of the parties (if adopted by the court) or by order of the court, to one of three case-management tracks. (See LR16.2 and 16.3 for forms of the Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) report wherein parties advise the court regarding case management tracks.) The three tracks are defined as follows:

(1) Standard. Discovery (including all discovery with respect to experts) in cases assigned to this track shall be completed within four (4) months from the date of the initial pretrial order. Presumptively, subject to stipulation of the parties or order of the court on good cause shown, interrogatories (including subparts) and requests for admission are limited to 15 in number by each party. Depositions are presumptively limited to four (4) depositions (including any experts) by the plaintiffs, by the defendants, and by third-party defendants.

(2) Complex. Discovery (including all discovery with respect to experts) in cases assigned to this track shall be completed within six (6) months from the date of the initial pretrial order, subject to agreement of the parties for a larger discovery period, if approved by the court. Presumptively, subject to stipulation of the parties or order of the court on good cause shown, interrogatories (including subparts) and requests for admission are limited to 25 in number by each party. Depositions are presumptively limited to seven (7) depositions (including any experts) by the plaintiffs, by the defendants, and by third-party defendants.

(3) Exceptional. Discovery (including all discovery with respect to experts) in cases assigned to this track shall be completed within nine (9) months from the date of the initial pretrial order. Presumptively, subject to stipulation of the parties or order of the court on good cause shown, interrogatories (including subparts) and requests for admission are limited to 30 in number by each party. Depositions are presumptively limited to 10 depositions (including any experts) by the plaintiffs, by the defendants, and by third-party defendants. This management track is reserved for cases of exceptional complexity. It is not to be used for ordinary federal cases even though such cases have some complexity and require significant discovery.

(b) Discovery procedures and materials.

(1) The court expects counsel to conduct discovery in good faith and to cooperate and be courteous with each other in all phases of the discovery process. As a part of their Rule 26(f) Report, the parties must formulate a preliminary deposition schedule. They must continue to communicate throughout the discovery period to update the schedule.

(2) Depositions shall be conducted in accordance with the following guidelines:

(i) Counsel shall not direct or request that a witness not answer a question, unless that counsel has objected to the question on the ground that the answer is protected by a privilege or a limitation on evidence directed by the court.

(ii) Counsel shall not make objections or statements which might suggest an answer to a witness. Counsel's statements when making objections should be succinct, stating the basis of the objection and nothing more.

(iii) Counsel and their witness-clients shall not engage in private, off-the-record conferences while the deposition is proceeding in session, except for the purpose of deciding whether to assert a privilege.

(iv) Deposing counsel shall provide to the witness's counsel a copy of all documents shown to the witness during the deposition. The copies shall be provided either before the deposition begins or contemporaneously with the showing of each document to the witness. The witness and the witness's counsel do not have the right to discuss documents privately before the witness answers questions about them.

(3) Interrogatories, requests for production of documents, or requests for admission shall be numbered consecutively by each party regardless of the number of sets into which they are divided.

(4) Depositions and deposition notices, interrogatories, requests for documents, requests for admission, and answers and responses thereto shall not be filed unless the court so orders or unless the court will need such documents in a pretrial proceeding. All discovery papers must be served on other counsel or parties. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court when needed or ordered. Any party seeking to compel discovery or other pretrial relief based upon discovery material which has not been filed with the clerk must identify the specific portion of the material which is directly relevant and ensure that it is filed as an attachment to the application for relief.

(c) Conference of attorneys with respect to motions and objections relating to discovery. The court will not consider motions and objections relating to discovery unless moving counsel files a certificate that after personal consultation and diligent attempts to resolve differences the parties are unable to reach an accord. The certificate shall set forth the date of the conference, the names of the participating attorneys, and the specific results achieved. It shall be the responsibility of counsel for the movant to arrange for the conference and, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the conference shall be held in the office of the attorney nearest the court location where the initial pretrial conference was convened or, in the absence thereof, nearest to Greensboro. Alternatively, at any party's request, the conference may be held by telephone.

(d) Expedited resolution of some discovery disputes. If, after a LR26.1(c) conference, the parties agree that a discovery dispute can be ruled upon in a telephone conference of no more than 30 minutes, the magistrate judge will schedule such a conference and rule on the dispute without briefing by the parties. Alternatively, if the parties agree that the dispute can be ruled upon in an in-court hearing of no more than one hour, without briefing, the magistrate judge will schedule an early hearing. The fact that these proceedings are expedited and without briefing does not alter the application of Fed.R.Civ.P.

37(a)(4) and subsection (e) of this rule regarding the imposition of sanctions in discovery motions.

(e) Award of expenses of discovery motion. Any ruling on a discovery motion shall ordinarily result in the imposition of sanctions under Fed.R.Civ.P. 37(a)(4) unless the court determines that the position taken by the losing party was justifiable or some other circumstances would make a sanction unjust.

(f) Completion of discovery. The requirement that discovery be completed within a specified time means that adequate provisions must be made for interrogatories and requests for admission to be answered, for documents to be produced, and for depositions to be held within the discovery period.

(g) Extension of the discovery period or request for more discovery. Motions seeking an extension of the discovery period or permission to take more discovery than is permitted under the initial pretrial order must be made or presented prior to the expiration of the time within which discovery is required to be completed. They must set forth good cause justifying the additional time and will be granted or approved only upon a showing that the parties have diligently pursued discovery. The court will permit additional depositions only on a showing of exceptional good cause.

(h) Trial preparation after the close of discovery. For good cause appearing therefor, the physical or mental examination of a party may be ordered at any time prior to trial. Ordinarily, the deposition of a material witness not subject to subpoena should be taken during discovery. However, the deposition of a material witness who agrees to appear at trial, but who later becomes unable or refuses to attend, may be ordered at any time prior to trial.

Rule LR26.2. Exemption from Fed. R. Civil P. 26(a)(1).

Parties are not required to make initial disclosures identified in Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(1); the court elects to be exempt from the provisions of Rule 26(a)(1).

VI. TRIALS

Rule LR40.1. Trial dates and final pretrial preparation.

(a) Establishment of trial date. While the case is in discovery, the clerk shall establish a trial date and give at least 4 months' notice thereof to the parties. The case may be set on a trial calendar of the assigned judge or placed on a master calendar to be called by one or more district judges. A magistrate judge may assist with the master calendar, although no case may be referred to the magistrate judge for trial unless the parties consent to the magistrate judge's trial jurisdiction.

(b) Continuance of trial. The court will consider a request to continue a trial date only if the request is signed by both the party and counsel for the party.

(c) Final pretrial preparation. The parties shall comply in all respects with Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(a)(3) regarding final pretrial disclosure, including the time requirements set out therein. The pretrial disclosures mandated by that rule shall be served on other parties but should not be filed with the court. No later than 20 days before trial, each party shall file a trial brief, along with proposed instructions on the issues (jury cases) or findings of fact and conclusions of law (non-jury cases). Any party, or the court on its own motion, may request a pretrial hearing or telephone conference to address matters relating to final pretrial preparation or settlement of the case. At any settlement conference, the court may require the attendance of parties and insurers.

Rule LR43.1. Trial procedure.

(a) Opening statement in civil actions. At the commencement of the trial of civil actions, the party with the burden of proof may, without argument, state his cause of action and the evidence by which he expects to sustain his claim. The adverse party may then, without argument, state his defense and the evidence by which he expects to sustain his defense. If the trial is to a jury, the opening statement shall be made immediately after the jury is sworn. If the trial is to the court, the opening statement shall be made immediately after the case is called for trial. Opening statements shall be subject to such time limitations as may be imposed by the court.

(b) Documents, other than exhibits, used at trial. When counsel expects to examine or cross-examine a witness concerning a document which will not be offered as an exhibit, counsel shall have at trial a copy of the document for use by the judge.

(c) Absence during return of verdict. In a jury trial, if a party or counsel is voluntarily absent from the courtroom prior to the return of the verdict, it shall be conclusively presumed that such party or counsel waived presence.

Rule LR47.1. Juries.

(a) Examination of jurors.

(1) The court will conduct the examination of prospective jurors.

(2) When the court's examination is completed, attorneys and parties appearing pro se may request that the court ask additional questions to the prospective jurors.

(b) Contacts prohibited.

(1) All parties, witnesses, and attorneys shall avoid any extra-judicial contact or communication with a grand juror or member of a petit jury venire or panel who has been or may be selected in a case in which that person is involved. No person may have any extra-judicial contact or communication, either directly or indirectly, with a grand juror, member of a petit jury venire or panel which may reasonably have the effect of influencing, or which is intended to influence, the grand juror, potential petit juror, or sitting petit juror.

(2) Attorneys for parties shall inform their clients and witnesses of this rule.

(3) No person shall approach a juror, either directly or through any member of his immediate family, in an effort to secure information concerning the juror's background.

(4) No provision of this rule is intended to prohibit communication with a petit juror after the juror has been dismissed from further service, so long as the communication does not tend to harass, humiliate, or intimidate the juror in any fashion.

(c) Disclosure of names and addresses of prospective jurors.

(1) The names of prospective jurors for any session of court or for a specific case may not be disclosed prior to their reporting for duty except in compliance with instructions of the court. The clerk will make available to counsel for the parties, and to any parties appearing pro se, a list which sets forth the name, general address, and occupation of each potential juror when court is opened for the session for which the jurors have been summoned.

(2) The names, address, and telephone numbers of persons who have served as jurors may not be disclosed by the clerk's office without court permission.

(d) Number of jurors in civil jury cases. In civil jury cases the jury shall consist of six (6) or more members.

VII. JUDGMENT

Rule LR51.1. Jury arguments and instructions.

(a) Jury arguments. In the trial of civil actions the party having the burden of proof shall have the right to open and close the jury argument, without regard to whether the defendant has offered evidence. If each of the parties has the burden of proof on one or more issues, the court, in its discretion, shall determine the order of arguments. All arguments shall be subject to such time limitations as may be imposed by the court.

(b) Instructions to jury. In all cases tried to a jury, a party who desires the jury to be instructed on a particular point must set it out in writing and furnish it to the court before jury arguments commence.

Rule LR54.1. Taxation of costs.

(a) Filing bill of costs.

(1) A prevailing party may request the clerk to tax allowable costs in a civil action as a part of a judgment or decree by filing a bill of costs, on a form available in the clerk's office, within 30 days.

(i) after the expiration of time allowed for appeal of a final judgment or decree, or

(ii) after receipt by the clerk of an order terminating the action on appeal.

(2) The original of the bill of costs shall be filed with the clerk, with copies served on adverse parties.

(3) The failure of a prevailing party to timely file a bill of costs shall constitute a waiver of any claim for costs.

(b) Objections to bill of costs.

(1) If an adverse party objects to the bill of costs or any item claimed by a prevailing party, that party must state objection in a motion for disallowance with a supporting brief within 10 days after the filing of the bill of costs. Within five days thereafter, the prevailing party may file a response and brief. Unless a hearing is ordered by the clerk, a ruling will be made by the clerk on the record.

(2) A party may request review of the clerk's ruling by filing a motion within five days after the action of the clerk. The court's review of the clerk's action will be made on the existing record unless otherwise ordered.

(c) Taxable costs.

(1) Items normally taxed include, without limitation:

(i) Those items specifically listed on the bill of costs form. The costs incident to the taking of depositions (when allowable as necessarily obtained for use in the litigation) normally include only the reporter's attendance fee and charge for one transcript of the deposition.

(ii) Premiums on required bonds.

(iii) Actual mileage, subsistence, and attendance allowances for necessary witnesses at actual cost, but not to exceed the applicable statutory rates, whether they reside in or out of this district.

(iv) One copy of the trial transcript for each party represented by separate counsel.

(2) Items normally not taxed include, without limitation:

(i) Witness fees, subsistence, and mileage for individual parties, real parties in interest, parties suing in representative capacities, and the officers and directors of corporate parties.

(ii) Copies of depositions.

(iii) Daily copy of trial transcripts, unless prior court approval has been obtained.

(d) Costs in settlements. The court will not tax costs in any action terminated by compromise or settlement. Settlement agreements must resolve any issue relating to costs. In the absence of specific agreement, each party will bear its own costs.

(e) Payment of costs. Costs are to be paid directly to the party entitled to reimbursement, who must file a certificate of satisfaction within 20 days of receipt of payment.

Rule LR54.2. Award of statutory attorney's fees.

The court will not consider a motion to award statutory attorney's fees until moving counsel shall first advise the court in writing that after consultation the parties are unable to reach an agreement in regard to the fee award. The statement of consultation shall set forth the date of the consultation, the names of the participating attorneys, and the specific results achieved.

Within 60 days after the entry of final judgment, (i) the parties shall file an appropriate stipulation and request for an order if they have reached an agreement on an award of statutory attorney's fees; or (ii) if the parties have not reached such an agreement, the moving party shall file the statement of consultation required by this rule and a motion, supported by affidavits, time records, or other evidence, setting forth the factual basis for each criterion which the court will consider in making such an award.

Rule LR56.1. Summary judgment motions.

(a) Notice of dispositive motion. Any party who intends to file a motion for summary judgment, or any other dispositive motion, must file and serve notice of intention to file a dispositive motion within 10 days following the close of the discovery period.

(b) Filing of dispositive motions. All dispositive motions and supporting briefs must be filed and served within 30 days following the close of the discovery period.

(c) Limitations of length of briefs. The page limitations for briefs on all motions, established by LR7.3(d), apply to summary judgment briefs. Principal briefs are limited to 20 pages, and reply briefs are limited to 10 pages.

(d) Form of briefs — Summary judgment motion by claimant. A party requesting summary judgment on its claim shall set out a statement of the nature of the matter before the court, a statement of facts, and a statement of the questions presented as provided in LR7.2(a)(1)-(3). The party shall also set out the elements that it must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and the specific, authenticated facts existing in the record or set forth in accompanying affidavits that would be sufficient to support a jury finding of the existence of those elements.

In a responsive brief the opposing party may, within 30 days after service of the summary judgment motion and brief, set out the statements required by LR7.2(a)(1)-(3) and also set out the elements that the claimant must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and either identify any element as to which evidence is insufficient (and explain why the evidence is insufficient), or point to specific, authenticated facts existing in the record or set forth in accompanying affidavits that show a genuine issue of material fact, or explain why some rule of law (e.g., an applicable statute of limitations) would defeat the claim. The failure to file a response may cause the court to find that the motion is uncontested.

In a reply brief the claimant may, within 10 days of service of the response, address matters newly raised in the response.

(e) Form of briefs — Summary judgment motion by defending party. A party moving for summary judgment upon an opposing party's claim shall set out a statement of the nature of the matter before the court, a statement of facts, and a statement of the questions presented as provided in LR7.2(a)(1)-(3). The party shall also set out the elements that the claimant must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and explain why the evidence is insufficient to support a jury verdict on an element or elements, or why some other rule of law would defeat the claim.

In a responsive brief the party having made the challenged claim may, within 30 days after service of the summary judgment motion and brief, file with the court a response that sets out the statements required by LR7.2(a)(1)-(3) and also sets out the elements that it must prove (with citations to supporting authority), and the specific, authenticated facts existing in the record or set forth in accompanying affidavits that would be sufficient to support a jury finding of the existence of the disputed elements. The failure to file a response may cause the court to find that the motion is uncontested.

In a reply brief the defending party may, within 10 days of service of the response, address matters newly raised in the response.

(f) Summary judgment motions and trial dates. The pendency of summary judgment motions will not serve to delay trial on the date set by the court in accordance with LR40.1. If by the time set for trial, the court has been unable to reach any pending summary judgment motion, the case will nonetheless be reached according to the trial calendar. The court will rule on the motion at the outset of trial.

(g) Failure to timely file dispositive motions. A dispositive motion which is not noticed and filed within the prescribed time will not be reached by the court prior to trial unless the court determines that its consideration will not cause delay to the proceedings.

CASE NOTES

Where plaintiffs failed to respond to defendants' motion for summary judgment, under Local Rules 7.3(k) and this rule, the Court could find the motion to be uncontested and grant it without further notice, but because of plaintiffs' pro se status, the Court acted with an abundance of caution and examined the motion closely on its merits. Baraukas v. Danek Med., Inc., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5122 (M.D.N.C. January 13, 2000).

VIII. PROVISIONAL AND FINAL REMEDIES

Rule LR65.1. Injunctions and temporary restraining orders.

(a) Form of application. A prayer for a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction set forth in a pleading will not bring the issue before the court prior to the time of trial. If a ruling before trial is desired, a party must separately file a motion and brief.

(b) Hearing. A motion seeking a preliminary injunction will be considered and determined on the official court file including affidavits, briefs and other documents filed in support thereof without oral argument or testimony unless otherwise ordered by the court. A request for leave to present oral argument or testimony in support of or in opposition to such motion must be included in the motion or response.

Rule LR65.1.1. Sureties.

(a) Surety. Except as otherwise provided by law or by order of the court, all bonds, guaranties, and undertakings must be secured by:

(1) Deposit of cash, certified check, certificate of deposit, bank draft, Post Office money order, negotiable bond, note of the United States as defined in 6 U.S.C. § 15, or other bond or note of the United States with the agreement provided for in 6 U.S.C. § 15;

(2) Undertaking of guaranty of a company holding a certificate of authority from the U.S. Department of Treasury as an acceptable surety on federal bonds; which company has filed with the clerk the designation of a resident of this district as agent, dated not more than three years earlier than the date of the undertaking, upon whom process may be served; and which company is otherwise qualified by having met all requirements of the law of North Carolina and of 6 U.S.C. §§ 6-13; or

(3) Undertaking of individual surety or sureties who are residents of North Carolina and own property within the state worth double the amount of the bond or undertaking over all exemptions, debts, liabilities and other obligations.

(b) Individual sureties.

(1) An individual surety must execute an affidavit of justification giving full name, occupation, residence address, business address, and facts showing his financial qualification to act as surety.

(2) A husband and wife are considered as one surety.

(3) Members of the bar, officers and employees of this court, and employees of the Department of Justice serving in this district may not serve as sureties in any suit, action, or proceeding in this court.

(c) Approval. All bonds, guaranties, undertakings, and individual sureties must be approved by a judge or the clerk. Individual sureties who justify on the basis of ownership of real or personal property may be required to provide proof of ownership such as a certificate of title, and a title search conducted by an attorney other than the attorney representing the party on whose behalf the bond is being posted, and give security in the form of a proper security instrument or deed of trust.

Rule LR67.1. Registry funds.

(a) Deposit with the Treasury. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the clerk shall deposit registry funds in the Treasury of the United States.

(b) Investments in income-earning account. Upon motion or upon consent of the parties, the court may order the clerk to invest certain registry funds in an income-earning account. The order may issue upon a consent request of the parties or upon motion by an interested party, in accordance with the following procedures:

(1) A consent request must demonstrate the assent of all interested and potentially interested parties. The agreement must demonstrate that the investment will be in compliance with applicable provisions of the law regulating the investment of public monies, provide for proper disposition of future earnings, and set out with particularity the following information:

(i) the form of deposit;

(ii) the amount to be invested;

(iii) the type of investment to be made by the clerk of court; i.e., passbook savings, insured money fund, CD, etc.;

(iv) the name and address of the private institution where the deposit is to be made;

(v) the rate of interest at which the deposit is to be made, if possible;

(vi) the length of time the money should be invested, whether it should automatically be reinvested, etc., keeping in mind that some investments include a penalty for early withdrawal;

(vii) the name and address of the designated beneficiary or beneficiaries;

(viii) the form of additional collateral to be posted by the private institution in the event that the standard F.D.I.C. coverage is insufficient to insure the total amount of deposit; and

(ix) such other information that may be deemed appropriate under the facts and circumstances of the particular case.

The consent request shall be accompanied by a proposed order directing the clerk to proceed with the investment.

(2) A motion may be filed ex parte by an interested party, and the court may enter an order in advance of the filing of any response thereto. The motion must set forth the showings required in subsection (b)(1) concerning the investment and must include a proposed order. The motion must be served on all known interested parties who do not join therein. The court may determine the motion upon the record or may, in its discretion, call for a hearing on the matter. If an order is entered prior to the filing of a response in opposition, the motion will be reconsidered by the court.

(3) When an order is issued to invest or reinvest registry funds into some form of interest-bearing account or accounts, the party presenting the order shall deliver a copy of said order either personally, or by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the Clerk, or in his absence, the Chief Deputy Clerk or the Financial Deputy. Further, it shall be incumbent upon the presenting party to confirm that the appropriate action has been accomplished by the Clerk in accordance with the provisions of the particular order.

(4) The clerk of court shall deduct from the income earned the fee specified in Chapter VII, Guide to Judiciary Policies and Procedures, for deposit to the credit of the Judiciary, without order of the court.

IX. SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS

Rule LR72.1. Authority of magistrate judges.

(a) Designation to conduct trials and to perform other duties.

(1) Magistrate judges are authorized and designated to exercise the powers and authority and to perform the duties enumerated in 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) and (2).

(2) Magistrate judges serving this court are specially designated to:

(i) exercise civil jurisdiction to conduct any or all proceedings in jury or non-jury cases and order the entry of judgment in any case referred to them for that purpose, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c), and

(ii) exercise jurisdiction to try persons accused of, and sentence persons convicted of, criminal misdemeanors.

(b) Authority to perform additional duties. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(3), magistrate judges are authorized to perform additional functions and duties, including the following:

(1) Conduct pretrial conferences, settlement conferences, omnibus hearings, and related pretrial proceedings;

(2) Conduct calendar and status calls for civil and criminal calendars, and determine motions to expedite or postpone the trial of cases;

(3) Conduct arraignments in cases not triable by the magistrate judge to the extent of taking a not guilty plea or noting a defendant's intention to plead guilty or nolo contendere and ordering a presentence report in appropriate cases;

(4) Conduct voir dire and select petit juries for the court;

(5) Accept petit jury verdicts in civil cases in the absence of a district judge;

(6) Conduct preliminary proceedings relating to the potential revocation of probation;

(7) Issue subpoenas, writs of habeas corpus ad testificandum or habeas corpus ad prosequendum, or other orders necessary to obtain the presence of parties or witnesses or evidence needed for court proceedings;

(8) Order the exoneration or forfeiture of bonds;

(9) Conduct proceedings for the collection of civil penalties of not more than $200 assessed under the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971, in accordance with 46 U.S.C. § 1484(d);

(10) Conduct examinations of judgment debtors, in accordance with Rule 69 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure;

(11) Review petitions in civil commitment proceedings under Title III of the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act;

(12) Conduct such hearings as are necessary or appropriate, and submit to a district judge proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition of applications for judgment by default pursuant to Rule 55(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, or motions to set aside judgments by default pursuant to Rule 55(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure;

(13) Consider an application by complainant pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(f)(1), and in such circumstances as may be deemed just, appoint an attorney for such complainant, and authorize the commencement of an action without payment of fees, costs, or giving security therefor;

(14) Issue orders or warrants authorizing acts necessary in the performance of the duties of administrative and regulatory agencies and departments of the United States Government;

(15) Conduct extradition proceedings, in accordance with 18 U.S.C. § 3184;

(16) Supervise proceedings conducted pursuant to letters rogatory, in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1782;

(17) Require compliance with local rules with regard to pro se petitions under 42 U.S.C. § 1983;

(18) Issue orders of withdrawal from the court registry of funds pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2042; and

(19) Perform any additional duty which is not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States.

Rule LR72.2. Assignment of matters to magistrate judges.

Duties and cases may be assigned or referred to a magistrate judge by a court order entered in the action or by the clerk in compliance with standing orders or the instructions of a district judge.

Rule LR72.3. Consent to designation of magistrate judge as a special master.

(a) Consent. Upon the written consent of the parties, a magistrate judge may be designated to serve as a special master in any civil proceeding without a showing of exceptional conditions or that the issues are complicated.

(b) Reference. Reference of a case to a magistrate judge as a special master is within the discretion of the court, but the consent of the parties may not thereafter be withdrawn without approval of the referring district judge.

Rule LR72.4. Stay of order.

Application for stay of a magistrate judge's order pending review of objections made thereto must first be made to the magistrate judge.

Rule LR73.1. Consent to civil trial jurisdiction.

(a) Consent to exercise of civil trial jurisdiction.

(1) The consent of a party to the exercise of civil trial jurisdiction authorized in 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(1) may be communicated to the clerk by letter, or by a form available in the clerk's office, signed by the party or the party's attorney.

(2) The consent of a party will be placed in the public court file only when the court has ordered the case referred to a magistrate judge.

(b) Withdrawal of consent. After a case has been referred, the consent of the parties to the exercise of a magistrate judge's jurisdiction may not be withdrawn without the approval of the district judge who signed the order of reference.

(c) Reference discretionary. Reference of a case to a magistrate judge after consent of all parties is within the discretion of the court.

X. DISTRICT COURTS AND CLERKS

Rule LR77.1. Court schedule and conduct of business.

(a) Headquarters. The headquarters of the court shall be located in Greensboro. All pleadings and papers submitted for filing shall be presented to the clerk in Greensboro, except that papers may be filed in open court in any court location when permitted by a judge.

(c) Scheduling. Conferences, hearings, and trials will be scheduled by the court or by the clerk at the court's direction. All sessions of court will commence at 9:30 a.m. unless otherwise announced.

(c) Naturalization. Petitions for naturalization will be considered by the court at Greensboro, North Carolina, on Fridays after the third Mondays in February, May, August, and on the Friday before Thanksgiving in November. In its discretion, the court may at other times consider petitions for naturalization when made by members of the armed services, seamen on merchant vessels registered under the laws of the United States, members of the immediate families and dependents of such personnel, or other persons in exceptional circumstances.

Rule LR77.2. Orders and judgments grantable by clerk.

(a) Orders and judgments. The clerk is authorized to grant the following orders and judgments without direction by the court:

(1) Consent orders for the substitution of attorneys.

(2) Upon a showing of good cause, consent orders in civil actions for extending for not more than 30 days (plus an additional 30 days in exceptional circumstances) the time within which to answer or otherwise plead or to respond to motions.

(3) Consent orders dismissing an action, except in cases governed by Fed.R.Civ.P. 23 or 66.

(4) Entry of default and judgment by default as provided for in Fed.R.Civ.P. 55(a) and 55(b)(1).

(5) Orders canceling liability on bonds other than orders disbursing funds from the court's registry account.

(6) Orders appointing persons to serve process pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 4(c).

(7) Ex parte orders as authorized in LR7.3(g). Applications for extensions of time, orders or judgments shall be accompanied by a proposed order.

(b) Clerk's action reviewable. The actions of the clerk may be suspended, altered, or rescinded by the court upon cause shown.

Rule LR77.3. Court libraries.

The court's libraries are maintained for the exclusive use of the judges and the clerk.

Rule LR79.1. Access to court records.

(a) Access. The public records of the court are available for examination in the clerk's office during normal business hours.

(1) No file, pleading, paper, or index card may be removed from the clerk's office without the approval of a judge.

(2) When removal of a file or document is authorized, the clerk will set a date for its return and will require a written receipt for its release.

(b) Copies. The clerk will make and furnish copies of official court records upon request and upon payment of prescribed fees. The official court record consists of items filed on the right-hand side of the case folder. Items filed on the left-hand side of the case folder, while available for public examination, may not be copied without the written approval of a judge. Requests for copies of items filed on the left-hand side of the case folder must be submitted in writing to the clerk of court, who will refer the matter to the appropriate judge and advise the requester of the judge's decision.

Rule LR79.2. Release of information by court personnel.

All court personnel, including, among others, the United States Marshal and deputies, the clerk of court and deputies, the chief probation officer and officers, the chief pretrial services officer and officers, bailiffs, and court reporters, are prohibited from disclosing to any person, without authorization by the court, information relating to a case that is not part of the public records of the court. This proscription applies to the divulgence of information concerning arguments and hearings held in chambers or otherwise outside the presence of the public.

Rule LR79.3. Designation of contents of record on interlocutory appeal.

With respect to an interlocutory appeal, the clerk shall certify and forward to the court of appeals a record consisting of copies of the docket entries, all pleadings (complaints, counterclaims, cross claims, and answers thereto), and the order from which the appeal is taken.

Rule LR80.1. Official court reporters.

The duties and responsibilities of official court reporters of this court are set forth in the Court Reporters Management Plan which is a public document on file with the office of the clerk.

XI. LOCAL CIVIL RULES FOR WHICH THERE ARE NO CORRESPONDING FEDERAL RULES

Rule LR83.1. Attorneys.

(a) Roll of attorneys. The bar of this court shall consist of those attorneys admitted to practice before this court.

(b) Eligibility and admission. To be eligible for admission to the bar of the court, a person must be admitted to the practice of law in this state and in good standing with the Supreme Court of North Carolina. A judge will consider a request for admission only upon motion made in open court by a member of the bar of this court. Prior to being admitted to practice, an attorney must certify, on the application for admission to practice form provided for use in this court, that the attorney has read and is familiar with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, the Federal Rules of Evidence, the Local Rules of this Court, and the North Carolina Code of Professional Responsibility. Attorneys seeking admission to practice in this court must take an oath or make an affirmation in a form approved by the court and pay the filing fee required by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts for admission to practice in this district. When the application form prescribed for use by this court is completed and the appropriate filing fee has been paid to the Clerk of Court of this court, a judge or magistrate judge of the Eastern or Western Districts of North Carolina, upon being presented evidence that the above-mentioned application has been filed and that the requisite fees have been paid, may admit an attorney who is qualified according to these rules to practice before this court. Attorneys already admitted to the bars of either the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina or the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina may be admitted to the bar of this court upon tendering the application and fees required by this rule, together with a copy of the order admitting the attorney to practice in either of the aforementioned districts.

(c) Litigants must be represented by a member of the bar of this court.

(1) Litigants in civil and criminal actions and parties in bankruptcy proceedings before this court, except governmental agencies and parties appearing pro se, must be represented by at least one attorney who is a member of the bar of this court. The service of all pleadings and papers permitted by the Federal Rules of Civil and Criminal Procedure shall be sufficient if made upon such attorney.

(2) All pleadings and papers presented to the clerk for filing, except by attorneys representing governmental agencies or parties appearing pro se, shall be rejected by the clerk unless signed by a member of the bar of this court.

(d) Special appearance.

(1) Attorneys who are members in good standing of the bar of the highest court of any state or the District of Columbia may practice in this court for a particular case in association with a member of the bar of this court. By entering an appearance, an attorney agrees that:

(i) the attorney will be responsible for ensuring the presence of an attorney who is familiar with the case and has authority to control the litigation at all conferences, hearings, trials and other proceedings; and that

(ii) the attorney submits to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the court for any misconduct in connection with the litigation for which the attorney is specially appearing.

(2) A member of the bar of this court who accepts employment in association with a specially appearing attorney is responsible to this court for the conduct of the litigation or proceeding and must sign all pleadings and papers, except for certificates of service. Such member must be present during pretrial conferences, potentially dispositive proceedings, and trial.

(e) Withdrawal of appearance. No attorney who has entered an appearance in any civil or criminal action shall be permitted to withdraw an appearance, or have it stricken from the record, except on order of the court.

Rule LR83.2. Courtroom practices.

(a) Addressing the court. Attorneys or pro se litigants shall rise when addressing the court, and shall make all statements to the court from behind the counsel table or the lectern facing the court. They shall not approach the bench, except upon the permission of the court.

(b) Questioning witnesses. While questioning witnesses, attorneys or pro se litigants shall remain seated or standing behind the counsel table or standing at the lectern. They shall not approach the witness except for the purpose of examining the witness with respect to an exhibit. Only one attorney for each party may participate in the examination or cross-examination of a witness.

Rule LR83.3. Settlement.

Attorneys or pro se litigants shall immediately notify the clerk of an agreement in principle reached by the parties which resolves the litigation as to any or all parties. Whenever any civil action scheduled for a jury trial is settled or otherwise disposed of in advance of the actual trial, then, except for good cause shown, all jury costs, including any marshal's fees, mileage and per diem, may be assessed equally against the parties or otherwise assessed as determined by the court, unless the clerk's office is notified at least one full business day prior to the date on which the action is scheduled for trial or in sufficient time to notify jurors that their presence will not be required.

Rule LR83.4. Sanctions.

(a) Imposition of sanctions. If an attorney or a party fails to comply with a local rule of this court, the court may impose sanctions against the attorney or party, or both. The court may make such orders as are just under the circumstances of the case, including the following:

(1) an order that designated matters or facts shall be taken as established for purposes of the action;

(2) an order refusing to allow the failing party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting the party from introducing designated matters in evidence;

(3) an order striking out pleadings or parts thereof, or staying proceedings until the rule is complied with, or dismissing the action or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the failing party;

(4) an order imposing costs, including attorney's fees, against the party, or the party's attorney, who has failed to comply with a local rule.

(b) Sanctions within the discretion of the court. The imposition of sanctions for violation of a local rule is discretionary with the court. In considering the imposition of sanctions, the court may consider whether a party's failure was substantially justified or whether other circumstances make the imposition of sanctions inappropriate.

CASE NOTES

Disqualification Sanction Not Necessary. — Ethical violations of plaintiff's out-of-state law firm were relatively minor, inasmuch as not all ex parte contacts with defendant's employees were improper and defendants did not suffer any harm; therefore, the disqualification sanction was not necessary to vindicate the public interest in preventing overreaching by counsel or to restore public confidence. McCallum v. CSX Transp., Inc., 149 F.R.D. 104 (M.D.N.C. 1993).

Rule LR83.5. Custody and disposition of trial exhibits, sealed documents, and filed depositions.

(a) Custody with the clerk. Unless otherwise directed by the court, all trial exhibits admitted into evidence in criminal and civil actions shall be placed in the custody of the clerk, except as provided in section (b) below.

(b) Custody with the offering party. All exhibits not suitable for filing and transmission to the court of appeals as a part of a record on appeal shall be retained in the custody of the party offering them, subject to the orders of the court. Such exhibits shall include, but not be limited to, the following types of bulky or sensitive exhibits: narcotics and other controlled substances, firearms, ammunition, explosive devices, jewelry, liquor, poisonous or dangerous chemicals, money or articles of high monetary value, counterfeit money, and documents or physical exhibits of unusual bulk or weight.

At the conclusion of a trial or proceeding, the party offering such exhibits shall retain custody of them and be responsible to the court for preserving them in their condition as of the time admitted until any appeal is resolved or the time for appeal has expired. The party retaining custody shall make such exhibits available to opposing counsel for use in preparation of an appeal and be responsible for their safe transmission to the appellate court, if required.

(c) Disposition of exhibits, sealed documents, and filed depositions by clerk. Any exhibit, sealed document, disk, or filed deposition in the clerk's custody more than 30 days after the time for appeal, if any, has expired, or an appeal has been decided and mandate received, may be returned to the parties or destroyed by the clerk. Complaints, answers, motions, responses and replies, whether sealed or not, must be forwarded to the General Services Administration for permanent storage. The confidentiality of sealed documents cannot be assured after the case file is transferred to the General Services Administration for records holding.

(d) Depositions. Depositions read into the court record are considered exhibits for which the parties shall be responsible as provided in section (b) above. Depositions on file admitted into evidence but not read into the record shall be retained in the clerk's custody and disposed of as authorized in section (c) of this rule.

Rule LR83.6. Disposition of private property.

(a) Disposition. Whenever, during the course of an investigation, a trial of any action, or any other proceeding in this court, money, contraband, or other private property comes into the possession or custody of a law enforcement officer or an officer of the court, which will require an order of this court to determine its ownership or proper disposition, it is the responsibility of the attorney representing the party having original custody or control of such property to apply to the court for an order determining its ownership and directing its disposition.

(1) This application must be made before the conclusion of the litigation while all parties are before the court in person or through their attorneys.

(2) If the court cannot determine ownership or the proper disposition on the basis of the record or information from the parties before it, application must be made for an order providing for temporary custody pending institution of appropriate civil proceedings to determine final ownership or disposition.

(b) Sanctions. The court may impose sanctions as provided in LR83.4 against any party or attorney whose failure to comply with this rule necessitates a subsequent hearing or court proceeding which would otherwise not have been necessary.

Rule LR83.7. Claim of unconstitutionality; three-judge courts.

(a) Notification. If at any time prior to the trial of an action to which (1) neither the United States nor any of its officers, agencies, or employees is a party and a party draws in question the constitutionality of an act of Congress affecting the public interest, or (2) neither the state nor any of its agencies, officers, or employees is a party and a party draws in question the constitutionality of any statute of that state affecting the public interest, that party, to enable the court to comply with 28 U.S.C. § 2403, shall notify the court. The notice shall be in writing, stating the title of the action, the statute in question, and the respects in which it is claimed the statute is unconstitutional, and a copy shall be served upon the Attorney General of the United States and the United States Attorney in this district or the North Carolina Attorney General, as applicable.

(b) Additional copies. In any action or proceeding required by act of Congress to be heard and determined by a district court of three judges, all pleadings, papers, and documents filed subsequent to the designation of the court, as provided in 28 U.S.C. § 2284(a), shall be filed in triplicate, original and two copies, with the clerk. The clerk shall make timely distribution of these documents to the designated judges.

Rule LR83.8. Photographs, recordings, and broadcasts.

Radio or television broadcasting and the use of photographic, electronic, or mechanical reproduction or recording equipment without court permission is prohibited in courtrooms or their environs. “Environs” is defined to mean the courtrooms, the offices of the judges, clerk, probation officers, or any corridor connecting or adjacent thereto. Ceremonial proceedings such as the administration of oaths of office to appointed officials of the court, naturalization, and presentation of portraits, may be photographed in or broadcast from the courtroom under the supervision of the court. This rule does not apply to courtroom proceedings by other government agencies.

Rule LR83.9. Courtroom security.

The United States Marshal or a Court Security Officer shall be present at all proceedings held in open court, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

Rule LR83.10a. Purpose of mediated settlement conferences.

These rules govern reference of selected civil actions for mediated settlement conferences. Their purpose is to provide for an informal process conducted by a mediator with the objective of helping the parties reach a mutually acceptable settlement of their dispute. The rules are not intended to force settlement upon any party. The rules shall be construed to secure the speedy, fair, and economical resolution of controversies while preserving the right of all parties to a conventional trial.

CASE NOTES

Legal analysis in deciding Rule 15 motions should not be materially different merely because a case involves court-annexed arbitration from which the parties may seek a trial de novo. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. v. Southern Ry., 110 F.R.D. 95 (M.D.N.C. 1986) (decided prior to the 1993 amendments).

In ruling on a motion to amend the pleadings made immediately before an arbitration hearing, the court should consider, with slightly reduced rigor, the factors of delay and prejudice, as are appropriate to a trial setting. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. v. Southern Ry., 110 F.R.D. 95 (M.D.N.C. 1986) (decided prior to the 1993 amendments).

Rule LR83.10b. Selection of cases for mediated settlement conferences.

(a) Automatic selection by these Rules. Several categories of civil cases are automatically selected for mediated settlement conferences, without specific order by the court. These categories include, according to designations on the civil cover sheet (1) contract [categories 110-140 and 160-195, specifically excluding 150-153], (2) tort [all categories, 310-385], (3) civil rights [all categories, 440-444], (4) labor [all categories, 710-791], (5) property rights [all categories, 820-840], (6) antitrust [category 410], (7) banks and banking [category 430], (8) securities/commodities/exchange [category 850], and (9) environmental matters [category 893]. The parties to these actions shall discuss mediation plans at the Fed.R.Civ.P. 26(f) meeting of the parties and report such plans in their Rule 26(f) Report in preparation for the entry of an initial pretrial order. See LR16.1(b)(c) and (d). Cases wherein the United States is a party or the plaintiff appears pro se are not included within this automatic selection for mediation.

(b) Discretionary selection by the court. In its discretion, the court may order a mediated settlement conference in any action not automatically selected under section (a), above. After entry of such an order, the parties shall have 20 days to file a statement identifying an agreed-upon mediator.

(c) Stipulated selection by the parties. In any case where selection for a mediated settlement conference is not automatic under section (a) of this rule, the parties may file a stipulation for mediation. In such stipulation, the parties may state any agreements they have reached regarding the identity of the mediator, the timing of the conference, and any modification of the procedures described by these rules.

(d) Exemption from mediation. Any party, or parties jointly, may file a motion for exemption from mediation. Such a motion will be granted only on a showing of good cause. A general assertion that a case is not likely to settle or that settlement possibilities are remote does not constitute good cause.

Rule LR83.10c. Mediators.

(a) Certification. The clerk shall maintain a list of mediators who have agreed to serve under these rules. The list shall identify areas of subject matter expertise of each mediator according to the categories identified in LR83.10b(a) and include such biographical information as each mediator may wish to provide. Attorneys who have been certified as mediators pursuant to the rules of the North Carolina Supreme Court and who have at least 8 years of civil trial practice or membership on the faculty of an accredited law school may serve on the panel of mediators. Further, attorneys who were on the court's panel of arbitrators as of December 1, 1993 may serve on the panel of mediators. Appointment to the list does not guarantee any mediator that he or she will be appointed to serve in any case before the court.

(b) Compensation of mediators. All mediators under these rules, whether agreed upon by the parties or selected by the clerk, shall be compensated by the parties at the hourly rate set by the Chief Judge, except that the court may permit a higher compensation rate to an agreed-upon mediator on joint application by the parties and a showing that the case involves extraordinary complexities. The parties shall make payment directly to the mediator at the termination of the mediated settlement conference, whether or not the case is settled. The mediator shall be compensated for up to 2 hours of preparation time and for the time expended in the conference. The only compensable expense of the mediator is travel mileage at the ordinary government rate. The mediator's fee and travel expense shall be paid in one equal share by the plaintiff (or plaintiffs), one equal share by the defendant (or defendants), and one equal share by any third party (or parties), unless otherwise agreed by all parties or ordered by the court in the interest of fairness.

(c) Compensation of mediators when a party is unable to pay. If a party contends it is unable to pay its share of the mediator's fee, that party shall, before the conference, file a motion with the court to be relieved of the obligation to pay. The motion shall be accompanied by an affidavit of financial standing. The mediated settlement conference should proceed without payment by the moving party, and the court will rule on the motion upon completion of the case. The court will take into consideration the outcome of the case, whether by settlement or judgment, and may relieve the party of its obligation to pay the mediator if payment would cause a substantial financial hardship. If the party is relieved of its obligation, the mediator shall remain uncompensated as to that portion of his or her fee, a circumstance that reflects the mediator's duty of pro bono service.

Rule LR83.10d. Selection of the mediator.

(a) Selection by agreement. The parties are encouraged to select their own mediator by agreement. If, within 20 days of the initial pretrial order, the parties file with the clerk a statement identifying an agreed-upon mediator, such statement shall be effective to select the mediator, and the clerk will notify the mediator of his or her selection. The parties may select an agreed-upon mediator who is not on the clerk's list of certified mediators, but any such mediator must, prior to service, agree to be bound by all provisions of these rules.

(b) Selection by the clerk. If no timely statement pursuant to section (a) of this rule is filed, the clerk shall appoint a mediator from the certified list. The appointment is within the discretion of the clerk, who may consider subject matter expertise in making the appointment. The clerk shall give notice of the appointment to the mediator and the parties.

(c) Disqualification. On motion made to the court not later than 20 days before a scheduled mediated settlement conference, a mediator may be disqualified by the court for bias or prejudice as provided in 28 U.S.C. §144. Further, a mediator shall disqualify himself or herself if the mediator could be required to do so under 28 U.S.C. § 455 if he or she were a justice, judge, or magistrate judge.

(d) Copies of the pleadings. On request of the mediator, the clerk shall furnish to the mediator a copy of the complaint, answer, and any third-party pleadings in the action.

Rule LR83.10e. Procedures for mediated settlement conferences.

(a) Time period for the mediated settlement conference. The mediated settlement conference shall be held during the discovery period unless the court specifically orders otherwise.

(b) Scheduling the mediated settlement conference. The mediated settlement conference shall ordinarily be held in the office of the mediator, but may be held at any other place agreed to by the parties and the mediator. Because of space limitations, the federal courthouses are not available for mediated settlement conferences. After conferring with the attorneys for the parties regarding scheduling matters, the mediator shall determine the place and time of the conference (within the period established by these rules), and give notice to the parties.

(c) Submission of position papers to mediator. No later than five (5) business days before the scheduled date of the mediated settlement conference, any party may submit a confidential position paper to the mediator. The position paper shall be limited in length to five (5) pages, double-spaced, and may be accompanied by up to five (5) pages of exhibits. Position papers are confidential, shall be held so by the mediator, and need not be served on other parties. The purpose of these submissions is to help the mediator become familiar with the assertions of the parties, and the parties may agree to the submission of additional information if they believe the information will facilitate the mediated settlement conference.

(d) Duties of parties, representatives, and attorneys. The following persons shall be physically present at the entire mediated settlement conference unless excused by the mediator:

(1) Individual parties; an officer, manager, or director of a corporate or entity party, such representative to have full authority to negotiate on behalf of the entity and to approve or recommend a settlement;

(2) At least one attorney of record for each represented party; and

(3) A representative of the insurance carrier for any party against whom a claim is made. The representative must have full authority to settle the claim and must be a person other than the carrier's outside counsel.

Upon reaching a settlement agreement at a mediated settlement conference, the parties shall forthwith reduce the agreement to writing and prepare a stipulation of dismissal or consent judgment for presentation to the court.

(e) Authority of the mediator. The mediator is authorized by these rules to exercise control over the mediated settlement conference and to direct all proceedings therein. The mediator is specifically authorized to meet or consult privately with any party or their counsel during the conference. The mediator may report in writing to the court, with copies to the parties, any conduct of any party that may be in violation of these rules for mediated settlement conferences.

(f) Duties of the mediator. At the beginning of the mediated settlement conference, the mediator shall describe the following matters to the parties:

- (1) The process of mediation,
- (2) The differences between mediation and other forms of conflict resolution,
- (3) The costs of the mediated settlement conference,
- (4) The fact that the mediated settlement conference is not a trial, the mediator is not a judge, and the parties retain their right to trial if they do not reach settlement,
- (5) The circumstances under which the mediator may meet alone with either of the parties or any other person,
- (6) The conditions under which communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference,
- (7) The inadmissibility of negotiating statements and offers at trial,
- (8) The fact that the court will not permit parties in other litigations to conduct discovery regarding the mediation in this case,
- (9) The duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the parties, and
- (10) The fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent of the parties.

The mediator may recess or suspend the conference at any time and set a schedule for reconvening. It is the duty of the mediator to determine if an impasse has been reached or mediation should for any reason be terminated. He shall then inform the parties that mediation is terminated.

(g) Agreements to modify mediation procedures. By agreement filed with the court, the parties, with the consent of the mediator, may modify the mediation procedures described in these rules, except that the parties may not alter time limitations set by these rules or order of the court.

(h) Sanctions for failure to appear. If a person fails to attend a mediated settlement conference without good cause, the court may impose on that person (or any associated party) any lawful sanction, including, but not limited to, the imposing of the cost of attorney's fees, mediator's fees, and expenses of persons incurred in attending the conference.

CASE NOTES

Cited in Ashley Furn. Indus., Inc. v. SanGiacomo N.A. Ltd., 187 F.3d 363 (4th Cir. 1999).

Rule LR83.10f. Completion of the mediated settlement conference.

When the mediated settlement conference is completed, the mediator shall immediately submit to the clerk a report of the status of the case, on a form supplied by the clerk. If the case is resolved, it is the duty of the parties to file a stipulation of dismissal or consent judgment. If the case is not resolved, it proceeds without further order of the court in accordance with the local rules of the court.

Rule LR83.10g. Evaluation of the mediation program.

The mediation program established by these rules is experimental in nature and will be periodically reviewed by the court. For purposes of evaluation of the program, the mediator, the attorneys, and the litigants may be requested to complete confidential evaluation reports at the completion of the mediation.

These reports shall be kept confidential by the clerk and shall be maintained in a file separate and apart from the case file. The clerk shall compile information from the evaluation reports to assist the court in determining the effectiveness of the mediation program.

Rule LR83.11a. Purpose of disciplinary rules.

The court, in furtherance of its inherent power and responsibility to supervise attorneys who practice before it, adopts these rules of disciplinary enforcement.

Rule LR83.11b. Attorneys convicted of a crime.

(a) Suspension upon filing of judgment. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment of conviction demonstrating that any attorney practicing before the court has been convicted in any court of the United States, or the District of Columbia, or of any state, territory, commonwealth or possession of the United States, of a serious crime as herein defined, the court may enter an order immediately suspending that attorney from practice until final disposition of a disciplinary proceeding before this court, or until final disposition is made by the appropriate state bar.

(b) Definition of serious crime. "Serious crime" shall include any felony and also any other crime which involves false swearing, misrepresentation, fraud, willful failure to file income tax returns, deceit, bribery, extortion, misappropriation, theft, or an attempt or a conspiracy of solicitation of another to commit a "serious crime."

(c) Conviction of serious crime. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment of conviction of an attorney for a serious crime, the court may refer the matter to counsel for institution of a disciplinary proceeding before the court, providing that a disciplinary proceeding so instituted will not be brought to final hearing until all appeals from the conviction are concluded. Alternatively, the court may refer the matter to the appropriate state bar.

(d) Conviction of other crime. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment of conviction of an attorney for a crime not constituting a "serious crime," the court may refer the matter to counsel for whatever action counsel may deem warranted, including the institution of a disciplinary proceeding before the court. Alternatively, the court may refer the matter to the appropriate state bar. The court is not restricted from taking such other disciplinary action as is within the inherent authority of the court.

(e) Reinstatement after suspension. An attorney suspended under the provisions of this rule will be reinstated immediately upon the filing of a certificate demonstrating that the conviction of a serious crime has been reversed, but the reinstatement will not terminate any disciplinary proceeding then pending, the disposition of which shall be determined by the court on the basis of all available evidence pertaining to both guilt and the extent of discipline to be imposed.

Rule LR83.11c. Discipline imposed by another court or by a state bar.

(a) Duty to inform the clerk. Any attorney practicing before this court shall, upon being subjected to public discipline by any court or by the state bar of any state, promptly inform the clerk of such action.

(b) Show cause order. Upon the filing of a certified copy of a judgment or order demonstrating that an attorney has been disciplined by another court or by a state bar, this court shall forthwith issue a notice containing a copy of the judgment or order and an order to show cause directing that the attorney inform this court within 20 days why imposition of the identical discipline by this court would be unwarranted and the reasons therefor.

(c) Imposition of discipline. Upon expiration of 20 days from service of the show cause order, this court will presume the misconduct to have been established and will impose the identical discipline unless the attorney demonstrates that upon the face of the record upon which the discipline in another jurisdiction is predicated it clearly appears:

- (1) that the attorney was deprived of due process; or
- (2) that there was such an infirmity of proof that this court could not accept as final the conclusion on that subject; or
- (3) that the imposition of the same discipline by this court would result in grave injustice; or
- (4) that the misconduct established is deemed by this court to warrant substantially different discipline. Where this court determines that any of said elements exist, it shall enter such order as it deems appropriate. The grant of a stay of discipline by the other jurisdiction shall constitute grounds for a similar grant by this court.

Rule LR83.11d. Disbarment on consent or resignation in another court or before a state bar.

Any attorney practicing before this court who shall be disbarred on consent or resign from the bar of any court or state while an investigation into allegations of misconduct is pending, shall promptly inform the clerk, and upon the filing with this court of a certified copy of the judgment or order accepting such disbarment on consent or resignation, shall cease to be permitted to practice before this court.

Rule LR83.11e. Standards for professional conduct.

(a) Disciplinary enforcement. For misconduct defined in these rules, and after notice of an opportunity to be heard, any attorney practicing before this court may be disbarred, suspended from practice, reprimanded, or subjected to such other disciplinary action as the circumstances may warrant.

(b) Standards for conduct. Acts or omissions by an attorney practicing before this court which violate the Code of Professional Responsibility adopted by this court shall constitute misconduct and shall be grounds for discipline, whether or not the act or omission occurred in the course of an attorney-client relationship. The Code of Professional Responsibility adopted by this court is the Code of Professional Responsibility adopted by the Supreme Court of North Carolina, as amended from time to time by that state court, except as otherwise provided by a specific rule of this court.

Rule LR83.11f. Disciplinary proceedings.

(a) Referral of complaints to counsel or to a state bar. When allegations of misconduct by an attorney practicing before this court come to the attention of a judge of this court, whether by complaint or otherwise, the judge may refer the matter to counsel for investigation and the prosecution of a formal disciplinary proceeding or the formulation of such other recommendation as may be appropriate. Alternatively, the judge may refer the matter to the appropriate state bar. The court is not restricted from taking such other disciplinary action as is within the inherent authority of the court.

(b) Recommendation by counsel. Should counsel conclude after investigation that a formal disciplinary proceeding should not be initiated against the attorney, counsel shall file with the court a recommendation for disposition of the matter, whether by dismissal, admonition, or deferral and shall set forth the reasons for such recommendation.

(c) Initiation of disciplinary proceedings. To initiate formal disciplinary proceedings, counsel shall obtain an order of the court upon a showing of probable cause requiring the attorney to show cause within 20 days after service of the order why the attorney should not be disciplined.

(d) Hearing. Upon the attorney's answer to the order to show cause, if any issue of fact is raised or the attorney wishes to be heard, the court shall set the matter for prompt hearing.

Rule LR83.11g. Disbarment on consent while under disciplinary investigation or prosecution.

(a) Consent to disbarment. Any attorney practicing before this court who is the subject of an investigation into, or a pending proceeding involving, allegations of misconduct may consent to disbarment by delivering to this court an affidavit stating that the attorney desires to consent to disbarment and that:

- (1) the attorney's consent is freely given,
- (2) the attorney is aware of the pending investigation or proceeding,
- (3) the attorney acknowledges the material facts of misconduct, and
- (4) the attorney consents because the attorney knows that he or she could not defend successfully against charges of misconduct.

(b) Order of disbarment. Upon receipt of the required affidavit, this court shall enter an order disbaring the attorney.

(c) Record. The order disbaring the attorney on consent shall be a matter of public record. However, the affidavit required under the provisions of this rule shall not be publicly disclosed or made available for use in any other proceeding except upon order of this court.

Rule LR83.11h. Reinstatement.

(a) Automatic reinstatement; Reinstatement by order. An attorney suspended for 3 months or less shall be automatically reinstated at the end of the period of suspension upon filing with the court an affidavit of compliance with the provisions of the suspension order. An attorney suspended for more than three months or disbarred may not resume practice until reinstated by order of this court.

(b) Time for petition. An attorney who has been disbarred after hearing or by consent may not petition for reinstatement until the expiration of at least 5 years from the effective date of disbarment.

(c) Procedure. Petitions for reinstatement by a disbarred or suspended attorney under this rule shall be filed with the court. Upon receipt of the petition, the chief judge shall assign the matter for a prompt hearing before a judge (or judges) of the court and may, in the chief judge's discretion, refer the petition to counsel for investigation. The judge assigned to the matter shall schedule a hearing at which petitioner shall have the burden of demonstrating by clear and convincing evidence that the attorney has the moral qualifications, competency, and learning of the law required for admission to practice law before this court, and that the attorney's resumption of the practice of law will not be detrimental to the integrity and standing of the Bar or the administration of justice or subversive of the public interest. In all proceedings upon a petition for reinstatement, cross-examination of the witnesses of the attorney and the submission of evidence, if any, in opposition to the petition shall be conducted by counsel if the matter has been referred to counsel by the court.

(d) Costs. Petitions for reinstatement under this rule shall be accompanied by an advanced cost deposit in an amount to be set from time to time by the court to cover anticipated costs of the reinstatement proceeding.

(e) Order of reinstatement. If the petitioner is found to be unfit to resume the practice of law, the petition shall be dismissed. If the petitioner is found to be fit to resume the practice of law, the judgment shall reinstate the petitioner, provided that the judgment may make reinstatement conditional upon the payment of all or part of the costs of the proceedings, and upon the making of partial or complete restitution to parties harmed by the petitioner whose conduct led to the suspension or disbarment. Provided further that if the petitioner has been suspended or disbarred for 5 years or more, reinstatement may be conditioned, in the discretion of the judge, upon the furnishing of proof of competency and learning in the law, which proof may include certification by the bar examiners of North Carolina of the attorney's successful completion of an examination for admission to practice subsequent to the date of suspension or disbarment.

(f) Successive petitions. No petition for reinstatement under this rule shall be filed within 1 year following an adverse judgment upon a petition for reinstatement filed by or on behalf of the same person.

Rule LR83.11i. Attorneys specially appearing.

Whenever an attorney appears for purposes of a particular proceeding, the attorney shall be deemed thereby to have conferred disciplinary jurisdiction upon this court for any alleged misconduct of that attorney arising in the course of or in preparation for such proceeding.

Rule LR83.11j. Service of papers and other notices.

Service of an order to show cause instituting a formal disciplinary proceeding shall be made by personal service or by registered or certified mail addressed to the attorney. Service of any other papers or notices required by these rules shall be deemed to have been made if such paper or notice is addressed to the attorney or to the attorney's counsel and is posted by regular mail.

Rule LR83.11k. Appointment of counsel.

Whenever counsel is to be appointed by these rules to investigate allegations of misconduct or to prosecute disciplinary proceedings or in conjunction with a reinstatement petition, the court may appoint as counsel the disciplinary agency of the Supreme Court of North Carolina or any other disciplinary agency having jurisdiction. Alternatively, the court may appoint as counsel one or more members of the Bar, provided, however, that the respondent-attorney may move to disqualify an attorney so appointed who is or who has been engaged as an adversary of the respondent-attorney in any manner. Counsel, once appointed, may not resign unless permission to do so is given by the court. Nothing in this rule limits the court's authority to refer any matter to the appropriate state bar for investigation, prosecution of disciplinary proceedings, or reinstatement.

Rule LR83.11l. Duties of the clerk.

(a) Obtaining certificate of conviction. Upon being informed that an attorney practicing before this court has been convicted of any crime, the clerk shall determine whether the clerk of the court in which such conviction occurred has forwarded a certificate of such conviction to this court. If certificate has not been so forwarded, the clerk shall promptly obtain a certificate and file it with this court.

(b) Obtaining certificate of disciplinary judgment or order. Upon being informed that an attorney practicing before this court has been subjected to discipline by another court or a state bar, the clerk shall determine whether a certified copy of the disciplinary judgment or order has been filed with this court, and, if not, the clerk shall promptly obtain a certified copy of the disciplinary judgment or order and file it with this court.

(c) Clerk to inform other jurisdictions. Whenever it appears that any attorney convicted of any crime, disbarred, suspended, censured, or disbarred on consent by this court is admitted to practice law in any other jurisdiction or before any other court, the clerk shall, within 10 days of that conviction, disbarment, suspension, censure, or disbarment on consent, transmit to the disciplinary authority in such other jurisdiction, or for such other court, a certificate of the conviction or a certified copy of the judgment or order of disbarment, suspension, censure, or disbarment on consent, as well as the last known office and residence addresses of the attorney.

(d) Clerk to inform the National Discipline Data Bank. The clerk shall, likewise, promptly notify the National Discipline Data Bank operated by the American Bar Association of any order imposing public discipline upon any attorney practicing before this court.

Rule LR83.11m. Jurisdiction.

Nothing contained in these rules shall be construed to deny to this court such powers as are necessary for the court to maintain control over proceedings conducted before it, such as proceedings for contempt under Title 18 of the United States Code or under Rule 42 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure or other sanctions under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or these Local Rules.

PART II. LOCAL RULES OF CRIMINAL PRACTICE

I. SCOPE, PURPOSE AND CONSTRUCTION

II. PRELIMINARY PROCEEDINGS

III. INDICTMENT AND INFORMATION

IV. ARRAIGNMENT AND PREPARATION FOR TRIAL

Rule LCrR12.1. Pretrial motions in criminal cases.

(a) Time for filing. The time for filing pretrial motions and responses thereto shall be set by the court at arraignment in all cases in which a defendant pleads not guilty.

(b) Extensions of time for filing. Motions for an extension of time to file pretrial motions must be made within the time set for the filing of motions and will be granted only upon a showing of good cause for delay.

(c) Motions adopting other motions. Motions adopting motions filed by codefendants must clearly identify by character and date of filing the motions adopted. General adoptions which do not identify specifically the motions adopted may be summarily denied by the court.

Rule LCrR16.1. Discovery motions.

Discovery motions filed by a defendant who is represented by counsel must include a statement that counsel has fully reviewed the government's case file before bringing the motion or a statement that such file is not available for counsel's review. The filing of a discovery motion which does not include such certification may cause the court to deny the motion, to disapprove payment to court-appointed counsel in regard to a motion made unnecessary by examination of the file, or to impose other sanctions under LCrR57.3 in the discretion of the court.

V. VENUE

Rule LCrR24.1. Juries.

(a) Examination of jurors.

(1) The court will conduct the examination of prospective jurors.

(2) When the court's examination is completed, attorneys and parties appearing pro se may request that the court ask additional questions to the prospective jurors.

(b) Contacts prohibited.

(1) All parties, witnesses, and attorneys shall avoid any extra-judicial contact or communication with a grand juror or member of a petit jury venire or panel who has been or may be selected in a case in which that person is involved. No person may have any extra-judicial contact or communication, either directly or indirectly, with a grand juror, member of a petit jury venire or panel which may reasonably have the effect of influencing, or which is intended to influence, the grand juror, potential petit juror, or sitting petit juror.

(2) Attorneys for parties shall inform their clients and witnesses of this rule.

(3) No person shall approach a juror, either directly or through any member of his immediate family, in an effort to secure information concerning the juror's background.

(4) No provision of this rule is intended to prohibit communication with a petit juror after the juror has been dismissed from further service, so long as the communication does not tend to harass, humiliate, or intimidate the juror in any fashion.

(c) Disclosure of names and addresses of prospective jurors.

(1) The names of prospective jurors for any session of court or for a specific case may not be disclosed prior to their reporting for duty except in compliance with instructions of the court. The clerk will make available to counsel for the parties, and to any parties appearing pro se, a list which sets forth the name, general address, and occupation of each potential juror when court is opened for the session for which the jurors have been summoned.

(2) The names, address, and telephone numbers of persons who have served as jurors may not be disclosed by the clerk's office without court permission.

Rule LCrR26.1. Documents, other than exhibits, used at trial.

When counsel expects to examine or cross-examine a witness concerning a document which will not be offered as an exhibit, counsel shall have at trial a copy of the document for use by the judge.

Rule LCrR30.1. Instructions to the jury.

In all cases tried to a jury, a party who desires the jury to be instructed on a particular point must set it out in writing and furnish it to the court before jury arguments commence.

VI. TRIAL

VII. JUDGMENT

Rule LCrR32.1. Sentencing recommendations by probation officers.

Any sentencing recommendation made to the court by a probation officer is for the judge's use only and shall not be disclosed to the parties at any time.

VIII. STAY OF EXECUTION

IX. SUPPLEMENTARY AND SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS

X. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Rule LCrR44.1. Representation of certain defendants.

The Court's Plan for Furnishing Representation and Services to defendants who are financially unable to obtain an adequate defense, pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act of 1964, as amended, is a public document available through the office of the clerk of this court. The court's plan as it now exists and as it is hereinafter amended shall have the same force and effect as a local rule of this court. When deemed appropriate by the court, the court may appoint an attorney to represent a defendant even though such attorney's name does not appear on the panel of attorneys drawn pursuant to the plan.

Rule LCrR50.1. Prompt disposition of criminal cases.

The Court's Plan for Prompt Disposition of Criminal Cases in compliance with Rule 50(b) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, the Speedy Trial Act of 1974 (18 U.S.C. § 3161, et seq.), and the Federal Juvenile Delinquency Act (18 U.S.C. §§ 5036, 5037), as approved by the Judicial Council, is a public document available through the office of the clerk of this court. The Court's Plan for the Prompt Disposition of Criminal Cases as it now exists and as it is hereafter amended and approved by the Judicial Council shall have the same force and effect as a local rule of this court.

XI. LOCAL CRIMINAL RULES FOR WHICH THERE ARE NO CORRESPONDING
FEDERAL RULESRule LCrR57.1. Incorporation of certain local rules of civil practice.

Local Rules of Civil Practice 1.1, 1.2, 6.1, 7.1, 7.2, 65.1.1, 72.1, 77.1, 77.3, 79.1, 79.2, 80.1, 83.1, 83.2, 83.5, 83.6, 83.8, 83.9, and 83.11a-m shall apply fully to criminal proceedings, and shall be interpreted consistent with the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and other Local Rules of Criminal Practice.

Rule LCrR57.2. Fair trial directives.(a) Prohibited statements; Attorney's obligations.*

(1) An attorney participating in or associated with a grand jury or other investigation of a criminal matter shall not make or participate in making any extrajudicial statement which a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication and which does more than state without elaboration:

- (i) Information contained in a public record.
- (ii) That the investigation is in progress.
- (iii) The general scope of the investigation including a description of the offense and, if permitted by law, the identity of the victim.
- (iv) A request for assistance in apprehending a suspect or assistance in other matters and the information necessary thereto.
- (v) A warning to the public of any dangers.

(2) An attorney associated with the prosecution or defense of a criminal case to be tried by a jury shall not make or participate in making any extrajudicial statement which a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication which relates to:

(i) The character, reputation, or prior criminal record (including arrests, indictments, or other charges of crime) of the accused.

(ii) The possibility of a plea of guilty to the offense charged or to a lesser offense.

(iii) The existence or contents of any confession, admission, or statement given by the accused or his refusal or failure to make a statement

(iv) The performance or results of any examinations or tests or the refusal or failure of the accused to submit to examinations or tests.

(v) The identity, testimony, or credibility of a prospective witness.

(vi) Any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, the evidence, or the merits of the case.

(3) Section (a)(2) above does not preclude an attorney from announcing:

(i) The name, age, residence, occupation, and family status of the accused.

(ii) Any information necessary to aid in the apprehension of an accused or to warn the public of any dangers.

(iii) A request for assistance in obtaining evidence.

(iv) The identity of the victim of the crime.

(v) The fact, time, and place of arrest, resistance, pursuit, and use of weapons.

(vi) The identity of investigating and arresting officers or agencies and the length of the investigation.

(vii) The nature, substance, or text of the charge.

(viii) Quotations from or references to public records of the court in the case.

(ix) The scheduling or result of any step in the judicial proceedings.

(x) That the accused denies the charges.

(4) The foregoing provisions of this rule do not preclude an attorney from replying to charges of misconduct publicly made against the attorney or from participating in the proceedings of legislative, administrative, or other investigative bodies.

(b) Attorney's employees and associates. An attorney must exercise reasonable care to prevent employees and associates from making any extrajudicial statement which the attorney would be prohibited from making under this rule.

Rule LCrR57.3. Sanctions.

(a) Imposition of sanctions. If an attorney or a party fails to comply with a local rule of this court, the court may impose sanctions against the attorney or party, or both. The court may make such orders as are just under the circumstances of the case, including the following:

(1) an order that designated matters or facts shall be taken as established for purposes of the action;

(2) an order refusing to allow the failing party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting the party from introducing designated matters in evidence;

(3) an order striking out pleadings or parts thereof, or staying proceedings until the rule is complied with, or dismissing the action or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the failing party;

(4) an order imposing costs, including attorney's fees, against the party, or the party's attorney, who has failed to comply with a local rule.

(b) Sanctions within the discretion of the court. The imposition of sanctions for violation of a local rule is discretionary with the court. In considering the imposition of sanctions, the court may consider whether a party's failure was substantially justified or whether other circumstances make the imposition of sanctions inappropriate.

PART III. LOCAL RULES OF BANKRUPTCY PRACTICE

I. COMMENCEMENT OF CASE; PROCEEDINGS RELATING TO PETITION AND ORDER FOR RELIEF

Rule LBR1002-1. Petition — General.

Number of copies of petition required for filing. The following number of copies, together with the original, of a voluntary or involuntary bankruptcy petition shall be filed with the Bankruptcy Court:

- For Chapter 7: original and two copies
- For Chapter 11: corporation and partnership; original and five copies; individual, original and four copies
- For Chapter 12: original and three copies
- For Chapter 13: original and one copy

The copy requirements listed above include copies required for service on the Bankruptcy Administrator. They do not include any filed stamped copies for the debtor or the debtor's attorney.

NOTE

See also LBR5005-1 for return of "Filed" stamped copies of documents.

Rule LBR1004-1. Petition — Partnership.

Evidence of general partner's consent. Within fifteen (15) days of the filing of the petition, a written consent to the petition, which is signed by all general partners, shall be filed with the Bankruptcy Court.

NOTE

See also Federal Bankruptcy Rule 1004 for requirement that general partners consent to the petition.

Rule LBR1006-1. Fees — Installment payments.

(a) Chapter 13 cases. In a Chapter 13 case, a meeting of creditors called pursuant to Section 341 of the Bankruptcy Code shall not be concluded until the entire filing fee is paid.

(b) Chapter 7 cases. In a Chapter 7 case, a debtor shall not receive a discharge until the entire filing fee is paid.

Rule LBR1007-1. Lists, schedules, and statements.

(a) Corporate resolution. Within fifteen (15) days of the filing of a voluntary bankruptcy petition by a corporation, the debtor shall file the original or a certified copy of the resolution of the debtor's board of directors authorizing the filing of the bankruptcy petition.

(b) Schedule of creditors. Any Schedule of Creditors containing more than five creditors should be alphabetized.

NOTE

See also LBR1007-2 for mailing matrix requirements.

Rule LBR1007-2. Mailing — List or matrix.

(a) Matrix required upon filing. As a requirement of filing, all voluntary Chapter 7, 11, and 12 petitions must be accompanied by an alphabetized matrix containing the names and addresses of all parties-in-interest, including the creditors and appropriate governmental agencies. The mailing matrix shall be submitted on a computer diskette as set forth in instructions provided by the Clerks Office.

(b) Matrix required upon Chapter 13 conversion. As a requirement of conversion by the debtor of a Chapter 13 case to any other bankruptcy relief chapter, the debtor must file, at the time of filing the motion for conversion, an alphabetized matrix containing the names and addresses of any additional creditors to be included in the bankruptcy case and/or any creditors not included under the Chapter 13 Plan. If there are five or more additional creditors, the matrix shall be submitted on a computer diskette as set forth in instructions provided by the Clerks Office.

NOTE

See also Local Bankruptcy Guide Section 4.1 Bankruptcy Guide Section 4.2 for guidelines on for guidelines on creditors matrix, and Local submission of matrix on diskette.

Rule LBR1009-1. Amendments to lists and schedules.

(a) Service of amendment to petition, list, schedule, or statement in Chapter 7 and 11 cases. Any amendment to a petition, list, schedule (including Exemption Form 91-C), or statement in a Chapter 7 or 11 case shall be accompanied by a certificate of service in the form of a statement of the date and manner of service, and of the names and addresses of the persons served, certified by the person who made the service. All creditors and other parties in interest shall be notified of any amendment to the claim for property exemptions.

(b) Amendments to schedules or matrix to add new creditors. If an amendment adds additional creditors, the filer shall serve a copy of the Notice of Creditor's Meeting on all new creditors.

(c) Copies required for filing amendments. The number of copies required for filing an amendment to the petition shall be the same as the number of copies required for filing a petition pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 1002-1.

NOTE

Refer to the Bankruptcy Court Fee Schedule determine the amount of fee due for amending or contact the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office to the schedule of creditors.

Rule LBR1020-1. Chapter 11 small business cases — General.

(a) Election to be considered a small business in a Chapter 11 reorganization case. In a Chapter 11 case, a debtor that is a small business under § 1121(e) of the Bankruptcy Code may elect to be considered a small business by filing a written statement of election no later than 60 days after the date of the order for relief or by such later date as the Bankruptcy Court, for cause, may fix.

(b) Approval of the disclosure statement.

(1) Conditional approval. If the debtor is a small business in a Chapter 11 case, the Bankruptcy Court may, upon application of the plan proponent, conditionally approve a disclosure statement filed in accordance with Bankruptcy Rule 3016. On or before conditional approval of the disclosure statement, the Bankruptcy Court shall

- (A) fix a time within which the holders of claims and interests may accept or reject the plan;
- (B) fix a time for filing objections to the disclosure statement;
- (C) fix a date for the hearing on final approval of the disclosure statement to be held if a timely objection is filed; and
- (D) fix a date for the hearing on confirmation.

(2) Application for Bankruptcy Rule 3017. If the disclosure statement is conditionally approved, Bankruptcy Rule 3017(a), (b), (c), and (e) do not apply. Notice of conditional approval of the disclosure statement shall be given in accordance with Bankruptcy Rule 2002 and may be combined with notice of the hearing on confirmation of the plan. Objections to the disclosure statement shall be filed at any time before final approval of the disclosure statement or by an earlier date as the Bankruptcy Court may fix, transmitted to the Bankruptcy Administrator, and served on the debtor, the Trustee, any committee appointed under the Bankruptcy Code, and any other entity designated by the Bankruptcy Court.

II. OFFICERS & ADMINISTRATION; NOTICES; MEETINGS; EXAMINATIONS; ELECTIONS; ATTORNEYS AND ACCOUNTANTS

Rule LBR2002-1. Notice to creditors and other interested parties.

(a) Notice and hearing or period of objections. The period of notice and hearing or period of objection required by the Bankruptcy Court shall not be less than ten (10) days, unless Bankruptcy Rule 2002, other Bankruptcy Rule, or the Bankruptcy Court, for cause, otherwise provides.

(b) Filing request for notice in Chapter 13 cases. If a request to receive notice is made in a Chapter 13 case, a copy of the request shall be sent to the appropriate Chapter 13 Standing Trustee.

Rule LBR2004-1. Depositions & Examinations.

(a) Service of motions for examination under Rule 2004. Motions for examination under Rule 2004 shall be served upon the debtor, Trustee (if any), the party whose examination is requested, and any other party required to be served by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy.

(b) Use of videotape for recording examinations. Only upon the consent of all parties will a motion for the use of videotape as the sole method for recording an examination be considered by the Bankruptcy Court.

NOTE

See also Local Bankruptcy Guide Section 6.5
for guidelines on 2004 examinations.

Rule LBR2007.1-1. Trustees and examiners (Ch. 11).

(a) Request for an election. A request to convene a meeting of creditors for the purpose of electing a Trustee in a Chapter 11 case shall be filed and transmitted to the Bankruptcy Administrator in accordance with Bankruptcy Rule 5005 within the time prescribed by § 1104(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. Pending Bankruptcy Court approval of the person elected, a person appointed Trustee under § 1104(d) shall serve as Trustee.

(b) Manner of election and notice. An election of a Trustee under § 1104(b) of the Code shall be conducted in the manner provided in Bankruptcy Rules 2003(b)(3) and 2006. Notice of the meeting of creditors convened under § 1104(b) shall be given in the manner and within the time provided for notices under Bankruptcy Rule 2002(a). A proxy for the purposes of voting in the election may be solicited by a committee appointed under § 1102 of the Code and by any other party entitled to solicit a proxy under Bankruptcy Rule 2006.

(c) Application for approval of appointment and resolution of disputes. If it is not necessary to resolve a dispute regarding the election of the Trustee or if all disputes have been resolved by the Bankruptcy Court, the Bankruptcy Administrator shall promptly file an application for approval of the appointment of the elected person, except that the application does not have to contain names of parties in interest with whom the Bankruptcy Administrator has consulted. If it is necessary to resolve a dispute regarding the elections, the Bankruptcy Administrator shall promptly file a report informing the Bankruptcy Court of the dispute. If no motion for the resolution of the dispute is filed within ten (10) days after such report is filed, the Bankruptcy Administrator will file a motion to approve the appointment of a Trustee.

Rule LBR2016-1. Compensation of professionals.

Any professional employed in a Chapter 11 case under § 327 of the Bankruptcy Code may file a motion to allow the filing of quarterly statements for interim allowance. Unless the Bankruptcy Court orders otherwise, the quarterly statements shall be filed on or before the 20th day of the month following the end of the calendar quarter for services rendered for the previous quarter. Absent Bankruptcy Court Order, any late filed statements shall be processed in the succeeding quarter.

NOTE

See also Local Bankruptcy Guide Section 8 for guidelines on employment of professionals.

Rule LBR2090-1. Attorneys — Admission to practice.

(a) Attorneys licensed in this judicial district. Except as otherwise provided herein, only those persons who are admitted to practice before the United States District Court for this judicial district will be allowed to practice before the Bankruptcy Court.

(b) Pro Hac Vice appearance.

(1) Any attorney who is a member in good standing of the bar of any District Court of the United States other than the Middle District of North Carolina, may, upon written motion and in the discretion of the Bankruptcy Court, appear and participate pro hac vice in any case or proceeding without general admission before this Bankruptcy Court if:

(A) the movant requesting to appear pro hac vice files a written motion containing the following:

1. The movant's name, residence, office address and telephone number, and state bar number;

2. The courts to which the movant has been admitted to practice and the respective dates of admission;

3. A statement by the movant of the good standing to practice before the courts to which the movant has been admitted;

4. Whether the movant has been disciplined by any court or administrative body, and, if disciplinary proceedings are pending, the details of such proceedings, and whether the movant resigned while disciplinary proceedings were pending;

5. A list of case names and numbers for the three years preceding the application in which the movant has filed for permission to appear pro hac vice before any court within the state of North Carolina;

6. A statement certifying that the movant has read and is familiar with the Local Bankruptcy Rules, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and the Federal Rules of Evidence; and

(B) such privilege is not abused by frequent or regular appearances in separate cases to such a degree as to constitute the maintenance of a regular practice of law in the Middle District of North Carolina.

(2) Any attorney seeking to be admitted to practice pursuant to the provisions of this Rule shall attach a proposed order to the application and shall specifically provide therein that “this order shall not be considered admission to practice generally before this Bankruptcy Court or the United States District Court.”

(c) Attorney representation of debtor. Any attorney who represents a debtor in a bankruptcy case shall remain the responsible attorney of record for all purposes including the representation of the debtor in all matters in the case (including, but not limited to, adversary proceedings and all contested matters) until the case is closed or the attorney is relieved from representation upon motion and Bankruptcy Court order.

(d) Government representation. Any attorney who is an employee of a government agency may represent that governmental agency before the Bankruptcy Court.

NOTE

See also LBR9011-2 for appearances of pro se parties.

Rule LBR2090-2. Attorneys — Discipline and Disbarment.

(a) Standards of conduct. Acts or omissions by an attorney practicing before this court which violate the Rules of Professional Conduct adopted by this court shall constitute misconduct and shall be grounds for discipline, whether or not the act or omission occurred in the course of an attorney-client relationship. The Rules of Professional Conduct adopted by this court are the Revised Rules of Professional Conduct of the North Carolina State Bar adopted by the Supreme Court of North Carolina, as amended from time to time by that state court, except as otherwise provided by a specific rule of this court.

(b) Disciplinary enforcement. For misconduct as defined in these rules, and after notice and an opportunity to be heard, any attorney practicing before this court may be disbarred, suspended from practice, reprimanded, or subjected to such other disciplinary action as the circumstances may warrant.

(c) Duty to inform the clerk. Any attorney practicing before this court shall, upon being subjected to public discipline by any court or by the state bar of any state, promptly inform the clerk of such action.

(d) Referral of complaints to counsel or to a state bar. When allegations of misconduct by an attorney practicing before this court come to the attention of a judge of this court, whether by complaint or otherwise, the judge may refer the matter to counsel for investigation and the prosecution of a formal disciplinary proceeding or the formulation of such other recommendation as may be appropriate. Alternatively, the judge may refer the matter to the appropriate state bar. The court is not restricted from taking such other disciplinary action as is within the inherent authority of the court.

(e) Referral to counsel. Should the judge decide to refer a disciplinary matter to counsel for investigation and the prosecution of a formal disciplinary proceeding, the proceeding shall be referred and shall proceed and be conducted as set forth in Rule 83.11 of the Local Rules of the United State District Court for this judicial district.

(f) Attorneys specially appearing. Whenever an attorney appears in this court for purposes of a particular proceeding, the attorney shall be deemed thereby to have conferred disciplinary jurisdiction upon this court for any alleged misconduct of that attorney arising in the course of or in the preparation for such proceeding.

(g) Jurisdiction. Nothing contained in these rules shall be construed to deny to this court such powers as are necessary for the court to maintain control over proceedings conducted before it, such as proceedings for contempt or other sanctions under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, these local rules or other applicable law.

III. CLAIMS AND DISTRIBUTION TO CREDITORS AND EQUITY INTEREST HOLDERS; PLANS

Rule LBR3001-1. Claims and equity security interests — General.

(a) Transfer of claim with waiver. If the Clerks Office's standard form titled "NOTICE OF TRANSFER OF CLAIM AND WAIVER OF NOTICE" is signed by the attorney for the transferor, the transfer is deemed completed upon the filing of the notice.

(b) Transfer of claim with no waiver. Every transfer of claim shall contain the following information:

- (1) the transferor's specific name and address of record in the case;
- (2) the transferee's name and address;
- (3) the amount of the claim being transferred as listed on the proof of claim;
- (4) the claim or account number being transferred;
- (5) whether a proof of claim has been filed by the transferor or transferee or deemed filed pursuant to § 1111(a) of the Bankruptcy Code;
- (6) whether the transfer is unconditional; and
- (7) if the transfer is not unconditional, whether the transfer was made for security purposes (for example, a transfer made as collateral on a loan).

The above information shall be included in a separate document for each claim. The original and at least two copies of each transfer must be submitted. A Notice of Transfer with the transferor's address of record in the case shall be submitted with the original and each copy.

NOTE

See also Local Bankruptcy Guide Section 6.6
for guidelines on filing objections to claims.

Rule LBR3002-1. Place of filing claims.

(a) Filing claims in Chapter 13 cases. Proofs of claim in Chapter 13 cases shall be filed in duplicate directly with the office of the Standing Trustee to whom the case is assigned. The address of the proper Standing Trustee will be shown on the notice of creditors' meeting. Claims will be dated and stamped as "received" as of the date they arrive in the Standing Trustee's office, and the claim shall be deemed filed with the Bankruptcy Court as of that date.

(b) Filing claims in Chapter 7, 11 and 12 cases. Unless otherwise ordered by the Bankruptcy Court, proofs of claim in Chapter 7, 11 and 12 cases shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court.

NOTE

See also LBR9007-1 for service of pleadings on the Bankruptcy Administrator.

Rule LBR3003-1. Chapter 11 claims.

(a) Period for filing Chapter 11 claims. In a Chapter 11 case, an entity other than a governmental unit shall file a proof of claim (if required to be filed) within ninety (90) days after the date first set for the meeting of creditors called pursuant to Section 341(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, except as otherwise specified by order of the Bankruptcy Court.

(b) Debtor notification of Chapter 11 creditor of disputed, contingent or unliquidated claim. In Chapter 11 cases, the debtor shall notify each creditor whose claim is listed on the schedules as contingent, disputed, or unliquidated of that fact within fifteen (15) days after filing the schedules, or within fifteen (15) days after the addition of such creditor to the schedules. Within three (3) days after service has been made, the debtor shall mail a certificate of service to the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office. Failure to timely notify a creditor that its claim is listed as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated shall result in the creditor's claim being deemed filed in the amount listed as disputed, contingent, or unliquidated, as though a proof of claim had been filed by the creditor.

Rule LBR3018-1. Ballots — Voting on plans.

Unless otherwise ordered, all original ballots shall be returned directly to the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office by the voting parties. Any proponent of a plan shall file a summary of ballots as they appear in the Bankruptcy Court record. The summary shall be filed with the Bankruptcy Clerk not later than three (3) business days prior to the hearing on confirmation unless otherwise set by the Bankruptcy Court.

IV. THE DEBTOR: DUTIES AND BENEFITS*Rule LBR4001-1. Automatic stay — Relief from.

(a) Lifting of stay upon abandonment. In Chapter 7, 11, 12 and 13 cases, the abandonment of property pursuant to Section 554 of the Bankruptcy Code shall have the effect of lifting the automatic stay (of Section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code) with respect to the property abandoned.

(b) Secured creditor inquiry with Chapter 13 debtor. In Chapter 13 cases, affected allowed secured creditors may inquire of the debtor in writing of the following:

1. the status of insurance coverage on property used as collateral;
2. whether insurance premiums are paid directly by the debtor;
3. the location, inspection, and appraisal of the collateral; and
4. the status of direct payments.

Copies of all inquiries shall be sent to the debtor's attorney and the Chapter 13 Standing Trustee.

(c) Taxing authority actions authorized. In Chapter 7 and 13 cases, the Internal Revenue Service and the North Carolina Department of Revenue are authorized:

1. To assess tax liability shown on voluntarily filed returns and other agreed-to-tax liabilities;
2. To offset any refund due a debtor in a Chapter 7 or Chapter 13 case against any allowed, secured or priority tax due the United States Government or the State of North Carolina, provided promptly upon receipt of the refund the taxing authority shall file an amended proof of claim; and

3. To make income tax refunds, in the ordinary course of business, directly to the debtor unless otherwise directed by the Bankruptcy Court or otherwise instructed in writing by the Chapter 7 or Chapter 13 Trustee.

NOTE

See also Local Bankruptcy Guide Section 6.3
for guidelines on filing motions for relief from stay.

Rule LBR4003-1. Exemptions.

Each debtor who is an individual in a Chapter 7 case shall file any claim for exempt property pursuant to Section 522(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code on Local Form #91-C, which form is available from the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court; the debtor's filing of Local Form #91-C must be referenced in Schedule "C" of the debtor's schedules.

Rule LBR4008-1. Reaffirmation.

Reaffirmation Agreements. Reaffirmation Agreements shall be filed on Form B240 as it has been altered to conform with North Carolina state law.

V. COURTS AND CLERKS

Rule LBR5005-1. Filing papers — Requirements.

(a) Filing of papers with the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office. All pleadings (including, but not limited to, complaints, answers, motions and applications) and all prepared orders shall be tendered by the party submitting such document to the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office, and not to the Bankruptcy Judge.

(b) Return of filed stamped copies. Any person desiring return of a "Filed" stamped office copy of a document filed must provide an extra copy of the document plus a self-addressed envelope with sufficient return postage.

Rule LBR5010-1. Reopening cases.

A party seeking to reopen a case for purposes not related to the debtor's discharge, shall file a motion with the court and shall give twenty days notice to all parties-in-interest. The motion shall be served upon the Bankruptcy Administrator, the previously appointed trustee, and any party being added, if any, as a creditor or party-in-interest in the case. The motion shall be accompanied by the appropriate fee to reopen the case, a notice containing the hearing date as obtained from the court and proof of service. The motion shall also state that any objections to reopening the case must be filed at least five days prior to the hearing.

Rule LBR5011-1. Withdrawal of Reference.

(a) Form of request; place for filing. A request for withdrawal, in whole or in part, of the reference of a case or proceeding referred to the Bankruptcy Court, other than a sua sponte request by a bankruptcy judge, shall be by motion filed with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court. All such motions shall be accompanied by the proper filing fee. In addition, all such motions shall clearly and conspicuously state that "RELIEF IS SOUGHT FROM A UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE."

(b) Stay. The filing of a motion to withdraw a reference does not stay proceedings in the Bankruptcy Court. The procedures relating to stay shall be those set forth in FRBP 5011.

(c) Designation of record. The moving party shall serve on all interested parties and file with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court, together with the motion to withdraw the reference, a designation of those portions of the record of the case or proceeding in the Bankruptcy Court that the moving party believes will reasonably be necessary or pertinent to the District Court's consideration of the motion. Within ten (10) days after service of such designation of record, any other party may serve and file a designation of additional portions of the record. If the record designated by any party includes a transcript of any hearing or trial, or a part thereof, that party shall immediately after filing the designation, deliver to the court reporter and file with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court a written request for the transcript and make satisfactory arrangements for the payment of its cost. All parties shall take any action necessary to enable the Clerk to assemble and transmit the record.

(d) Responses to motions to withdraw the reference; reply. Opposing parties shall file with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court, and serve on all parties to the matter for which withdrawal of the reference has been requested, their written responses to the motion to withdraw the reference, within ten (10) days after being served with a copy of the motion. The moving party may serve and file a reply within ten (10) days after service of the response.

(e) Transmittal to and proceedings in district court. When the record is complete for purposes of transmittal, but without awaiting the filing of any transcripts, the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court shall promptly transmit to the Clerk of the District Court the motion and the portions of the record designated. After the opening of a docket in the District Court, documents pertaining to the matter under review by the District Court shall be filed with the Clerk of the District Court, but all documents relating to other matters in the bankruptcy case or adversary proceeding or contested matter shall continue to be filed with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court.

Rule LBR5020-1. Corporate Disclosure.

Disclosure of corporate parent. Any nongovernmental corporate party identified as follows shall file a statement identifying all its parent corporations and listing any public company that owns 10% or more of the party's stock:

- (1) Corporate debtor filing a petition in a voluntary case;
- (2) Petitioning corporate creditor in any involuntary case;
- (3) Corporate party serving on a creditors' committee;
- (4) Corporate party to any adversary proceeding; and
- (5) Corporate party to any contested matter which arises in any pending bankruptcy case.

A party shall file the statement with its initial pleading or within 10 days of being appointed to a creditors committee. A party shall supplement the statement within a reasonable time of any change in the information.

Rule LBR5071-1. Continuance.

No continuance of hearing or trial (whether stipulated to by counsel or not) shall be effective unless:

- (1) the Bankruptcy Court announces it in open Court,
- (2) the Bankruptcy Court approves it by written Order, or
- (3) the courtroom deputy informs the parties that the Bankruptcy Court has authorized the requested continuance.

Requests for continuances of Chapter 7 and Chapter 11 creditors' meetings shall be made to the Bankruptcy Administrator's office, and requests for continuances of Chapter 13 creditors' meetings shall be made to the appropriate Chapter 13 Standing Trustee's office.

Rule LBR5073-1. Photography-recording devices and broadcasting.

All photographic, recording and broadcasting equipment is prohibited from the courtrooms and their environs without Bankruptcy Court permission.

VI. COLLECTION AND LIQUIDATION OF THE ESTATE

VII. ADVERSARY PROCEEDINGS

Rule LBR7003-1. Cover sheet.

Adversary proceeding cover sheet. All complaints initiating adversary proceedings shall be accompanied by a fully completed Adversary Cover Sheet (Form B-104).

Rule LBR7005-2. Filing of discovery materials.

Unless ordered otherwise, the following discovery documents shall not be filed with the Bankruptcy Clerk until there is a proceeding in which the document or proof of service is in issue:

- (a) transcripts of depositions upon oral examination;
- (b) transcripts of depositions upon written questions;
- (c) interrogatories;
- (d) answers or objections to interrogatories;
- (e) requests for the production of documents or to inspect tangible things; responses or objections to requests for the production of documents or to inspect tangible things;
- (g)[f] requests for admissions;
- (h)[g] responses or objections to requests for admissions;
- (i)[h] notices of deposition, unless filing is required in order to obtain issuance of a subpoena in another district; and
- (j)[i] subpoena or subpoena duces tecum.

Any party seeking to compel discovery or other pretrial relief based upon discovery material which has not been filed with the Bankruptcy Clerk must identify the specific portion of the material that is directly relevant and ensure that it is filed as an attachment to the motion for relief.

Rule LBR7026-1. Discovery — General.

Federal Rule 26(a)(1) shall not apply to contested matters and adversary proceedings pending in this Bankruptcy Court.

VIII. APPEALS TO DISTRICT COURT OR BANKRUPTCY APPELLATE PANEL

IX. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Rule LBR9004-1. Papers — Requirements of form.

Each bankruptcy case docket number used in the caption of documents or other papers filed with the Bankruptcy Court shall include the case chapter and division assigned to the case.

Rule LBR9006-1. Time periods.

Unless otherwise ordered or noticed, to ensure review and consideration at a scheduled hearing, any response to a pleading in a contested matter, including, but not limited to, a brief, memorandum or objection, shall be filed not less than three (3) business days before the scheduled hearing date on which the motion is scheduled to be heard.

Rule LBR9007-1. General notice and service provisions.

(a) Designation of parties to provide notice. The Bankruptcy Clerk is authorized to designate the parties who shall provide such notice to creditors and parties-in-interest as required under the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure and the Local Rules of the Bankruptcy Court.

(b) Service required on trustee and attorney for debtor-in-possession. In cases where a Trustee has been appointed, any and all pleadings (except claims) in all matters under the Bankruptcy Code shall be served on the Trustee whether or not such Trustee is a party to the proceeding. In Chapter 11 cases, the attorney for the debtor is to be served in like manner for all matters.

(c) Service required on bankruptcy administrator. In Chapter 7, 11 and 12 cases, the Bankruptcy Administrator shall be served with all pleadings and documents required to be filed with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court and any other documents specifically requested by the Bankruptcy Administrator. In Chapter 13 cases, the Bankruptcy Administrator shall be served with fee applications, motions to dismiss with prejudice, responses to documents filed by the Bankruptcy Administrator and any other documents specifically requested by the Bankruptcy Administrator.

NOTE

See also LBR1002-1 for manner of providing copies of petitions to the Bankruptcy Administrator, and see also LBR3002-1 for filing of proof of claims.

Rule LBR9011-2. Pro se parties.

An individual may appear pro se. All partnerships, corporations, and other business entities (other than an individual conducting business as a sole proprietorship) that desire to appear in cases or proceedings before this Bankruptcy Court must be represented by an attorney duly admitted to practice before the Bankruptcy Court, except in the following instances:

(a) A business entity, employed as a professional pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 327, may file an interim or final fee application pro se;

(b) A business entity may file a claim pro se;

(c) A business entity may appear pro se at a meeting of creditors called pursuant to section 341 of the Bankruptcy Code;

(d) A business entity may file a response to a notice transferring the business entity's claim.

Any individual appearing pro se is subject to these Local Rules, as well as the Federal Bankruptcy Rules and the Bankruptcy Code.

NOTE

See also LBR2090-1 for attorney admission procedures.

Rule LBR9011-4. Signatures.

(a) State bar code number. The state bar number of an attorney shall appear on every petition, pleading, motion or other paper filed with the Bankruptcy Court.

(b) Typed or printed name of attorney or party filer. Every petition, pleading, motion or other paper signed by an attorney or by a party who is not represented by an attorney shall contain a printed or typed name below all signatures.

Rule LBR9013-1. Motion practice.

(a) Multiple requests for relief. Multiple requests for relief in a single motion will be allowed for filing purposes if those requests are based upon identical facts or arise out of the same transaction. Multiple requests for relief not based on identical facts or not arising out of the same transaction shall be filed in separate documents.

(b) Motions regarding property. Any person filing a motion for relief from stay, abandonment or sale of property, or other relief with respect to property, shall attach thereto copies of all documents evidencing the related indebtedness and perfected lien status unless otherwise on file with the Bankruptcy Court, in which case a specific reference should be made to the pleading in which such copies are attached.

NOTE

See also Local Bankruptcy Guide Section 9.3 6 for guidelines on filing applications, motions for guidelines on filing multiple requests in a and claims. and Local Bankruptcy Guide Section

Rule LBR9013-2. Briefs & memoranda of law.

At the time the original of a brief or memoranda of law is filed, a working copy of the brief or memoranda for use by the Bankruptcy Judge shall be delivered to the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office.

Rule LBR9015-1. Jury trial.

(a) Demand.

(1) Form. A demand for jury trial shall state whether the party consents to the trial being conducted by the Bankruptcy Court.

(2) Determination by the Bankruptcy Court. On motion or on its own initiative, the Bankruptcy Court may determine whether there is a right to trial by jury of the issues for which a jury trial is demanded.

(3) Statement of consent. Within the later of (i) the time required for the filing of a response to the pleading in which a jury demand is set forth or (ii) fourteen 14 days after the filing of a jury demand, any other party shall file a statement as to that party's consent to trial by the Bankruptcy Court.

(b) Applicability of certain Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Rules 38, 39, and 47-51 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and Rule 81(c) Fed.R.Civ.P., insofar as they apply to jury trials, apply to cases and adversary proceedings except that a demand made under Rule 38(b) Fed.R.Civ.P. shall be filed in accordance with Bankruptcy Rule 5005.

(c) Applicability of Local Rules of the District Court. To the extent applicable, the Local Rules of the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina shall govern matters pertaining to the conduct of jury trials in this Bankruptcy Court.

Rule LBR9019-2. Mediated Settlement Conference.(a) Order for mediated settlement conference:*

(1) Order by court: The court may, by written order, require parties and their representatives to attend a pre-trial mediated settlement conference in an adversary proceeding pending in the court.

(2) Timing of the order: The court may issue the order at any time after the time for filing answers has expired.

(3) Content of order: The court's order shall:

(A) Require that a mediated settlement conference be held in the case;

(B) Establish a deadline for the completion of the conference;

(C) State clearly that the parties have the right to select their own mediator as provided by section (b);

(D) State the rate of compensation of the court appointed mediator in the event that the parties do not exercise their right to select a mediator pursuant to section (b); and

(E) State that the parties shall be required to pay the mediator's fee at the conclusion of the settlement conference unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(4) Motion to dispense with mediated settlement conference: A party may move the court, within ten (10) days after the court's order, to dispense with the conference. The motion shall state the reasons the relief is sought, and shall be filed with the clerk of court and served on all opposing parties. Any party may file a written objection specifically stating his or her reasons for opposing the motion. The judge will rule upon such motion without a hearing.

(5) Motion for court ordered mediated settlement conference: In cases not ordered to mediated settlement conference, any party may move the court to order such a conference. The motion shall state the reasons why the order should be allowed and shall be served on non-moving parties. Objections may be filed in writing with the court within ten (10) days after the date of the service of the motion. Thereafter, the judge shall rule upon the motion without a hearing.

(6) Motion to authorize the use of other settlement procedures: Within ten (10) days of the court's mediation order, any party may move the court to authorize the use of some other settlement procedure in lieu of a mediated settlement conference. The motion shall state the reasons the authorization is requested and that all parties consent to the motion. The deadline for completion of the authorized settlement procedure shall be as provided by the rules authorizing the procedure or, if none, the deadline shall be as ordered for the mediated settlement conference.

(b) Selection of Mediator:

(1) Selection of Certified Mediator by Agreement of parties: The parties appearing of record may select a mediator certified pursuant to the rules of the Supreme Court of North Carolina. The plaintiff shall file with the court an approved Designation for Mediator notice form indicating Selection of Certified Mediator by Agreement within twenty-one (21) days of the court's order. The notice shall state the name, address, and telephone number of the mediator selected; state the rate of compensation of the mediator; state that the mediator and the parties have agreed upon the selection and rate of compensation; and state that the mediator is certified pursuant to the rules of the Supreme Court.

(2) Nomination and court approval of Noncertified Mediator: The parties may select a mediator who does not meet the certification requirements of the Supreme Court but who, in the opinion of the parties and the judge, is otherwise qualified by training or experience to mediate the action.

If the parties select a noncertified mediator, the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney shall file with the court an approved Designation of Mediator notice form indicating Nomination for Noncertified Mediator within twenty-one (21) days of the court's order. Such nomination shall state the name, address and telephone number of the mediator; state the training, experience or other qualifications of the mediator; state the rate of compensation of the mediator; and state that the mediator and the parties have agreed upon the selection and rate of compensation. The judge shall rule on the nomination without a hearing.

(3) Appointment of Mediator by the court: If the parties cannot agree upon the selection of a mediator, the plaintiff shall submit a Designation of Mediator form indicating a Motion for Court Appointment of Mediator to the court on behalf of the parties. The motion must be filed within twenty-one (21) days after the court's order and shall state that the parties and their attorneys have had a full and frank discussion concerning the selection of a mediator and have been unable to agree.

The motion shall state whether any party prefers a certified attorney mediator, and if so, the judge shall appoint a certified attorney mediator. The motion shall state that all parties prefer a certified, nonattorney mediator, and if so, the judge shall appoint a certified, nonattorney mediator if one is on the list of certified mediators desiring to mediate cases in the district. If no preference is expressed, the judge may appoint a certified attorney mediator or a certified nonattorney mediator.

Upon receipt of a Motion for Court Appointment of Mediator, or in the event the plaintiff has not filed a Notice of Selection of Certified Mediator or Nomination of Noncertified Mediator with the court within twenty-one (21) days of the court's order, the judge shall appoint a mediator certified pursuant to these rules. Only mediators that have indicated their desire to mediate cases in the Middle District shall be appointed.

(4) Mediator information directory: To assist the parties in the selection of a mediator by agreement, a central directory of information on all certified mediators who wish to mediate cases in the Middle District will be collected and maintained by the clerk of court.

(5) Disqualification of Mediator: Any party may move for an order disqualifying the mediator. If the mediator is disqualified, a replacement mediator shall be selected or appointed pursuant to this rule. Nothing in this provision shall preclude mediators from disqualifying themselves upon written notice to the judges and the parties.

(c) The mediated settlement conference:

(1) Where conference is to be held: Unless all parties and the mediator otherwise agree, the mediated settlement conference shall be held in the United States Bankruptcy Courthouse or other public or community building in the Middle District. The mediator shall be responsible for reserving a place and making arrangements for the conference and for giving timely notice of the conference to all attorneys, unrepresented parties and other persons and entities required to attend.

(2) When conference is to be held: The court's order issued pursuant to section (a)(2) shall state a date of completion for the conference. As a guiding principle, the conference should be held after the parties have had a reasonable time to conduct discovery but well in advance of the trial date.

(3) Request to extend date of completion: A party, or the mediator, may request the judge to extend the deadline for completion of the conference. The request shall state the reasons the continuance is sought and shall be served by the movant upon the other parties and the mediator. If any party does not consent to the request, said party shall promptly communicate its objection to the judge.

The judge may grant the request and enter an order setting a new date for the completion of the conference, which date may be set at any time prior to trial. The order shall be served on all parties and on the mediator by the person who sought the extension.

(4) Recesses: The mediator may recess the conference at any time and may set times for reconvening. No further notification is required for persons present at the recessed conference.

(5) Mediated settlement conference is not to delay other proceedings: The mediated settlement conference shall not be cause for the delay of other proceedings in the case, including the completion of discovery, the filing or hearing of motions, or the trial of the case, except by order of the judge.

(d) Duties of parties, representatives, and attorneys:

(1) Attendance: The following persons shall physically attend the entire mediated settlement conference until an agreement is reduced to writing and signed as provided by section (d)(3) or an impasse has been declared, unless excused by the judge or by the mediator with approval of all parties and attorneys:

(A) Parties:

(i) All individual parties;

(ii) Any party that is not a natural person or a government entity shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has been authorized to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle this action; and

(iii) Any party that is a governmental agency shall be represented at the conference by an employee or agent who is not such party's outside counsel and who has authority to decide on behalf of such party whether and on what terms to settle the action; provided, if under law proposed settlement terms can be approved only by a board, the representative shall have authority to negotiate on behalf of the party and to make a recommendation to that board.

(B) Insurance company representatives: A representative of each liability insurance carrier, uninsured motorist insurance carrier, and underinsured motorist insurance carrier which may be obligated to pay all or part of any claim presented in the action. Each carrier shall be represented at the conference by an officer, employee or agent, other than the carrier's outside counsel, who has the authority to make a decision on behalf of the carrier or who has been authorized to negotiate on behalf of the carrier and can promptly communicate during the conference with persons who have decision making authority.

(C) Attorneys: At least one counsel of record for each party or other participant whose counsel has appeared in the action.

(2) Notifying lien holders: Any party or attorney who has received notice of a lien or other claim upon proceeds recovered in the action shall notify the lien holder or claimant of the date, time, and location of the mediated settlement conference and shall request the lien holder or claimant to attend the conference or make a representative available with whom to communicate during the conference.

(3) Finalizing agreement: Upon reaching agreement, either before or during the conference, the parties and others with settlement authority, shall provide a copy of the executed written agreement to the mediator within seven (7) days of the settlement. The mediator shall attach a copy of the written agreement to the Report of Mediator filed pursuant to section (f)(2)(D) of these rules. Failure of the parties to provide a copy of the written agreement to the mediator on a timely basis may result in sanctions.

(e) Sanctions and failure to attend: If any person required to attend the conference pursuant to section (d) of these rules fails to attend without good cause, the judge may impose an appropriate monetary sanction, including but not limited to, the payment of fines, attorneys fees, mediator fees, expenses and losses of earnings incurred by persons attending the conference.

A party seeking sanctions against another party or person shall do so in a written motion stating the grounds for the motion and the relief sought. The motion shall be served upon all parties and on any person against whom sanctions are being sought. If the court imposes sanctions, it shall do so after notice and a hearing, and in a written order making findings of fact and conclusions of law.

(f) Authority and duties of a Mediator:

(1) Authority of a Mediator:

(A) Control of conference: The mediator shall at all times be in control of the conference and the procedures to be followed.

(B) Private consultation: The mediator may meet and consult privately with any participant or counsel during the conference.

(C) Scheduling of the conference: The mediator shall make a good faith effort to schedule the conference at a time that is convenient with the participants, attorneys and mediator. In the absence of agreement, the mediator shall select the date for the conference.

(2) Duties of Mediator:

(A) Generally: The mediator shall define and describe the following to the parties at the beginning of the conference:

(i) The process of mediation;

(ii) The difference between mediation and other forms of conflict resolution;

(iii) The costs of the mediated settlement conference;

(iv) That the mediated settlement conference is not a trial, the mediator is not a judge, and the parties retain their right to trial if they do not reach a settlement;

(v) The circumstances under which the mediator may meet and communicate privately with any of the parties or with any other person;

(vi) Whether and under what conditions communications with the mediator will be held in confidence during the conference;

(vii) The inadmissibility of conduct and settlements as provided by applicable Rules of Evidence;

(viii) The duties and responsibilities of the mediator and the participants; and

(ix) The fact that any agreement reached will be reached by mutual consent.

(B) Disclosure: The mediator has a duty to be impartial and to advise all participants of any circumstances bearing on possible bias, prejudice or partiality.

(C) Declaring impasse: It is the duty of the mediator to timely determine that an impasse exists and that the conference should end.

(D) Report results in conference: The mediator shall submit a Report of Mediator to the judge which indicates the results of the conference. This report shall be filed within 2 weeks of the conclusion of the conference or upon the receipt of a copy of a written settlement agreement, whichever comes first.

If an agreement was reached, the report shall state whether the action will be concluded by consent judgement or voluntary dismissal and shall identify the persons designated to file the consent judgement or dismissal. The mediator's report shall inform the court of the absence of any party, attorney, or insurance representative who was absent without permission from the conference.

The mediator shall attach the written settlement agreement prepared by the parties to the Report of Mediator.

(E) Scheduling and holding the conference: It is the duty of the mediator to schedule the conference and to conduct and conclude the conference prior to the conference completion deadline set out in the court's order. Deadlines for completion of the conference shall be strictly observed by the mediator unless the time limit is changed by a written order of the judge.

(3) Failure of mediator to comply with section (f): The judge may withhold future appointments of any mediator who does not fully comply with the requirement of section (f).

(g) Compensation of the Mediator:

(1) By agreement: When the mediator is stipulated to by the parties, compensation shall be as agreed upon between the parties and the mediator.

(2) By court order: When the mediator is appointed by the court, the mediator shall be compensated by the parties at an hourly rate set by the judge.

(3) Payment of compensation by parties: Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties or ordered by the court, costs of the mediated settlement conference shall be paid in equal shares by the parties. Multiple parties shall be considered one party when they are represented by the same counsel. Parties obligated to pay a share of the costs shall pay them equally unless the court otherwise orders.

(4) Sanctions for failure to pay mediator's fee: Except when excused by these rules or by order of the court, failure of a party to make a timely payment of the party's share of a mediator's fee at the conclusion of the conference may result in the imposition of sanctions.

(h) Communications with the court: All communications concerning mediated settlement conferences should be addressed to the Bankruptcy Administrator.

Rule LBR9022-1. Judgments & Orders — Notice of.

Unless otherwise directed by the Bankruptcy Court, the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office serves Orders. To facilitate this service, the preparer of each Order shall submit the following:

(1) a certificate of service to be signed by the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office,

(2) pre-addressed, stamped (or metered) envelopes for every party (except for Bankruptcy Administrator and Chapter 13 Standing Trustees) listed on the certificate of service, and

(3) sufficient copies of the Order for service by the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office upon the parties listed on the certificate of service.

NOTE

WESTERN DISTRICT COURT RULES

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE MATTER OF RULES ) OF PRACTICE AND ) PROCEDURE IN THIS ) THIS COURT )

ORDER ADOPTING RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

For good cause appearing to the Court,

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. The following Local Rules of Practice and Procedure in the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina be and they are hereby adopted effective at 12:01 a.m. on the 1st day of January, 1999. At that time these local rules shall supersede all local rules theretofore in effect, as well as the Civil Justice Expense and Delay Reduction Plan adopted by this court on September 23, 1993, and shall apply to all pending cases, unless the Court finds that their application in a specific case would result in injustice or hardship.

2. These rules are adopted in compliance with and pursuant to the authority of Rule 83, Fed. R. Civ. P.; Rule 57, Fed. R. Crim. P.; and other federal rules and statutes providing for district court local rules. Those rules are adopted after having provided the public and the bar with an opportunity to comment.

3. These local rules supplement the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure as necessary in all civil suits in the United States District Courts for the Western District of North Carolina. Where applicable, these rules also supplement the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and Bankruptcy. In keeping with the spirit of the Federal Rules, these rules are designed, and will be construed and administered, to enhance speed and flexibility, control expense, and direct the efforts of all involved to the ends of justice.

4. The Clerk is directed to make appropriate arrangements to see that these rules are published promptly and that copies of the rules are made available for distribution to the bar and the public.

This, the 31st day of December, 1998.

PART I. LOCAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Rule LR3.1. Filing fee, bond, security and prohibited sureties.

(A) Filing fee and cost bond. In every civil action commenced in or removed to this court, there shall be filed at the time of commencing or removal a filing fee in such amount as determined according to law. In a civil case commenced in this court, no bond, or cash deposit in lieu of such bond, as security for costs shall be required except on motion and for good cause shown.

(B) Security. In both civil and criminal actions, bonds shall be allowed and taken with security, or one or more securities, as provided by the federal statutes, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The judges of this district may, for good cause, enter orders restricting any bonding company or surety company from being accepted as surety upon any bond in any case or matter in this district.

(C) Prohibited sureties. Members of the Bar, administrative officers or employees of this court, or the United States Marshal and his deputies or assistants, shall not act as surety in any suit, action, or proceeding pending in this court.

Rule LR5.1. Filing of papers, presenting judgments, orders, and communications to judge and sealed records.

(A) Filing of papers. All motions, memoranda, orders, and judgments shall be filed with the court in duplicate. All papers of every sort may be filed at Statesville, Charlotte or Asheville regardless of the Division in which the case may be pending as may suit the convenience of counsel.

(1) A motion for consolidation shall be filed only in one of the cases involved with a notice of the motion being filed in the proposed member case(s). After consolidation, each pleading filed shall continue to note all case numbers involved with sufficient copies for each case file.

(2) All pleadings shall be filed in duplicate, an original and one copy.

(B) Presenting judgments, orders, and communications to judges. Judgments and orders submitted by counsel will ordinarily be sent to the clerk in the appropriate division and not to the judge, unless shortness of time or other good reason appears for sending them directly to the judge. Copies as may be needed will be certified by the clerk.

All communications (letters, briefs, enclosures, etc.) sent to a judge about a case must be sent to opposing counsel and must show that a copy has been sent to opposing counsel.

(C) Seeking continuance. Any motion filed seeking continuance of a hearing or trial shall be filed immediately upon counsel's learning of the need for same and must, in any event, be timely filed.

(D) Sealed matters.

(1) New Civil Cases: A civil complaint may be sealed at the time the case is filed if the complaint is accompanied by an ex parte motion of the plaintiff/petitioner accompanied by an order sealing the case. The case will be listed on the clerk's index as Sealed Plaintiff vs. Sealed Defendant.

(2) Pending cases: A pending case may be sealed at any time upon motion of either party and execution by the court of a written order. Unless otherwise specified in the order, the clerk's case index nor the existing case docket will be modified.

(3) Documents: Documents ordered sealed by the court or otherwise required to be sealed by statute shall be marked as such within the document caption and submitted together with the judge's copy prepared in the same manner. If the document is sealed pursuant to a prior order of the court, the pleading caption shall include a notation that the document is being filed under court seal and include the order's entry date.

No document shall be designated by any party as "filed under seal" or "confidential" unless

- (a) it is accompanied by an order sealing the document;
- (b) it is being filed in a case that the court has ordered sealed; or
- (c) it contains material that is the subject of a protective order entered by the court.

(4) Case closing: Unless otherwise ordered by a court, any case file or documents under court seal that have not previously been unsealed by the court order shall be unsealed at the time of final disposition of the case.

(5) Access to sealed documents: Unless otherwise ordered by the court, access to documents and cases under court seal shall be provided by the clerk only pursuant to court order. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the clerk shall make no copies of sealed case files or documents.

Rule LR7.1. Motions in civil actions.

(A) Motions in writing. Unless made during a hearing or trial, all motions must be put in writing and shall state with particularity the grounds of the motions and shall set forth the relief or order sought. As required by LR 5.1(A), all motions and supporting memoranda shall be filed in duplicate. Any motions other than for dismissal, summary judgment, or default judgment should show that counsel have met and attempted in good faith to resolve areas of disagreement and should set forth which issues remain unresolved.

All motions will ordinarily be ruled upon without oral argument, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(B) Time frames for the filing of responses to motions and for reply motions. Responses to motions, if any, shall be filed within fourteen (14) days of the date on which the motion is served, as evidenced by the certificate of service attached to said motion. When a motion is served by mail, the respondent shall have an additional three (3) days to file a response, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 6(e).

A reply to the response to the motion, if any, shall be filed within seven (7) days of the date on which the response is served, as evidenced by the certificate of service attached to said response. When a response is served by mail, an additional three (3) days is granted in which to file the reply, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 6(e).

The filing of a reply brief is not mandatory, and in any event such a brief should be limited to a discussion of matters newly raised in the response. If the party making the motion does not wish to file a reply brief, it must so inform the Court and opposing counsel in writing by the deadline for filing the reply brief, as set forth above.

CASE NOTES

Defendant's Motion to Stay was treated as a timely response under pretrial order although it was late under the changed Local Rule 7.1 time for filing responses. Holz-Her U.S., Inc. v. Monarch Mach., Inc., 187 F.R.D. 238 (W.D.N.C. 1999).

Failure to attempt resolution. — Where defendants did not attempt to confer with plaintiff prior to filing the motion to compel, nor was any certification as to that requirement attached, the fact that defendants did not confer with opposing counsel and attempt to resolve this dispute before filing the motion to compel was sufficient reason to deny the motion. Ambu, Inc. v. Kohlbrat & Bunz Corp., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 241 (W.D.N.C. January 6, 2000).

Applied in Angel Med. Ctr., Inc. v. Abernathy, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5109 (W.D.N.C. March 10, 2000).

Rule LR7.2. Briefs.

Briefs shall be filed with the motion, except timely motions for extension of time or admission pro hac vice.

Rule LR16.1. Pretrial conferences.

(A) Initial attorneys conference (IAC). The IAC is the first required conference in which counsel for all parties shall confer. During this conference counsel shall discuss and agree upon, if possible, the following matters: whether the case is suitable for reference to ADR, the type and extent of discovery, the setting of a discovery cut-off date, deadline for filing motions, and the dates of anticipated hearings and trial. The IAC is to be held within fifteen (15) days of the filing of the last required responsive pleading or as otherwise ordered by the court. Within five (5) days after the IAC, counsel shall sign and file the Certification and Report of Initial Attorneys' Conference, using the form for same attached hereto in Appendix A, which form is also available in the clerk's office.

(B) Initial pretrial conference (IPC). A pretrial conference initiated by the court will be conducted in all civil matters except cases involving pro se prisoners and Social Security appeals. Unless otherwise directed by an Article III Judge, Magistrate Judges will preside over the pretrial conference irrespective of whether consent to disposition of a case by a Magistrate Judge has been given. Counsel for all parties must appear either in person or by telephone for the conference as determined by the judicial officer.

The IPC is to be held no later than thirty (30) days after the filing of the Certification and Report of Initial Attorneys' Conference or as ordered by the court. The Judge who conducts the conference shall manage the pretrial activity of the case through direct involvement in the establishment, supervision, and enforcement of an order setting a plan for discovery and a schedule for disposition of each case. The Judge shall convene and conduct the IPC as contemplated by Rule 16, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Matters which may be considered during the pretrial conference may include but not be limited to:

- ◆ discovery guidelines and deadlines;
- ◆ Rule 26 disclosures;
- ◆ responses to interrogatories and requests for admission;
- ◆ maintenance of discovery material;
- ◆ video depositions;
- ◆ protective orders;
- ◆ motions deadlines;
- ◆ motions hearings;
- ◆ response to motions;
- ◆ trial subpoenas;
- ◆ counsel's duties prior to trial;
- ◆ trial date;
- ◆ proposed jury instructions;
- ◆ exhibits; and
- ◆ mediation.

Rule LR16.2. Mediation or alternative dispute resolution (ADR).

(A) Mandatory mediated settlement conference. All parties to civil actions are required to attend a Mediated Settlement Conference, unless otherwise ordered by the court. A mediated settlement conference is a pretrial, court-ordered (by local rule) conference of the parties to a civil action and their representatives conducted by a mediator. The procedure for the conference shall be as provided in Local Rule 16.3.

(B) Cases not suitable for ADR. These rules for mandatory ADR shall not apply to habeas corpus proceedings or other actions for extraordinary writs, appeals from rulings of administrative agencies, forfeitures of seized property, and bankruptcy appeals. The Judicial Officer may determine, either sua sponte or on application of any party, that any other case is not suitable for ADR, in which case no ADR procedure will be ordered.

Rule LR16.3. Rules applicable to mediation or alternative dispute resolution (ADR).

(A) Time for proceeding. The Court favors the use of alternative dispute resolution (ADR), ordinarily in the form of a mediated settlement conference, for the efficient and orderly resolution of civil cases. Accordingly, the parties shall in the Certification and Report of Initial Attorneys' Conference indicate their estimation of the usefulness of ADR, their preferred method of ADR, and their opinion of the most advantageous time at which to commence ADR. If the parties fail to submit, or are unable to agree on, a proposed method of ADR, a Mediated Settlement Conference shall be selected as the default. The presiding Magistrate Judge or other Judicial Officer will in the Pretrial Order and Case Management Plan, or an Order for Alternative Dispute Resolution issued shortly thereafter, specify the selected ADR method and order it to commence on a schedule in accordance with the applicable responses given by counsel in the Certification and Report.

(B) Rules for proceeding. Upon entry of an Order for Alternative Dispute Resolution, the case shall proceed as follows:

(1) (1) If a Mediated Settlement Conference is ordered, the ADR proceeding shall be governed by and a mediator shall be selected in accordance with the Rules Governing Mediated Settlement Conferences in Superior Court Civil Actions promulgated from time to time by the North Carolina Supreme Court pursuant to N.C.G.S. § 7A-38 (the "Mediation Rules"), and by the supplemental rules set forth therein.

(a) Wherever the Mediation Rules refer to "Senior Resident Superior Court Judge" and "Administrative Office of the Court," it shall mean "Judicial Officer" and "Clerk of the United States District Court," respectively.

(b) Rule 3(a) of the Mediation Rules is modified to permit the mediated settlement conference to be held in an appropriate facility anywhere in the division in which the case is pending.

(2) If an Alternative ADR Procedure is ordered, the ADR proceeding shall be governed by these Rules and by such other procedural rules submitted by the parties and approved by the Judicial Officer. The rules submitted by the parties shall include, in addition to rules regarding the actual proceeding, provisions setting a deadline for completion of the proceeding; the location for the proceeding; pre-proceeding submissions; and the method for selection and compensation of a mediator, evaluator or other "neutral" to preside over the proceeding.

(3) Nothing in this Alternative Dispute Resolution Program shall be deemed to override the Federal Arbitration Act or any other provision of the United States Code.

(4) The Judicial Officer may, either sua sponte or on application of any party, permit exceptions or deviations from these rules.

(C) Supplemental rules for mediated settlement conferences. In addition to the Mediation Rules, the following rules shall also apply to mediated settlement conferences in the Western District:

(1) No record made. There shall be no record made of any proceedings under these rules.

(2) Telephonic attendance. A party or person required to attend who resides more than 200 miles away by the usual highway route may appear at the mediated settlement conference through telephone communication with the Judicial Officer's prior consent.

(3) Mediator's report of outcome. The mediator's report required by the Mediation Rules shall be issued within seven (7) days of the conclusion of the Mediated Settlement Conference. The mediator may submit his or her report on a report form provided by the Clerk of Court, or using his or her own letterhead or individually developed mediation report form.

(D) Judicial settlement conference.

(1) Mandatory consideration. The Judicial Officer to whom a case is assigned may, at any time, order the parties to participate in a settlement conference to be convened by the court. Any party may also file a request for a judicial settlement conference.

(2) Mandatory attendance by representatives with full authority to effect settlement. At the time of the conference, except with regard to government attorneys and federal agency parties, attorneys for all parties and either the party or a person with the full authority to settle all pending claims must be present. For purposes of this rule the "person with full authority to settle" shall not be the attorney. Government attorneys are required to bring as much binding authority as is feasible. A knowledgeable representative of the federal agency party with the authority to recommend any contemplated settlement is required to attend the conference, except for good cause shown prior to the date of conference.

(3) Presiding judicial officer. Any Judicial Officer of the district other than the Judicial Officer to whom the case is assigned for disposition may preside over a judicial settlement conference convened by the court.

Rule LR26.1. Discovery material not to be filed unless ordered or needed.

Disclosures made pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 26, depositions upon oral examination and interrogatories, requests for documents, requests for admission, and answers and responses thereto are not to be filed unless on order of the court or for use in proceeding or in support of a motion or petition. Materials filed in support of a motion or petition shall be appropriately labeled and attached as an Appendix thereto and shall be limited to those portions of the material directly necessary to support the motion or petition. All such papers must be served on other counsel or parties entitled to service of papers filed with the clerk. The party taking a deposition or obtaining any material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the Court if needed or so ordered.

Rule LR26.2. Exemption from Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(1).

Parties are not required to make initial disclosures identified in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(1). The court elects to be exempt from the provisions of Federal Rule 26(a)(1).

Rule LR47.1. Jurors.

Ordinarily, in the interest of time, the court will conduct the examination of prospective jurors, but may permit counsel to do so. If the court conducts the examination, counsel may suggest additional questions.

When jurors for a term of court are drawn, members of the bar of this court, upon request, shall be furnished with a copy of the list; and if questionnaires are used, responses will be made available to attorneys. The list shall include the address for each juror. However, no juror shall be contacted, either directly or through any member of his immediate family, in an effort to secure information concerning his background.

Rule LR47.2. Contact with jurors.

No attorney or party to an action shall personally or through their designees, directly or indirectly, interview, examine or question any juror, relative, friend or associate thereof during the pendency of the trial or with respect to the deliberations or verdict of the jury in any action, except on leave of the presiding judge upon good cause shown.

Rule LR54.1. Taxation of costs other than attorneys' fees.

(A) *Filing bill of costs.

(1) A prevailing party may request the Clerk to tax allowable costs, other than Attorneys' fees, in a civil action as a part of a judgment or decree by filing a bill of costs, on a form available in the clerk's office, within 30 days:

(i) after the expiration of time allowed for appeal of a final judgment or decree; or

(ii) after receipt by the clerk of an order terminating the action on appeal.

(2) The original of the bill of costs shall be filed with the clerk, with copies served on adverse parties.

(3) The failure of a prevailing party to timely file a bill of costs shall constitute a waiver of any claim for costs.

(B) *Objections to bill of costs.

(1) If an adverse party objects to the bill of costs or any item claimed by a prevailing party, that party must state its objection in a motion for disallowance with a supporting brief within ten (10) days after the filing of the bill of costs. Within five (5) days thereafter, the prevailing party may file a response and brief. Unless a hearing is ordered by the clerk, a ruling will be made by the Clerk on the record.

(2) A party may request review of the Clerk's ruling by filing a motion within five (5) days after the action of the Clerk. The court's review of the Clerk's action will be made on the existing record unless otherwise ordered.

(C) *Taxable costs.

(1) Items normally taxed include, without limitation:

(i) those items specifically listed on the bill of costs form. The costs incident to the taking of depositions (when allowable as necessarily obtained for use in the litigation) normally include only the reporter's attendance fee and charge for the original transcript of the deposition;

(ii) premiums on required bonds;

(iii) actual mileage, subsistence, and attendance allowances for necessary witnesses at actual cost, but not to exceed the applicable statutory rates, whether they reside in or out of this district;

(iv) one copy of the trial transcript for each party presented by separate counsel.

(2) Items normally not taxed include, without limitation:

(i) multiple copies of depositions;

(ii) daily copy of trial transcripts, unless prior court approval has been obtained.

(D) Costs in settlements. The court will not tax costs in any action terminated by compromise or settlement. Settlement agreements must resolve any issue relating to costs. In the absence of specific agreement, each party will bear its own costs.

(E) Payment of costs. Costs are to be paid directly to the party entitled to reimbursement.

Rule LR67.1. Registry funds.

(A) Deposit with the Treasury. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the clerk shall deposit registry funds in the Treasury of the United States and the funds shall accrue no interest.

(B) Investment in income-earning account. Upon motion or upon consent of the parties, the court may order the clerk to invest certain registry funds in an income-earning account which will be the Court Registry Investment System. The order may issue upon a consent request of the parties or upon motion by an interested party, in accordance with the following procedures:

(1) A consent request must demonstrate the assent of all interested and potentially interested parties. The agreement must demonstrate that the investment will be in compliance with applicable provisions of the law regulating the investment of public monies, provide for proper disposition of future earnings, and set out with particularity the following information:

- (i) the form of deposit;
- (ii) the amount to be invested;
- (iii) the length of time the money should be invested, whether it should automatically be reinvested, etc., keeping in mind that some investments include a penalty for early withdrawal;
- (iv) the name and address of the designated beneficiary or beneficiaries;
- (v) such other information that may be deemed appropriate under the facts and circumstances of the particular case. The consent request shall be accompanied by a proposed order directing the clerk to proceed with the investment.

(2) A motion may be filed ex parte by an interested party, and the court may enter an order in advance of the filing of any response thereto. The motion must set forth the showings required in subsection (b)(1) concerning the investment and must include a proposed order. The motion must be served on all known interested parties who do not join therein. If an order is entered prior to the filing of a response in opposition, the motion will be reconsidered by the court. The court may determine the motion upon the record or may, in its discretion, call for a hearing on the matter.

(3) Counsel or parties obtaining an order directing investment in an income-earning account shall personally serve the clerk or the chief deputy and the financial deputy. Counsel or parties have the responsibility, fifteen (15) days after service of the order on the clerk, to verify that the funds have been invested as ordered. Failure to personally serve the clerk as specified in this section or failure to verify that the funds were actually invested as provided in the order shall release the clerk and deputy clerks from any liability for the loss of interest which could have been earned on the funds.

(4) A service fee may be charged by the clerk for the investment of registry funds.

(5) Interest on Registry Funds — “Settlement Funds”. Funds invested with the court for the purpose of settlement are subject to additional rules under 26 U.S.C. § 468B. To comply with the requirements found in Section 468B, the order required in subsection (b) must also contain the following information:

- (i) the deposit is identified as a settlement fund;
- (ii) liability is resolved by the settlement agreement as described in 26 U.S.C. § 468B or 26 C.F.R. § 1.468B-1(c);
- (iii) designation of a person outside the court as the administrator responsible for obtaining the employer identification number for the fund, filing all fiduciary tax returns, and paying any tax.

Rule LR72.1. Authority of Magistrate Judges in civil matters.

(A) Magistrate Judges are authorized and designated to exercise the following functions and duties regarding civil actions in the Western District.

(1) To perform the duties prescribed in 28 U.S.C. § 636(a).

(2) To hear and decide non-dispositive procedural or discovery motions and other pretrial matters, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A).

(3) To hear any dispositive motions involving cases in which the parties have not consented to jurisdiction of the Magistrate Judge, and thereafter to submit to the District Court proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition of such motions, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B).

(4) To make a final determination upon any dispositive motion in a case wherein the parties have consented to the jurisdiction of the Magistrate Judge, subject to right of appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

(5) To serve as a Special Master in appropriate civil cases in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(2) and Rule 53 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

(6) Upon the consent of all parties, to conduct jury voir dire in civil cases when designated by the District Court to do so on a case-by-case basis.

(7) To accept petit jury verdicts in civil cases in the absence of a District Court Judge.

(8) Upon the consent of all parties to conduct the trial and order entry of judgment, as authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 636(c).

(9) To issue orders or warrants authorizing acts necessary in the performance of the duties of administrative and regulatory agencies and departments of the United States Government pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(3).

(10) To conduct proceedings of the court under the Federal Debt Collection Procedures Act, consistent with the Constitution and the laws of the United States as authorized by 28 U.S.C. § 3008 (1990).

(11) To perform any additional duties that are not inconsistent with the Constitution or the laws of the United States, as shall be assigned or delegated by the District Court.

Rule LR73.1. Trial by consent before a Magistrate Judge.

(A) Consent to the exercise of civil trial jurisdiction. The consent of a party to the exercise of civil trial jurisdiction by a U.S. Magistrate Judge authorized in 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(1) shall be communicated to the clerk by letter, or by a form available in the clerk's office, signed by the party or the party's attorney.

(1) The Plaintiff's consent/denial form shall be mailed to or filed with the Clerk on or before the date that plaintiff first seeks service of the complaint upon the defendant(s) in any manner provided by Rule 4, Fed.R.Civ.Proc.

(2) The plaintiff shall serve a blank copy of the consent/denial form on all defendants with the complaint.

(3) The defendant(s) shall file an executed consent/denial form with their first responsive pleading. For purposes of this rule, any pleading filed by the defendant, including a motion to dismiss, shall be deemed its first responsive pleading.

(B) Failure to file executed consent/denial form. In the event any party fails to file an executed consent form, the Magistrate Judge initially assigned to the case, unless otherwise ordered by the court, shall continue to be responsible for the pretrial proceedings of the case and will advise the parties during the pretrial conference of his availability to conduct the entire case up through trial. At the conference the parties will be given a final opportunity to file the required consent/denial form.

Rule LR77.1. Orders and judgments which the clerk may grant.

Pursuant to the provisions of Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 77(c), the Clerk of Court and an authorized deputy clerk at Asheville, Charlotte and Statesville are authorized to grant and enter the following orders and judgments without further direction by the court, but any such action may be suspended, altered or rescinded by the court for good cause shown:

(1) Consent orders for the substitution of attorneys only after determining such substitution will not delay a scheduled hearing or trial.

(2) Consent orders extending for not more than 20 days the time within which to answer or otherwise plead, answer interrogatories submitted under Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 33. Care will be taken not to extend the time for so long as to delay unreasonably the trial. Matters in bankruptcy and those matters set forth in Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 6(b), are not included in this authorization. Where convenience and necessity are thought to require it; e.g., unavailability of a judge, and except where an extension may delay a scheduled trial or hearing, the clerk or deputy clerk(s) in the division in which the proceeding is pending is/are authorized to extend for not more than ten (10) days the time within which to answer or otherwise plead, answer interrogatories submitted under Rule 33, or requests for admission as provided for in Rule 36. If the other party is aggrieved, he may immediately appeal the action of the clerk's office to one of the District Judges.

(3) Consent orders extending for not more than thirty (30) days the time to file the record on appeal and to docket the appeal in the appellate court, except in criminal cases.

(4) Consent orders dismissing an action, except in bankruptcy proceedings and in causes to which Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 23(c) and Rule 66 apply.

(5) Judgments of default as provided for in Rule 55(a) and 55(b)(1), Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

(6) Orders canceling liability on bonds.

(7) Judgments authorized by Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 68.

(8) Orders directing inmates to file sworn statements showing exhaustion of all administrative remedies through the North Carolina Department of Corrections pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1997(e).

(9) Orders directing inmates and the correctional facility in which the inmate is housed to file a copy of the inmate's trust fund account statement (or institutional equivalent) pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915.

(10) Orders waiving the filing fee or directing a partial filing fee be paid by the inmate pursuant to Section 804 of the Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These orders may also include directing the correctional facility at which the inmate is incarcerated to deduct monthly payments from the inmate's trust fund account and forward said payment to the clerk.

Rule LR79.1. Custody and disposition of evidence, models, exhibits and depositions.

(A) Custody with the clerk. Unless otherwise directed by the court, all trial exhibits admitted into evidence in criminal and civil actions shall be placed in the custody of the clerk, except as provided in Section (B) below.

(B) Custody with the offering party. All exhibits not suitable for filing and transmission to the court of appeals as a part of a record on appeal shall be retained in the custody of the party offering them, subject to the orders of the court. Such exhibits shall include, but not be limited to, the following types of bulky or sensitive exhibits: narcotics and other controlled substances, firearms, ammunition, explosive devices, jewelry, liquor, poisonous or dangerous chemicals, money or articles of high monetary value, counterfeit money, and documents or physical exhibits of unusual bulk or weight.

At the conclusion of a trial or proceedings, the party offering such exhibits shall retain custody of them and be responsible to the court for preserving them in their condition as of the time admitted until any appeal is resolved or the time for appeal has expired. The party retaining custody shall make such exhibits available to opposing counsel for use in preparation of an appeal and be responsible for their safe transmission to the appellate court, if required.

(C) Disposition of exhibits, sealed documents, and filed depositions by clerk. Any exhibit, sealed document, or filed deposition in the clerk's custody more than 30 days after the time for appeal, if any, has expired or an appeal has been decided and mandate received, may be returned to the parties or destroyed by the clerk. Complaints, answers, motions, responses and replies, whether sealed or not, must be forwarded to the General Services Administration for permanent storage. The confidentiality of sealed documents cannot be assured after the case file is transferred to the General Services Administration for records holding.

(D) Depositions. Depositions read into the court record are considered exhibits for which the parties shall be responsible as provided in Section (B) above. Depositions on file admitted into evidence but not read into the record shall be retained in the clerk's custody and disposed of as authorized in Section (C) of this rule.

Rule LR83.1. Attorney admissions.

(A) Eligibility and admission. Any lawyer who is a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar is eligible for admission to the bar of this court, which admission shall be granted as a matter of course upon the payment of a fee in the amount of $75.00 and upon taking the prescribed oath in open court which reads as follows:

I do solemnly swear that I am a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar entitled to practice law in the courts of general jurisdiction of the State of North Carolina, and I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and bear true faith and allegiance to the same and that I will demean myself as an attorney and officer of this court in accordance with the Canons of Ethics of the North Carolina State Bar and American Bar Association, and according to law.

I take this obligation freely without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, so help me God.

Attorneys already admitted to the bars of either the United States District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina or the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina may be admitted to the bar of this court upon tendering the application and fees required by this rule, together with a copy of the order admitting the attorney to practice in either of the aforementioned districts. It shall be necessary for a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar to be formally admitted in this district in advance of making an appearance and filing papers; such attorney may be admitted nunc pro tunc at trial time.

(B) Special admissions. Litigants in civil and criminal actions, except counsel representing governmental agencies and parties appearing pro se, must be represented by at least one member of the bar of this court or by an attorney admitted to practice by this court pursuant to this section. Any lawyer who is a member in good standing of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States or the Bar of the Supreme Court of any state in the United States may, in the discretion of the judges of this court, be permitted to appear in a particular case. If such permission is granted, and if a member of the bar of this court is not associated, said attorney and his client shall be deemed to have consented that service of all pleadings and notices may be made upon a deputy clerk in the appropriate division of this court as process agent. The court encourages such out-of-state attorneys to associate a member of the bar of this court in all cases, but will not require such association where the amount in controversy or the importance of the case does not appear to justify double employment of counsel. Special admissions will be the exception and not the rule, and no out-of-state counsel will be permitted to practice frequently or regularly in this court without the association of local counsel.

Where justice requires, the authorized deputy clerks at Asheville, Statesville and Charlotte may permit the filing of papers at the request of out-of-state counsel; provided, however, the further participation of out-of-state counsel shall be governed as herein above provided.

All counsel, except those representing governmental agencies, must pay a fee in the amount of $75.00 for each special admission or whenever Pro Hac Vice admission is granted.

(C) Withdrawal of counsel. Counsel seeking to withdraw shall file written consent of their client to their withdrawal which shall become effective on determination that a scheduled hearing or trial will not be delayed and upon court approval. Over objection of the client, withdrawal may still be obtained upon good cause shown if it is determined that a scheduled hearing or trial will not be delayed.

Rule LR83.2. No photographing, televising, or broadcasting of court proceedings.

The taking of photographs in the courtroom, or in the corridors immediately adjacent thereto, during the progress of judicial proceedings, or during any recess, and the transmitting or sound recording of such proceedings for broadcasting by radio or television, shall not be permitted. Proceedings other than judicial proceedings designed and conducted as ceremonies, such as administering oaths of office to appointed officials of the court, presentation of portraits, and similar ceremonial occasions, may be photographed in, broadcasted or televised from the courtroom, with the permission and under the supervision of the court.

PART II. LOCAL RULES OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

Rule LCrR11.1. Electronic recording of Rule 11 inquiry.

When an appropriate inquiry under Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 11 is conducted by a United States Magistrate Judge, the electronic recording of the proceeding shall constitute the verbatim record of the proceeding.

Rule LCrR20.1. Transfers for plea and sentence.

(A) Upon transfer of the pleadings from the transferor district, the clerk in the appropriate divisional office shall assign a criminal case number and randomly assign a District Judge.

(B) Pending Related Case(s): If a related case is pending before another District Judge, the U.S. Attorney shall move for consolidation of both actions before the judge assigned to the lowest case number and submit a proposed order for the court. The motion for consolidation may be filed in either of the cases with proper notice of motion in the related case. Upon execution of the order, the clerk shall reassign the later case to the judge presiding on the lowest case number, unless otherwise set forth in the order.

Rule LCrR23.1. Fair trial and free press in criminal cases.

(A) It is the duty of the lawyer, in connection with pending or imminent criminal litigation with which he is associated, not to release or authorize the release of information or opinion for dissemination by any means of public communication, if there is a reasonable likelihood that such dissemination will interfere with a fair trial or otherwise prejudice the due administration of justice.

With respect to a grand jury or other pending investigation of any criminal matter, a lawyer participating in the investigation shall refrain from making any extrajudicial statement for dissemination by any means of public communication that goes beyond the public record or that is not necessary to inform the public that the investigation is underway, to describe the general scope of the investigation, to obtain assistance in the apprehension of a suspect, to warn the public of any dangers, or otherwise to aid in the investigation.

From the time of arrest, issuance of an arrest warrant, or the filing of a complaint, information, or indictment in any criminal matter until the commencement of trial or disposition without trial, a lawyer associated with the prosecution or defense shall not release or authorize the release of any extrajudicial statement, for dissemination by any means of public communication, relating to that matter and concerning:

(1) The prior criminal record (including arrests, indictments, or other charges of crime), or the character or reputation of the accused, except that the lawyer may make a factual statement of the accused's name, age, residence, occupation, and family status; and if the accused has not been apprehended, a lawyer associated with the prosecution may release any information necessary to aid in his apprehension or to warn the public of any dangers he may present;

(2) The existence or contents of any confession, admission, or statement given by the accused, or the refusal or failure of the accused to make any statement;

(3) The performance of any examination or tests or the accused's refusal or failure to submit to an examination or test;

(4) The identity, testimony, or credibility of prospective witnesses, except that the lawyer may announce the identity of the victim if the announcement is not otherwise prohibited by law;

(5) The possibility of a plea of guilty to the offense charged or a lesser offense;

(6) Any opinion as to the accused's guilt or innocence or as to the merits of the case or the evidence in the case.

The foregoing shall not be construed to preclude the lawyer during this period, in the proper discharge of his official or professional obligations, from announcing the fact and circumstances of arrest (including time and place of arrest, resistance, pursuit, and use of weapons), the identity of the investigating and arresting officer or agency, and the length of the investigation; from making an announcement at the time of seizure of any physical evidence other than a confession, admission or statement, which is limited to a description of the evidence seized; from disclosing the nature, substance, or text of the charge, including a brief description of the offense charged; from quoting or referring without comment to public records of the court in the case; from requesting assistance in obtaining evidence; or from announcing without further comment that the accused denies the charges made against him.

During the trial of any criminal matter, including the period of selection of the jury, no lawyer associated with the prosecution or defense shall give or authorize any extrajudicial statement or interview relating to the trial or the parties or issues in the trial, for dissemination by any means of public communication, except that the lawyer may quote from or refer without comment to public records of the court in the case.

After completion of a trial or disposition without trial of any criminal matter, and prior to the imposition of sentence, a lawyer associated with the prosecution or defense shall refrain from making or authorizing any extrajudicial statement, for dissemination by any means of public communication, if there is a reasonable likelihood that such dissemination will affect the imposition of sentence.

Nothing in this rule is intended to preclude the formulation or application of more restrictive rules relating to the release of information about juvenile or other offenders, to preclude the holding of hearings or the lawful issuance of reports by legislative, administrative, or investigative bodies, or to preclude any lawyer from replying to charges of misconduct that are publicly made against him.

(B) All courthouse personnel, including, among others, marshals, deputy marshals, court clerks, bailiffs, and court reporters, shall not disclose to any person, without authorization by the court, information concerning arguments and hearings in criminal cases held in chambers or otherwise outside the presence of the public, or disclose any other information relating to a pending criminal case that is not part of the public records of this court.

(C) In a widely publicized or sensational case, the court, on motion of either party or on its own motion, may issue a special order governing such matters as extrajudicial statements by parties and witnesses likely to interfere with the accused's right to a fair trial by an impartial jury, the seating and conduct in the courtroom of spectators and news media representatives, the management and sequestration of jurors and witnesses, and any other matters which the court may deem appropriate for inclusion in such an order.

Rule LCrR32.1. Disclosure of presentence or probation records.

The probation officer's recommendation on the sentence is a confidential record and shall not be disclosed, except pursuant to an order of the court. No confidential records of this court maintained by the probation office shall be sought by an applicant except by written petition to this court establishing with particularity the need for specific information in the records.

Rule LCrR46.1. Release from custody — Recognizance.

Release on personal recognizance shall be granted by United States Judges in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. Recognizance shall be left to the discretion of the judge within the requirements of the rules.

Rule LCrR55.1. Sealed records.

(A) For any criminal case which the government desires to be sealed, the charging document must be accompanied by an ex parte motion and order requesting that all or a portion of the documents in the criminal case be sealed at the time of filing a complaint or information, or on the return of a grand jury indictment. The clerk shall seal the case or documents as specified in the court's order. The case shall be listed on the clerk's index as United States of America vs. Sealed Defendant. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, upon referral, the Magistrate Judge on a showing of good cause by the United States Attorney or a defendant, the case or documents shall be unsealed as follows:

(1) Where the case involves a single defendant, at the time of the defendant's initial appearance before the Magistrate Judge;

(2) Where the case involves more than one defendant, at the time the last defendant appears in this district before the Magistrate Judge, unless written motion to unseal is submitted earlier with a proposed order to be executed by the court.

(B) A pending case may be sealed at any time upon motion of either party and execution by the court of a written order. Unless otherwise specified in the order, neither the clerk's case index nor the existing case docket shall be modified. The motion and proposed order presented to the court should specifically identify that portion of the record which is to be sealed, such as:

- (1) the case file;
- (2) the case docket;
- (3) a specific pleading; or
- (4) only the identity of new defendants brought into the case.

(C) Documents: Documents ordered sealed by the court or otherwise required to be sealed by statute shall be marked as such within the document caption and submitted together with the judge's copy prepared in the same manner. If the document is sealed pursuant to a prior order of the court, the pleading caption shall include a notation that the document is being filed under court seal and include the order's entry date.

No document shall be designated by any party as "filed under seal" or "confidential" unless:

- (1) it is accompanied by an order sealing the document;
- (2) it is being filed in a case that the court has ordered sealed; or
- (3) it contains material that is the subject of a protective order entered by the court.

(D) Case Closing: After final disposition of any criminal case where the file or documents under court seal have not previously been unsealed by court order, unless otherwise ordered by the court, the United States Attorney shall be responsible for filing a motion unsealing the matter with a proposed order for the court's execution.

(E) Access to Sealed Documents: Unless otherwise ordered by the court, access to documents and cases under court seal shall be provided by the clerk only pursuant to court order. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, the clerk shall make no copies of sealed files or documents.

Rule LCrR57.1. Authority of Magistrate Judge in criminal matters.

(A) Magistrate Judges are authorized and designated to exercise the following functions and duties regarding criminal actions in the Western District.

(1) To perform the duties prescribed in 28 U.S.C. § 636(a).

(2) To try and to sentence, if found guilty, persons charged with petty offenses and misdemeanors, and to direct the probation office to prepare a presentence report in any such case, as provided by 18 U.S.C. § 3401.

(3) To hear and decide non-dispositive procedural or discovery motions and other pretrial matters, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A).

(4) To hear any dispositive motions involving cases in which the parties have not consented to jurisdiction of the Magistrate Judge and thereafter to submit to the district court proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition of such motions, as provided by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B).

(5) To issue preliminary orders and conduct necessary evidentiary hearings or other appropriate proceedings in connection with cases filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 and § 2255, and to submit to the district court a report containing proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition of such cases (unless consent is obtained for final disposition).

(6) To accept returns of true bills of indictment from the Grand Jury.

(7) To issue orders or warrants authorizing acts necessary in the performance of the duties of administrative and regulatory agencies and departments of the United States Government pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(3).

(8) To perform any additional duties that are not inconsistent with the Constitution or the laws of the United States, as shall be assigned or delegated by the district court.

Rule LCrR57.2. Pending cases involving same defendant.

Where there are two or more cases pending against the same defendant before more than one assigned judge, the United States Attorney or the defendant may move by written motion and proposed order to have any or all of the cases reassigned to the presiding judge with the lowest case number. This motion may be filed before any of the assigned judges with notice of the motion to the other assigned judge(s). Time is of the essence with this motion.

Rule LCrR58.1. Forfeiture of collateral security in lieu of appearance.

Pursuant to Rule 58, Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, and Title 28, United States Code, Section 636(b)(3), and upon motion made by the United States of America in the interest of justice, good court administration, and sound law enforcement, the Collateral Forfeiture Schedule is hereby amended by adding a collateral forfeiture in the amount of \$250 for first offense simple possession of marijuana having a weight not exceeding  $\frac{1}{4}$  ounce or 7.78 grams occurring in the national parks or forests within the Western District of North Carolina. Such collateral may be made mandatory if, in the opinion of the arresting or citing officer, the offense was aggravated.

Such revision is reflected in the amended schedules annexed hereby and hereby incorporated into the overall Collateral Forfeiture Schedule.

CONSENT TO PROCEED BEFORE A UNITED STATES
MAGISTRATE JUDGE

In accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(c) and Rule 73(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the undersigned counsel of record CONSENTS to have a United States Magistrate Judge conduct all further proceedings in this case, including bench or jury trial, and order the entry of final judgment.

MAGISTRATE JUDGES DO NOT CONDUCT TRIALS IN CRIMINAL FELONY CASES. ACCORDINGLY, CRIMINAL TRIALS DO NOT INTERFERE WITH THE SCHEDULING AND PROCESSING OF CIVIL CASES ASSIGNED TO MAGISTRATE JUDGES AND ARE THEREFORE RESOLVED SOONER.

REFUSAL TO CONSENT TO PROCEED BEFORE A UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Consent to proceed before a United States Magistrate Judge for trial or order of an entry of final judgment is refused. I understand that a United States Magistrate Judge may retain jurisdiction of this matter for purposes of resolving non-dispositive motions.

- *PLAINTIFF IS TO SERVE THIS FORM ON ALL DEFENDANTS WITH THE COMPLAINT.
- *PLAINTIFF SHALL FILE THIS FORM ON OR BEFORE THE DATE THAT PLAINTIFF FIRST SEEKS SERVICE OF THE COMPLAINT UPON THE DEFENDANT(S) IN ANY MANNER PROVIDED BY RULE 4, Fed. R. Civ. Proc.
- *DEFENDANTS MUST FILE THIS FORM WITH THEIR FIRST RESPONSIVE PLEADING.

Please see the reverse side for further information and directions.

CONSENT FORM INSTRUCTIONS

In the Western District of North Carolina, a new civil action is randomly assigned to either a District Judge or a Magistrate Judge at the time of filing. Upon filing, the plaintiff is to provide a copy of the Consent/Refusal Form to all defendants. The plaintiff must serve this form on all defendants with their copy of the complaint.

Each plaintiff must file this Consent/Refusal Form on or before the date that plaintiff first seeks service of the complaint upon the defendant(s) in any manner provided by Rule 4, Fed. R. Civ. Proc.

Each defendant's Consent/Refusal Form must be filed with said defendant's first responsive pleading.

A United States Magistrate Judge may, with the consent of the parties, conduct all proceedings in this civil action, including a bench or jury trial, and order the entry of final judgment. See 28 U.S.C. § 636 and F.R.C.P. 73. The statute provides for direct appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

If this case has been randomly assigned to a District Judge and all parties consent to have the Magistrate Judge conduct all proceedings, the case may be referred to a Magistrate Judge.

If this case has been randomly assigned to a Magistrate Judge and not all parties consent, the Magistrate Judge may still be responsible for the pretrial processing of the case. The Magistrate Judge may hear and decide all non-dispositive pretrial and discovery matters. The Magistrate Judge may consider dispositive motions by issuing proposed findings and a recommendation to the District Judge in accordance with F.R.C.P. 72(a) and (b). When the Magistrate Judge has issued proposed findings and a recommendation on a dispositive motion, the case will be sent back to the Clerk of Court for random reassignment to a District Judge. Thereafter, if the dispositive motion does not resolve the case, the District Judge will return the file to the Magistrate Judge who will preside over the case until it is ready for trial. When the case is ready for trial, it will be returned to the District Judge for all further proceedings.

EACH PARTY HAS THE DUTY TO RESPOND TO THIS ADMINISTRATIVE ORDER BY FILING THE CONSENT/REFUSAL FORM. File the form on the reverse side of this Order with the Clerk of Court.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Plaintiff(s) serve a copy of the Consent/Refusal form on all defendants with the complaint.

Plaintiff must file an executed form on or before the date that plaintiff first seeks service of the complaint upon the defendant(s) in any manner provided by Rule 4, Fed. R. Civ. Proc.

Each defendant must file a Consent/Refusal Form with said defendant's first responsive pleading.

Clerk, United States District Court

LOCAL BANKRUPTCY RULES

Rule 1002-1. Commencement of Case.

1. Joint petition. When a joint petition is filed by a husband and wife who do not share the same surname, the debtors shall append to their petition a duly executed affidavit verifying that they are legally married at the time of the filing of the petition.

2. Petition filed by a corporation. When a voluntary bankruptcy petition is filed by a corporation, there shall be attached to the petition as an exhibit the original or a certified copy of the resolution of the debtor's board of directors authorizing the filing of the bankruptcy petition.

3. A petition submitted for filing without the affidavit or resolution referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 will be filed by the Clerk, but subject to dismissal without notice or opportunity for hearing.

Rule 1006-1. Filing Fee.

Failure to Pay Filing Fee in Installments. In the event the debtor submits an application to pay the filing fee in installments, and subsequently fails to pay the filing fee in installments pursuant to the terms allowed by order of this court, the debtor's case will be subject to dismissal without further notice or opportunity for hearing.

Rule 1007-1. Lists, Schedules, and Statements.

Failure to File Lists, Schedules, Statements or Other Documents. In the event a bankruptcy petition is filed with the Clerk of Court without all of the lists, schedules, statements, or other documents required to be filed in conjunction with the filing of a bankruptcy petition by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure or these local Bankruptcy Rules, the Clerk of Court shall immediately serve upon the debtor(s), the debtor(s)' attorney, the trustee, and the petitioning creditors, if applicable, a notice of Deficient Filing. This notice notifies said parties that specified documents were not filed with the petition and that the bankruptcy case will be subject to dismissal, without further notice and opportunity for hearing, if the specified documents are not filed with the Clerk of Court within the time set forth in the applicable Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure of Local Bankruptcy Rules.

Rule 1007-2. Master Mailing Matrix.

1. As a requirement for filing, all bankruptcy petitions must be accompanied by an alphabetized matrix containing the names and addresses of all creditors, parties in interest and governmental agencies, excluding the debtor, debtor's attorney. Only the original matrix shall be filed. It is not necessary to file any copies.

2. The matrix shall be prepared according to the forms and instructions provided upon request by the Clerk's office. The matrix that accompanies all Chapter 7, 11, 12, and 13 petitions shall be prepared in a specific one-column format described in the Clerk's Administrative Guide and a Standing Order of this Court that was entered on October 3, 1990.

3. The matrix, and any amendments thereto, shall be certified in writing as clerically accurate by the filing attorney or party, and such person shall be responsible for any errors in or omissions from the listings.

4. In Chapter 13 Cases, creditors or contingent creditors to whom notice is intended to be sent must be listed on the schedule of creditors as well as on the matrix.

5. In all cases, the debtor shall submit to the Clerk of Court, at the time the petition is filed, a mailing matrix on a 3.5" computer disk, along with a printed hard copy, in a format set forth in the Bankruptcy Practice Guide, and upon request an instruction sheet is available from the Clerk of Court.

Rule 1007-3. Compliance with Statement of Intentions.

Within forty-five (45) days of the filing of the debtor's statement of intention, the debtor or the debtor's counsel shall serve on the trustee evidence of delivery of the collateral, evidence of reaffirmation of the debt or other evidence showing compliance with the statement of intention.

Rule 1009-1. Amendments of Voluntary Petitions, Lists, Schedules and Statements.

1. Amended voluntary petitions, lists, schedules, and statements shall be filed with the Clerk, along with a statement or notation stating the purpose of the amendment. The amended document should be verified and prepared as prescribed by the appropriate Official Forms. Notice of the amendment must be served on the trustee and to any entity affected thereby.

2. A party adding creditors after service of the 341 (a) meeting notice, must serve a copy of the 341 (a) meeting notice on added creditors. Service thereof shall be reflected in the certificate of service filed with the notice of amendment.

Rule 1014-1. Transfers of Venue Within District.

1. Notice and Motion. A request to change divisional venue of a case, adversary proceeding or contested matter shall be made as follows:

a. By filing a motion and a notice to all creditors and other parties in interest explaining the request and providing a ten (10) day opportunity for objections, the notice being substantially in the form of Local Form 1, and a certificate of service of the notice by the movant evidencing service on all creditors and other parties in interest, including all parties the Court requires on a standard matrix; and

b. By submitting a proposed Order after the objection period has expired.

c. An order changing divisional venue will not affect the appointment of the trustee or the original location of the § 341 meeting of creditors.

Rule 1017-1. Debtor's Failure to Appear at First Meeting of Creditors.

In the event the debtor fails to appear at his or her first meeting of creditors, the debtor's case will be subject to dismissal without further notice or opportunity for hearing.

Rule 2002-1. Service of Papers in Chapter 11 Cases.

1. Papers Required to be Served by Chapter 11 Debtors. In Chapter 11 cases, the debtor-in-possession shall be responsible for serving the following papers and for filing a certificate of service with the Clerk's office within five (5) days of the date of the mailing:

a. the debtor's plan;

b. the debtor's disclosure statement as approved by the Court;

c. the ballot;

d. notice regarding balloting and date for hearing on confirmation of the debtor's plan; and

e. any other notices as the Court or Clerk shall direct in a particular case.

The form and content of the papers referred to in parts d, and e above, shall be approved by the Clerk's office.

2. Service of Chapter 11 Fee Application and Notice of Hearing. In addition to proper service of the notice, copies of the full applications for compensation shall be served by the applicant on the debtor, the debtor's counsel, the Bankruptcy Administrator and the trustee (if one has been appointed). In all cases in which there is any Court-appointed committee, a full copy of the fee application shall also be served on the chairman of each such committee and on its counsel if such has been appointed, or if no counsel so serves, then on all members of that committee who have accepted appointment.

Rule 2014-1. Applications for Employment of Professionals.

Nunc Pro Tunc Applications. Absent extraordinary circumstances, nunc pro tunc applications for appointment of professional persons pursuant to Sections 327 and 1103 of the Bankruptcy Code, and Bankruptcy Rule 2014, will not be considered. An application is considered timely if it is filed within thirty (30) days of the date of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy or the date the professional commences rendering services, whichever occurs later.

Rule 2015-1. Claims Docket.

The Chapter 13 trustee shall prepare a claims docket for each converted case and such claims docket shall be transferred to the Clerk's office within 120 days of the conversion order along with the original claims.

Rule 2016-1. Professional Fee Applications.

1. Professional Fee Guidelines. Professionals seeking compensation are encouraged to refer to the Guidelines for Compensation which are contained in the Clerk's Guide.

2. Contents of Chapter 11 Fee Applications. In addition to all other requirements for applications for fees of professional persons, fee applications in Chapter 11 cases shall also comply with the following requirements:

a. Application must eventually be made for all professional fees incurred during the pendency of the Chapter 11 case as well as those fees incurred prior to the filing of the Chapter 11 petition which are related to the bankruptcy case.

b. All Applications for Chapter 11 interim fees must contain a summary of prior fee awards including the amount of the prior Application, the period covered by each prior Application, the amount approved and the date of the order approving the prior fee awards. See Local Form 12.

3. Security Interests. Any agreements granting security interests in the debtor's property or other property for the benefit of the debtor to the debtor's attorney or any other professional employed by the debtor to secure the payment of professional fees must be fully disclosed in the petition and/or schedules and must be approved by the Court. Any party receiving such an interest must make application to the Court within fifteen days (15) days of the date of filing of the petition or the date of the agreement, whichever occurs later. Such application should be served on all parties in interest, including the trustee and the Bankruptcy Administrator, and may be on a "no-protest" basis pursuant to Local Rule 9013-1(2).

4. Chapter 13 Plan and Disclosure of Attorneys Fee Procedure. In addition to filing the petition and schedules as required by the Official Bankruptcy Forms, the debtor shall file its Chapter 13 Plan in conformance with Local Form 20 and shall file an executed Disclosure to Debtor(s) of Attorneys Fee Procedure, in conformance with Local Form 11.

5. Compensation of Attorneys in Chapter 13 Cases.

a. Amount of Fee.

(i) The base fee in a Chapter 13 case is $1,300.

(ii) Any fee for non-base services that may be rendered a Chapter 13 debtor must be applied for and approved by the Court. For fees and expenses under $500, notice need only be sent to the debtor(s), the trustee and the Bankruptcy Administrator. For fees and expenses of $500 and above, all parties in interest must be noticed. If a no-protest notice is used, it shall be given using the form annexed to these Local Bankruptcy Rules as Local Form 4.

(iii) Where substitute counsel is retained by a Chapter 13 debtor, that attorney may collect a base fee of $350.

6. Definition of Base Fee Services.

a. The following services are deemed to be paid by the base fee:

(i) Preparation and filing of petition and attendance at Section 341 meeting.

(ii) Notice to stay state court actions.

(iii) Proof of claim filed by debtor for creditor.

(iv) Motions to Avoid liens.

(v) Rejections or assumptions of leases.

(vi) Motion to transfer venue.

(vii) Letter to trustee requesting payoff.

(viii) Letter to debtor about discharge.

(ix) Review of order confirming plan and ninety day report.

(x) Objections to claims listed on the schedules.

(xi) Valuation hearings.

b. The following services are presumed not to be covered by the base fee, and additional compensation may be awarded by the Court for the following services. Non-base fees may not be requested of the debtor or paid by the debtor, in trust or otherwise, prior to approval by the Court:

(i) Abandonment of property post-confirmation.

(ii) Motion for moratorium.

(iii) Motion for authority to sell property.

(iv) Motion to modify.

(v) Motion to use cash collateral or incur debt.

(vi) Defense of motion for relief from stay or co-debtor stay.

(vii) Defense of motion to dismiss.

(viii) Objections to claims not listed in schedules.

(ix) Non-base fee requests.

(x) Stay violation litigation.

(xi) Insurance inquiries.

(xii) Post-discharge injunction actions.

(xiii) Adversary Proceedings.

(xiv) Wage garnishment orders.

(xv) Turnover adversaries.

(xvi) Conversion to Chapter 7.

(xvii) Motions to substitute collateral.

(xviii) Any other matter not covered by (a) above.

c. In the Court's discretion, a debtor's attorney in a Chapter 13 proceeding may request, in open court, and without any further notice, non-base fees for the following services and in amounts not exceeding those shown below. Without other notice, the debtor's attorney may also request up to $1.00 for each item noticed to creditors as expense for postage, copying and envelopes.

(i) Defense of motion to dismiss.	$100
-----------------------------------	-------

(ii) Motion for Moratorium.	$150
-----------------------------	-------

(iii) Motion to modify and order.	$250
-----------------------------------	-------

(iv) Substitution of collateral.	$350
----------------------------------	-------

(v) Uncontested adversary lien stripping.	$250
---	-------

- (vi) Defense of motion for relief from stay or - co-debtor stay. $250
- (vii) Motion for authority to sell property and order. $250
- (viii) Conversion to Chapter 7. $350

These standard non-base fees are intended as a convention to reduce expense to the parties. Counsel may, alternatively, apply for non-base fees on a “time and materials” basis in accordance with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2016 and 11 U.S.C. 330.

7. Fees Exceeding the Base Fee. Any fee retainer and/or agreement for payment taken by an attorney for a Chapter 13 debtor in an amount which is in excess of the base fee shall be applied for by the debtor’s attorney within sixty (60) days after the first creditors’ meeting under Section 341 of the Bankruptcy Code. As to any amounts which the attorney continues to hold as a retainer after that time, application for services rendered in the interim shall be made every six months until all retainer is earned and paid.

8. Disclosure of Fee. Every attorney for a Chapter 13 debtor must disclose to the debtor the procedures applicable to awards of attorney’s fees in Chapter 13 cases in this district. This disclosure shall be made by reviewing with the debtor the “Disclosure to Debtor(s) of Attorney’s Fee Procedures for Chapter 13 Cases in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of North Carolina”, which is annexed to these Local Bankruptcy Rules. This form must be fully completed, executed as indicated and the original must be filed with the Chapter 13 petition of that debtor.

9. Payment of Attorney Fees in Chapter 13 Cases.
- a. An attorney may accept an amount of compensation in advance of the filing of the Chapter 13 case up to the maximum of $1,300.00 base fee on the following conditions:
    - (i) All Court filing fees must be paid in full at the time the case is filed (no installment fees to be applied for) and,
    - (ii) The debtor must appear at the time first set for the 341(a) meeting with no less than one (1) full month’s Plan payment to turn over to the trustee.
  - b. If an attorney accepts a retainer and either (i) or (ii) of a. above is not met, the attorney must pay the delinquent fees and/or Plan payment from the retainer held.

Editor’s note. — For Guidelines for Compensation see Appendix A to these Local Rules.

Rule 2090-1. Representation of Business Entities.

All partnerships, corporations and other business entities, other than an individual conducting business as a sole proprietorship, that desire to appear in cases or proceedings before this Court, not including Section 341 first meetings of creditors, must be represented by a lawyer duly admitted to practice before this Court. For purposes of this Local Bankruptcy Rule, an appearance shall be defined as preparing and filing papers, such as complaints and, petitions, answers, applications, and motions, questioning witnesses in proceedings before the Court, and pursuing any action of any nature in this Court.

Rule 2090-2. Special Admissions.

Litigants in any adversary proceeding and in any contested matter in which the attorney appears at a hearing, except counsel representing governmental agencies and parties appearing pro se, must be represented by a least one member of the bar of this Court or by an attorney admitted to practice by this Court pursuant to this section. Any lawyer who is a member in good standing of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the United States may, in the discretion of the judges of this Court, be permitted to appear in a particular case. If such permission is granted, and if a member of the bar of this Court is not associated, said attorney and his client shall be deemed to have consented that service of all pleadings and notices may be made upon a deputy clerk in the appropriate division of this court as process agent. The Court encourages such out-of-state attorneys to associate a member of the bar of this Court in all cases, but will not require such association where the amount in controversy or the importance of the case do not appear to justify double employment of counsel. Special admissions will be the exception and not the rule, and no out-of-state counsel will be permitted practice frequently or regularly in this Court without the association of local counsel.

Where justice requires, the authorized deputy clerks at Asheville, and Charlotte may permit the filing of papers at the request of out-of-state counsel; provided, however, the further participation of out-of-state counsel shall be governed as herein above provided.

All counsel, except those representing governmental agencies, must pay a fee in the amount of $75.00 to the U.S. District Court for each special admission or whenever Pro Hac Vice admission is granted.

Rule 2091-1. Extent of an Attorney's Duty to Represent.

Any attorney who files a bankruptcy petition for or on behalf of a debtor shall remain the responsible attorney of record for all purposes including the representation of the debtor in all matters that arise in the case. This includes conversion to another chapter. An attorney is automatically deemed relieved of his or her duties when the debtor's case is closed. Otherwise, an attorney is relieved of his or her duty to represent the debtor only after notice and a hearing upon motion and Order of this Court.

Rule 3001-1. Filing of Claims in Chapter 13 Proceedings.

Filing Claims. Proofs of claim in Chapter 13 proceedings shall be filed directly with the office of the standing trustee to whom the case is assigned. The address of the proper standing trustee will be shown on the notice of creditors' meeting. Claims will be dated and stamped as received as of the date they arrive in the trustee's office and the claim shall be deemed filed with the Court as of that date.

Rule 3015-1. Objection to Confirmation.

Parties shall have fifteen (15) days after the 341(a) meeting within which to file an objection to confirmation of the Chapter 13 plan. If no objection is filed within that time, the Court will enter an order confirming the plan.

Rule 3016-1. Motion to Extend Exclusivity Period.

In all Chapter 11 cases, Motions to Extend the Exclusivity Period that are filed pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1121(d) may not be filed on a "no-protest" basis under Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013, and a Court hearing will be required for all such motions.

Rule 3018-1. Chapter 11 Balloting.

All original ballots must be returned to the Clerk by the voting parties. Any proponent of a plan shall file a summary of ballots as they appear in the Court record. The summary shall be filed with the Clerk prior to the hearing on confirmation.

Rule 4001-1. Motions for Relief from Stay.

1. In a motion for relief from stay, the following shall be included:
  - a. The amount of the movant's debt;
  - b. Brief description of security interest, if applicable (attach copy of documents evidencing interest and perfection);
  - c. Description of property encumbered by stay (include serial number, lot and block number, etc.). Failure to adequately describe the property may result in denial of the motion, even absent objection;
  - d. Basis for relief (i.e., property not necessary for reorganization, debtor has no equity, property is not property of estate; if brought "for cause," state specific facts constituting cause);
  - e. Valuation of property and basis and date of valuation (appraisal, blue book, etc., and attach copy if applicable).
2. Application of Section 362(e) of the Bankruptcy Code. If a movant desires the provisions of Section 362(e) of the Bankruptcy Code to apply, the movant must so state both in the caption of its motion and in the body of its motion. Otherwise, movant will be deemed to have consented to a waiver of the application of Section 362(e) and the stay shall remain effective notwithstanding the expiration of the thirty (30) day period. Similarly, if the movant desires the application of Section 362(e) and yet selects a hearing date outside the thirty (30) day period of Section 362(e), it shall be deemed a consent by the movant to the waiver of the application of Section 362(e) and the stay shall remain effective at least until the Court considers the matter at the hearing, and thereafter upon such terms as the Court orders. If the movant desires Section 362(e) to apply, and notifies the Court and the adverse party, the Court will schedule the initial hearing within the applicable thirty (30) day period.

Rule 4002-1. Assets in Need of Trustee Attention.

1. Inventory or Equipment. When a stock of goods or business equipment is listed in the schedules, the debtor shall, immediately after the general description thereof:
  - a. list the assets in need of attention, including the nature and value;
  - b. append a short explanation of its exact location;
  - c. list the name and address of the custodian thereof;
  - d. state the protection being given such property, and the amount and duration of fire and theft insurance, if any; and
  - e. list whether the asset is subject to any environmental hazards or concerns.
2. Need for Immediate Action. Where assets are in need of immediate attention, the debtor's attorney (or debtor if pro se) shall immediately contact the Clerk to ascertain the name of the trustee assigned to the case. If no trustee has been assigned, the attorney shall notify the Clerk of the necessity for immediate assignment. Upon determining the assigned trustee, the attorney shall then contact the trustee, or the Bankruptcy Administrator if the trustee is unavailable, and notify the trustee of the need for immediate attention and of the items listed in section 1 herein.

Rule 4003-1. Exemption Election.

1. Content of Exemption Election. The exemption election must comply with the Official Bankruptcy Form, and shall include the following:
  - a. Property Description. Each item of property claimed as exempt, except clothing, shall be specifically and individually listed. Generic terms, such as “household goods”, “real property” and “jewelry”, shall not be an adequate description of property. Real property shall be described by at least the full street address thereof, including the county and state. Vehicles shall be described by at least the make, model, year, and body type thereof. Other items of tangible personal property claimed as exempt shall be described by at least the make and model thereof. Intangible personal property shall be described by at least sufficient information to allow a reasonable person to identify and locate the same without further inquiry.

b. Statute or Law Creating Exemption. Each item of property claimed as exempt shall be accompanied by a reference to the specific law providing for the exemption, including applicable subparagraphs of statutes.

c. Recently Purchased Property. In addition to the list of property on Official Bankruptcy Form 6-C, there shall be a listing of each item of tangible personal property purchased by the debtor within ninety (90) days of the filing of the bankruptcy petition.

2. Time Limit for Amending or Objecting to Exemption Election. The debtor shall have up to and including the day of the Section 341(a) meeting of creditors in which to amend the exemption election. An amendment to the exemption election announced at the Section 341(a) meeting of creditors and filed with the Court in writing no later than ten (10) business days thereafter, shall be deemed filed within the time set forth above.

Rule 4003-2. Lien Avoidance in Chapter 13 Proceedings.

Lien Avoidance in Chapter 13. Unless the debtor files motions to avoid Section 522(f) liens within ninety (90) days of the date of the Section 341 creditors’ meeting, the creditor’s claim will be treated as a secured claim.

Rule 4004-1. Certificates of Discharge.

Certificates of Discharge will be issued by the Clerk upon affidavit of the Debtor, specifically identifying the following:

- a. judgment creditor,
- b. the court or public registry in which the judgment is recorded, and
- c. judgment date, book, and page.

Additionally, the affidavit must contain the following averments:

- a. The Debtor has received a discharge in the case;
- b. The judgment creditor was given notice of the bankruptcy;
- c. In counsel’s opinion, the judgment debt was discharged; and
- d. At the date of bankruptcy, the Debtor owned no real estate or any other property to which the judgment had attached.

The affidavit must be served upon the creditor.

Rule 4071-1. Direct Creditor Communication with Chapter 13 Debtors.

1. Definition. Direct creditor communication with a debtor shall mean written or oral communication which is truthful and commercially reasonable in all respects, including substance of message, timing of contact, and manner of delivery or transmission of such message.

2. Contact by Secured Creditors. A secured creditor may communicate with a debtor directly concerning (1) insurance coverage, (2) other encumbrances on the collateral of the secured creditor, and (3) the location and inspection of collateral.

3. Contact by Creditors Whose Claims are Paid Directly by the Debtor. Any creditor of a Chapter 13 debtor, whose claim is not paid through the trustee but rather paid by the debtor directly, may communicate with the debtor concerning any of a debtor's post-petition obligations to that creditor under the debtor's contract with that creditor.

4. Creditors' Responses to Debtors. Any creditor may freely respond to any inquiry from a debtor on any subject matter.

Rule 5005-1. Electronic Case Filing.

The Court allows registered users to file petitions, make motions and submit documents to the Court through the use of electronic means. Requirements and procedures for electronic filing are established in the court's Administrative Order adopting electronic case filing procedures and the procedures for electronic case filing established by the Clerk.

Rule 5009-1. Trustee's Duty to File Final Report.

In the event a case is dismissed for failure of the debtor to appear at the first meeting of creditors, or if a case is converted to a case under a different chapter of the Bankruptcy Code, the trustee in the original case will not be required to file a Final Report in accordance with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 5009 unless funds or assets are actually received by the trustee in any such case.

Rule 5011-1. Abstention.

1. Adversary Proceedings. In adversary proceedings, any motion for abstention pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 1334(c) shall be filed within thirty (30) days after the service of the summons, complaint or other pleading to which it is addressed.

2. Contested Matters. In contested matters, any motion for abstention pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 1334(c) shall be filed no later than the time allowed for response or objection.

3. To Whom Abstention Motion is Directed. Motions to abstain pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 1334(c), whether the requested abstention is mandatory or discretionary, shall be directed to the Bankruptcy Court, except with respect to claims within 28 U.S.C. Section 157(b)(5) in which cases motions to abstain shall be directed to the United States District Court.

Rule 7003-1. Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet.

All complaints initiating adversary proceedings shall be accompanied by a fully completed Bankruptcy Cover Sheet (form BC-104). This form shall be provided by the Clerk upon request.

Rule 7016-1. Limitation of Application of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 16(b) to Bankruptcy Cases.

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 16(b) applies to all adversary proceedings, except those adversary proceedings to recover money or property having a value of less than $75,000.

Rule 7026-1. Limitation of Application of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26 to Bankruptcy Cases.

1. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure (FRCP) 26 applies to all adversary proceedings, including but not limited to those actions described in Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure (FRBP) 7001, except that FRCP 26(a) and (f) do not apply to adversary proceedings to recover money or property having a value of less than $75,000.

2. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court upon request of a party in interest or upon the Court's own motion, FRCP 26(a) and (f) do not apply to contested matters.

3. FRCP 26(d) applies to any adversary proceeding or contested matter to which FRCP 26(f) applies.

Rule 7030-1. Limitation of Application of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 30 to Bankruptcy Cases.

Unless otherwise ordered, a deposition taken pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure shall not exceed four hours in duration.

Rule 7067-1. Deposit and Investment of Funds Held by Clerk.

1. Whenever a party seeks a court order for money to be deposited by the Clerk in an interest-bearing account, the party shall personally submit the proposed order to the Clerk or financial deputy who will inspect the proposed order for proper form and content and compliance with this rule prior to signature by the Judge for whom the order is prepared.

2. Any order obtained by a party or parties in an action that directs the Clerk to invest, in any interest-bearing account or instrument, funds deposited in the registry of the Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 2041 shall include the following:

- a. the amount to be invested;
- b. the name of the depository approved by the Treasurer of the United States as a depository in which funds may be deposited;
- c. a designation of the type of account or instrument in which the funds shall be invested;
- d. wording which directs the Clerk to deduct from the income earned on the investment the fee authorized by law, not exceeding that authorized by the Judicial Conference of the United States and set by the Director of the Administrative Office whenever such income becomes available for deduction in the investment so held and without further order of the Court.

3. In the event that a depository intended by the Court to receive registry funds is not able to pledge sufficient collateral for receipt of those funds immediately upon the Court's receipt of the said funds, the Clerk may in his or her discretion, temporarily retain such funds or direct the party tendering such funds to temporarily retain them as necessary to arrange for their deposit in an interest-bearing registry accounts.

Rule 9006-1. Time Limits.

1. Shortening of Notice. The Court will consider shortening prescribed notice for a hearing on contested matters only in extraordinary circumstances and upon the following conditions:

a. The request to shorten notice must be made by written motion, which states the reasons why shortened notice is necessary, identifies the parties affected by the request; and describes the service of notice of the request on interested parties; and

b. The movant shall serve and provide notice of the motion of the 24 hours in advance of submitting an Order shortening notice; service and notice for the purpose of this Local Rule is accomplished upon actual delivery of the motion to the office of the party served; and service must be made upon the following parties (or their counsel):

(i) consumer case — trustee, Bankruptcy Administrator, debtor, and any party with a direct interest in the matter,

(ii) non-consumer case — debtor, trustee, Bankruptcy Administrator, examiner, and any official committee.

c. Relief may be had from the requirement of 24 hours advance notice of the request:

(i) upon demonstration of an emergency (not of movant's own creation) and the inability to notify affected parties in advance.

2. Objection to Timing of Hearing on Shortened Notice. If, at or before the hearing on the substantive motion, any opposing party objects to the shortened notice, the moving party shall have the burden of demonstrating good cause for the shortened notice, or a continuance shall be granted.

3. Adversary Proceedings-Extensions of Time to Respond to Complaint. Any motion for an extension of time to respond to a complaint shall be filed prior to the expiration of the initial period for filing the answer and shall set forth the reasons for the request. For cause shown, the Clerk may enter an ex parte order granting an additional thirty (30) days within which to answer or otherwise respond.

Rule 9013-1. Motions Practice.

1. General Requirements.

a. Form and Content of Papers Filed. In addition to requirements established by statute or Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, all motions shall:

(i) contain a statement of pertinent facts, including, but not limited to, a complete and concise description of any real property or personal property that is the subject thereof;

(ii) state with particularity the grounds therefor;

(iii) cite any statute, rule, procedure, case or other authority relied upon;

(iv) set forth explicitly the relief sought; and

(v) contain or be accompanied by separate notice of the time, date and place of the hearing on the motion, or contain or be accompanied by notice of opportunity for hearing in the instance of permitted "no-protest" motions.

b. Response to Motions. If a party elects to respond, and unless the Court orders otherwise, each Respondent to a motion should, within fifteen (15) days of service of the motion, serve upon the adverse party, and file with the Clerk a response which shall:

(i) acknowledge or dispute the accuracy of movant's statement of pertinent facts, and set forth any additional facts Respondent believes pertinent;

(ii) state with particularity the grounds for opposition to the motion;

(iii) cite any statute, rule, procedure, case or other authority relied upon; and

(iv) set forth explicitly why the relief sought by movant is opposed.

2. Notice of Hearing on Motion. A Motion will not be set for hearing unless properly noticed by the parties or by direction of the Court. It is duty of the party filing a motion to set a date for the hearing and to properly notify all persons entitled to receive notice as provided for by the Bankruptcy Rules. The appropriate dates for setting motion hearings are as follows:

1. Asheville Division.

a. Regular term of court is scheduled for the third full week of each calendar month.

b. Chambers days are scheduled on Tuesday and Wednesday of the first full week of each calendar month.

c. Chapter 13, 12, and brief Chapter 7 matters are heard on Tuesday.

d. All other time-consuming matters are heard on Wednesday and carryover matters are heard on Thursday.

2. Charlotte Division.

a. Chapter 7 matters are heard on Thursday of the second and fourth full week of the calendar month.

b. Chapter 11 matters are as follows:

Judge Hodges: Wednesday of the second and fourth full week of the calendar month for routine matters.

Judge Whitley: Thursday of the first and third full weeks of the calendar month.

c. Chapter 13 and 12 motions are heard on Tuesday of the second and fourth full weeks of the calendar month. Chapter 13 dismissals hearings are held on Wednesday of the second and fourth full weeks of the calendar month. Time-consuming matters can be set at special times throughout the week after receiving prior Court approval.

3. Shelby Division.

a. Regular term of court is scheduled for Friday of the third full week of the calendar month.

4. Statesville Division.

a. Chapter 7, 12, and 13, and 11 matters are heard on Tuesday of the first full week of the calendar month. Time-consuming matters are heard on Wednesday of the first full week after receiving prior court approval.

The above are the standard settings for hearings. Deviations from this schedule may be required. The Court will post notices of such changes on the Court's web site. Motions may be set on other days with advance permission of the court. The court may set matters for hearing on its own initiative.

3. "No Protest" Motions. A hearing on those motions listed in a-o below may be noticed by "no protest" notice upon notice to the parties as required by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. The "no-protest" notice must specifically advise any interested party that it must file and serve any response, including an objection or request for a hearing, within the fifteen (15) day period from service of the Notice, and that if no hearing is requested the Court may decide the matter on the record before it. A hearing shall be requested by filing and serving a response, including an objection and request for hearing, within fifteen (15) days of the date of the service of the notice. Any response must specify exactly what motion is contested and the response should comply with Local Bankruptcy Rule 9013-1. The following are examples of motions which may be noticed by the use of "no protest" notices and determined by the Court without a hearing unless a hearing is specifically requested. If an Order is entered following this procedure on a motion other than the type listed below, that Order is not valid.

a. Motions to use, sell or lease property under Section 363(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code, except for sales of all or substantially all of the assets in a Chapter 9, 11, 12 or 13 Case;

b. Subject to the provisions of Bankruptcy Rule 6007, motions to abandon property of the estate by the trustee or debtor in possession under Section 554 of the Bankruptcy Code;

c. Motions to assume executory contracts or leases under Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code, if the other parties to the contract or lease stipulate to the assumption;

d. Motions under Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code to reject executory contracts or leases, except collective bargaining agreements under Section 1113 of the Bankruptcy Code;

e. Motions to avoid liens under Section 522(f) of the Bankruptcy Code;

f. Motions for relief from stay under Section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code (except that notices thereof shall state a specific hearing date in the event a hearing is requested);

g. Applications to pay compensation of professional persons, including applications pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Section 506(b);

h. Motions to change venue of a case or proceeding to another division within this District;

i. Motions to obtain post-petition credit in Chapter 13 cases;

- j. Objections to claims;<sup>1</sup>
- k. Motions for relief from the co-debtor stay provided in Sections 1201 and 1301 of the Bankruptcy Code;
  - l. Motions for approval of final report and account of trustee, application for commission and reimbursement of trustee expenses, application to disburse funds of estate, application to abandon, and to discharge trustee;
- m. Motions to modify Chapter 13 plans without a request for other relief;
- n. Motions or applications to approve security interest as set forth in Local Rule 2016-1(3);
- o. Motions for Moratoriums in Chapter 13 cases.

Rule 9013-2. Briefs in Adversary Proceedings and Contested Matters.

If any party to an adversary proceeding or contested matter desires to file a brief, the brief shall include:

- 1. A concise statement of the facts of the case;
- 2. All admissions and stipulations, if applicable;
- 3. A summary of the points of law involved, citing authorities in support thereof; and
- 4. Any anticipated evidentiary problems, if applicable.

In all cases, briefs should be filed with the Clerk. In addition, two (2) full copies of all briefs should be furnished for the Judge assigned to the adversary proceeding or contested matter.

The brief shall be filed with the Clerk and received by opposing counsel at least three business days prior to the hearing. Reply briefs, if any, shall be filed with the Clerk and received by opposing counsel at least one business day prior to the hearing. A certificate of service must be filed with the original brief verifying the required service.

Rule 9019-1. Settlements of Adversary Proceedings.

All papers settling adversary proceedings (notices, motions, orders or judgments, and dismissals) shall contain the base case caption and the adversary proceeding caption(s). The original papers shall be filed in each adversary proceeding at issue regardless of whether the adversary proceeding is pending or closed. All creditors and interested parties in the base case shall be served with notice of settlements in adversary proceedings. Service thereof shall be reflected in the certificate of service filed with the settlement papers.

Rule 9021-1. Tender of Judgments and Orders.

1. Orders and Judgments. When a proposed order or judgment is submitted to the Clerk, it shall be accompanied by a properly completed Tender of Order or Judgment Form (Local Form 9). However, an order or judgment tendered in open court to a Bankruptcy Judge need not be accompanied by Local Form 9. When applicable, any “no protest” response periods shall pass before the proposed order or judgment is submitted to the Clerk.

2. Consent Orders. Consent orders will not be entered unless also signed by the trustee in the case.

Rule 9022-1. Certificate of Service for Orders.

When a submitting party receives a signed order from the Court, the submitting party must immediately serve a copy of the order on the appropriate parties. The filing of a certificate of service with the Clerk's office is generally not required; however, the submitting party will maintain a contemporaneous record of the date of service and parties served. A certificate is required when signed Orders are submitted to the Clerk at the intake counter.

Rule 9028-1. Disqualification of Judges.

In furtherance of 28 U.S.C. 455 and Cannon 3C of the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, the court has adopted procedures for administration of cases in which a judge is disqualified for any reason:

a. Any circumstance that requires disqualification of the assigned judge should be brought to the court's attention at the earliest opportunity by the filing and service of a motion seeking disqualification — except that no motion is required with respect to events listed in paragraphs c of this Local Rule.

b. In any contested matter where the court is aware of an event requiring disqualification or is made aware of such an event by any party, the court will reassign the matter to another judge. Where the disqualification applies only to an isolated contested matter, it is not necessary for the court to reassign the base case. The court will determine whether reassignment shall apply to the contested matter only or to the entire case.

c. Events of disqualification regularly recur in the following events: Judge Hodges does not hear contested matters involving Bank of America (or its subsidiaries) and General Electric Company (or its subsidiaries).

d. Approval of uncontested settlements and agreed orders in cases which would otherwise require disqualification will not require reassignment.

e. Orders in contested matters that are reassigned may end up with the signature of the disqualified judge even though the matter was reassigned and heard by another judge. This may occur because orders submitted sometime after reassignment, hearing, and determination may be batched for signature by the Clerk's Office with other orders and have the wrong signature stamp applied to the order by inadvertence. (In fact, some signatures are applied electronically). In such event, the order is in fact the order of the reassigned judge who determined the matter.

Rule 9035-1. Service of Papers on the Bankruptcy Administrator.

All parties are required to serve upon the Bankruptcy Administrator, by regular mail, hand delivery, overnight courier or by facsimile machine copies of the papers specified in this Local Bankruptcy Rule which are Filed with the Bankruptcy Court or the Appellate Court. Appropriate certificates of service shall be Filed.

(a) Chapter 11 papers. All papers in Chapter 11 Cases and in adversary proceedings therein, except exhibits to be used at trials or hearings.

(b) Chapter 12 papers. All papers in Chapter 12 cases and in adversary proceedings therein, except exhibits to be used at trials or hearings.

(c) Rule 2002 requests. All papers in cases and adversary proceedings in which the Bankruptcy Administrator has filed a request for notice pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2002(i).

(d) Appointment and removal of trustee or examiner. All papers related to the appointment or removal of a trustee or examiner.

(e) Compensation applications. All applications for compensation in all cases and adversary proceedings.

(f) Fraud or criminal activity. All papers in any case or adversary proceeding in which fraud or criminal activity is alleged on the part of any party.

(g) All papers by Chapter 7 trustees. All papers filed in cases and adversary proceedings by Chapter 7 Trustees, except as the Bankruptcy Administrator may from time to time otherwise direct by notice to the Trustees on an ad hoc basis.

(h) Conversions. All Orders relating to conversions of a case to a case under another chapter.

UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

NOTICE TO INDIVIDUAL CONSUMER DEBTOR

---

The purpose of this notice is to acquaint you with the four chapters of the federal Bankruptcy Code under which you may file a bankruptcy petition. The bankruptcy law is complicated and not easily described. Therefore, you should seek the advice of an attorney to learn of your rights and responsibilities under the law should you decide to file a petition with the court. Neither the judge nor the court's employees may provide you with legal advice.

Regardless of which chapter of the Bankruptcy Code that you proceed under, if all lists, schedules, statements, or other documents that are required to be filed in conjunction with the filing of a bankruptcy petition by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure or the Local Bankruptcy Rules of the Western District of North Carolina are not filed within the time set forth in the applicable rules, your bankruptcy case will be subject to dismissal by the Court without further notice and opportunity for hearing.

Chapter 7: Liquidation ($160 fee)

1. Chapter 7 is designed for debtors in financial difficulty who do not have the ability to pay their existing debts.

2. Under Chapter 7 a trustee takes possession of all your property. You may claim certain of your property as exempt under governing law. The trustee then liquidates the property and uses the proceeds to pay certain creditors according to priorities of the Bankruptcy Code.

3. The purpose of filing a Chapter 7 case is to obtain a discharge of your existing debts. If, however, you are found to have committed certain kinds of improper conduct described in the Bankruptcy Code, your discharge may be denied by the court and the purpose for which you filed the bankruptcy petition will be defeated.

4. Even if you receive a discharge, there are some debts that are not discharged under the law. Therefore, you may still be responsible for such debts as certain taxes and student loans, alimony and support payments, debts fraudulently incurred, debts for willful and malicious injury to a person or property, and debts arising from a drunk driving judgment.

5. Under certain circumstances you may keep property that you have purchased subject to a valid security interest. Your attorney can explain the options that are available to you.

Chapter 13: Repayment of All or Part of the Debts of an Individual with Regular Income ($160 fee)

1. Chapter 13 is designed for individuals with regular income who are temporarily unable to pay their debts but would like to pay them in installments over a period of time. You are only eligible for Chapter 13 if your debts do not exceed certain dollar amounts set forth in the Bankruptcy Code.

2. Under Chapter 13 you must file a plan with the court to repay your creditors all or part of the money that you owe them, using your future earnings. Usually the period allowed by the court to repay your debts is three years, but not more than five years. Your plan must be approved by the court before it can take effect.

3. Under Chapter 13, unlike Chapter 7, you may keep all your property, both exempt and non-exempt, as long as you continue to make payments under the plan.

4. After completion of payments under your plan, your debts are discharged except alimony and support payments, certain kinds of taxes owed for less than three years, and long term secured obligations.

Chapter 11: Reorganization ($800 fee)

Chapter 11 is designed primarily for the reorganization of a business but is also available to consumer debtors. Its provisions are quite complicated, and any decision for an individual to file a Chapter 11 petition should be reviewed with an attorney.

Chapter 12: Family Farmer ($200 fee)

Chapter 12 is designed to permit family farmers to repay their debts over a period of time from future earnings and is in many ways similar to a Chapter 13. The eligibility requirements are restrictive, limiting its use to those whose income arises primarily from a family owned farm.

I hereby certify that I have read this notice.

DISCLOSURE TO DEBTOR(S) OF ATTORNEYS FEE PROCEDURE FOR CHAPTER 13 CASES IN THE UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA

After consultation with the undersigned attorney, you have decided to file a petition for relief under Chapter 13 of the United States Bankruptcy Code. Accordingly, you are hereby given notice that pursuant to local rule of the Bankruptcy Court, the base fee for a Chapter 13 case is established at $1300. Payment of all or part of this fee is included in your payments to the trustee. The attorney's services included in the base fee are those normally contemplated in a Chapter 13 case. They are the following:

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| (a) Preparation and filing of petition and attendance at Section 341 meeting. | (h) Review of order confirming plan and six-month report. |
| (b) Notice to stay state court actions.                                       | (i) Objections to claims listed on the schedules.         |
| (c) Proof of claim filed by debtor for creditor.                              | (j) Valuation hearings.                                   |
| (d) Rejections or assumptions of leases.                                      | (k) First and second motions to dismiss.                  |
| (e) Motion to transfer venue.   | (l) Incurring credit (no motion filed).                   |
| (f) Letter to Trustee requesting payoff.                                      | (m) Motions to avoid liens.                               |
| (g) Letter to debtor about discharge hearing.                                 |   |

In some Chapter 13 cases, it becomes necessary for legal services to be performed which are beyond those normally contemplated. These are legal services not covered by the base fee. These "non-base" services include the following:

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| (a) Abandonment of property post-confirmation.                | (i) Non-base fee requests.             |
| (b) Motion for moratorium.                                    | (j) Stay violation litigation.         |
| (c) Motion for authority to sell property.                    | (k) Insurance inquiries.               |
| (d) Motion to modify.   | (l) Post-discharge injunction actions. |
| (e) Motion to incur credit.                                   | (m) Adversary proceedings.             |
| (f) Defense of motion for relief from stay or co-debtor stay. | (n) Wage garnishment orders.           |
| (g) Defense of motions to dismiss (after second).             | (o) Turnover adversaries.              |
| (h) Objections to claims not listed in schedules.             | (p) Adversary to strip a lien.         |
|   | (q) Motion to substitute collateral.   |

For such "non-base" services you will be charged on the basis of attorney's time expended at the rate of $_____ per hour plus the amount of expenses incurred (such as court fees, travel, long distance telephone, photocopying, postage, etc.). Such "non-base" fees are chargeable only after the same are approved by the Bankruptcy Court. Except as set forth below, before any such fees are charged you will receive a copy of my motion filed in the court requesting approval of any such "non-base" fees as well as a notice explaining your opportunity to object if you do not agree with the fee applied for. Any fees awarded for "non-base" services will be paid to the undersigned attorney from your payments to the trustee in the same way as payment of "base" fees. It is possible that "non-base" fees approved by the court may cause your payment to the trustee to be increased, or the term of your Chapter 13 plan extended. Whether or not a payment increase or an extension will be necessary depends upon the facts of your case. If a payment increase is necessary because of a court approved "non-base" fee, the Trustee will notify you of the amount of the increase.

In the court's discretion, a debtor's attorney in a Chapter 13 proceeding may request, in open court, and without any further notice, "non-base" fees for the following services and in amounts not exceeding those shown below. Without other notice, the debtor's attorney may also request up to $1.00 for each item noticed to creditors as expense for postage, copying and envelopes.

- |   |       |                                 |       |
|---|-------|---------------------------------|-------|
| (a) Defense of motion to dismiss (after 2nd). | $100 | (b) Motion for moratorium.      | $150 |
|   |       | (c) Motion to modify and order. | $250 |

(d)	Substitution of collateral.	$350		property and order.	$250
(e)	Uncontested adversary lien strip.	$250	(g)	Defense of motion for relief from stay or co-debtor stay.	$250

CHAPTER 11 OPERATING ORDER

This Order, although effective immediately upon entry, is subject to objection by the Debtor. If the Debtor files written objections to this Order within twenty-five (25) days of the date of entry of this Order, a Court date will be set and all interested parties will be given notice of the hearing on the Debtor's objections.

The Debtor is hereby ORDERED to comply with the following:

A. Status Meeting with Bankruptcy Administrator: At the place and time below, unless otherwise agreed to by the parties, the Debtor and its attorney shall meet with the Bankruptcy Administrator, or her designee, to certify that all provisions of this Order required to be done by that date have been done and that all mechanisms are in place to assure future compliance.

DATE: _____

TIME:

PLACE:

The Debtor shall supply the Bankruptcy Administrator with any documents or records requested by the Bankruptcy Administrator prior to or at the time of said meeting.

B. Books and Records: The Debtor's prepetition books and records should have been closed and new postpetition books and records should have been opened as of the date of filing the petition. If this has not been done, it shall be done upon receipt of this Order; however, regardless of the time of actual closing and opening, the date of the filing of the petition is the point of separation. From that point forward the new books and records shall be kept in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

C. Bank Accounts:

(1) New Accounts: The Debtor's prepetition bank accounts should have been closed and new postpetition bank accounts should have been opened as of the date of filing the petition. If this has not been done, it shall be done with appropriate adjustments on the date of this Order; however, regardless of the time of actual closing and opening, the date of the filing of the petition is the point of separation. New bank accounts must be opened and shall consist of at least a general account, a tax account and, at the Debtor's election, a payroll account. The new bank signature cards of these accounts shall clearly indicate that the Debtor is a "Chapter 11 Debtor-In-Possession".

(2) Collateralization of Accounts: The Debtor is directed to comply with the provisions of 11 U.S.C. Section 345 regarding deposit or investment of money of the estate. The Debtor shall immediately notify the Bankruptcy Administrator in the event a bond or deposit of securities is required by law. In addition, the Debtor shall supply the Bankruptcy Administrator with copies of all agreements, bonds, securities, safekeeping receipts issued by the Federal Reserve Bank or other evidence of compliance with 11 U.S.C. Section 345.

(3) Tax Account, Deposits and Filing of Tax Returns: During the pendency of this proceeding:

(a) The Debtor shall segregate and hold in a separate bank account, all taxes deducted and withheld from employees (including Social Security taxes) or monies collected under any law of the United States, or any state or subdivision thereof, and the State of North Carolina. Monies withheld shall be deposited in a National Bank or other authorized depository, and shall include the aggregate of the Debtor's share of Social Security taxes, plus all other withholdings, F.I.C.A., and excise taxes so deducted, withheld, collected, or otherwise due by the Debtor.

(b) The Debtor is directed and empowered to pay from said bank account to the appropriate taxing authorities the appropriate amounts at the times and in the manner prescribed by law. Deposits shall be made timely and reported in the manner required by the Internal Revenue Service or other taxing authorities.

(c) The Internal Revenue Service and the North Carolina Department of Revenue are hereby authorized to contact the Debtor and designated bank to verify that all required tax deposits are being made and reported and that all tax returns are being filed and remittances paid in the manner prescribed by law.

(d) Evidence of payment of taxes and/or deposit of monies for tax payments shall be included in the Debtor's Monthly Status Report. A copy of the bank receipt evidencing said deposit shall be attached to the Debtor's Monthly Status Report.

(e) The Debtor shall file all past due delinquent tax returns within ninety (90) days of this Order unless otherwise ordered by this Court or as otherwise provided by law. Federal tax returns shall be filed with the Internal Revenue Service, Special Procedures Division. In addition, the Debtor shall file all post-petition tax returns as required by law in a timely manner.

D. Proof of Insurance: Within ten days of the date of this Order, the Debtor shall file with the Bankruptcy Administrator's Office a copy of all insurance policies held by the Debtor. The policies shall include liability, hazard, workman's compensation and all other insurance held by the Debtor.

If notice of cancellation or of non-renewal is given on any of the insurance policies listed before their expiration dates, the Debtor shall notify the Bankruptcy Administrator's Office of cancellation or non-renewal, by telephonic notice within 48 hours, and in writing within five (5) days, after notice of cancellation or notice of failure to renew. If any such notice is given effective as of the date of expiration, the same notification to the Bankruptcy Administrator shall be given.

E. Cash Collateral: The Debtor shall, in addition to other notice as required by the Bankruptcy Rules, notify the Bankruptcy Administrator of all motions and hearings on the use of cash collateral. The Debtor shall not use cash collateral as defined by 11 U.S.C. Section 363 unless each entity that has an interest in such cash collateral consents, or the Court, after notice and hearing, authorizes such use, sale, or lease in accordance with the provisions of 11 U.S.C. Section 363.

F. Inspection of Property and Records: The Debtor shall permit the Bankruptcy Administrator or her designee reasonable inspection of its business premises, properties, books and records.

G. Monthly Status Reports: Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. Sections 704, 1106 and 1107 and Bankruptcy Rule 2015, the Debtor shall file with the Court, and serve upon the Bankruptcy Administrator and the members of the Creditors' Committee, or their duly designated representative, monthly written reports on the status of this Chapter 11 proceeding. Said reports shall be prepared in accordance with the form entitled "Monthly Status Report" which is provided by the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court. The Debtor shall complete all information requested by and attach all documentation required by said report. Said report shall be reviewed and signed by both the representative of the Debtor and the Debtor's attorney. The first "Monthly Status Report" shall include the period between the date the petition was filed and the last date of the calendar month. The first "Monthly Status Report" shall be due within thirty days after entry at the Order for Relief. All subsequent reports shall be for the entire calendar month and shall be due within thirty (30) days following the end of the calendar month.

H. Plan and Disclosure Statement Due Date: The Debtor shall file a plan of reorganization and disclosure statement within 120 days after entry of the order for relief, unless the Court, by subsequent Order, after Notice and Hearing within the 120-day period, grants the Debtor an extension of time or requires the Debtor to file a plan and disclosure statement prior to the expiration of the 120-day period.

I. Notice of Section 341 Meeting of Creditors: The Debtor shall, in accordance with the instructions from the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court, serve the notice of the Section 341 Meeting of Creditors in a timely manner. The service of said notice shall be certified to the Court.

J. Appointment of Professionals and Professional's Fees: Absent extraordinary circumstances, attorneys and other professionals will not be appointed nunc pro tunc. Applications for appointment filed within 30 days of the filing of the petition or within 30 days of the date services commence, whichever occurs later, shall be considered timely.

Debtor's attorneys may disburse expenses and attorney fees from retainers held in segregated trust accounts, only to the extent that said amounts are disclosed in a monthly report detailing expenses and attorney, professional or paraprofessional fees. Said report shall be filed with the Clerk of the Bankruptcy Court, with copies to the Bankruptcy Administrator and the Creditors Committee. All disbursements from retainers shall be provisional only. All fees and expenses remain subject to proper application, notice, hearing and Court order. Requests for interim fees should be made on a quarterly basis. However, applications for fees will be considered on a more frequent basis, calendar permitting, upon application and proper notice.

K. Addresses for Service Upon the Bankruptcy Administrator, the Internal Revenue Service and the State of North Carolina: The Bankruptcy Administrator's address for service is 402 W. Trade Street, Suite 200, Charlotte, NC 28202-1669. The Internal Revenue Service shall be served by mail at: Internal Revenue Service, Special Procedures Division, Room 411, 320 Federal Place, Greensboro, NC 27401. The North Carolina Department of Revenue shall be served by mail at: North Carolina Department of Revenue, Central Collection Unit, Post Office Box 1168, Raleigh, NC 27602. The Debtor shall effectuate service upon the Internal Revenue Service and the North Carolina Department of Revenue as otherwise required by law.

L. Compensation and Compensation Plans: During the pendency of this Chapter 11 proceeding, the Debtor shall not increase compensation or modify plans of compensation without prior Order of this Court, after notice and hearing. Compensation and plans of compensation shall include, but shall not be limited to, salaries, hourly wages, benefits, commissions structure, bonuses, or other forms of compensation for service, and shall be applicable, but shall not be limited to, officers, insiders, employees, independent contractors, consultants, commissioned salespersons and other entities providing services to the Debtor. Although the Debtor shall not increase any compensation without prior Order of this Court, after notice and hearing, this Court will consider motions for adjustments to entire compensation plans or packages as well as adjustments as they relate to particular individuals or entities.

M. Disposition of Assets: The Debtor shall not hypothecate, mortgage, pledge, or otherwise encumber any property of the estate or dispose of any property of the estate, other than in the ordinary course of business, without Order of this Court.

N. Compliance with Code Provisions: The operation of the business by the Debtor shall be in strict conformity with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code, the Bankruptcy Rules, and the Local Bankruptcy Rules of Practice and Procedure.

IT IS SO ORDERED this _____ day of _____, 19_____.

CHAPTER 13 PLAN SUMMARY

The following is a summary of the proposed Chapter 13 plan of the above-referenced debtor(s). The plan provisions as set forth herein are those proposed by the debtor(s) and are subject to modification as recommended by the trustee at the scheduled Section 341 meeting of creditors. ALL CREDITORS ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED THAT THE PLAN AS PROPOSED HEREIN OR AS MODIFIED AT THE MEETING OF CREDITORS MAY BE CONFIRMED BY THE COURT AND THEREAFTER ALL TERMS OF THE PLAN WILL BE BINDING UPON ALL PARTIES UNLESS OBJECTIONS TO CONFIRMATION ARE TIMELY FILED WITH THE COURT ACCORDING TO THE PROCEDURES AS SET FORTH IN THE "NOTICE OF MEETING OF CREDITORS, CONFIRMATION HEARING, AND OTHER RELEVANT MATTERS" WHICH ACCOMPANIES THIS SUMMARY. The plan is bound by and must comply with all appropriate provisions of the Bankruptcy Code which affect Chapter 13 proceedings.

1. The plan proposes payments of $_____ per month for _____ months or for a _____% payout to the general unsecured creditors.
2. The attorney for the debtor(s) has already received $_____ of the total base attorney's fee of $_____, with the balance of the fee, if any, to be paid through the plan by the trustee.
3. From the payments received, the trustee shall make disbursements as follows and in the following order of priority:

Administrative Costs

Trustee's fees and costs (up to a maximum of 10%), court costs, attorney's fees and costs, and other administrative claims as ordered by the court.

Secured Claims

Holders of secured claims (including any arrearages on fully secured claims) which are actually filed with the trustee shall retain the liens securing such claims and shall be treated and paid as secured claimants to the extent of the collateral values shown below. To the extent that a creditor's claim is shown as undersecured, it shall be treated and paid in the same manner as general unsecured claims.

Claimant	Collateral Value	Claimant	Collateral Value
-----------------	-------------------------	-----------------	-------------------------

Priority Claims

The debtor shall make full payment in deferred cash payments of all claims entitled to priority under Sections 507 and 1322 of the Bankruptcy Code, as shown below. To the extent that such claims are not shown as entitled to priority, they shall be treated and paid in the same manner as general unsecured claims.

Claimant	Priority Amount	Claimant	Priority Amount
----------	-----------------	----------	-----------------

General Unsecured Claims

The debtor shall provide for the pro-rata payment of all non-priority, unsecured claims after payment of all administrative, secured and priority claims as set forth above. If the plan proposes payments for a term of months, the anticipated payout to the general unsecured creditors is approximately _____%.

4. Special Plan Terms

Separate Classifications of Unsecured Claims

The following general unsecured claims shall be separately classified and paid in full:

Claimant	Claim Amount	Reason for Classification
-----------------	---------------------	----------------------------------

Property to be Surrendered

The debtor shall surrender the collateral securing the claims of the following creditors in satisfaction of the secured portion of such creditors' allowed claims. To the extent that the collateral does not satisfy such a creditor's claim, the creditor shall hold a general unsecured claim. All such unsecured deficiency claims must be filed with the trustee to be included for payment.

Claimant	Claim Amount	Value of Collateral
-----------------	---------------------	----------------------------

Lien Avoidance

The following liens shall be avoided pursuant to 11 U.S.C. 522(f) or other applicable sections of the Bankruptcy Code:

Claimant	Claim Amount
-----------------	---------------------

Executory Contracts and/or Unexpired Leases

The following executory contracts and/or unexpired leases shall be assumed:

The following executory contracts and/or unexpired leases shall be rejected:

Direct Payments by Debtor

The debtor will make regular payments directly to the following creditors:

Claimant	Monthly Payment
-----------------	------------------------

5. Effect of Discharge

Upon the debtor's completion of the confirmed plan (as proposed herein or as subsequently modified), all claims provided for by the plan will be discharged as provided for in Section 1328 of the Bankruptcy Code, including the cancellation of liens which secured such claims and were paid by the plan.

I. Introduction to bankruptcy practice guide.

This Administrative Guide ("Guide") has been prepared to assist all interested parties in their use of the services of this Court and the Clerk's Office. Prior to October 1, 1994, many of this Court's Local Rules of Bankruptcy Practice and Procedure ("Local Bankruptcy Rules") were not phrased in terms of mandatory rules. Instead, they simply provided information or recommended guidelines for all interested parties. Therefore, the Local Bankruptcy Rules were substantially revised on October 1, 1994. Many of the non-mandatory provisions that were a part of the Local Bankruptcy Rules prior to October 1, 1994 have now been moved to this Guide. Although the provisions of this Guide have been approved by this Court, its requirements do not have the full force of law.

The Guide shall be updated periodically as necessary. Each revised page will bear a revision date in the upper right hand corner. All parties on the Court's mailing list will receive notice of all future revisions to the Guide.

The Clerk has arranged for a local copy service to prepare copies of the Guide for purchase by all interested parties. Copies of this Guide can be obtained from Kwik Copies, 333 S. Kings Drive, Charlotte, North Carolina 28204, (704) 332-6521. Contact the Chief Deputy Clerk, Linda Anderton, for further information.

C. BANKRUPTCY ADMINISTRATOR*1. Responsibility

All matters relating to estate administration and the supervision of trustees and other court appointed fiduciaries are the official responsibility of the office of the Bankruptcy Administrator — an independent, non-judicial officer of the Federal Judiciary. The Bankruptcy Administrator is not an employee of the Bankruptcy Court itself, but, rather, is appointed by and under supervision of the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

Implementation of the U.S. Trustee program has been deferred in the judicial districts of Alabama and North Carolina. The Bankruptcy Administrator performs essentially the same functions as the U.S. Trustee does in other states.

*Special Trustees are not generally assigned cases except where other divisional trustees have conflicts of interests or special circumstances so warrant.

III. Rules governing practice before the court.

A. Admission to practice.

All duly licensed lawyers who are admitted to practice before the District Court shall be allowed to practice law before this Court. Admission to practice before the District Court is governed by Rule 1 of the Local Rules of Practice of the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina. "Practice of law" includes, but is not limited to, preparing and filing papers, such as complaints, petitions, applications, and motions, questioning witnesses in proceedings before the Bankruptcy Judge and pursuing or defending any action of any nature in this Court. "Practice of law" does not include questioning a debtor at a meeting of creditors in that debtor's case.

All partnerships, corporations and other business entities (other than an individual conducting business as a sole proprietorship) that desire to appear in cases or proceedings before this Court must be represented by a lawyer duly admitted to practice before this Court. Licensed attorneys who are not admitted to practice before the District Court may be permitted by the Court to appear pro hac vice from time to time in a case or proceeding, upon motion and a certificate of service evidencing service of the motion and order upon counsel for the adverse party, the counsel for the debtor, the debtor, the creditors' committee (Chapter 11), the trustee and the Bankruptcy Administrator. A motion requesting admission pro hac vice must specifically recite that the movant is familiar with and will comply with the Bankruptcy Code, the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, and the Local Bankruptcy Rules for the Western District of North Carolina. There is no specific requirement for obtaining local co-counsel. However, any local co-counsel should be identified in a motion requesting admission pro hac vice and the accompanying order. The movant may submit a proposed ex parte order with the Court allowing the appearance.

An individual may represent himself or herself in a case or a proceeding, and an individual may represent an unincorporated business if that individual is the sole proprietor of that business. Furthermore, an individual may represent a creditor or any other non-debtor entity at a first meeting of creditors.

B. Disclosure of State Bar number.

All attorneys shall disclose their State Bar number below their signature line and name and address/telephone number on all papers filed with or submitted to the Court. Attorneys shall indicate the state of admission preceding the respective number(s).

C. Local Bankruptcy Rules.

The Court has enacted a revised set of Local Rules of Practice and Procedure. A reference copy of the Local Rules is available at the front counter of the Clerk's office for use by the public. Copies of the Local Rules may be purchased from Kwik Copies, 333 S. Kings Drive, Charlotte, North Carolina 28204, (704) 332-6521. The Local Bankruptcy Rules can also be reviewed through the use of the PACER automation system. For further information concerning purchase, contact the Chief Deputy Clerk of Court, Linda Anderton.

Included in the Local Rules is an appendix of forms for use by the bankruptcy bar in this District. The forms must be substantially complied with at all times.

The Local Rules may be amended from the time to time after a period of public review and comment. The amendment process will begin on May 1 of each year. Any proposed changes in the Local Bankruptcy Rules should be submitted in writing to the Clerk of Court on or before May 1 of each year. All proposed amendments will be on display for review and comment at the Intake Section of the Bankruptcy Clerk's Office from June 1 through June 15. Proposed amendments will also appear in the Local Rules Directory in the PACER automation system from June 1 through June 15 of each year. Any amendments to the Local Bankruptcy Rules will become effective on June 30 of each year. At that time, the amended Local Bankruptcy Rules will be available at the Intake Section of the Clerk's Office, at Kwik Copies in Charlotte, and through the PACER automation system.

Should any matter of practice or procedure require the attention of the Court on a more frequent basis, the Court shall from time to time enter standing orders which will have the same force and effect as the Local Bankruptcy Rules. The Clerk maintains a file of all standing orders entered by the Court and enters the standing orders on an accompanying docket sheet. This standing order file and docket shall be available for public inspection, subject to reasonable terms and conditions, at all times during regular business hours of the office of the Clerk. Standing orders which relate to administrative matters will be incorporated into either the Local Bankruptcy Rules or this Guide on an annual basis. Several standing orders of general interest to the bar are appended to this Guide.

IV. Clerk's office services.

A. Information services.

Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, all documents filed with the Clerk are public records and available for in person inspection at no charge. The Clerk may require a receipt from parties reviewing a file. If the services of the Clerk's staff are requested to locate a particular document in a case or adversary proceeding file, a $15.00 search fee must be paid. All requests for information made by mail or by telephone that require a physical search of the case file are subject to the $15.00 search fee; however, the Clerk's office will provide the following information concerning any pending bankruptcy case at no charge to any interested person:

1. The name and address of any debtor;
2. The bankruptcy case number;
3. The case filing date;
4. The name and address of the debtor's counsel if any;
5. The name and address of the trustee, if any; and
6. The date of the entry of discharge, if applicable;

In addition, and subject to the continuing availability of adequate administrative resources, the Clerk's office will respond at no charge to inquiries concerning specific matters that may have been entered on any pending bankruptcy case electronic docket. Each telephone inquiry shall be limited to any combination of three (3) bankruptcy cases and/or adversary proceedings.

Attorneys and their staff are invited to use the computer terminals that are located at the Intake Counter in the Clerk's office in order to locate case information. The use of these computer terminals will often result in the user being able to locate case information faster than it can be obtained by having the Intake Clerks retrieve a case file.

B. Voice Case Information System (V.C.I.S.)

Attorneys and the general public may now obtain basic information concerning active cases by dialing the Court's V.C.I.S. telephone line, which is (704) 344-6311, on a touchtone telephone. V.C.I.S. or Voice Case Information System is a set of computer programs that interface the Bankruptcy Court's BANCAP database with another piece of equipment (DECtalk), which in turn gives a caller information stored on the Court's computer system.

The V.C.I.S. works using a device called a voice synthesizer. This is a box which contains a high-powered processor running a special program, as well as a dictionary of English words and standard rules of pronunciation. The synthesizer (DECTalk) will take words transmitted by the computer and read them over the phone. Unlike bank voice computer systems that are able to use pre-recorded human speech as a result of the limited phrases produced by the system, there is no limit to the various words that must be produced by V.C.I.S. (i.e., debtor's names). Therefore, V.C.I.S. cannot use pre-recorded speech and must use the synthesizer to generate words electronically. The voice synthesizer cannot generate as high a voice quality as a system that uses pre-recorded speech. Nevertheless, V.C.I.S. has been fine-tuned to provide very acceptable understandability for most purposes.

In order to get information from V.C.I.S., you must dial the Court's V.C.I.S. telephone line on a touchtone telephone. When the line connects, the DECTalk will answer the call and begin its speech as follows:

"This is a computerized name look-up system at the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of North Carolina. Type the name of a participant in a bankruptcy case, using the letters shown above the keys on your telephone. Type the last name, followed by the first name, if any, ignoring any spaces or other non-letters. Use the 1 key for the letters Q and Z. Press the pound key when done."

You would then begin quickly to type the name of the bankruptcy case about which you are inquiring and press the # key. The V.C.I.S. would then make the following statement:

"I'll look that up and read the name or names that match, if there are any. If more than one name matches the keys you pressed, I'll read each and every one of them. Please stand by, and I'll have this for you momentarily. Just a moment."

V.C.I.S. will then provide the caller with the appropriate case number, chapter, filing date, debtor's name, name and phone number of debtor's attorney, trustee's name, name of Judge assigned to the case, status of the case, 341 meeting date if applicable, and discharge date. It will then thank you for calling and hang up.

C. Public Access to Court Electronic Records (PACER).

The Federal Court system has introduced a new service designed to provide attorneys and the general public with easier and better access to court information. This system is an electronic public access system called PACER (Public Access to Court Electronic Records). PACER has been operational since March, 1992, and the Court's PACER telephone numbers are 344-6121, 344-6122, 344-6123, and 344-6124.

This system allows attorneys and the general public to use a terminal or computer and modem to dial into the Court's computer system, connect to a special information computer, and request information about a case. The system will provide lists of cases, searched by name, as well as the full electronic docket for each case. Users may save the docket on their computer or print it out in their office. This allows users to get docket information on any of thousands of cases in the Bankruptcy Court. PACER allows users to:

1. Track updates to a case of interest in less than a minute;
2. Get a printed history of a case by retrieving the public docket in less than a minute;
3. Research litigants by name;
4. Obtain copies of Court calendars;
5. Review and download the Local Bankruptcy Rules for the Western District of North Carolina;
6. Review and download proposed amendments to the Local Bankruptcy Rules; and
7. Review and download the Bankruptcy Practice Guide for the Western District of North Carolina.

The Clerk's office will provide documentation on the use, restrictions, and capabilities of the PACER system, as well as a PACER registration form, upon request. Anyone who has questions concerning this system should direct those questions to the Court's Systems Manager or Assistant Systems Manager at (704) 344-6103.

Potential users can be certain that the following equipment will be needed in order to utilize the PACER system:

1. Terminal or computer. A computer has the added advantage of being able to download data (case information) onto a disk for later reviews, printing, or even editing (such as with a word processor). However, even a dumb terminal will be sufficient for retrieving information.

2. Printer. A printer will give the user the option of making a copy of the information received for later reference.

3. Modem. The system will accept both 2400 baud and 1200 baud modems. The former is twice as fast, and it will make the system more pleasant to use if the user is downloading large docket reports.

All users will be billed quarterly at the rate of $.60 per minute of use. However, information can be downloaded instantaneously, thereby minimizing the cost to users. Registration of all new users will be handled by the PACER Billing Center, U.S. Courts — CVB (S.A.), P. O. Box 740026, Atlanta, Georgia 30374-0026, 1 (800) 827-2982.

When a user logs into PACER, the Billing Center software will post a date and time in a log file. The user will be permitted to enter a fifteen character client identification code which can be used to track the transaction and bill the user's clients. When the user logs out of PACER, the user's total time will be posted to the log file. Users will also have the ability to review their transactions on line and change their password. Each month, the prior month's log file will be electronically sent to the Billing Center for processing.

Itemized statements will be sent on a quarterly basis. All funds collected by the Billing Center will be forwarded to a U.S. Treasury account established by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts.

D. Photocopying documents.

Copy requests for three or fewer pages can be honored while the requestor waits. Copy requests for more than three pages must be left with the counter deputy and will be completed in the order received. A charge of $.50 per page applies to all copy requests and must be paid in advance of receiving the copies.

E. Transcripts and tape duplications.

Transcript requests are made directly to the Electronic Court Recorder Operator ("ECRO") by telephone, in person, or in writing. A follow-up letter is required for those requests made by telephone or in person. The Clerk's office will not honor requests for transcripts consisting of various portions of a witness's testimony on direct examination or cross-examination. However, the Clerk's office will honor requests for transcripts of the entire direct examination and/or the entire cross-examination of a single witness. The ECRO will estimate the number of pages and provide an estimated cost which must be paid before the Clerk's office begins any work required for the preparation of the transcript.

There will be a $15.00 service charge (payable to the Clerk, U.S. Bankruptcy Court) if an attorney or representative requests a transcript and does not follow through with the request. This service charge provides a nominal fee for the ECRO's time spent in processing the transcript request. Federal government agencies are exempt from paying in advance.

Tapes of Section 341 creditors' meetings are retained by the Bankruptcy Administrator for two (2) years, and requests for tape duplications of any first meeting shall be made, in writing, directly to the Office of the Bankruptcy Administrator and shall include payment of the prescribed fee to the Clerk,

U.S. Bankruptcy Court. There is no longer a charge for duplication of these tapes. However, the party requesting the tape must provide blank tape(s) which will be used to make the copy and then returned.

F. Record retrieval.

Case and adversary proceeding files are maintained on Court premises for a limited period of time after the case is closed before being shipped to a Federal Records Center for storage. Upon request, the Clerk can arrange for retrieval of a particular file from the Federal Records Center located in Atlanta, Georgia, upon payment of a $25.00 fee. Alternatively, an interested party may arrange for inspection directly with the Center itself. Contact the Chief Deputy Clerk for details on this procedure.

G. Filing papers after business hours.

In a genuine emergency, petitions or other papers may be filed by contacting the Clerk at the residential telephone number published in the Huntersville telephone directory. If the Clerk is unavailable after regular work hours, a message can be left on his telephone answering machine. The Bankruptcy Judges may also accept emergency filings.

H. Legal advice.

A bankruptcy case is a formal legal case affecting the rights of both debtors and creditors. For that reason, the Clerk's and the Bankruptcy Administrator's offices are prohibited from giving any advice which may be considered legal in nature. Bankruptcy is sufficiently complicated that most individuals find it desirable to obtain the services of an attorney.

V. Financial information.

A. Bankruptcy fees. (as established per 28 U.S.C. §1930)

1. Chapter 7 or 13 case filing fee
(Including $30.00 Administrative Fee) ..... $ 160.00

19. Insufficient Funds Check Charge .....	$ 25.00
20. Mailing Matrix Labels .....	$ 5.00 /page

IMPORTANT NOTE: As a result of actions taken by the Congress and the Judicial Conference of the United States during 1989 and 1990, certain additional bankruptcy court fees have been established. They are as follows:

21. For the deconsolidation of any joint petition at the request of the debtor, a fee equal to one-half of the current fee for filing a petition for the chapter under which the joint case was originally filed. The fee is applicable to case conversions, also, and it applies whether the joint case was previously substantively consolidated or not.

22. For filing motions to vacate or modify the automatic stay, to withdraw the reference of a case or proceeding, or to compel abandonment of property of the estate .....

23. For docketing cross appeals .....

24. Pursuant to action of the Judicial Conference of the United States, an administrative fee of $30.00 is required to be paid upon the filing of all petitions for relief under Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 of the Bankruptcy Code. This fee is in lieu of the noticing fee the Clerk is required to charge as provided in paragraph 14 above. This fee may be included in one check with the filing fee because it is assessed, and is to be collected, at the time the petition for relief is filed. This means that payment at the time of filing of a Chapter 7 or Chapter 13 case should be in the total amount of $160.00.

B. Methods of payment.

Cash, certified check, personal check, money order. Personal checks are not accepted from debtors or debtors in possession. The Clerk reserves the right to refuse to accept personal checks from any other parties, included but not limited to, those who have written checks to the Court that are subsequently returned NSF. The Court does not keep funds for making change. Exact change is required.

On October 12, 1990, the Court entered an Order Establishing Methods of Payment for Court Fees and for Satisfaction of all Judgments of the Court. This Order provides that any party who tenders payment of any bankruptcy court fees established pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Section 1930 or any party who tenders payment in satisfaction of any judgment or order of this Court shall do so in such a manner as to minimize the inconvenience of collection for the person or entity to whom the payment is tendered. In furtherance of this policy, the Order directs all payments to be made by check, draft, money order, currency and/or coin. The Order further provides that when payment is to be made by currency and/or coin, the tendering party shall make such payment using the largest denominations of such currency and/or coin as are possible, given the total amount of said payment. Violation of this Order shall subject the violating party to such sanctions as the Court deems appropriate.

C. Unclaimed funds.

All unclaimed funds collected by the Court in Chapter 7, 12 and 13 cases and deposited into the registry of the Court shall be transferred to the United States Treasury as soon as is practicable thereafter. Unclaimed funds in Chapter 11 cases shall not be deposited into the registry of the Court unless specifically allowed by order of the Court. These funds should be distributed according to the debtor's Chapter 11 Plan. All requests for the disbursement of unclaimed funds and the actual disbursement of such funds shall comply with the following:

1. Each request for the disbursement of unclaimed funds shall be verified in writing and filed with the Clerk of Court in the form of a verified Motion for Disbursement of Unclaimed Funds, which shall be accompanied by a Notice of Hearing.

2. The requestor shall serve a copy of the motion and notice of hearing on the United States Attorney, the Bankruptcy Administrator, and the case trustee. The notice shall further advise said parties that they have fifteen (15) days following service of the notice to object to or otherwise respond to the request and ask for a hearing before the Court. The notice and a written certificate of service shall be filed with the Clerk of Court within three (3) days following service as required herein.

3. An individual claimant may file a Motion for Disbursement of Unclaimed Funds and Notice of Hearing pro se, but all other claimants must be represented by an attorney who is a member in good standing of the North Carolina State Bar and who has been admitted to practice before the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina by taking the prescribed oath in open Court, as set forth in Rule 1 of the Rules of the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina. Licensed attorneys who are not admitted to practice before the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina shall not be permitted to appear pro hac vice for the purpose of filing a Motion for Disbursement of Unclaimed Funds on behalf of a claimant.

4. An individual claimant shall establish full proof of his or her right to the unclaimed funds by personally appearing at the hearing and presenting testimony in open Court which convinces the Court of the claimant's right to the unclaimed funds. A partnership claimant shall establish full proof of its right to the unclaimed funds by having a general partner personally appear at the hearing and present testimony in open Court which convinces the Court of the claimant's right to the unclaimed funds. A corporate or other business claimant shall establish full proof of its right to the unclaimed funds by having an officer or director personally appear at the hearing and present testimony in open Court which convinces the Court of the authority of the officer or director to act on behalf of the claimant and of the claimant's right to the unclaimed funds.

5. If the requestor is a representative of the estate of a deceased individual, the requestor shall provide the Clerk with certified copies of all probate documents to substantiate the requestor's right to act on behalf of the decedent as additional proof of entitlement to the funds.

VI. Document filing requirements.

A. Petitions and accompanying documents.

The Court requires the following number of full copies of bankruptcy petitions, including all schedules, the statement of financial affairs, exhibits and all other papers filed with a bankruptcy petition:

- Chapter 7: Original plus three (3) copies
- Chapter 9: Original plus five (5) copies
- Chapter 11: Original plus five (5) copies for a corporation or partnership debtor Original plus four (4) copies for an individual debtor
- Chapter 12: Original plus four (4) copies
- Chapter 13: Original plus four (4) copies

The copy requirements listed above include those required for service of one (1) copy on the Bankruptcy Administrator and for one (1) filed stamped office copy for the debtor or the debtor's attorney.

All petitions, schedules, statements and other papers filed with a bankruptcy petition shall conform, in all respects, to the Official Bankruptcy Forms, as promulgated by the Judicial Conference of the United States, effective August 1, 1991. Normally defective papers will be accepted by the Clerk. However, conforming papers must be filed within fifteen (15) days of the original filing. Failure to do so may result in dismissal of the case without further notice.

B. Return of file stamped office copies of documents.

Recent cuts in the operating budget of the Federal Judiciary have resulted in substantial reductions in this Court's annual allocation for postage. We must, therefore, insist that any person desiring return of a file-stamped, office copy of any document filed with or submitted to the Clerk provide the extra copy of the document plus a self-addressed envelope with sufficient return postage. The Clerk's office has discontinued its practice of returning filed copies of pleadings and orders to attorneys who do not enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with the copies of pleadings to be returned to the attorneys.

The Clerk's office will maintain a mailbox at the Intake Section that will contain mail slots for the seventy-two most active members of the bankruptcy bar. A separate box will be used to retain pleadings for all other attorneys. Copies of filed pleadings that are not mailed back to the submitting attorneys will be retained in this area for a two-week period. Attorneys will be given the opportunity to appear at the Clerk's office and collect these documents during such two-week period.

Attorneys and their staff who visit the courthouse on a regular basis are encouraged to ask the Intake Deputies for their mail. This will not only save on postage expenses that would otherwise be incurred by the Clerk's office or the attorneys, but it will also result in a quicker return of copies of filed documents to attorneys. During such two-week period, attorneys may also send the Clerk's office a self-addressed, stamped envelope of sufficient size and containing sufficient postage for the return of these documents. After such time, the pleadings will be disposed of by depositing them in the paper recycling bin.

C. Facsimile filings.

With one exception, the Clerk will not accept "fax" transmissions or other facsimiles for filing unless a prior Order has been entered by the Court directing the Clerk to do so. The one exception to this rule will apply to trustees who are appointed by the Court to serve in a Chapter 7 or 11 case. As a result of the short time period in which a trustee may reject his or her appointment, trustees will be permitted to fax their rejections of appointment to the Court. However, a trustee must file an original document rejecting his or her appointment within two days of his or her facsimile transmission. Any other party who wishes to file a facsimile of a document should direct his or her request to the appropriate Bankruptcy Judge. The Clerk is not permitted to address such a request.

If the Court authorizes the Clerk to accept a facsimile for filing, the filing party must present the original document to the Clerk for filing within two (2) business days after the facsimile filing. Failure to file the original document within two (2) business days of the facsimile filing may cause the facsimile filing to be stricken by the Court. Pleadings and other documents that have been mailed to the Clerk's office to be filed should not also be faxed to the Clerk's office for informational purposes.

D. Bancap mailing matrix.

During late 1990, the Court converted to the BANCAP automated case management system. This is the same docketing system now in use in the bankruptcy courts of the Middle District of North Carolina and the District of South Carolina.

Use of the BANCAP system will require strict adherence to certain operating procedures by both the Clerk and the bankruptcy bar. For example, all master mailing matrices required to be filed pursuant to Local Bankruptcy Rule 4 will have to be prepared in a specific format and conform to certain type-styles.

On October 3, 1990, the Court entered a standing order requiring each Chapter 7, 11 or 12 petition filed on or after November 1, 1990 to be accompanied by a mailing matrix creditor list prepared in the one-column format specified by the Clerk. In addition, any Chapter 13 debtor that converts to Chapter 7, 11 or 12 must file with the Notice of Conversion or proposed order a revised mailing matrix creditor list that conforms to the one-column format. Chapter 13 debtors in the Charlotte, Shelby and Statesville Divisions may file either the one-column BANCAP matrix or the three-column matrix that is commonly filed with Chapter 13 petitions.

On October 3, 1990, the Court entered a standing order requiring each Chapter 7, 11 or 12 petition filed on or after November 1, 1990 to be accompanied by a mailing matrix creditor list prepared in the one-column format specified by the Clerk. In addition, any Chapter 13 debtor that converts to Chapter 7, 11 or 12 must file with the Notice of Conversion or proposed order a revised mailing matrix creditor list that conforms to the one-column format. Chapter 13 debtors in the Charlotte, Shelby and Statesville Divisions may file either the one-column BANCAP matrix or the three-column matrix that is commonly filed with Chapter 13 petitions.

Although the majority of BANCAP matrices submitted to the Clerk's office are in the proper format, these matrices are often submitted in formats that do not comply with the instructions set forth in this Bankruptcy Practice Guide. When a matrix is submitted in a noncomplying format, the Clerk's office staff must make a decision whether to retype the matrix itself or return the matrix to the filing party with instructions to correct the format of the matrix. The Clerk's office has recently experience[d] a forced staff-reduction that makes it exceedingly more difficult for the remaining staff to retype a non-conforming matrix. Furthermore, if a noncomplying matrix is returned to the filing party, it may necessitate a delay in the scheduling of the first meeting of creditors. Therefore, all members of the bankruptcy bar are asked to comply with the BANCAP matrix instructions that are set forth herein.

1. General instructions.

The BANCAP system in this court provides a program for the computerized processing of creditors listed in each case filed to enable a high volume of cases to be processed within limited time constraints. Creditors are initially loaded into the computer data base for each case in one of two ways: (1) by "scanning" the hard copy matrix supplied by the debtor at the time of filing the case, or (2) by loading information from a diskette supplied by the debtor.

"Scanning" is a process which enables a deputy clerk to feed the matrix sheets into an optical character reader. The OCR reads the matrix and transmits the creditor information directly into the BANCAP system, thus eliminating the need to type each creditor individually into the system. If a diskette is provided, it is "loaded" into the system. All creditors on the matrix are available for retrieval for query, noticing or updating purposes within one day after entry into the system.

Hard copy matrices or diskettes must be submitted in the format utilized by the BANCAP system. When submitting matrices or diskettes, debtors and their attorneys are asked to adhere to the following:

(1) All matrices with less than 1000 creditors may be submitted by a hard copy matrix or on a diskette.

(2) If the matrix contains over 1000 creditors, the Court's Systems Manager should be contacted at (704) 344-6103 for specific instructions.

(3) Regardless of whether a diskette or a hard copy matrix is submitted, the instructions set forth herein regarding the preparation of an original matrix or diskette or supplemental matrix must be observed.

An incorrect matrix or diskette will result in delay in noticing the § 341 first meeting of creditors. Failure to comply with these matrix requirements will result in this matter being brought to the attention of the Court. The Clerk's office staff will answer any questions concerning the proper preparation of a BANCAP matrix. In addition, copies of these instructions are available upon request from the Clerk's office.

2. Hard copy matrices.

In order to ensure that the hard copy matrix to be filed can be properly read by the optical scanner, the following guidelines must be complied with when preparing the BANCAP matrix:

(1) Lists must be typed in one of the following standard typefaces or print styles: Courier 10 Pitch, Prestige Elite or Letter Gothic.

(2) Lists should be typed in a single column on the page.

(3) No letters should be closer than one (1) inch from any edge of the paper.

(4) Each name and address must consist of no more than five (5) total lines, with at least two (2) blank lines between each name and address.

(5) Each line must not exceed forty (40) characters in length.

(6) Do not include the following parties on your matrix: debtor, joint debtor, attorney(s) for the debtor(s), Bankruptcy Administrator, or case trustee. These parties will be added by Clerk's office staff and retrieved from the system for noticing.

(7) Do not put any other information on the matrix, such as a heading, date, lines, and page numbers, etc. The case number and the debtor's name should be listed on the reverse side.

(8) Do not staple or hole punch the matrix.

(9) Be sure the paper is inserted straight in the typewriter or printer and do not remove the list and reinsert it to complete the matrix.

(10) If you are using a 10 pitch element, make sure that your typewriter or printer is set to 10 pitch, not 12 pitch.

(11) Do not use all caps. Use both upper and lower case, where appropriate.

(12) Zip codes must be placed on the last line along with the city and state. Use the standard two-letter abbreviations for states. Use capital letters for state abbreviations (i.e., FL). Do not use periods to separate these initials (i.e., N.C.). Use a hyphen for nine digit zip codes. Do not put attention lines or account numbers on the last line. Put this information on the second line following the creditor's name, if needed.

(13) Do not use onion skin, colored or half-sized paper, or erasable bond.

(14) Make sure your matrix is clean and reads easily. Do not use correction fluid.

(15) List the creditor's first name first, last name last, without titles (i.e., Mr., Mrs., Ms., etc.).

(16) Submit only clear originals. Photocopies or carbon copies are unacceptable.

(17) Printing from dot matrix printers or worn out typewriter or printer ribbons is unacceptable.

(18) Do not use the letter "l" for the number "1". Do not use % as a substitute for c/o. Do not use \ as a substitute for /. Do not use +, use either "and" or "&". Do not use /eqv as a substitute for -. Do not use [ ] as a substitute for ( ).

(19) The matrix must be accompanied by a properly completed certification of accuracy. The certification can not be made on the matrix form itself.

3. Matrices on diskette.

The Clerk's office will accept filing of matrices on floppy diskettes using ASCII text format. The equipment that will be needed to submit matrices on diskettes is an IBM compatible PC with DOS, a 3½" double-sided, double-density or high-density diskette, and a program that will produce ASCII text files such as a word processor or text editor, or other programs with the capability of producing output in ASCII format.

The following guidelines must be complied with:

- (1) Lists should be typed in a single column.
  - (2) Each name and address must consist of no more than five (5) single-spaced lines, with at least one blank line between each of the name/address blocks.
  - (3) Zip codes must be located on the same line as the city and state. This must be the last line of each name/address block.
  - (4) Nine-digit ZIP codes should be typed with a hyphen separating the two groups of digits.
  - (5) All states must be two-letter abbreviations. Example: correct = CA; incorrect = Cal., Calif., California.
  - (6) Each line must be forth (40) characters or less in length.
  - (7) Entities with more than one address may be listed as many times as necessary to ensure proper notice.
  - (8) Do not include the following entities, since they will be added by the Clerk's office: the debtor, the joint debtor, the attorney for debtor(s), the Bankruptcy Administrator, and the case trustee.
  - (9) Do not use upper case only (all capital letters). Type in upper and lower case as you would a letter.
  - (10) Do not type "attention" lines or account numbers on the last line. If needed, this information must be placed on the second line of the name/address block. Account numbers may not exceed fifteen (15) characters.
  - (11) Do not use a header or footer to identify your case.
  - (12) Save the date in ASCII format in a file called creditor.scn.
  - (13) Label the floppy diskette with the case name and date, and file it with the petition.
  - (14) Only one case should be included on each floppy diskette. Only one creditor.scn file can be processed from a single floppy diskette.
- Accuracy and completeness in preparing the mailing matrix are the sole responsibility of the debtor and the debtor's attorney. The Court will rely on the creditor listing for mailings. Please be certain to include all listed creditors, including priority creditors such as the IRS.

4. Matrices filed subsequent to filing of original matrix.

If the debtor files schedules or amended schedules subsequent to the filing of the original matrix, or if the debtor files a schedule of unpaid debts pursuant to FRBP 1019 which requires the addition, deletion or correction of names already listed or to be added to the original BANCAP matrix or diskette, special instructions apply in addition to the instructions for preparing original matrices, as set forth above. These special instructions are as follows:

- (1) The debtor should never re-submit a name on a supplemental matrix which was submitted on the original matrix unless the name and/or address is being corrected or updated. The debtor should not re-list all creditors that appeared on the original matrix in addition to the changes that he or she is attempting to make by filing the supplemental matrix. Only the changes should be listed.
- (2) Separate matrices must be filed when submitting creditor additions, corrections or deletions at the same time. The debtor should indicate on the reverse side of each such matrix whether the matrix lists "added", "modified", or "to be deleted" creditors.

The Clerk's automation staff may be able to develop programs that will accept matrices that are prepared on Apple or other non-IBM/PC computers. Anyone who has questions concerning the submission of matrices on diskettes is urged to contact the Court's Systems Manager, or Assistant Systems Manager, at (704) 344-6103.

The BANCAP attorney data base will be indexed by bar number rather than by name; therefore, all papers filed in the Court will have to include the filing attorney's State Bar number. Therefore, the Court asks that all attorneys begin to use their bar numbers on all pleadings as soon as possible.

E. Proofs of claim.

As provided by Local Bankruptcy Rule 3002-1.1., Chapter 13 proofs of claim are to be filed directly with the standing trustee. When filing a proof of claim, be certain that the case name and number are noted on the claim form. The form must also be signed by the claimant or his attorney or agent, as appropriate. In order to receive a filed copy of a proof of claim, the claimant must submit a copy of the original document and include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

F. Adversary proceeding cover sheet.

Local Bankruptcy Rule 7003-1 requires a cover sheet to be filed with any adversary proceeding.

G. Briefs.

Any Brief or other paper filed subsequent to the related motion or other pleading should be filed and served on all parties who are required to be served so that actual receipt of the Brief or other paper occurs at least three (3) business days prior to the scheduled trial or hearing. If service of a Brief or other paper is made close to this deadline, it is the obligation of the party serving the Brief or paper to determine that the party to be served will be available within the three (3) business days immediately preceding a scheduled trial or hearing. When the Court enters a pre-trial order, it may specify different time periods for service of papers and exchange of exhibits in adversary proceedings, which would preempt the time period specified herein.

Failure to comply with this requirement may be grounds for a continuance. The Court will not permit a party to be prejudiced by late filing of a Brief or other paper. In all cases, in addition to filing originals with the Clerk, two (2) full copies of all Briefs should be delivered directly to the Judge's chambers.

H. Scheduling judgment creditors.

If a judgment creditor is scheduled in the bankruptcy, it is necessary that the Judgment Book and Page Number of the judgment be set out beside the creditor's name. This information will be required if a Certificate of Discharge is requested by the debtor for filing in state court. All Certificates of Discharge that are submitted to the Clerk for execution must conform to the form that is attached to this Guide as Appendix 1.

I. Debtor's change of address.

Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 4002 places an affirmative duty on the debtor to file a statement of any change of address with the Court. Failure to do so not only violates the rule, but it also exposes the debtor to the risk of not receiving important notices in the mail.

VII. Assignment of venue and judges.A. Divisional venue of cases and proceedings.*

The Western District of North Carolina encompasses thirty-two (32) North Carolina counties. In this district there are five divisions — the Asheville Division, the Bryson City Division, the Charlotte Division, the Shelby Division and the Statesville Division. The Asheville Division contains the counties of Avery, Buncombe, Haywood, Henderson, Madison, Mitchell, Transylvania and Yancey. The Bryson City Division contains the counties of Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Jackson, Macon and Swain. For purposes of bankruptcy, cases filed in the Bryson City Division are heard in the Asheville Division. The Charlotte Division contains the counties of Anson, Gaston, Mecklenburg and Union. The Shelby Division contains the counties of Burke, Cleveland, McDowell, Polk and Rutherford. The Statesville Division contains the counties of Alexander, Alleghany, Ashe, Caldwell, Catawba, Iredell, Lincoln, Watauga and Wilkes.

Upon the filing of any bankruptcy petition, the case shall be assigned to its proper divisional venue according to the residence of an individual debtor or principal place of business of any other debtor. If the debtor's residential address or principal place of business lies in a different county than the mailing address included in the petition and the debtor wishes for that residential or business address to be used in assigning divisional venue instead, that fact must be noted conspicuously for the Clerk on the petition. Otherwise, divisional venue assignments will be based upon the debtor's mailing address as provided on the petition.

The initial assignment and transfer of divisional venue of all cases and proceedings is governed by 28 U.S.C. § 1408, 28 U.S.C. § 1409, 28 U.S.C. § 1412, Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1014, and Local Bankruptcy Rule 1. Regardless of the timing of the filing of a Motion to Change Venue, the Section 341(a) First Meeting of Creditors shall be held in the division to which the case was originally assigned. In addition, if venue is transferred, the initial trustee shall not be changed unless the Court so orders. In certain routine administrative matters, such as hearings on applications for compensation of professionals or for approval or confirmation of sales, the Court may ex parte order a divisional venue change for convenience of the parties.

Divisional venue is currently indicated numerically in the case number. The two-digit number to the left of the hyphen is the year in which the case was filed. The first numeral in the five-digit number to the right of the hyphen represents the venue to which the case has been assigned according to the following code:

1	Asheville
2	Bryson City
3	Charlotte
4	Shelby
5	Statesville

B. Assignment of judges.

In the absence of a conflict of interest, cases filed in the Western District will be assigned between the judges as follows:

- |                                     |                              |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1. Asheville Division               |                              |
| All Cases                           | Judge Hodges                 |
| 2. Charlotte Division               |                              |
| Chapter 7                           | Judge Hodges                 |
| Chapter 11                          | Judges Hodges/Whitley-Random |
| Chapter 12                          | Judge Whitley                |
| Chapter 13                          | Judge Whitley                |
| 3. Shelby Division                  |                              |
| All Cases                           | Judge Wooten                 |
| 4. Statesville Division             |                              |
| Chapter 7 and 11                    | Judge Whitley                |
| Chapter 12 and 13                   | Judge Hodges                 |
| 5. Converted cases in all divisions |                              |

Upon conversion, a case will be assigned to the judge who would otherwise have received it if it had been an initial filing, using 1-4 above.

VIII. Calendar matters.

A. Trials.

Trials are scheduled by the Court as the calendar permits. The parties will receive notice of trial dates by the Court.

The Bankruptcy Judges have adopted a series of standard orders designed to incorporate the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure dealing with discovery matters into the Court's pre-trial procedures. The general format of the series of orders is 1) a first order governing timing of initial disclosures, discovery and preliminary matters (appended to this Bankruptcy Practice Guide as Appendix 8); 2) a notice after the end of the discovery period to solicit a mutually convenient trial date or alert the Court that the case has not proceeded as planned (appended to this Bankruptcy Practice Guide as Appendix 9); and 3) a final order governing the exchange of exhibits and other matters immediately prior to trial (appended to this Bankruptcy Practice Guide as Appendix 10).

This format is designed to allow the case to proceed initially with only minimal Court attention or management. If all goes well, Court case management will be minimal. The Notice to Counsel serves as the Court's check on the status of the case. If the case is not ready for trial at that point, then the Court will become involved with management of the case from that point forward. Ultimately, the final pre-trial order will be entered to govern matters immediately prior to trial. The orders permit a party to request the Court's intervention in case management at any point that is deemed necessary.

The substance of what is required of parties is largely left to the Federal Rules. These orders seek to control the timing of those matters. The format of the orders is designed to use actual dates rather than time periods. Although this is initially a bit more burdensome on the Clerk's office, the Court believes that it will be helpful in communicating the exact deadlines that are established. The Court expects all parties to respect these deadlines.

The Federal Rules' provisions on the timing of initial disclosure effectively delay discovery at the beginning of a case. Therefore, the total time from the entry of the initial pre-trial order to the close of discovery will be approximately four (4) months.

These orders attempt to avoid the Federal Rules' requirements of multiple meetings/conferences. The Court believes that economy of everyone's time would be served by eliminating artificial appearances. The Court is hopeful that the bankruptcy bar can accomplish what the Federal Rules require without Court appearances or conferences. The benefits of meetings/conferences are preserved for cases where they are necessary by providing that parties may seek modification of the orders, or Court intervention, at any time.

The Court anticipates that the deadlines established in these orders will be satisfactory for the great majority of cases. In any case in which the deadlines are not realistic, the parties may propose modifications to the orders.

B. Motions.

Special motion days are scheduled each month for each chapter and each divisional venue. Counsel should make a reasonable effort to coordinate hearings on motions with the calendars of opposing counsel and the trustee in the case. Parties shall make every effort to notice their motions for hearing on special motion days.

When preparing to notice a motion for hearing, contact the judge's secretary or the assigned deputy clerk for the upcoming hearing dates for the appropriate chapter and division. The deputy clerk will not take calendaring information at that point. The motion will be added to the calendar only when an original motion and a notice of hearing are filed with the Clerk. When a "no protests" notice containing a specific hearing date is used and filed with the Clerk, the matter will not be calendared unless an objection or other request for hearing is filed thereafter. A certificate of service of the mailing of the notice of hearing must be filed with the Clerk within three days of the date of service.

The special motion days are currently scheduled as follows:

1. Asheville Division.

a) Regular term of court is scheduled for the third full week of each calendar month.

1) Chapter 13 and brief Chapter 7 matters are heard on Tuesday, only.

2) All other matters are heard on Wednesday and Thursday, with Monday afternoon available, if needed.

b) As a result of courtroom renovation work, the additional term of court previously held on the Wednesday of the first full week of each calendar month will be suspended until further notice by the Court.

c) The Court address for the Asheville Division is:

Main Courtroom, Third Floor

United States Post Office and Courthouse

100 Otis Street

Asheville, North Carolina

2. Charlotte Division.

a) Chapter 7 matters are heard on Thursday of the second full week of the calendar month.

b) Chapter 11 matters.

1) Judge Hodges: Wednesday of the second full week of the calendar month for routine matters. Other times are available upon request for more time-consuming matters.

2) Judge Whitley: Thursday of the first and third full weeks of the calendar month.

c) Chapter 12 matters: Monday of the first full week of the calendar month.

d) Chapter 13 motions are heard on Tuesday of the second, third, and fourth weeks of the calendar month. Chapter 13 dismissal hearings are held on Wednesday of the second and fourth full weeks of the calendar month. Time consuming matters can be set at special times throughout the week after receiving prior court approval.

e) The calendars for hearings in the Charlotte Division are now prepared by grouping all cases according to the debtor's attorney. This practice occasionally results in the need to calendar a matter for an afternoon hearing even though it has been noticed for a hearing to be held in the morning. Therefore, all out-of-town creditors' attorneys are invited to verify hearing times by reviewing the court calendars on PACER. An out-of-town creditors' attorney who does not have access to PACER can call the Clerk's office on the day before the scheduled hearing in order to verify the time of the hearing.

f) Pretrial hearings (both judges) will be set on the respective motion days above.

g) The court address for the Charlotte Division is:

Bankruptcy Courtroom, First Floor

Charles R. Jonas Federal Building

401 West Trade Street

Charlotte, North Carolina

h) Judge Wooten normally holds court in Room 122.

i) Judge Hodges normally holds court in Room 126.

j) Judge Whitley normally holds court on Chapter 13 matters in Room 126. Judge Whitley's other hearings will normally be held in Room 122.

3. Shelby Division.

a) Regular term of court is scheduled for Friday of the fourth full week of the calendar month.

b) An emergency term of court will be scheduled on an "as needed" basis. Contact the appropriate judge or the judge's secretary to obtain an emergency hearing date.

c) The court address for the Shelby Division is:

Cleveland County Courthouse

Assigned Bankruptcy Courtroom

100 Justice Place

Shelby, North Carolina

4. Statesville Division.

a) Chapter 13 matters are heard on Tuesday of the first full week of the calendar month.

b) Chapter 7 and 11 matters are heard on Wednesday of the first full week of the calendar month.

c) An emergency term of court will be scheduled on an “as needed” basis. Contact the appropriate judge or the judge’s secretary to obtain an emergency hearing date.

d) The court address for the Statesville Division is:

Main Courtroom, Second Floor
United States Post Office and Courthouse
Broad Street
Statesville, North Carolina

C. Emergency hearings and hearings on shortened notice.

1. Motions for order shortening time.

A motion for order shortening time will generally be determined ex parte by the Court on the basis of the papers submitted with the motion, subject to the right of any party to subsequently object to the adequacy of notice. The motion should be substantially in the form of Local Form 7. The request for an order shortening time may be contained in the motion seeking the relief in the matter, and need not be made by separate motion. The notice on the underlying motion shall state that the movant has submitted an order shortening with the Court.

2. Orders shortening time.

The proposed order shortening time shall be submitted as a separate document at the time of the filing of the motion and shall substantially comply with Local Form 8. The proposed order shall specify the nature and timing of the proposed shortened notice, and leave appropriate blanks for the Court to insert the date and time of hearing on the underlying motion, and the date for serving and filing papers in opposition to the underlying motion. Counsel for the movant is encouraged to confer in advance with the appropriate judge’s secretary to secure appropriate dates so they may be completed in the order being submitted. In order to secure expedited processing of motions to shorten notice, parties should advise the appropriate chapter deputy clerk of the need for expedited handling at the time of filing.

D. First meetings of creditors.

First meetings are normally held according to the following schedule which may be changed from time to time:

1. Charlotte Division.

a) Chapter 13 first meetings are normally held on Wednesday and Thursday of the first full week of the month, and on Thursday and Friday of the third full week of the month, and they are staggered beginning at 9:30 a.m.

b) Chapter 7 first meetings are normally held on Tuesday of the first, second, third, and fourth full week of the month. Chapter 11 and 12 first meetings are normally held on Tuesday of the first, second, and fourth full week of the month. Chapter 12 meetings are held at 9:00 a.m. and Chapter 11 meetings are held at 10:00 a.m. Chapter 7 cases begin at 2:00 p.m.

2. Asheville Division.

a) Chapter 13 first meetings are normally held on Monday of the third full week of the month at 9:30 a.m.

b) Chapter 11 and 12 first meetings are normally held on Tuesday of the third full week of the month at 1:30 p.m.

c) Chapter 7 first meetings are normally held on Monday of the fourth full week of the month beginning at 9:00 a.m.

d) Asheville first meetings will be held in Suite 103, 11 N. Market Street, Asheville, North Carolina.

3. Shelby Division.

a) All first meetings are normally held on Friday of the second full week of the month. The meetings are held at the following times:

- 1) Chapter 7 — 9:30 a.m.
- 2) Chapter 13 — 10:30 a.m.
- 3) Chapter 11 and Chapter 12 — 1:30 p.m.
- b) Shelby first meetings will be held where regular court hearings are held, as noted above.
4. Statesville Division.
  - a) All first meetings are normally held on Monday of the first full week of the month.
  - b) The meetings are held at the following times:
    - 1) Chapter 13 and Chapter 7 — 9:00 a.m.
    - 2) Chapter 11 and Chapter 12 — 1:30 p.m.
  - c) Statesville first meetings will be held where regular court hearings are held, as noted above.

E. Court calendars.

Budgetary considerations have forced the Clerk's office to discontinue its prior practice of mailing copies of the Court calendars to the attorneys whose names appear thereon. Instead, copies of the Court calendars will be made available at the Intake Section of the Clerk's office. In addition, copies of the Court calendars can be obtained by all attorneys who subscribe to the Court's PACER automation service. The Court calendars can be downloaded into a subscriber's own computer system in less than one minute.

F. Motions for continuance and settlement.

Motions for continuance of any matter should be filed as far in advance as possible, should set forth in detail the reasons for the request, and should advise the Court whether any continuance has previously been granted for the same matter. Every effort should be made with opposing counsel to coordinate calendars and obtain consent to continuances. The Court may award costs, including attorney's fees, for any party who suffers a monetary loss because of a last minute request for a continuance. The Court encourages parties to stipulate to continuances where the requests are reasonable. Last minute continuances are disruptive to the Court's calendar, and they are an inconvenience to all parties.

Parties should advise the Court as soon as possible concerning settlements, and all interested parties should be given the courtesy of such notice as soon as reasonably possible.

IX. Orders, notices of hearings, and judgments.

A. Orders.

1. Submission of orders.

Proposed orders should not be submitted with the Clerk's office for the Court's consideration until the matter is ready for consideration. Any objection periods which must have first expired before the order can be entered should pass before the document is submitted. The time requirements of Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 2002 and 9006 apply.

Parties must be careful to provide sufficient copies of all proposed orders to the Clerk for service. The Clerk's office asks that all parties submit an original and at least four copies of every order to be signed and entered. If any question concerning the correct number of copies in a particular situation arises, contact the respective deputy clerk.

All papers, including proposed orders, shall be filed with the Clerk's office, rather than directly with the Bankruptcy Judge. The Clerk shall perform any necessary processing of such papers before forwarding the papers to the Bankruptcy Judge for consideration. It is recognized that occasionally a matter may be discussed by counsel directly with a Bankruptcy Judge and that the Bankruptcy Judge will sign the order before the motion or application is actually filed with the Court. In such situations, the signed order and the motion or application shall be filed simultaneously with the Clerk's office.

Should expedited processing of papers be required during a term of Court in a division of the District not regularly staffed by the Clerk, the Court may, upon a showing of compelling need by a party, direct the courtroom deputy to enter a judgment, final order or other paper on the docket. The party shall arrange for prompt service of the paper and shall execute and deliver a certificate of service to the courtroom deputy at the time of the docket entry.

2. Orders affecting title to real property.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 5003(c), the Clerk is required to keep an additional copy of every final order affecting title to or liens on real property in a judgment book. Parties must include an extra copy of any such proposed orders submitted to the Court. Such orders must describe the encumbered real property with specificity, either by its metes and bounds description, its complete street address, or a reference to the book and page at which the deed or deed of trust is recorded in the appropriate county registry.

3. Orders avoiding liens.

All orders avoiding liens and the corresponding motions must describe the encumbered property with particularity. A reference to "household goods" or "real property" is generally considered an insufficient description of property. If the property is real estate, it must be described by either its metes and bounds description, its street address, or a reference to the deed book and page at which the deed or deed of trust is recorded. The movant may attach to the motion a copy of a security agreement or financing statement that contains a list of the encumbered property. The orders and motions must also set forth how the lien was perfected, the Judgment Book and Page Number at which the lien is recorded, a statement concerning the basis of the lien avoidance, the value of the movant's interest in the encumbered property, and the amount of the exemption that is impaired by the lien.

The Judges will not sign orders directing creditors to personally cancel liens that have been avoided. It is the debtor's responsibility to ensure that the avoidance of liens is noted in the appropriate public records.

Orders avoiding liens pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 522(f) should clearly state that the lien is avoided "to the extent it impairs the debtor's exemptions."

4. Joint administration or consolidation orders.

Whenever two or more cases are to be substantively consolidated or jointly administered, the proposed order that is submitted for this purpose must specify which of the two procedures is being invoked and the order must also identify which case is to be deemed the lead case. If two or more cases are administratively consolidated, all docket entries will be made in a lead case, but separate final reports shall be filed in each case. If two or more cases are substantively consolidated, all docket entries will be made in the lead case, but only one final report shall be filed.

5. Docketing of final orders or judgments/appeals.

Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 5003 and 9021 provide that, for appeal purposes, a final order or judgment becomes effective only when the ministerial act of docketing by the Clerk is performed. Parties are, therefore, advised not to serve a final order until it has been so docketed by the Clerk.

6. Service of docketed orders.

Prompt service of docketed final orders, or notice of the entry of such orders, is, as provided by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9022, essential. Where the Clerk has arranged for service of a final order to be handled by a particular party, care must be taken to ensure that this is done.

B. Notices of hearing.

1. Responsibility for providing notice.

Pursuant to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, responsibility for providing notice has been delegated to the movants to the extent permitted by the Bankruptcy Code and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. The Court will provide original notice of filing of the case to creditors in Chapter 7, 12 and 13 cases and notice of discharge in those chapters. All other notices must be mailed by the party requesting relief. Notice of a continued hearing will be sent by the party requesting the continuance.

The Clerk must approve the form and content of any notice sent as a Court notice prior to mailing and, upon request, can furnish a mailing list to the party sending the notice. A certificate of service must be filed with the Clerk within three days of service and include a copy of the notice and a list of the parties upon whom it was served.

2. "No protest" notices.

In Local Bankruptcy Rule 7007-1.2, matters which can be determined by the Court without the need for an actual hearing unless an objection is filed and/or a hearing is specifically requested are listed. Local Form 4 provides a model "no protest" notice for use in these situations.

The notice form provides for the inclusion of a specific hearing time and location in the event that one becomes necessary. Parties are urged to obtain and include a specific hearing date and time in their notices rather than using language simply stating that "if objections or requests are received, a hearing subsequently will be scheduled and noticed." If such language is used in a "no protest" notice and hearing is requested, the movant, and not the Clerk, will be responsible for sending the follow-up notice of hearing if an objection or other request for hearing is filed. If the objection period expires without the filing of any objection or request for hearing, the movant shall promptly submit a proposed order, which shall be accompanied by Local Form 9, which itself is a representation to the Court of movant's timely service of the motion and "no-protest" notice and constituting advice by the movant to the Court that no objections were served upon the movant or filed with the Court.

3. Notices of motions to dismiss.

Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2002 provides that motions to dismiss a case must be served upon all creditors. All motions for relief from stay that include in the prayer for relief a request for the alternative relief that the case be dismissed must be served on all creditors, and the certificate of service must indicate such service. An accurate mailing matrix may be obtained from the Clerk.

4. Notice to bankruptcy administrator.

All parties are required to serve upon the Bankruptcy Administrator, by regular mail, hand delivery, overnight courier or by facsimile machine copies of the following documents:

a) Chapter 11 papers. All papers in Chapter 11 cases and in proceedings therein, except exhibits to be used at trials or hearings.

b) Chapter 12 papers. All papers in Chapter 12 cases and in proceedings therein, except exhibits to be used at trials or hearings.

c) Rule 2002 requests. All papers in cases and proceedings in which the Bankruptcy Administrator has filed a request for notice pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2002(i).

d) Appointment and removal of trustee or examiner. All papers related to the appointment or removal of a trustee or examiner.

e) Compensation applications. All applications for compensation in all cases and proceedings.

f) Fraud or criminal activity. All papers in any case or proceeding in which fraud or criminal activity is alleged on the part of any party.

g) All papers by chapter 7 trustees. All papers filed in cases and proceedings by Chapter 7 Trustees, except as the Bankruptcy Administrator may from time to time otherwise direct by notice to the Trustees on an ad hoc basis.

h) Conversions. All orders relating to conversions of a case to a case under another chapter. Debtors or their attorneys shall serve on the Bankruptcy Administrator a copy of all schedules and statements filed following conversion of a case to a Chapter 7 proceeding.

5. Ex parte motions.

Except as otherwise ordered by the Court, the following motions are common examples of some matters which may be determined by the Court ex parte:

a) Conversions upon debtor's first request. Unless the case has previously been converted, a debtor's motion to convert a case under Sections 1112(a), 1208 or 1307(a) of the Bankruptcy Code does not require a hearing. Notice of the motion must be given to the trustee in the case and the Bankruptcy Administrator. Notice of an order converting a case to a case under another chapter must be given by the Clerk to all creditors and interested parties.

b) Motions for examination under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2004. Motions and proposed orders permitting examination under Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2004 must be served on the debtor, trustee (if any), and the party whose examination is requested. The motion shall state, if known, the place of residence and the place of employment of the party whose examination is requested. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, no hearing is required, and the Court will enter an ex parte order permitting the examination. At least twenty (20) days prior notice of the examination must be provided, unless otherwise ordered by the Court for cause shown. The party whose examination is requested or any other interested party may file a motion for a protective order if grounds exist under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c).

c) Applications to retain professionals. Applications to retain professionals under Section 327 of the Bankruptcy Code require no notice and no hearing unless the Court so orders. Proposed orders of appointment should be submitted to the Court when the application is filed.

d) Extension of time to file schedules and statement of affairs. Motions to extend time to file lists of creditors and equity security holders, or to file schedules and statements of affairs, must comply with Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 1007. Absent extraordinary circumstances, the Court will not allow extensions beyond the first date set for the Section 341 first meeting of creditors. The proposed order should be submitted to the Court when the motion is filed.

e) Motion for reduction or limitation of notice period. Motions to reduce the time of any notice period or limit the parties to whom notice shall be given, shall state the reasons therefore. A proposed order should be submitted to the Court when the motion is filed.

f) Motion for admittance pro hac vice. Attorneys not admitted to practice in the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina must be admitted pro hac vice prior to entrance of an appearance. A proposed order should be submitted with the Court when the motion is filed.

C. Judgments.

1. Certification of judgments for registration in other districts.

Certification of a judgment of this Court is a prerequisite to registration of the judgment in another district. Once registered in this manner, the judgment may then be enforced by execution and orders for supplementary proceedings anywhere in the state where registered.

The Clerk will perform the certification procedure upon payment of the certification fee plus a copy charge for each page of the judgment itself. (See Chapter V. A. 8. above).

Note that the official certification form provided by the Clerk is used only where the appeals period has clearly expired without an appeal having been taken or where all appeals have been finally disposed of. Where this is not the situation, an order of the Court directing the registration must be obtained by the party. That order must then be transmitted with a copy of the judgment to the court where registration will take place.

2. Registration of judgments from other districts.

Judgments from other districts may be registered in this Court as a prerequisite to execution after the following steps have been taken:

- a) Delivery to the Clerk of a Certificate of Registration prepared by the court in which the judgment was obtained, or, a copy of the order referred to above.
- b) A certified copy of the judgment to be registered.
- c) Payment of the registration fee (See Chapter V. A. 13. above for fee).

Once the above requirements are met, the judgment will be registered on this Court's miscellaneous docket. Note that such judgments can be registered in the Bankruptcy and/or the District Court. If registered in both courts, two registration fees must be paid.

X. Discovery documents, subpoenas, and trial exhibits.

A. Discovery documents.

Depositions, interrogatories and answers thereto, requests for production or inspection, and requests for admission and responses thereto shall be served upon other counsel or parties, but shall not be filed with the Court.

B. Subpoenas.

The Clerk will provide blank, unissued subpoena forms in reasonable numbers to any requesting party.

Certain fees for attendance, mileage and service may be applicable as noted in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c). See 28 U.S.C. §§ 1821 and 1921 for further information.

Prior to the issuance of a subpoena in a case or proceeding pending in another district, the Clerk must collect the fee cited in Chapter V. A. 13. above.

Please refer to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9016, which incorporates Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45 in its entirety.

C. Trial exhibits.

All models, diagrams, exhibits, depositions and other material admitted into evidence or filed in any case or proceeding shall be placed in the custody of the Clerk, unless otherwise ordered by the Court. These items shall be claimed by the party offering such evidence, or filing such materials, within 30 days after the expiration of the time for appeal from final judgment, unless otherwise directed by the Court.

At the time of removal, a detailed record of the disposition of the items shall be filed in the case or proceeding jacket. If the party who offered the items in evidence or filed the items fails to claim these materials as provided herein, the Clerk shall write the attorney of record, or if none, the party on whose behalf the items were filed or offered into evidence, calling attention to this policy. If after the mailing of such notice the materials have not been claimed and removed within 30 days, they may be destroyed by the Clerk. Because of space limitations within the Clerk's office, this disposal provision will be closely followed.

Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, all exhibits shall be numbered and marked for identification prior to the day of trial or motion hearing with appropriate labels. The Court will not permit attorneys or litigants to waste time numbering, marking and exposing exhibits for the first time to opposing counsel during trial. Each party intending to present exhibits shall number and mark its exhibits, prepare an index of the exhibits, and deliver the index and deliver or make available for copying or review one (1) complete set of numbered and marked exhibits with the index to each party at least three (3) court days before the date of the trial or motion hearing. In addition, each party shall bring to trial sufficient copies of each numbered and marked exhibit and the index for the witness, the Judge, the Judge's law clerk, and the court recorder operator. The courtroom deputies and electronic court recorder operators have found that receipt of a list of exhibits prior to commencement of the trial or motion hearing is particularly important to them.

XI. Removal procedure and withdrawal of reference.

A. Removal.

1. Procedure.

Consult Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9027 as to procedure governing removals. Note that the proceeding must be removed to the district or bankruptcy court for the district in which the civil action is pending. If the action is not pending in the Western District of North Carolina, it must first be removed to the court for that particular district and then — in the Court's discretion — transferred elsewhere.

Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7001 provides that a cause of action removed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1452 is an adversary proceeding and the adversary rules apply. Therefore, the $120.00 adversary filing fee must accompany all removals when applicable. In addition, an adversary cover sheet must be prepared and submitted with the removal application.

2. Transfer of removed proceeding to another district.

The Court will consider a request to transfer a proceeding originally removed to the Western District to another district only upon written motion and a ten-day "no protest" notice to all affected parties. Every effort will be made to schedule such matters for a hearing, if necessary, as soon as possible. Contact the appropriate Judge's secretary for the next available hearing date.

B. Withdrawal of reference.

Motions for withdrawal of reference of a case or proceeding pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 5011 shall be filed with the Clerk, who shall promptly forward them to the Clerk of the District Court.

XII. Chapter 13 matters.

A. Claims.

1. Filing claims.

Proofs of claim in Chapter 13 proceedings shall be filed directly with the office of the Standing Trustee to whom the case is assigned. The address of the proper Standing Trustee will be shown on the notice of creditors' meeting. Claims will be dated and stamped as received as of the date they arrive in the Trustee's office and the claim shall be deemed filed with the Court as of that date.

2. Claims docket.

The staff of the Chapter 13 Trustee shall prepare a claims docket for each proceeding referred to that trustee and such claims docket shall be transferred to the Clerk's office at the closing of the case along with the original claims and made a part of the permanent record.

3. Allowance of claims.

Following the expiration of the claims bar date set forth in Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3002 or the debtor's confirmed plan, the Standing Trustee shall file with the Court and serve upon all parties a Motion for Allowance of Claims Determination which shall include a report of all claims filed in the case and the Standing Trustee's proposed treatment of such claims under the plan. The motion shall also set forth the minimum percentage dividend that the Standing Trustee believes should be paid to the general unsecured creditors through the plan and request approval of the same.

The motion shall be accompanied by a notice to all parties which shall provide that any party objecting to the proposed treatment of any claim, or the proposed dividend as reported therein must file a written response and request for hearing with the Clerk within the appropriate time period as prescribed by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. If no written responses are filed as set forth therein, the Standing Trustee's motion shall be granted. The Court has entered a Standing Order regarding the above matter which is attached to this Guide as Appendix 3.

4. Property tax claims.

The Standing Trustee shall accept for filing all properly-executed proofs of claim for property taxes, even when such proofs of claim are filed prior to the date that the taxes in question are last payable without penalty or interest as provided by applicable state law. Such proofs of claim shall not be administered by the Standing Trustee until the date that such taxes are last payable without penalty or interest has, in fact, passed. Following the passage of such date, the county or municipal taxing authority must provide timely written notification to the Standing Trustee if the taxes that are the subject of the respective proof of claim remain unpaid and if the taxing authority desires to have the debt included for payment by the Standing Trustee through the Chapter 13 plan. Unless and until the taxing authority provides such timely written notice to the Standing Trustee, the proof of claim is deemed to be objected to by the Standing Trustee on the grounds that the claim has been satisfied by payment, and such objection will be sustained by the Court. The Court has entered a Standing Order regarding the above matter which is attached to this Guide as Appendix 5.

5. Income tax claims.

The Standing Trustee shall accept for filing all properly-executed proofs of claim for income taxes from the Internal Revenue Service, even when such proofs of claim are filed prior to the due date for the federal tax returns in question, including extensions, under applicable federal law. The Standing Trustee shall proceed with no further administration of such proofs of claim until the due dates for the federal tax returns in question have, in fact, passed. Following the passage of such return due dates, the Internal Revenue Service must provide timely written notification to the Standing Trustee if the taxes that are the subject of the respective proofs of claim remain unpaid and if the Internal Revenue Service desires to have the debts included for payment by the Standing Trustee through the Chapter 13 plan. Unless and until the Internal Revenue Service provides such timely written notice to the Standing Trustee as set forth above, the proofs of claim are deemed to be objected to by the Standing Trustee for the reason that the claims have been satisfied by direct payment, and such objection will be sustained by the Court. The Court has entered a Standing Order regarding the above matter which is attached to this Guide as Appendix 6.

6. Application of Section 506(b) to secured claims.

In order for any creditor asserting over-secured status to invoke the application of the provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 506(b) to its proof of claim, the creditor shall attach to its proof of claim a specific itemization of all of the following which it intends to have considered in the determination of the secured value of its claim:

a) The interest which would accrue on such claim under the agreement under which the claim arose between the case filing date and the date of confirmation of the debtor's plan. The applicable per diem interest rate upon which the creditor's computations are based shall be set forth therein; and

b) Any reasonable fees, costs or charges provided for under the agreement under which the creditor's claim arose.

Should the creditor fail to attach such specific itemizations to its proof of claim as set forth above, the Standing Trustee is authorized to recommend to the Court a secured value for such claim which he deems to be appropriate, given the evidence that is available to him.

7. Lien avoidance/secured claims.

Unless the debtor files motions to avoid Section 522(f) liens within ninety (90) days of the date of the Section 341 first meeting of creditors, the creditor's claim will be treated as filed and may be a secured claim, to the extent of the value of the collateral.

B. Disbursements by trustee.

1. Minimum disbursements in chapter 13 cases.

Except for the final payment on a claim, a Standing Chapter 13 Trustee shall not be obligated to issue disbursements of less than $15.00 to any individual claimant. However, such trustee may, in his discretion, issue such disbursements in a smaller sum on a general basis or on a case-by-case basis.

2. Disposition of funds held by standing trustees upon conversion.

Upon receipt of notice of the dismissal of a Chapter 13 case prior to the confirmation of the debtor's plan, the trustee shall refund any undisbursed plan payments to the debtor, as set forth in 11 U.S.C. § 1326(a)(2). Upon receipt of notice of the conversion of a Chapter 13 case either prior to or following the confirmation of the debtor's plan, the trustee shall forward any undisbursed funds to the trustee, if any, in the converted case. Upon receipt of notice of the dismissal of a Chapter 13 case following the confirmation of the debtor's plan, the trustee shall disburse any funds then on hand pursuant to the terms of the confirmed plan. Any funds received by the trustee following receipt of notice of the dismissal of the case shall be remitted to the debtor.

C. Plan modification.

1. Definition of plan modification.

A proposal to modify a Chapter 13 plan includes any proposal to materially:

- a) Increase, decrease, or delay periodic payments due under an existing plan;

- b) Increase, decrease, or delay periodic disbursements anticipated from an existing plan;

- c) Change or revise the order of distribution of payments under an existing plan.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a voluntary increase in plan payments, or early payoff of plan obligations alone, shall not constitute a proposal to modify a plan.

2. Service of plan modification.

Proposed modifications to Chapter 13 plans shall be by motion, served upon all parties in interest by the movant, and allow not less than twenty (20) days notice before the hearing, or twenty (20) days notice for the filing of objections to modifications if the "no-protest" notice procedure is used.

3. Modification of plans incident to the filing of post-petition tax claims.

Section 1305 of the Bankruptcy Code authorizes the filing of post-petition tax claims for inclusion in debtors' Chapter 13 plans. The inclusion of such claims in a plan frequently necessitates a request by the trustee that the plan be modified by an increase in the plan payment and/or an extension of the plan term to accommodate payment of such claims, and, pursuant to Section 1329 of the Bankruptcy Code, such requested modifications may not be allowed until after such notice and the opportunity for hearing as is appropriate.

Trustees must process a large volume of such post-petition tax claims, and the resulting modification process imposes a significant administrative burden on the trustees' office. Therefore, in any Chapter 13 case where the filing of a post-petition tax claim pursuant to Section 1305 of the Bankruptcy Code necessitates a modification of the terms of the confirmed plan, the trustee may proceed to make the necessary modification to the plan and provide written notice of the same to the debtor and the debtor's attorney. If the trustee in his discretion determines that the required plan modification is of such a nature that it should be allowed only after service of a formal written motion to modify with such additional notice and opportunity for hearing as is appropriate, he may elect to do so.

D. Compensation of attorneys and trustee.

1. Compensation of attorneys in Chapter 13 cases.

In addition to complying with all other requirements for professional fee applications, applications for non-base attorneys fees in Chapter 13 cases shall cover only time and expenses incurred on non-base matters, shall not cover time or expenses incurred on base fee matters, and shall be submitted on Local Form 13. A proposed order in the format of Local Form 14 shall be submitted to the Court at the time the application is filed. It shall be completed except for the date and the amount of the fee and expenses. The accompanying notice shall be in the format of Local Form 15.

The full application and notice must be served on the debtor(s), the trustee, and the Bankruptcy Administrator. If the compensation requested exceeds $500, the notice must be served on all parties in interest.

2. Noticing costs.

The actual costs incurred by a Chapter 13 Standing Trustee for the service of Official Form 91 (Notice of Commencement of Case Under Chapter 13 of the Bankruptcy Code, Meeting of Creditors, and Fixing of Dates) and the Notice of Entry of the Order Confirming Plan are priority claims of administration for which the Standing Trustee should be reimbursed from the respective Chapter 13 bankruptcy estates as such actual costs are incurred, provided that the Standing Trustee shall have given all parties in the respective cases adequate notice of his intention to have such actual costs reimbursed by inclusion of the same in Official Form 91.

3. Trustee's compensation in cases dismissed prior to confirmation.

In any Chapter 13 case dismissed prior to confirmation, the Standing Trustee shall be allowed an administrative claim of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) as an actual cost to the Standing Trustee for the set-up and processing of the case, and the Standing Trustee is authorized to recover the amount of said claim from any plan payments made by the debtor an being held in anticipation of confirmation by the Standing Trustee, the attorney for the debtor, or any other party, provided that in any case where the Standing Trustee has incurred actual costs in excess of this presumptively reasonable amount of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), he may, by separate application pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 503(a), seek reimbursement of such additional expenses as well.

XIII. Adversary proceedings.

A. Core and non-core matters.

Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 7008 and 7012 require an allegation as to whether a proceeding is core or non-core. A party who alleges that the proceeding is non-core shall state whether the party does or does not consent to the entry of a final Order of Judgment by the Bankruptcy Judge. Failure to include the statement of consent does not constitute consent. Amendments to Rule 7012 require the defendant to admit or deny the allegation as to whether the proceeding is core or non-core.

In the event a party moves for a ruling as to whether an action is a core or non-core proceeding, the Court will ordinarily allow adverse parties twenty (20) days from the service of the motion within which to file responses. The filing of such a motion shall not postpone any time periods unless so stipulated by the parties or ordered by the Court.

Title 28 U.S.C. Section 157(c)(1) requires the Bankruptcy Judge to submit proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law to the District Court when the Bankruptcy Judge has heard a non-core proceeding and consent to such hearing under Section 157(c)(2) is not given. Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9033 provides the procedure for objecting to, and review by the District Court of, specific findings and conclusions.

B. Settlements in pending adversaries.

Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 2002(a) requires that all creditors in a case receive notice of any proposed settlements, including those arising in adversary proceedings. In the Clerk's office, the settlement procedure is coordinated between the adversary and base case file. To facilitate this process, parties should follow the procedures set forth herein.

Parties should caption all documents (Motion to Approve Settlement, Notice, Certificate of Service and Proposed Order) with both the adversary and base case captions. Notice of the proposed settlement should be served on all parties in interest in the base case with service certified in writing. Copies of the documents are required as follows — Motion (original only), Notice and Certificate of Service (original plus one copy), Proposed Order (original plus two copies for Court and sufficient copies for each party to adversary).

C. Settlements in closed adversaries.

Caption all documents with base case caption only. Notice is provided as in the above paragraph regarding notice in pending adversaries. Copies of documents are required as follows — Motion, Notice and Certificate of Service (originally only), Proposed Order (original plus two copies for Court and sufficient copies for each party to adversary).

XIV. Taxation of costs.

A. Bill of costs.

A party allowed costs shall, within ten (10) days after entry of the order or judgment, file and serve any desired bill of costs on the attorney for the opposing party. The bill of costs shall state the time that the costs thereon will be taxed, which time shall be no less than three (3) days from the date the bill of costs is served on the opposing party. A certificate of service that the opposing party was served shall be filed with the bill of costs. The provisions of Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 9006(f) should be considered in the computation of the deadline.

Note that while Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 54(d) provides for costs to the prevailing party as a matter of course unless the Court otherwise directs, Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7054(b) provides that the Court may allow costs to the prevailing party. As to the allowability of attorney's fees as costs, note the requirement of Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 7008(b) that they be pleaded as a claim.

B. Objection and hearing.

Before the costs are taxed, a party objecting to any costs contained in the bill of costs shall file its objection specifying the ground for the objection, and serve the objection on opposing counsel. The Clerk will hear the objection after prior notice to all parties.

C. Taxation.

After the hearing, or if no objection is filed, on the date stated in the bill of costs, the Clerk may enter an order taxing the costs. The taxation of costs made by the Clerk shall be final unless modified on appeal as provided in subdivision (D).

D. Appeal.

A party may appeal the decision of the Clerk in the taxation of costs by filing a Motion to Retax Costs with the Court within five (5) days of the entry of the order of taxation by the Clerk. The party appealing shall give notice and opportunity for a hearing to the opposing party.

XV. Appeals.

A. Fees.

All applicable fees must accompany any notice of appeal filed with the Court. Both the appeal fee and the docketing fee must be tendered at the time the notice of appeal is filed. The Judicial Conference Miscellaneous Bankruptcy Fee Schedule has been amended to make it clear that the $100.00 appeals docketing fee also applies to cross-appeals.

B. Record on appeal.

As provided by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 8006, any party filing a designation of items to be included in the record on appeal shall provide to the Clerk a copy of the items designated. The Clerk will provide the party or parties in question with twenty (20) days written notice of this requirement. No record on appeal will be considered complete for transmission until copies of all designated items are tendered to the Clerk.

In addition, the Clerk's office will now promptly refer procedurally defective, incomplete records on appeal to the District Court for appropriate action. Problems frequently arise where parties fail to file timely designations of records on appeal or fail to arrange for the preparation of any transcripts so designated, as required by Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8006.

C. Post-appeal motions.

The District Court has instituted a procedure whereby it now sets up an appeal file upon notification from the Bankruptcy Clerk that a notice of appeal has been filed. As a result of this change, motions for particular kinds of relief that only the District Judge may grant pursuant to Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 8001 et seq. may be filed directly with the District Clerk prior to the docketing of the appeal pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 8007 (b).

D. Interlocutory appeals.

Be aware of the special procedural requirements in Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 8001 and 8003 affecting interlocutory appeals.

XVI. Reopening cases.

Any party seeking to reopen a case pursuant to Section 350(b) of the Bankruptcy Code shall file with the Court a motion and give ten (10) days notice of the filing of the motion and the opportunity to request a hearing to the Trustee, the Trustee's attorney, the debtor, the debtor's attorney, and the Bankruptcy Administrator.

Do not notice a hearing on a particular matter in a previously closed case without first filing and noticing the motion to reopen and tendering the appropriate filing fee.

Unless the case or proceeding is to be reopened to correct an administrative error in the record, to aid the debtor in furtherance of the discharge, or to file a complaint to determine dischargeability other than under Section 523(c), a filing fee equal to the current case or proceeding filing fee must be paid. It is not necessary to pay the administrative fee along with the filing fee when the case is reopened. If the fee is not timely paid as required, the motion to reopen will be ordered stricken from the record.

If the original case was closed without payment in full of the filing fee, the outstanding balance of that initial filing fee must be tendered prior to reopening, as well.

XVII. Court mailing list.

The Clerk will maintain a master mailing list of all attorneys and any other persons who desire to receive notification of certain matters affecting practice and procedure in the Court. Each person who wishes to be included on this mailing list should provide the Clerk with a current mailing address and update this information as necessary.

The Clerk's office prepares and distributes an edition of The Bankruptcy Newsletter once every three months to those attorneys and members of the general public who send a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Clerk's office and request a copy. The envelope and postage should be sufficient to mail twenty (20) pages. The Newsletter is prepared during the first week of March, June, September, and December of every year. The Newsletter covers such topics as recent caselaw from the Supreme Court, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals, and the Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of North Carolina; legislative changes; calendar matters; educational matters; and other matters of interest in the Clerk's office, the Bankruptcy Administrator's office, and the offices of the Chapter 13 Standing Trustees.

The Court having considered this matter and it appearing that Section 1326(a) (2) of the Bankruptcy Code authorizes the Chapter 13 trustee to recover from any plan payments returned to a debtor in any Chapter 13 case dismissed prior to confirmation any costs of administration approved by the Court, and it further appearing that the costs incurred by the trustee in the set-up and processing of a case dismissed prior to confirmation total at least one hundred dollars ($100.00),

And the Court concluding that the trustee is entitled to an administrative claim in such amount in any such Chapter 13 case administered through his office and that he should be allowed to recover such claim from plan payments made by the debtor,

Based upon the foregoing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that, pursuant to the notice and authorization provided herein, in any Chapter 13 case dismissed prior to confirmation, the trustee shall be allowed an administrative claim of one hundred dollars ($100.00), said claim representing the actual costs to the trustee for the set-up and processing of the case, and that the trustee is authorized to recover, pursuant to Section 1326(a) (2), the amount of said claim from any plan payments made by the debtor and being held in anticipation of confirmation by the trustee, the attorney for the debtor, or any other party, PROVIDED; however, that in any such case where the trustee has incurred actual costs in excess of the presumptively reasonable amount of one hundred dollars ($100.00), he may, by separate application pursuant to Section 503(a) of the Bankruptcy Code, seek reimbursement of such additional expenses, as well.

Upon consideration of this matter and the Court concluding that a procedure should be established herein for the allowance of claims to be paid pursuant to confirmed Chapter 13 plans, and for the designation of a minimum percentage dividend that must be paid to the general unsecured creditors in any such case,

Based upon the foregoing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that following expiration of claims bar date as set forth in Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 3002, the trustee shall file with the Court and serve upon all parties a motion for allowance of claims determination which shall include a report of all claims filed in the case and the trustee's proposed treatment of such claims under the plan. The motion shall also set forth the minimum percentage dividend that the trustee believes should be paid to the general unsecured creditors through the plan and request approval of the sam. The motion shall be accompanied by a notice to all parties which shall provide that any party objecting to the proposed treatment of any claim and/or the proposed minimum percentage dividend as reported therein must file a written response and request for hearing with the Clerk within the appropriate time period as prescribed by the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure. If no written responses are filed as set forth therein, the trustee's motion shall be granted pursuant to the authority of this administrative order.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF	)	SETTING PROCEDURE FOR CHAPTER 13 PLANS	)	THE PROCESSING OF )	PROOFS OF CLAIM FOR )	PROPERTY TAXES

The Court having considered this matter and it appearing that some county and municipal taxing authorities customarily file proofs of claim with the Chapter 13 standing trustees for the collection of taxes owed by debtors for a current calendar year, and will file such proofs of claim with the trustees during the summer or fall of such calendar year even though the taxes are payable without interest or penalty through the end of such calendar year, and it further appearing to the Court that the majority of such claims will be satisfied by payment by the debtors or their agents on or before the date that the taxes are last payable without interest or penalty, and that requiring the trustees to receive and process all such proofs of claim for inclusion in the debtors' plans when most will ultimately be otherwise satisfied by payment imposes an unnecessary cost upon the trustees' operations,

And the Court concluding that such a process results in a less efficient administration of Chapter 13 plans in this District and should, therefore, be modified in such a way as to accommodate the filing of proofs of claim for property taxes while, at the same time, minimizing unnecessary costs of administration, and,

Based upon the foregoing, THE COURT ORDERS AS FOLLOWS:

1. The standing trustees shall accept for filing all properly-executed proofs of claim for property taxes even when such proofs of claim are filed prior to the date that the taxes in question are last payable without penalty or interest as provided by applicable state law;
2. The trustees shall proceed with no further administration of such proofs of claim until the date that such taxes are last payable without penalty or interest has, in fact, passed;
3. 4. Unless and until the taxing authority provides such timely written notice to the trustee as set forth above, the proof of claim is deemed to be OBJECTED TO by the trustee on the grounds that the claim has been satisfied by payment, and such objection is hereby SUSTAINED by the Court;

The Court having considered this matter and it appearing that from time to time, the Internal Revenue Service (hereinafter “IRS”) will file proofs of claim with the Chapter 13 standing trustees for the collection of federal taxes prior to the due date for the federal tax return, including extensions, under applicable law, and it further appearing to the Court that the majority of such claims will be satisfied by direct payment to IRS by the debtors on or before such due date, and that requiring the trustees to receive and process all such proofs of claim for inclusion in the debtors’ plans when most will ultimately be otherwise satisfied by payment imposes an unnecessary administrative cost upon the trustees’ operations,

AUTHORIZING REIMBURSEMENT

INCURRED BY TRUSTEES

The Court having considered this matter and it appearing that pursuant to Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure 2002 and 3020, the Clerk of Court having delegated to the offices of the Chapter 13 Standing Trustees in this District responsibility for the service of the Notice of the Section 341 Meeting of Creditors and the Time Fixed for Filing Objections to and the Hearing to Consider Confirmation of Chapter 13 Plans, and Notice of the Entry of the Order Confirming Plan, and it further appearing that the actual costs incurred in the service of said notices are presently being paid for by the Standing Trustees from their respective percentage fee allowances,

And the Court concluding that the actual costs incurred by the Standing Trustees incidental to the service of said notices constitute priority claims of administration pursuant to Sections 503 and 507 of the Bankruptcy Code which should, after appropriate notice and the opportunity for hearing, be allowed and reimbursed to the Standing Trustees from the respective Chapter 13 bankruptcy estates,

Based upon the foregoing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the actual costs incurred by the Chapter 13 Standing Trustees of this District for the service of the notices referenced hereinabove are priority claims of administration for which the Standing Trustees should be reimbursed from the respective chapter 13 bankruptcy estates as such actual costs are incurred, PROVIDED that the Standing Trustees shall have given all parties in the respective cases adequate notice of their intention to have such actual costs reimbursed to them by inclusion of the same in the Notice of the Section 341 Meeting of Creditors.

INITIAL PRE-TRIAL ORDER

Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rules 7016 and 7026 (which incorporate Rules 16 and 26 Fed. R. Civ. Pro.), it is hereby ORDERED that:

- 1. The parties shall meet pursuant to Rule 26(f) by [Order date +20 days]. (The meeting requirement may be satisfied by correspondence, telecommunication, facsimile transmission or other forms of communication).
- 2. The parties shall comply requirements of Rule 26(a) by [+10 days].
- 3. The parties shall file with the court by [+5 days] a Report which contains the following matters:
  - a. A statement that the joinder of all parties and issues is complete or a statement of how such joinder is incomplete;
  - b. A statement of whether the parties have discussed settlement and whether the assistance of the court regarding settlement is desired at this time;
  - c. The discovery plan setting forth those matters specified in Rule 26(f)(1)-(4);
- 4. All discovery in this action shall be completed by [+90 days].
- 5. Any dispositive motions shall be filed by [+15 days];
- 6. Paragraphs 1—3 of this Order shall not apply in adversary proceedings to recover money or property having a value of less than $15,000.
- 7. The provisions of this Order may be modified or substituted for by agreement of all of the parties by preparing a proposed substitute Order signed by the parties and submitted to the court for its consideration and entry. In the absence of agreement, any party may move the court to modify this Order or for any other matter relating to pre-trial administration at any time by proper motion and notice of hearing. These provisions are deemed to satisfy the requirement that the court conduct conferences with counsel pursuant to Rules 16 and 26.
- 8. At the conclusion of the period for discovery, the court will send a Notice to Counsel which solicits a mutually convenient trial date. Two weeks thereafter, the court will enter a Final Pre-Trial Order and Notice of Trial which will require supplementation of disclosure and discovery, exchange of exhibits, identification of witnesses and which will set a time certain for trial.

After entry of that Order, continuances will be granted only for compelling circumstances.

NOTICE TO COUNSEL

Our records indicate that the period for discovery set out in the Pre-Trial Order has now elapsed, and the case should be ripe for trial.

If the case is ready for trial, within fourteen days of the date of this Notice, confer with opposing counsel and the calendar clerk for scheduling a mutually convenient trial date. If this has not been accomplished within fourteen days, the court will set a trial date.

If the case is not ready for trial for any reason, within fourteen days notify the court in writing of the status of the case and state the reasons that the case is not ripe for trial.

This the ____ day of _____, 1995.

FINAL PRE-TRIAL ORDER AND NOTICE OF TRIAL

Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 7016 (which incorporates Rule 16 Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 16), it is hereby ORDERED that:

1. The trial of this matter is set for ____m. on _____ at the _____.
2. By [trial date -7 days] the parties shall do the following:
  - a. Supplement disclosures pursuant to Rule 26(a);
  - b. Supplement discovery responses;
  - c. Number and exchange copies of all anticipated trial exhibits (with respect to exhibits which cannot reasonably be copied, permitting inspection of the exhibit satisfies this requirement);
  - d. Identify by name all witnesses anticipated to be called at the trial; and
  - e. Exchange a list of issues to be decided at the trial.
3. By [trial date -3 days] each party shall file with the court the following documents:
  - a. List of witnesses;
  - b. List of exhibits; and
  - c. Statement of issues to be decided.
4. If any party desires to submit a trial brief or other submission of authorities, it must be filed and served on opposing parties no later than the deadline set out in paragraph 3 above.
5. Failure to timely comply with these requirements may subject the offending party to sanctions (which may include exclusion of evidence, refusal to consider submissions and entry of adverse judgment on some or all issues).

RULES GOVERNING SECTION 2254 CASES IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURTS

As amended through August 1, 1982.
With amendments received through September 10, 1997.

Rule

1. Scope of rules.
2. Petition.
3. Filing petition.
4. Preliminary consideration by judge.
5. Answer; Contents.
6. Discovery.
7. Expansion of record.
8. Evidentiary hearing.
9. Delayed or successive petitions.
10. Powers of magistrates.

Rule

11. Federal rules of civil procedure; Extent of applicability.

Appendix of Forms

Model form for use in applications for habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254.

Model form for use in 28 U.S.C. § 2254 cases involving a Rule 9 issue.

Index follows Rules.

Rule 1. Scope of rules.

(a) Applicable to cases involving custody pursuant to a judgment of a state court. These rules govern the procedure in the United States district courts on applications under 28 U.S.C. § 2254:

(1) By a person in custody pursuant to a judgment of a state court, for a determination that such custody is in violation of the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States; and

(2) By a person in custody pursuant to a judgment of either a state or a federal court, who makes application for a determination that custody to which he may be subject in the future under a judgment of a state court will be in violation of the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States.

(b) Other situations. In applications for habeas corpus in cases not covered by subdivision (a), these rules may be applied at the discretion of the United States district court.

Legal Periodicals. — For a note discussing the development of habeas corpus relief, the application of the doctrines of exhaustion, co-munity and federalism, and O'Sullivan v. Boerckel, see 78 N.C.L. Rev. 1604 (2000).

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality — The § 2254(d)(1) standard of review does not violate the due process clause or result in an unconstitutional suspension of the writ Fisher v. Lee, 215 F.3d 438 (4th Cir. 2000).

U.S. Supreme Court Review under and Application of § 2254 — The U.S. Supreme Court has determined that the following basic premise shall inform its interpretation of both parts of § 2254(d)(1): first, the requirement that the determinations of state courts be tested only against “clearly established Federal law, as determined by the Supreme Court of the United States,” and second, the prohibition on the issuance of the writ unless the state court’s decision is “contrary to, or involved an unreasonable application of,” that clearly established law. As to the second prong of this interpretation, the court said that this statute (the federal version) directs federal courts to attend to every state-court judgment with utmost care, but it does not require them to defer to the opinion of every reasonable state-court judge on the content of federal law. If, after carefully weighing all the reasons for accepting a state court’s judgment, a federal court is convinced that a prisoner’s custody—or, as in this case, his sentence of death—violates the Constitution, that independent judgment should prevail. Williams v. Taylor, — U.S. —, 120 S. Ct. 1495, 146 L. Ed. 2d 389 (April 18, 2000).

Denial of Habeas Relief Held Proper — The United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit was required to deny the defendant relief under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 where the Virginia Supreme Court’s ruling that the defendant was not entitled to a jury instruction on parole ineligibility under Virginia's three-strikes law was neither contrary to, or an unreasonable application of, clearly established federal law. Ramdass v. Angelone, — U.S. —, 120 S. Ct. 2113, 147 L. Ed. 2d 125 (2000).

Petitioner's Allegation of Error Did Not Raise a Constitutional Issue. — This rule requires that an application for writ of habeas corpus shall only be entertained on the grounds that the petitioner "is in custody in violation of the Constitution or laws or treaties of the United States". Where petitioner's allegation of error in questioning the jury on views regarding life sentence and the possibility of parole did not raise a constitutional issue, his petition was denied. Skipper v. Lee, 1999 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21347, — F. Supp. 2d — (E.D.N.C. November 30, 1999).

Applied in Moore v. Brown, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 11963 (4th Cir. May 30, 2000).

Cited in McCarver v. Lee, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 12222 (4th Cir. May 23, 2000); Adkins v. North Carolina Att'y Gen., — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 14442 (4th Cir. June 22, 2000).

Rule 2. Petition.

(a) Applicants in present custody. If the applicant is presently in custody pursuant to the state judgment in question, the application shall be in the form of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in which the state officer having custody of the applicant shall be named as respondent.

(b) Applicants subject to future custody. If the applicant is not presently in custody pursuant to the state judgment against which he seeks relief but may be subject to such custody in the future, the application shall be in the form of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus with an added prayer for appropriate relief against the judgment which he seeks to attack. In such a case the officer having present custody of the applicant and the attorney general of the state in which the judgment which he seeks to attack was entered shall each be named as respondents.

(c) Form of petition. The petition shall be in substantially the form annexed to these rules, except that any district court may by local rule require that petitions filed with it shall be in a form prescribed by the local rule. Blank petitions in the prescribed form shall be made available without charge by the clerk of the district court to applicants upon their request. It shall specify all the grounds for relief which are available to the petitioner and of which he has or by the exercise of reasonable diligence should have knowledge and shall set forth in summary form the facts supporting each of the grounds thus specified. It shall also state the relief requested. The petition shall be typewritten or legibly handwritten and shall be signed under penalty of perjury by the petitioner.

(d) Petition to be directed to judgments of one court only. A petition shall be limited to the assertion of a claim for relief against the judgment or judgments of a single state court (sitting in a county or other appropriate political subdivision). If a petitioner desires to attack the validity of the judgments of two or more state courts under which he is in custody or may be subject to future custody, as the case may be, he shall do so by separate petitions.

(e) Return of insufficient petition. If a petition received by the clerk of a district court does not substantially comply with the requirements of Rule 2 or Rule 3, it may be returned to the petitioner, if a judge of the court so directs, together with a statement of the reason for its return. The clerk shall retain a copy of the petition.

CASE NOTES

Petitioner failed to forecast evidence of material issues of disputed facts. — Petitioner's motion for an evidentiary hearing was denied where he failed to forecast evidence of material issues of disputed fact regarding ineffective assistance of counsel for: (1) failing to present a diminished capacity defense, (2) failing to request an instruction regarding nonstatutory mitigating circumstances, and (3) failing to present evidence on petitioner's mental age and retardation. Skipper v. Lee, 1999 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21347, — F. Supp. 2d — (E.D.N.C. November 30, 1999).

Rule 3. Filing petition.

(a) Place of filing; Copies; Filing fee. A petition shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court. It shall be accompanied by two conformed copies thereof. It shall also be accompanied by the filing fee prescribed by law unless the petitioner applies for and is given leave to prosecute the petition in forma pauperis. If the petitioner desires to prosecute the petition in forma pauperis, he shall file the affidavit required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915. In all such cases the petition shall also be accompanied by a certificate of the warden or other appropriate officer of the institution in which the petitioner is confined as to the amount of money or securities on deposit to the petitioner's credit in any account in the institution, which certificate may be considered by the court in acting upon his application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis.

(b) Filing and service. Upon receipt of the petition and the filing fee, or an order granting leave to the petitioner to proceed in forma pauperis, and having ascertained that the petition appears on its face to comply with Rules 2 and 3, the clerk of the district court shall file the petition and enter it on the docket in his office. The filing of the petition shall not require the respondent to answer the petition or otherwise move with respect to it unless so ordered by the court.

Rule 4. Preliminary consideration by judge.

The original petition shall be presented promptly to a judge of the district court in accordance with the procedure of the court for the assignment of its business. The petition shall be examined promptly by the judge to whom it is assigned. If it plainly appears from the face of the petition and any exhibits annexed to it that the petitioner is not entitled to relief in the district court, the judge shall make an order for its summary dismissal and cause the petitioner to be notified. Otherwise the judge shall order the respondent to file an answer or other pleading within the period of time fixed by the court or to take such other action as the judge deems appropriate. In every case a copy of the petition and any order shall be served by certified mail on the respondent and the attorney general of the state involved.

Rule 5. Answer; Contents.

The answer shall respond to the allegations of the petition. In addition it shall state whether the petitioner has exhausted his state remedies including any post-conviction remedies available to him under the statutes or procedural rules of the state and including also his right of appeal both from the judgment of conviction and from any adverse judgment or order in the post-conviction proceeding. The answer shall indicate what transcripts (of pretrial, trial, sentencing, and post-conviction proceedings) are available, when they can be furnished, and also what proceedings have been recorded and not transcribed. There shall be attached to the answer such portions of the transcripts as the answering party deems relevant. The court on its own motion or upon request of the petitioner may order that further portions of the existing transcripts be furnished or that certain portions of the non-transcribed proceedings be transcribed and furnished. If a transcript is neither available nor procurable, a narrative summary of the evidence may be submitted. If the petitioner appealed from the judgment of conviction or from an adverse judgment or order in a post-conviction proceeding, a copy of the petitioner's brief on appeal and of the opinion of the appellate court, if any, shall also be filed by the respondent with the answer.

Rule 6. Discovery.

(a) Leave of court required. A party shall be entitled to invoke the processes of discovery available under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure if, and to the extent that, the judge in the exercise of his discretion and for good cause shown grants leave to do so, but not otherwise. If necessary for effective utilization of discovery procedures, counsel shall be appointed by the judge for a petitioner who qualifies for the appointment of counsel under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(g).

(b) Requests for discovery. Requests for discovery shall be accompanied by a statement of the interrogatories or requests for admission and a list of the documents, if any, sought to be produced.

(c) Expenses. If the respondent is granted leave to take the deposition of the petitioner or any other person the judge may as a condition of taking it direct that the respondent pay the expenses of travel and subsistence and fees of counsel for the petitioner to attend the taking of the deposition.

CASE NOTES

Discovery, Generally. — As is now expressly provided in the rules governing habeas corpus cases, the district judge (or a magistrate to whom the case may be referred) may employ a variety of measures in an effort to avoid the need for an evidentiary hearing. Under Rule 6, a party may request and the judge may direct that discovery take place, and there may be instances in which discovery would be appropriate (prior to an evidentiary hearing) and would show such a hearing to be unnecessary. Under Rule 7, the judge can direct expansion of the record to include any appropriate materials that enable the judge to dispose of some habeas petitions not dismissed on the pleadings, without the time and expense required for an evidentiary hearing. Blackledge v. Allison, 431 U.S. 63, 97 S. Ct. 1621, 52 L. Ed. 2d 136 (1977).

Rule 7. Expansion of record.

(a) Direction for expansion. If the petition is not dismissed summarily the judge may direct that the record be expanded by the parties by the inclusion of additional materials relevant to the determination of the merits of the petition.

(b) Materials to be added. The expanded record may include, without limitation, letters predating the filing of the petition in the district court, documents, exhibits, and answers under oath, if so directed, to written interrogatories propounded by the judge. Affidavits may be submitted and considered as a part of the record.

(c) Submission to opposing party. In any case in which an expanded record is directed, copies of the letters, documents, exhibits, and affidavits proposed to be included shall be submitted to the party against whom they are to be offered, and he shall be afforded an opportunity to admit or deny their correctness.

(d) Authentication. The court may require the authentication of any material under subdivision (b) or (c).

CASE NOTES

Applied in Blackledge v. Allison, 431 U.S. 63, 97 S. Ct. 1621, 52 L. Ed. 2d 136 (1977).

Rule 8. Evidentiary hearing.

(a) Determination by court. If the petition is not dismissed at a previous stage in the proceeding, the judge, after the answer and the transcript and record of state court proceedings are filed, shall, upon a review of those proceedings and of the expanded record, if any, determine whether an evidentiary hearing is required. If it appears that an evidentiary hearing is not required, the judge shall make such disposition of the petition as justice shall require.

(b) Function of the magistrate.

(1) When designated to do so in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(b), a magistrate may conduct hearings, including evidentiary hearings, on the petition, and submit to a judge of the court proposed findings of fact and recommendations for disposition.

(2) The magistrate shall file proposed findings and recommendations with the court and a copy shall forthwith be mailed to all parties.

(3) Within ten days after being served with a copy, any party may serve and file written objections to such proposed findings and recommendations as provided by rules of court.

(4) A judge of the court shall make a de novo determination of those portions of the report or specified proposed findings or recommendations to which objection is made. A judge of the court may accept, reject, or modify in whole or in part any findings or recommendations made by the magistrate.

(c) Appointment of counsel; Time for hearing. If an evidentiary hearing is required the judge shall appoint counsel for a petitioner who qualifies for the appointment of counsel under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(g) and the hearing shall be conducted as promptly as practicable, having regard for the need of counsel for both parties for adequate time for investigation and preparation. These rules do not limit the appointment of counsel under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A at any stage of the case if the interest of justice so requires.

CASE NOTES

Applied in Williams v. Currie, 103 F. Supp. 2d 858 (M.D.N.C. 2000).

Cited in Frye v. Lee, 89 F. Supp. 2d 693 (W.D.N.C. 2000).

Rule 9. Delayed or successive petitions.

(a) Delayed petitions. A petition may be dismissed if it appears that the state of which the respondent is an officer has been prejudiced in its ability to respond to the petition by delay in its filing unless the petitioner shows that it is based on grounds of which he could not have had knowledge by the exercise of reasonable diligence before the circumstances prejudicial to the state occurred.

(b) Successive petitions. A second or successive petition may be dismissed if the judge finds that it fails to allege new or different grounds for relief and the prior determination was on the merits or, if new and different grounds are alleged, the judge finds that the failure of the petitioner to assert those grounds in a prior petition constituted an abuse of the writ.

CASE NOTES

The abuse of the writ doctrine which mandates dismissal of claims presented in habeas petitions if the claims were raised, or could have been raised, in an earlier petition. The doctrine's rationale is rooted in the limited resources available in the federal judicial system. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

Abuse of the writ is not confined to instances where litigants deliberately abandon claims; it also applies to instances where litigants, through inexcusable neglect, fail to raise available claims. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

The standard for excusing a failure to raise an available claim in the abuse of writ context is substantially the same as that required in procedural default cases, namely a showing of cause and prejudice. In the abuse of the writ context, for cause to exist, the external impediment, whether it be governmental interference or the reasonable unavailability of the factual basis for the claim, must have prevented petitioner from raising the claim. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

The cause and prejudice standard in the abuse of the writ context need not be met in cases where a fundamental miscarriage of justice would otherwise occur. But this occurs only in a very narrow realm of cases where a constitutional violation may have resulted in the conviction of an innocent person. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

The abuse of the writ doctrine has nothing to do with the doctrine of waiver. Unlike waiver, abuse of the writ focuses not on a party's state of mind, but rather on a petitioner's objective conduct, and addresses not whether conduct is knowing and voluntary, but rather the interests of judicial economy and justice for all by limiting petitioners, in certain circumstances, to one bite of the habeas apple. Noble v. Barnett, 24

F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

Third petition for a writ of habeas corpus which raised the claims that petitioner was incompetent to stand trial and that he received ineffective assistance of counsel owing to his counsel's failure to raise the incompetency issue did not meet the cause and prejudice standard required under this rule, where petitioner had full knowledge of the facts central to each of these claims at the time that he filed his second petition for a writ of habeas corpus, and where he produced no evidence that any objective factors prevented him from raising in his second petition either of these claims presented. Noble v. Barnett, 24 F.3d 582 (4th Cir. 1994).

Applied in Young v. Sams, 510 F. Supp. 141 (E.D.N.C. 1981).

Rule 10. Powers of magistrates.

The duties imposed upon the judge of the district court by these rules may be performed by a United States magistrate pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636. (Amended effective August 1, 1979.)

Rule 11. Federal rules of civil procedure; Extent of applicability.

The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to the extent that they are not inconsistent with these rules, may be applied, when appropriate, to petitions filed under these rules.

12. State concisely every ground on which you claim that you are being held unlawfully. Summarize briefly the facts supporting each ground. If necessary, you may attach pages stating additional ground and facts supporting same.

Caution: In order to proceed in the federal court, you must ordinarily first exhaust your state court remedies as to each ground on which you request action by the federal court. If you fail to set forth all grounds in this petition, you may be barred from presenting additional grounds at a later date.

For your information, the following is a list of the most frequently raised grounds for relief in habeas corpus proceedings. Each statement preceded by a letter constitutes a separate ground for possible relief. You may raise any grounds which you may have other than those listed if you have exhausted your state court remedies with respect to them. However, you should raise in this petition all available grounds (relating to this conviction) on which you base your allegations that you are being held in custody unlawfully.

Do not check any of these listed grounds. If you select one or more of these grounds for relief, you must allege facts. The petition will be returned to you if you merely check (a) through (j) or any one of these grounds.

- (a) Conviction obtained by plea of guilty which was unlawfully induced or not made voluntarily with understanding of the nature of the charge and the consequences of the plea.
- (b) Conviction obtained by use of coerced confession.
- (c) Conviction obtained by use of evidence gained pursuant to an unconstitutional search and seizure.
- (d) Conviction obtained by use of evidence obtained pursuant to an unlawful arrest.
- (e) Conviction obtained by a violation of the privilege against self-incrimination.
- (f) Conviction obtained by the unconstitutional failure of the prosecution to disclose to the defendant evidence favorable to the defendant.
- (g) Conviction obtained by a violation of the protection against double jeopardy.
- (h) Conviction obtained by action of a grand or petit jury which was unconstitutionally selected and impaneled.
- (i) Denial of effective assistance of counsel.
- (j) Denial of right of appeal.

_____, ADDITIONAL RESPONDENT

Petitioner's Response as to Why His Petition Should Not Be Barred Under Rule 9

Explanation and Instructions—Read Carefully

(I) Rule 9. Delayed or successive petitions

(a) Delayed petitions. A petition may be dismissed if it appears that the state of which the respondent is an officer has been prejudiced in its ability to respond to the petition by delay in its filing unless the petitioner shows that it is based on grounds of which he could not have had knowledge by the exercise of reasonable diligence before the circumstances prejudicial to the state occurred.

(b) Successive petitions. A second or successive petition may be dismissed if the judge finds that it fails to allege new or different grounds for relief and the prior determination was on the merits or, if new and different grounds are alleged, the judge finds that the failure of the petitioner to assert those grounds in a prior petition constituted an abuse of the writ.

(II) Your petition for habeas corpus has been found to be subject to dismissal under rule 9( ) for the following reason(s):

_____
_____

(III) This form has been sent so that you may explain why your petition contains the defect(s) noted in (II) above. It is required that you fill out this form and send it back to the court within _____ days. Failure to do so will result in the automatic dismissal of your petition.

(IV) When you have fully completed this form, the original and two copies must be mailed to the Clerk of the United States District Court whose address is _____

(V) This response must be legibly handwritten or typewritten, and signed by the petitioner under penalty of perjury. Any false statement of a material fact may serve as the basis for prosecution and conviction for perjury. All questions must be answered concisely in the proper space on the form.

(VI) Additional pages are not permitted except with respect to the facts which you rely upon in item 4 or 5 in the response. Any citation of authorities should be kept to an absolute minimum and is only appropriate if there has been a change in the law since the judgment you are attacking was rendered.

(VII) Respond to 4 or 5 below, not to both, unless (II) above indicates that you must answer both sections.

RESPONSE

1. Have you had the assistance of an attorney, other law-trained personnel, or writ writers since the conviction your petition is attacking was entered?
Yes ☐ No ☐
2. If you checked "yes" above, specify as precisely as you can the period(s) of time during which you received such assistance, up to and including the present. _____
_____
3. Describe the nature of the assistance, including the names of those who rendered it to you. _____
_____
_____
4. If your petition is in jeopardy because of delay prejudicial to the state under rule 9(a), explain why you feel the delay has not been prejudicial and/or why the delay is excusable under the terms of 9(a). This should be done by relying upon FACTS, not your opinions or conclusions. _____
_____
_____
5. If your petition is in jeopardy under rule 9(b) because it asserts the same grounds as a previous petition, explain why you feel it deserves a reconsideration. If its fault under rule 9(b) is that it asserts new grounds which should have been included in a prior petition, explain why you are raising these grounds now rather than previously. Your explanation should rely on FACTS, not your opinions or conclusions. _____

Appendix of Forms

Model form for motions under 28 U.S.C. § 2255.

Model form for use in 28 U.S.C. § 2255 cases involving a Rule 9 issue.

Index follows Rules.

Rule 1. Scope of rules.

These rules govern the procedure in the district court on a motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255:

(1) By a person in custody pursuant to a judgment of that court for a determination that the judgment was imposed in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States, or that the court was without jurisdiction to impose such judgment, or that the sentence was in excess of the maximum authorized by law, or is otherwise subject to collateral attack; and

(2) By a person in custody pursuant to a judgment of a state or other federal court and subject to future custody under a judgment of the district court for a determination that such future custody will be in violation of the Constitution or laws of the United States, or that the district court was without jurisdiction to impose such judgment, or that the sentence was in excess of the maximum authorized by law, or is otherwise subject to collateral attack.

CASE NOTES

Second Motion. — Habeas corpus petition styled as a § 2241 motion would be dismissed as being an uncertified, and therefore unauthorized, second § 2255 motion. Lowery v. United States, 47 F. Supp. 2d 645 (W.D.N.C. 1999), aff'd, 181 F3d 93 (4th Cir. 1999), cert. denied, — U.S. —, 120 S. Ct. 440, 145 L. Ed. 2d 344 (1999).

Applied in Bradley v. United States, 51 F. Supp. 2d 696 (W.D.N.C. 1999); United States v. Crawford, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 8231 (April 26, 2000); United States v. Miller, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 11011 (4th Cir. May 18, 2000).

Rule 2. Motion.

(a) Nature of application for relief. If the person is presently in custody pursuant to the federal judgment in question, or if not presently in custody may be subject to such custody in the future pursuant to such judgment, the application for relief shall be in the form of a motion to vacate, set aside, or correct the sentence.

(b) Form of motion. The motion shall be in substantially the form annexed to these rules, except that any district court may by local rule require that motions filed with it shall be in a form prescribed by the local rule. Blank motions in the prescribed form shall be made available without charge by the clerk of the district court to applicants upon their request. It shall specify all the grounds for relief which are available to the movant and of which he has or, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, should have knowledge and shall set forth in summary form the facts supporting each of the grounds thus specified. It shall also state the relief requested. The motion shall be typewritten or legibly handwritten and shall be signed under penalty of perjury by the petitioner.

(c) Motion to be directed to one judgment only. A motion shall be limited to the assertion of a claim for relief against one judgment only of the district court. If a movant desires to attack the validity of other judgments of that or any other district court under which he is in custody or may be subject to future custody, as the case may be, he shall do so by separate motions.

(d) Return of insufficient motion. If a motion received by the clerk of a district court does not substantially comply with the requirements of Rule 2 or Rule 3, it may be returned to the movant, if a judge of the court so directs, together with a statement of the reason for its return. The clerk shall retain a copy of the motion.

CASE NOTES

When Applicable — The defendant had to raise his ineffective assistance of counsel claims by way of a motion under this section where his claim of ineffective assistance, based on an alleged promise of a lesser sentence, did not plainly appear on the face of the record. United States v. Deby, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 12446 (4th Cir. June 6, 2000).

Rule 3. Filing motion.

(a) Place of filing; Copies. A motion under these rules shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court. It shall be accompanied by two conformed copies thereof.

(b) Filing and service. Upon receipt of the motion and having ascertained that it appears on its face to comply with Rules 2 and 3, the clerk of the district court shall file the motion and enter it on the docket in his office in the criminal action in which was entered the judgment to which it is directed. He shall thereupon deliver or serve a copy of the motion together with a notice of its filing on the United States Attorney of the district in which the judgment under attack was entered. The filing of the motion shall not require said United States Attorney to answer the motion or otherwise move with respect to it unless so ordered by the court.

Rule 4. Preliminary consideration by judge.

(a) Reference to judge; Dismissal or order to answer. The original motion shall be presented promptly to the judge of the district court who presided at the movant's trial and sentenced him, or, if the judge who imposed sentence was not the trial judge, then it shall go to the judge who was in charge of that part of the proceedings being attacked by the movant. If the appropriate judge is unavailable to consider the motion, it shall be presented to another judge of the district in accordance with the procedure of the court for the assignment of its business.

(b) Initial consideration by judge. The motion, together with all the files, records, transcripts, and correspondence relating to the judgment under attack, shall be examined promptly by the judge to whom it is assigned. If it plainly appears from the face of the motion and any annexed exhibits and the prior proceedings in the case that the movant is not entitled to relief in the district court, the judge shall make an order for its summary dismissal and cause the movant to be notified. Otherwise, the judge shall order the United States Attorney to file an answer or other pleading within the period of time fixed by the court or to take such other action as the judge deems appropriate.

CASE NOTES

Ineffectiveness of Counsel — The pro se defendant who did not label either of his filings as a § 2255 motions stated cognizable claims of ineffective assistance of counsel under this section and was therefore entitled to have his motion construed pursuant to this section. United States v. Curry, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 8744 (4th Cir. May 2, 2000).

Ineffective Assistance of Counsel — Where it did not conclusively appear from the record on appeal that the defendant received ineffective assistance of counsel, this claim was more properly raised in a § 2255 motion. United States v. Quick, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 12140 (4th Cir. June 2, 2000).

Rule 5. Answer; Contents.

(a) Contents of answer. The answer shall respond to the allegations of the motion. In addition it shall state whether the movant has used any other available federal remedies including any prior post-conviction motions under these rules or those existing previous to the adoption of the present rules. The answer shall also state whether an evidentiary hearing was accorded the movant in a federal court.

(b) Supplementing the answer. The court shall examine its files and records to determine whether it has available copies of transcripts and briefs whose existence the answer has indicated. If any of these items should be absent, the government shall be ordered to supplement its answer by filing the needed records. The court shall allow the government an appropriate period of time in which to do so, without unduly delaying the consideration of the motion.

Rule 6. Discovery.

(a) Leave of court required. A party may invoke the processes of discovery available under the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure or the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or elsewhere in the usages and principles of law if, and to the extent that, the judge in the exercise of his discretion and for good cause shown grants leave to do so, but not otherwise. If necessary for effective utilization of discovery procedures, counsel shall be appointed by the judge for a movant who qualifies for appointment of counsel under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(g).

(b) Requests for discovery. Requests for discovery shall be accompanied by a statement of the interrogatories or requests for admission and a list of the documents, if any, sought to be produced.

(c) Expenses. If the government is granted leave to take the deposition of the movant or any other person, the judge may as a condition of taking it direct that the government pay the expenses of travel and subsistence and fees of counsel for the movant to attend the taking of the deposition.

Rule 7. Expansion of record.

(a) Direction for expansion. If the motion is not dismissed summarily, the judge may direct that the record be expanded by the parties by the inclusion of additional materials relevant to the determination of the merits of the motion.

(b) Materials to be added. The expanded record may include, without limitation, letters predating the filing of the motion in the district court, documents, exhibits, and answers under oath, if so directed, to written interrogatories propounded by the judge. Affidavits may be submitted and considered as a part of the record.

(c) Submission to opposing party. In any case in which an expanded record is directed, copies of the letters, documents, exhibits, and affidavits proposed to be included shall be submitted to the party against whom they are to be offered, and he shall be afforded an opportunity to admit or deny their correctness.

(d) Authentication. The court may require the authentication of any material under subdivision (b) or (c).

Rule 8. Evidentiary hearing.

(a) Determination by court. If the motion has not been dismissed at a previous stage in the proceeding, the judge, after the answer is filed and any transcripts or records of prior court actions in the matter are in his possession, shall, upon a review of those proceedings and of the expanded record, if any, determine whether an evidentiary hearing is required. If it appears that an evidentiary hearing is not required, the judge shall make such disposition of the motion as justice dictates.

(b) Function of the magistrate.

(1) When designated to do so in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 636(b), a magistrate may conduct hearings, including evidentiary hearings, on the motion, and submit to a judge of the court proposed findings and recommendations for disposition.

(2) The magistrate shall file proposed findings and recommendations with the court and a copy shall forthwith be mailed to all parties.

(3) Within ten days after being served with a copy, any party may serve and file written objections to such proposed findings and recommendations as provided by rules of court.

(4) A judge of the court shall make a de novo determination of those portions of the report or specified proposed findings or recommendations to which objection is made. A judge of the court may accept, reject, or modify in whole or in part any findings or recommendations made by the magistrate.

(c) Appointment of counsel; Time for hearing. If an evidentiary hearing is required, the judge shall appoint counsel for a movant who qualifies for the appointment of counsel under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(g) and the hearing shall be conducted as promptly as practicable, having regard for the need of counsel for both parties for adequate time for investigation and preparation. These rules do not limit the appointment of counsel under 18 U.S.C. § 3006A at any stage of the proceeding if the interest of justice so requires.

(d) Production of statements at evidentiary hearing.

(1) In General. — Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 26.2(a)-(d), and (f) applies at an evidentiary hearing under these rules.

(2) Sanctions for Failure to Produce Statement. — If a party elects not to comply with an order under Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 26.2(a) to deliver a statement to the moving party, at the evidentiary hearing the court may not consider the testimony of the witness whose statement is withheld. (Amended by order adopted April 22, 1993, effective December 1, 1993.)

Editor's note. — The rule set out above reflects the amendment approved and authorized for transmittal to Congress on April 22, 1993. The amendment took effect December 1, 1993.

CASE NOTES

The court granted a certificate of appealability, — vacated the district court's order and remanded for further proceedings in regard to the defendant's attorney's alleged failure to note an appeal where the record contained conflicting allegations about whether the defendant asked his attorney to file an appeal. United States v. Strickland, — F.3d —, 2000 U.S. App. LEXIS 15086 (4th Cir. June 28, 2000).

Rule 9. Delayed or successive motions.

(a) Delayed motions. A motion for relief made pursuant to these rules may be dismissed if it appears that the government has been prejudiced in its ability to respond to the motion by delay in its filing unless the movant shows that it is based on grounds of which he could not have had knowledge by the exercise of reasonable diligence before the circumstances prejudicial to the government occurred.

(b) Successive motions. A second or successive motion may be dismissed if the judge finds that it fails to allege new or different grounds for relief and the prior determination was on the merits or, if new and different grounds are alleged, the judge finds that the failure of the movant to assert those grounds in a prior action constituted an abuse of the procedure governed by these rules.

Rule 10. Powers of magistrates.

The duties imposed upon the judge of the district court by these rules may be performed by a United States magistrate pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636.

Rule 11. Time for appeal.

The time for appeal from an order entered on a motion for relief made pursuant to these rules is as provided in Rule 4(a) of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure. Nothing in these rules shall be construed as extending the time to appeal from the original judgment of conviction in the district court.

CASE NOTES

Conviction Finalized on Date of Mandate. — For purposes of this section, the conviction of a federal prisoner whose conviction is affirmed by United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit and who does not file a petition for certiorari becomes final on the date that this court's mandate issues in his direct appeal. United States v. Torres, 211 F.3d 836 (4th Cir. 2000).

Rule 12. Federal rules of criminal and civil procedure; Extent of applicability.

If no procedure is specifically prescribed by these rules, the district court may proceed in any lawful manner not inconsistent with these rules, or any applicable statute, and may apply the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure or the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, whichever it deems most appropriate, to motions filed under these rules.

CASE NOTES

Procedure for Amending Motions. — The rules governing § 2255 motions do not specify a procedure for amending motions, therefore, courts have typically applied Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15 to the amendment of a § 2255 motion. United States v. Pittman, 209 F.3d 314 (4th Cir. 2000).

APPENDIX OF FORMS

(Amended effective August 1, 1982.)

Model Form for Motions Under 28 U.S.C. § 2255

Name _____
 Prison Number _____
 Place of Confinement _____
 United States District Court _____ District of _____ Case No. _____ (to be supplied by Clerk of U.S. District Court) United States, _____

v. _____

(full name of movant)

(If movant has a sentence to be served in the future under a federal judgment which he wishes to attack, he should file a motion in the federal court which entered the judgment.)

MOTION TO VACATE, SET ASIDE, OR CORRECT SENTENCE BY A PERSON IN FEDERAL CUSTODY

Instructions—Read Carefully

- (1) This motion must be legibly handwritten or typewritten, and signed by the movant under penalty of perjury. Any false statement of a material fact may serve as the basis for prosecution and conviction for perjury. All questions must be answered concisely in the proper space on the form.
- (2) Additional pages are not permitted except with respect to the facts which you rely upon to support your grounds for relief. No citation of authorities need be furnished. If briefs or arguments are submitted, they should be submitted in the form of a separate memorandum.
- (3) Upon receipt, your motion will be filed if it is in proper order. No fee is required with this motion.
- (4) If you do not have the necessary funds for transcripts, counsel, appeal, and other costs connected with a motion of this type, you may request permission to proceed in forma pauperis, in which event you must execute the declaration on the last page, setting forth information establishing your inability to pay the costs. If you wish to proceed in forma pauperis, you must have an authorized officer at the penal institution complete the certificate as to the amount of money and securities on deposit to your credit in any account in the institution.
- (5) Only judgments entered by one court may be challenged in a single motion. If you seek to challenge judgments entered by different judges or divisions either in the same district or in different districts, you must file separate motions as to each such judgment.
- (6) Your attention is directed to the fact that you must include all grounds for relief and all facts supporting such grounds for relief in the motion you file seeking relief from any judgment of conviction.
- (7) When the motion is fully completed, the original and two copies must be mailed to the Clerk of the United States District Court whose address is _____

- (8) Motions which do not conform to these instructions will be returned with a notation as to the deficiency.

12. State concisely every ground on which you claim that you are being held unlawfully. Summarize briefly the facts supporting each ground. If necessary, you may attach pages stating additional grounds and facts supporting same.

Caution: If you fail to set forth all grounds in this motion, you may be barred from presenting additional grounds at a later date.

For your information, the following is a list of the most frequently raised grounds for relief in these proceedings. Each statement preceded by a letter constitutes a separate ground for possible relief. You may raise any grounds which you have other than those listed. However, you should raise in this motion all available grounds (relating to this conviction) on which you based your allegations that you are being held in custody unlawfully.

Do not check any of these listed grounds. If you select one or more of these grounds for relief, you must allege facts. The motion will be returned to you if you merely check (a) through (j) or any one of the grounds.

(a) Conviction obtained by plea of guilty which was unlawfully induced or not made voluntarily or with understanding of the nature of the charge and the consequences of the plea.

(b) Conviction obtained by use of coerced confession.

(c) Conviction obtained by use of evidence gained pursuant to an unconstitutional search and seizure.

(d) Conviction obtained by use of evidence obtained pursuant to an unlawful arrest.

- (e) Conviction obtained by a violation of the privilege against self-incrimination.
- (f) Conviction obtained by the unconstitutional failure of the prosecution to disclose to the defendant evidence favorable to the defendant.

Movant's Response as to Why His Motion Should Not Be Barred Under Rule 9

Explanation and Instructions—Read Carefully

(I) Rule 9. Delayed or Successive Motions

(a) Delayed motions. A motion for relief made pursuant to these rules may be dismissed if it appears that the government has been prejudiced in its ability to respond to the motion by delay in its filing unless the movant shows that it is based on grounds of which he could not have had knowledge by the exercise of reasonable diligence before the circumstances prejudicial to the government occurred.

(b) Successive motions. A second or successive motion may be dismissed if the judge finds that it fails to allege new or different grounds for relief and the prior determination was on the merits or, if new and different grounds are alleged, the judge finds that the failure of the movant to assert those grounds in a prior motion constituted an abuse of the procedure governed by these rules.

(II) Your motion to vacate, set aside, or correct sentence has been found to be subject to dismissal under Rule 9( ) for the following reason(s):

_____
_____

(III) This form has been sent so that you may explain why your motion contains the defect(s) noted in (II) above. It is required that you fill out this form and send it back to the court within _____ days. Failure to do so will result in the automatic dismissal of your motion.

(IV) When you have fully completed this form, the original and two copies must be mailed to the Clerk of the United States District Court whose address is _____

(V) This response must be legibly handwritten or typewritten, and signed by the movant under penalty of perjury. Any false statement of a material fact may serve as the basis for prosecution and conviction for perjury. All questions must be answered concisely in the proper space on the form.

(VI) Additional pages are not permitted except with respect to the facts which you rely upon in item 4 or 5 in the response. Any citation of authorities should be kept to an absolute minimum and is only appropriate if there has been a change in the law since the judgment you are attacking was rendered.

(VII) Respond to 4 or 5, not to both, unless (II) above indicates that you must answer both sections.

RESPONSE

1. Have you had the assistance of an attorney, other law-trained personnel, or writ writers since the conviction your motion is attacking was entered?

Yes ☐ No ☐

2. If you checked "yes" above, specify as precisely as you can the period(s) of time during which you received such assistance, up to and including the present.

3. Describe the nature of the assistance, including the names of those who rendered it to you.

4. If your motion is in jeopardy because of delay prejudicial to the government under rule 9(a), explain why you feel the delay has not been prejudicial and/or why the delay is excusable under the terms of 9(a). This should be done by relying upon FACTS, not your opinions or conclusions.

5. If your motion is in jeopardy under rule 9(b) because it asserts the same grounds as a previous motion, explain why you feel it deserves a reconsideration. If its fault under rule 9(b) is that it asserts new grounds which should have been included in a prior motion, explain why you are raising these grounds now rather than previously. Your explanation should rely on FACTS, not your opinions or conclusions.

I declare (or certify, verify, or state) under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on

RULES OF PROCEDURE FOR THE TRIAL OF MISDEMEANORS BEFORE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATES

---

ABROGATED.

Editor's note. — The Rules of Procedure for the Trial of Misdemeanors before United States Magistrates were abrogated, effective December 1, 1990, and were replaced by Rule 58 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The Report of the Judicial Conference Committee on Rules of Practice and Procedure provided in part: "Proposed new Rule 58 would replace the 'Rules of Procedure for the Trial of Misdemeanors before United States Magistrates' with a single rule of criminal procedure. Although the proposed rule would make a number of technical changes, no substantive change to the current procedures for the trial of misdemeanors is intended."

TITLE 28

CHAPTER 89.

DISTRICT COURTS; REMOVAL OF CASES FROM STATE COURTS

§ 1441. Actions removable generally.

(a) Except as otherwise expressly provided by Act of Congress, any civil action brought in a State court of which the district courts of the United States have original jurisdiction, may be removed by the defendant or the defendants, to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place where such action is pending. For purposes of removal under this chapter, the citizenship of defendants sued under fictitious names shall be disregarded.

(b) Any civil action of which the district courts have original jurisdiction founded on a claim or right arising under the Constitution treaties or laws of the United States shall be removable without regard to the citizenship or residence of the parties. Any other such action shall be removable only if none of the parties in interest properly joined and served as defendants is a citizen of the State in which such action is brought.

(c) Whenever a separate and independent claim or cause of action within the jurisdiction conferred by section 1331 of this title is joined with one or more otherwise non-removable claims or causes of action, the entire case may be removed and the district court may determine all issues therein, or, in its discretion, may remand all matters in which State law predominates.

(d) Any civil action brought in a State court against a foreign state as defined in section 1603(a) of this title may be removed by the foreign state to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place where such action is pending. Upon removal the action shall be tried by the court without jury. Where removal is based upon this subsection, the time limitations of section 1446(b) of this chapter may be enlarged at any time for cause shown.

(e) The court to which such civil action is removed is not precluded from hearing and determining any claim in such civil action because the State court from which such civil action is removed did not have jurisdiction over that claim. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 937; Oct. 21, 1976, Pub. L. 94-583, § 6, 90 Stat. 2898; June 19, 1986, Pub. L. 99-336, § 3(a), 100 Stat. 637; Nov. 19, 1988, Pub. L. 100-702, Title X, § 1016(a), 102 Stat. 4669; Dec. 1, 1990, Pub. L. 101-650, Title III, § 312, 104 Stat. 5114; Dec. 9, 1991, Pub. L. 102-198, § 4, 105 Stat. 1623.)

§ 1442. Federal officers sued or prosecuted.

(a) A civil action or criminal prosecution commenced in a State court against any of the following persons may be removed by them to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place wherein it is pending:

(1) Any officer of the United States or any agency thereof, or person acting under him, for any act under color of such office or on account of any right, title or authority claimed under any Act of Congress for the apprehension or punishment of criminals or the collection of the revenue.

(2) A property holder whose title is derived from any such officer, where such action or prosecution affects the validity of any law of the United States.

(3) Any officer of the courts of the United States, for any act under color of office or in the performance of his duties.

(4) Any officer of either House of Congress, for any act in the discharge of his official duty under an order of such House.

(b) A personal action commenced in any State court by an alien against any citizen of a State who is, or at the time the alleged action accrued was, a civil officer of the United States and is a nonresident of such State, wherein jurisdiction is obtained by the State court by personal service of process, may be removed by the defendant to the district court of the United States for the district and division in which the defendant was served with process. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 938.)

§ 1442a. Members of armed forces sued or prosecuted.

A civil or criminal prosecution in a court of a State of the United States against a member of the armed forces of the United States on account of an act done under color of his office or status, or in respect to which he claims any right, title, or authority under a law of the United States respecting the armed forces thereof, or under the law of war, may at any time before the trial or final hearing thereof be removed for trial into the district court of the United States for the district where it is pending in the manner prescribed by law, and it shall thereupon be entered on the docket of the district court, which shall proceed as if the cause had been originally commenced therein and shall have full power to hear and determine the cause. (Added Aug. 10, 1956, ch. 1041, § 19 (a), 70A Stat. 626.)

§ 1443. Civil rights cases.

Any of the following civil actions or criminal prosecutions, commenced in a State court may be removed by the defendant to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place wherein it is pending:

(1) Against any person who is denied or cannot enforce in the courts of such State a right under any law providing for the equal civil rights of citizens of the United States, or of all persons within the jurisdiction thereof;

(2) For any act under color of authority derived from any law providing for equal rights, or for refusing to do any act on the ground that it would be inconsistent with such law. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 938.)

§ 1444. Foreclosure action against United States.

Any action brought under section 2410 of this title against the United States in any State court may be removed by the United States to the district court of the United States for the district and division in which the action is pending. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 938; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 82, 63 Stat. 101.)

§ 1445. Nonremovable actions.

(a) A civil action in any State court against a railroad or its receivers or trustees, arising under sections 51 to 60 of Title 45, may not be removed to any district court of the United States.

(b) A civil action in any State court against a common carrier or its receivers or trustees to recover damages for delay, loss, or injury of shipments, arising under section 11707 of Title 49, may not be removed to any district court of the United States unless the matter in controversy exceeds $10,000, exclusive of interest and costs.

(c) A civil action in any State court arising under the workmen's compensation laws of such State may not be removed to any district court of the United States.

(d) A civil action in any State court arising under section 40302 of the Violence Against Women Act of 1994 may not be removed to any district court of the United States. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 939; July 25, 1958, Pub. L. 85-554, § 5, 72 Stat. 415; Oct. 17, 1978, Pub. L. 95-473, § 2(a)(3)(A), 92 Stat. 1465; Oct. 20, 1978, Pub. L. 95-486, § 9(b), 92 Stat. 1634; Sept. 13, 1994, Pub. L. 103-322, Title IV, § 40302(e)(5), 108 Stat. 1942.)

§ 1446. Procedure for removal.

(a) A defendant or defendants desiring to remove any civil action or criminal prosecution from a State court shall file in the district court of the United States for the district and division within which such action is pending a notice of removal signed pursuant to Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and containing a short and plain statement of the grounds for removal, together with a copy of all process, pleadings, and orders served upon such defendant or defendants in such action.

(b) The notice of removal of a civil action or proceeding shall be filed within thirty days after the receipt by the defendant, through service or otherwise, of a copy of the initial pleading setting forth the claim for relief upon which such action or proceeding is based, or within thirty days after the service of summons upon the defendant if such initial pleading has then been filed in court and is not required to be served on the defendant, whichever period is shorter.

If the case stated by the initial pleading is not removable, a notice of removal may be filed within thirty days after receipt by the defendant, through service or otherwise, of a copy of an amended pleading, motion, order or other paper from which it may first be ascertained that the case is one which is or has become removable, except that a case may not be removed on the basis of jurisdiction conferred by section 1332 of this title more than 1 year after commencement of the action.

(c)(1) A notice of removal of a criminal prosecution shall be filed not later than thirty days after the arraignment in the State court, or at any time before trial, whichever is earlier, except that for good cause shown the United States district court may enter an order granting the petitioner leave to file the notice at a later time.

(2) A notice of removal of a criminal prosecution shall include all grounds for such removal. A failure to state grounds which exist at the time of the filing of the notice shall constitute a waiver of such grounds, and a second notice may be filed only on grounds not existing at the time of the original notice. For good cause shown, the United States district court may grant relief from the limitations of this paragraph.

(3) The filing of a notice of removal of a criminal prosecution shall not prevent the State court in which such prosecution is pending from proceeding further, except that a judgment of conviction shall not be entered unless the prosecution is first remanded.

(4) The United States district court in which such notice is filed shall examine the notice promptly. If it clearly appears on the face of the notice and any exhibits annexed thereto that removal should not be permitted, the court shall make an order for summary remand.

(5) If the United States district court does not order the summary remand of such prosecution, it shall order an evidentiary hearing to be held promptly and after such hearing shall make such disposition of the prosecution as justice shall require. If the United States district court determines that removal shall be permitted, it shall so notify the State court in which prosecution is pending, which shall proceed no further.

(d) Promptly after the filing of such notice of removal of a civil action the defendant or defendants shall give written notice thereof to all adverse parties and shall file a copy of the notice with the clerk of such State court, which shall effect the removal and the State court shall proceed no further unless and until the case is remanded.

(e) If the defendant or defendants are in actual custody on process issued by the State court, the district court shall issue its writ of habeas corpus, and the marshal shall thereupon take such defendant or defendants into his custody and deliver a copy of the writ to the clerk of such State court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 939; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 83, 63 Stat. 101; September 29, 1965, Pub. L. 89-215, 79 Stat. 887; July 30, 1977, Pub. L. 95-78, § 3, 91 Stat. 321; Nov. 19, 1988, Pub. L. 100-702, Title X, § 1016(b), 102 Stat. 4669; Dec. 9, 1991, Pub. L. 102-198, § 10(a), 105 Stat. 1626.)

§ 1447. Procedure after removal generally.

(a) In any case removed from a State court, the district court may issue all necessary orders and process to bring before it all proper parties whether served by process issued by the State court or otherwise.

(b) It may require the removing party to file with its clerk copies of all records and proceedings in such State court or may cause the same to be brought before it by writ of certiorari issued to such State court.

(c) A motion to remand the case on the basis of any defect in removal procedure must be made within 30 days after the filing of the notice of removal under section 1446(a). If at any time before final judgment it appears that the district court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, the case shall be remanded. An order remanding the case may require payment of just costs and any actual expenses, including attorney fees, incurred as a result of the removal. A certified copy of the order of remand shall be mailed by the clerk to the clerk of the State court. The State court may thereupon proceed with such case.

(d) An order remanding a case to the State court from which it was removed is not reviewable on appeal or otherwise, except that an order remanding a case to the State court from which it was removed pursuant to section 1443 of this title shall be reviewable by appeal or otherwise.

(e) If after removal the plaintiff seeks to join additional defendants whose joinder would destroy subject matter jurisdiction, the court may deny joinder, or permit joinder and remand the action to the State court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 61 Stat. 939; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 84, 63 Stat. 102; July 2, 1964, Pub. L. 88-352, Title IX, § 901, 78 Stat. 266; Nov. 19, 1988, Pub. L. 100-702, Title X, § 1016(c), 102 Stat. 4670; Dec. 9, 1991, Pub. L. 102-198, § 10(b), 105 Stat. 1626.)

§ 1448. Process after removal.

In all cases removed from any State court to any district court of the United States in which any one or more of the defendants has not been served with process or in which the service has not been perfected prior to removal, or in which process served proves to be defective, such process or service may be completed or new process issued in the same manner as in cases originally filed in such district court.

This section shall not deprive any defendant upon whom process is served after removal of his right to move to remand the case. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 940.)

§ 1449. State court record supplied.

Where a party is entitled to copies of the records and proceedings in any suit or prosecution in a State court, to be used in any district court of the United States, and the clerk of such State court, upon demand, and the payment or tender of the legal fees, fails to deliver certified copies, the district court may, on affidavit reciting such facts, direct such record to be supplied by affidavit or otherwise. Thereupon such proceedings, trial, and judgment may be had in such district court, and all such process awarded, as if certified copies had been filed in the district court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 940; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 85, 63 Stat. 102.)

§ 1450. Attachment or sequestration; Securities.

Whenever any action is removed from a State court to a district court of the United States, any attachment or sequestration of the goods or estate of the defendant in such action in the State court shall hold the goods or estate to answer the final judgment or decree in the same manner as they would have been held to answer final judgment or decree had it been rendered by the State court.

All bonds, undertakings, or security given by either party in such action prior to its removal shall remain valid and effectual notwithstanding such removal.

All injunctions, orders, and other proceedings had in such action prior to its removal shall remain in full force and effect until dissolved or modified by the district court. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 940.)

§ 1451. Definitions.

For purposes of this chapter—

(1) The term "State court" includes the Superior Court of the District of Columbia.

(2) The term "State" includes the District of Columbia. (July 29, 1970, Pub. L. 91-358, Title I, § 172(d)(1), 84 Stat. 591.)

§ 1452. Removal of claims related to bankruptcy cases.

(a) A party may remove any claim or cause of action in a civil action other than a proceeding before the United States Tax Court or a civil action by a governmental unit to enforce such governmental unit's police or regulatory power, to the district court for the district where such civil action is pending, if such district court has jurisdiction of such claim or cause of action under section 1334 of this title.

(b) The court to which such claim or cause of action is removed may remand such claim or cause of action on any equitable ground. An order entered under this subsection remanding a claim or cause of action, or a decision to not remand, is not reviewable by appeal or otherwise by the court of appeals under section 158(d), 1291, or 1292 of this title or by the Supreme Court of the United States under section 1254 of this title. (Added Pub. L. 98-353, Title I, § 103(a), July 10, 1984, 98 Stat. 335, and amended Pub. L. 101-650, Title III, § 309(c), Dec. 1, 1990, 104 Stat. 5113.)

FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Rule 81(c). Applicability in general; Removed actions.

(c) Removed actions.

These rules apply to civil actions removed to the United States district courts from the state courts and govern procedure after removal. Repleading is not necessary unless the court so orders. In a removed action in which the defendant has not answered, the defendant shall answer or present the other defenses or objections available under these rules within 20 days after the receipt through service or otherwise of a copy of the initial pleading setting forth the claim for relief upon which the action or proceeding is based, or within 20 days after the service of summons upon such initial pleading, then filed, or within 5 days after the filing of the petition for removal, whichever period is longest. If at the time of removal all necessary pleadings have been served, a party entitled to trial by jury under Rule 38 shall be accorded it, if the party's demand therefor is served within 10 days after the petition for removal is filed if the party is the petitioner, or if not the petitioner within 10 days after service on the party of the notice of filing the petition. A party who, prior to removal, has made an express demand for trial by jury in accordance with state law, need not make a demand after removal. If state law applicable in the court from which the case is removed does not require the parties to make express demands in order to claim trial by jury, they need not make demands after removal unless the court directs that they do so within a specified time if they desire to claim trial by jury. The court may make this direction on its own motion and shall do so as a matter of course at the request of any party. The failure of a party to make demand as directed constitutes a waiver by that party of trial by jury. (Amended March 2, 1987, effective August 1, 1987.)

TITLE 28

CHAPTER 115. EVIDENCE; DOCUMENTARY

§ 1738. State and territorial statutes and judicial proceedings; Full faith and credit.

The Acts of the legislature of any State, Territory, or Possession of the United States, or copies thereof, shall be authenticated by affixing the seal of such State, Territory or Possession thereto.

The records and judicial proceedings of any court of any such State, Territory or Possession, or copies thereof, shall be proved or admitted in other courts within the United States and its Territories and Possessions by the attestation of the clerk and seal of the court annexed, if a seal exists, together with a certificate of a judge of the court that the said attestation is in proper form.

Such Acts, records and judicial proceedings or copies thereof, so authenticated, shall have the same full faith and credit in every court within the United States and its Territories and Possessions as they have by law or usage in the courts of such State, Territory or Possession from which they are taken. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 947.)

§ 1738A. Full faith and credit given to child custody determinations.

(a) The appropriate authorities of every State shall enforce according to its terms, and shall not modify except as provided in subsection (f) of this section, any child custody determination made consistently with the provisions of this section by a court of another State.

(b) As used in this section, the term —

(1) “child” means a person under the age of eighteen;

(2) “contestant” means a person, including a parent, who claims a right to custody or visitation of a child;

(3) “custody determination” means a judgment, decree, or other order of a court providing for the custody or visitation of a child, and includes permanent and temporary orders, and initial orders and modifications;

(4) "home State" means the State in which, immediately preceding the time involved, the child lived with his parents, a parent, or a person acting as parent, for at least six consecutive months, and in the case of a child less than six months old, the State in which the child lived from birth with any of such persons. Periods of temporary absence of any of such persons are counted as part of the six-month or other period;

(5) "modification" and "modify" refer to a custody determination which modifies, replaces, supersedes, or otherwise is made subsequent to, a prior custody determination concerning the same child, whether made by the same court or not;

(6) "person acting as a parent" means a person, other than a parent, who has physical custody of a child and who has either been awarded custody by a court or claims a right to custody;

(7) "physical custody" means actual possession and control of a child; and

(8) "State" means a State of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or a territory or possession of the United States.

(c) A child custody determination made by a court of a State is consistent with the provisions of this section only if —

(1) such court has jurisdiction under the law of such State; and

(2) one of the following conditions is met:

(A) such State (i) is the home State of the child on the date of the commencement of the proceeding, or (ii) had been the child's home State within six months before the date of the commencement of the proceeding and the child is absent from such State because of his removal or retention by a contestant or for other reasons, and a contestant continues to live in such State;

(B) (i) it appears that no other State would have jurisdiction under subparagraph (A), and (ii) it is in the best interest of the child that a court of such State assume jurisdiction because (I) the child and his parents, or the child and at least one contestant, have a significant connection with such State other than mere physical presence in such State, and (II) there is available in such State substantial evidence concerning the child's present or future care, protection, training, and personal relationships;

(C) the child is physically present in such State and (i) the child has been abandoned, or (ii) it is necessary in an emergency to protect the Child because he has been subjected to or threatened with mistreatment or abuse;

(D) (i) it appears that no other State would have jurisdiction under subparagraph (A), (B), (C), or (E), or another State has declined to exercise jurisdiction on the ground that the State whose jurisdiction is in issue is the more appropriate forum to determine the custody of the child, and (ii) it is in the best interest of the child that such court assume jurisdiction; or

(E) the court has continuing jurisdiction pursuant to subsection (d) of this section.

(d) The jurisdiction of a court of a State which has made a child custody determination consistently with the provisions of this section continues as long as the requirement of subsection (c)(1) of this section continues to be met and such State remains the residence of the child or of any contestant.

(e) Before a child custody determination is made, reasonable notice and opportunity to be heard shall be given to the contestants, any parent whose parental rights have not been previously terminated and any person who has physical custody of a child.

(f) A court of a State may modify a determination of the custody of the same child made by a court of another State, if —

(1) it has jurisdiction to make such a child custody determination; and

(2) the court of the other State no longer has jurisdiction, or it has declined to exercise such jurisdiction to modify such determination.

(g) A court of a State shall not exercise jurisdiction in any proceeding for a custody determination commenced during the pendency of a proceeding in a court of another State where such court of that other State is exercising jurisdiction consistently with the provisions of this section to make a custody determination. (Dec. 28, 1980, Pub. L. 96-611, § 8(a), 94 Stat. 3569.)

§ 1739. State and territorial nonjudicial records; full faith and credit.

All nonjudicial records or books kept in any public office of any State, Territory, or Possession of the United States, or copies thereof, shall be proved or admitted in any court or office in any other State, Territory, or Possession by the attestation of the custodian of such records or books, and the seal of his office annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of a judge of a court of record of the county, parish, or district in which such office may be kept, or of the Governor, or secretary of state, the chancellor or keeper of the great seal, of the State, Territory, or Possession that the said attestation is in due form and by the proper officers.

If the certificate is given by a judge, it shall be further authenticated by the clerk or prothonotary of the court, who shall certify, under his hand and the seal of his office, that such judge is duly commissioned and qualified; or, if given by such Governor, secretary, chancellor, or keeper of the great seal, it shall be under the great seal of the State, Territory, or Possession in which it is made.

Such records or books, or copies thereof, so authenticated, shall have the same full faith and credit in every court and office within the United States and its Territories and Possessions as they have by law or usage in the courts or offices of the State, Territory, or Possession from which they are taken. (June 25, 1948, c. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 947.)

§ 1740. Copies of consular papers.

Copies of all official documents and papers in the office of any consul or vice consul of the United States, and of all official entries in the books or records of any such office, authenticated by the consul or vice consul, shall be admissible equally with the originals. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 947.)

§ 1741. Foreign official documents.

An official record or document of a foreign country may be evidenced by a copy, summary, or excerpt authenticated as provided in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. (June 25, 1948, ch. 646, § 1, 62 Stat. 948; May 24, 1949, ch. 139, § 92 (b), 63 Stat. 103; Oct. 3, 1964, Pub. L. 88-619, § 5 (a), 78 Stat. 996.)

FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Rule 44. Proof of official record.

(a) Authentication.

(1) Domestic. An official record kept within the United States, or any state, district, or commonwealth, or within a territory subject to the administrative or judicial jurisdiction of the United States, or an entry therein, when admissible for any purpose, may be evidenced by an official publication thereof or by a copy attested by the officer having the legal custody of the record, or by the officer's deputy, and accompanied by a certificate that such officer has the custody. The certificate may be made by a judge of a court of record of the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of the court, or may be made by any public officer having a seal of office and having official duties in the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of the officer's office.

(2) Foreign. A foreign official record, or an entry therein, when admissible for any purpose, may be evidenced by an official publication thereof; or a copy thereof, attested by a person authorized to make the attestation, and accompanied by a final certification as to the genuineness of the signature and official position (i) of the attesting person, or (ii) of any foreign official whose certificate of genuineness of signature and official position relates to the attestation or is in a chain of certificates of genuineness of signature and official position relating to the attestation. A final certification may be made by a secretary of embassy or legation, consul general, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States, or a diplomatic or consular official of the foreign country assigned or accredited to the United States. If reasonable opportunity has been given to all parties to investigate the authenticity and accuracy of the documents, the court may, for good cause shown, (i) admit an attested copy without final certification or (ii) permit the foreign official record to be evidenced by an attested summary with or without a final certification. The final certification is unnecessary if the record and the attestation are certified as provided in a treaty or convention to which the United States and the foreign country in which the official record is located are parties.

(b) Lack of record.

A written statement that after diligent search no record or entry of a specified tenor is found to exist in the records designated by the statement, authenticated as provided in subdivision (a) (1) of this rule in the case of a domestic record, or complying with the requirements of subdivision (a) (2) of this rule for a summary in the case of a foreign record, is admissible as evidence that the records contain no such record or entry.

(c) Other proof.

This rule does not prevent the proof of official records or of entry or lack of entry therein by any other method authorized by law.

ARTICLE I. EXTRADITION GENERALLY

Extradition is the procedure by which a person who committed a crime in one state (or escaped from prison or violated probation or parole) and fled to another state is returned to the first state. This introductory section of the Extradition Manual seeks to give the reader an overview of the extradition process. For those with a limited role, such as the arresting officer or the magistrate, this general description should help them understand how their actions fit in the overall process. More specific instructions for the different stages in the extradition process appear in other sections of the manual.

To begin, consider the case of a person who committed a crime — say, armed robbery — in another state, Ohio, and fled to North Carolina. Probably he is already formally charged in Ohio, either by indictment or by the issuance of an arrest warrant there. When his presence in North Carolina is discovered, he may be arrested by a North Carolina officer, either with or without an arrest warrant from a North Carolina magistrate.

An arrest without a warrant, which is the less common practice, may be made only if the crime committed in Ohio is punishable there by more than one year's imprisonment. After arresting without a warrant, the officer must take the defendant before a North Carolina magistrate without unnecessary delay for issuance of a magistrate's order (see AOC-CR-909M in this manual's Forms section), just as he would do if he were arresting for a crime committed in this state. The magistrate determines whether the person is charged in Ohio with armed robbery, whether armed robbery is punishable by more than a year's imprisonment in Ohio, and whether the person fled from Ohio. The magistrate is not determining whether there is probable cause to believe the person committed the armed robbery — only whether he is so charged in Ohio. If the magistrate finds that such is the case, he puts the defendant under bail as he would someone charged with a North Carolina crime, but bail may not be allowed if the crime is punishable by either death or life imprisonment.

More likely, the officer will go to a magistrate to obtain a North Carolina arrest warrant, called a fugitive warrant (see AOC-CR-901M in this manual's Forms section), before making the arrest. In that case, it is not necessary that the crime be punishable by more than one year's imprisonment; a warrant may be issued if the defendant has been charged with any crime in another state. Once the fugitive warrant is issued, the officer is to make the arrest and take the defendant before the magistrate without unnecessary delay for the setting of bail, just as he would for a North Carolina crime.

Usually, the basis for determining that the defendant has been charged with a crime in another state is a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) message on the Police Information Network (PIN) terminal. Such a message by itself is a sufficient basis for the magistrate to find that the fugitive is charged in the other state. Although a message is not supposed to appear in the NCIC files unless the warrant is still outstanding and the other state intends to extradite, the officer may want to confirm the NCIC report with someone in the other state before making an arrest.

Sometimes the officer's information that a person is a fugitive may come from another source, such as a telephone call, telegram, or letter from an officer in another state. Such information may be used to determine whether the defendant is charged in the other state. In cases like these, and in cases in which an NCIC message is used, the other state should be asked to send a copy of the warrant or indictment as soon as possible so that it can be attached to the North Carolina warrant.

EXTRADITION

Another possibility, though unusual, is that the person has not yet been formally charged in the other state. For example, a person may have robbed a convenience store in Virginia late at night and fled to North Carolina but no warrant was issued because no judicial official was on duty in Virginia. The statutes allow North Carolina officers to arrest fugitives in such cases, but only after a North Carolina warrant has been issued; and that warrant may be issued only after the magistrate has made the same kind of finding of probable cause he would have to make if the crime had occurred in North Carolina. That is, the magistrate must find probable cause that the defendant committed the crime in Virginia. The most likely basis for that probable cause will be information relayed by Virginia officers through North Carolina officers. Once the warrant has been issued, the officer proceeds the same as in other fugitive cases mentioned above.

It may also be that the fugitive has already been convicted in the other state and has escaped or has fled in violation of the conditions of his probation or parole. In such cases the magistrate simply determines that the fugitive was convicted and fled. The procedures are otherwise the same as for the person who has not yet been tried in the other state.

Once arrested, the fugitive is held until formal extradition procedures can take place. If he wishes to do so, he may waive extradition before a clerk of court or a judge and be immediately released to the state from which he fled. Many fugitives choose to do this, knowing that they will be extradited and not wishing to spend the time required for formal extradition. The waiver must be in writing (see AOC-CR-912M in this manual's Forms section).

If the fugitive does not waive extradition, the state from which he fled then must formally request the Governor of North Carolina to extradite. The request will come from the governor of the other state, on the basis of information supplied by the prosecutor in the county where the crime was committed. The extradition request to North Carolina includes a copy of the warrant or indictment against the fugitive, plus other papers establishing all the requirements of the formal extradition process. These papers are sent by the Governor's Extradition Secretary to the North Carolina Attorney General's office, which determines whether they are legally sufficient to justify extradition through issuance of a Governor's Warrant. The only questions the Governor of North Carolina asks in deciding whether to extradite are whether the fugitive is actually charged with a crime in another state and whether the person arrested in North Carolina is the fugitive. The Governor's office does not attempt to determine whether there was probable cause for the charge; that is considered a matter between the other state and the fugitive — just like other defenses he might raise, such as self-defense or alibi. The magistrate and the district court judge should notify the fugitive that he may question the legal sufficiency of the papers submitted by the other state to the Governor's office. The fugitive does this by sending a written request to the Governor's office outlining the basis of his challenge. If the Governor determines that the fugitive should be heard on this matter, he will direct that the Attorney General's office hold a hearing.

If the Governor's office is satisfied, either with or without a hearing, that the other state has met the requirements of extradition, a Governor's Warrant is issued. This paper authorizes the taking of the fugitive into custody — in fact, he may already be in custody if he was not allowed bail or could not make bail — to be turned over to an agent of the other state. If he was released on bail, he is to be picked up and his bail revoked pursuant to the Governor's Warrant. Before he is turned over, the fugitive must be taken before a judge to be informed that he has the right to challenge the legality of his arrest through habeas corpus proceedings and to have counsel appointed for that purpose if he cannot afford a lawyer. The habeas corpus proceeding is held in North Carolina; the only grounds for challenging the arrest under the Governor's Warrant are that (1) the person has not been charged with a crime in the other state, or (2) he is not the person being sought. If the fugitive does not try to obtain a writ of habeas corpus or if he tries and fails, he is turned over to the agents from the other state. (The Governor may recall the Governor's Warrant at his discretion, and he occasionally does so when new facts arise after the Warrant was issued. He then may reissue the Warrant if circumstances so indicate.)

If a person who committed a crime in North Carolina flees to another state and is found there, essentially the same procedure takes place. A North Carolina fugitive may be extradited from another state if he committed any crime in this state, whether a felony or a misdemeanor. But the State pays the expenses of extradition only if the crime is a felony, escape (felony or misdemeanor), or a violation of probation or parole (felony or misdemeanor). The county pays for all other misdemeanors, and some other states are reluctant to extradite for minor crimes.

Once the fugitive is arrested in the other state, the North Carolina district attorney of the county where the fugitive is charged is notified and must put together the documents that the North Carolina Governor's office will need in requesting extradition (assuming that the fugitive does not waive extradition). These documents include copies of the arrest warrant with supporting affidavit or indictment, a statement that the extradition is not sought to enforce a private claim, certain further information about the circumstances of the crime, and certifications that the documents are all true copies. Some states require further information, such as photographs, fingerprints, or a physical description. The Governor's Extradition Secretary reviews the materials to be sure they comply with the requirements of the other state and then formally requests extradition from that state. Once extradition is granted, the Governor commissions one or more North Carolina officers named by the district attorney of the judicial district from which the fugitive fled to bring him back.

The procedures for extradition are essentially the same in all the states. Nearly all states, including North Carolina, have passed the Uniform Criminal Extradition Act, and the others have statutes similar to the uniform act. But extradition practice may vary somewhat from state to state. For example, many states will not extradite for misdemeanors. The North Carolina Governor's office knows the peculiar requirements of other states and tries to review all documents to be certain they will satisfy the recipient state.

ARTICLE II. FUGITIVE FROM NORTH CAROLINA FOUND IN ANOTHER STATE

PART 1. CRIMES SUBJECT TO EXTRADITION

Any person who is charged with a crime in North Carolina and flees to another state may be extradited to North Carolina to stand trial. (Also subject to extradition are those persons who have been convicted in North Carolina and have escaped or have violated the conditions of probation or parole). But G.S. 15A-744 provides that the State of North Carolina is to pay the expenses of extradition only when the fugitive is charged with a felony or has violated the conditions of probation or parole (whether felony or misdemeanor). (The State will also pay the expenses of extraditing a person who has escaped, whether the escape is a felony or misdemeanor.) Thus a fugitive charged with a misdemeanor may be extradited, but in most cases the costs of that procedure (the greatest expense is sending an agent to bring the fugitive back) must be paid by the county where the crime was committed. For that reason extradition should never be initiated against someone charged with a misdemeanor unless there is some assurance that the county commissioners will pay the costs.

The National Association of Extradition Officials recommends the policies set out below on extradition for certain offenses. The law allows extradition for each of the offenses mentioned, but the Governor's office agrees with the recommended policies and expects all law enforcement officers and district attorneys to follow them.

Nonsupport. For abandonment and nonsupport, bastardy, and all similar offenses, action should first be taken under Chapter 52A of the General Statutes, the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act (URESA). Only if that procedure has failed should extradition be requested. If the URESA procedure has not been used, the extradition request should include an affidavit from the district attorney or the appropriate law enforcement officer explaining fully the reason for not using URESA.

Child custody. Before seeking extradition for a violation of G.S. 14-320.1 (transporting a child out of state to violate custody order) the District Attorney should require the legal custodian of the child to pursue all available civil remedies. If there is a competing child custody order in another state, extradition will not be requested by the Governor's office.

Worthless checks. Extradition should not be sought for violations of G.S. 14-107, writing worthless checks, unless the check or aggregate checks total more than $100 or the defendant is a chronic violator. These limitations do not apply if the charge under G.S. 14-107 is for writing a check on a nonexistent account or on a closed account. Nor is there any limit on extradition for forgery and similar offenses.

Removing mortgaged property. Only in exceptional circumstances should extradition be sought for violations of G.S. 14-114 (fraudulent disposal of personal property on which there is a security interest), G.S. 14-115 (secreting property to hinder enforcement of lien or security interest), or similar statutes. The amount of money involved in such a case does not alter the policy. Generally these problems should be handled as civil matters, especially if the defendant has made regular payments on the merchandise and now owes only a small balance. But if the defendant purchased a vehicle or other merchandise and immediately left North Carolina, making no payments whatsoever, there would seem to be an intent to defraud and extradition may be sought.

Rental property. If a person fails to return rented property, such as an automobile, and the car has been found, there would appear to be no intent to steal and this matter should be handled civilly rather than through extradition. But if the person immediately leaves North Carolina for parts unknown with rented property, larceny is probably the proper charge and extradition is appropriate. Generally, extradition should be sought if the facts show an intent to deprive the owner of the property permanently and thus support a charge of larceny; but it should not be sought if the facts support only a charge like G.S. 14-72.2, unauthorized use of conveyance (unless the conveyance is an aircraft, in which case the offense is a felony).

EXTRADITION

PART 2. FLOW CHART OF PROCEEDINGS

PART 3. DUTIES OF THE LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER

A. Review the evidence in the case. When notified that the fugitive has been taken into custody in the other state and refuses to waive extradition, you as the officer should first review the evidence in the case to be certain that extradition is appropriate and that a prosecution might succeed. Review the section of this manual entitled Crimes Subject to Extradition. If the crime is appropriate for extradition, consider whether the witnesses need to be interviewed again. Determine whether the witnesses are likely to change their testimony, whether any of them has already received restitution, whether they are willing to testify in court, and whether they can identify the fugitive by a photograph or other means. If witnesses or officers have submitted affidavits in the case, review these and determine whether they support or contradict the other information in the case. Also review all investigative reports.

B. Obtain a warrant if necessary. If, for some reason, the fugitive has not yet been charged in an arrest warrant or an indictment, relate the facts in the case to a magistrate so that an arrest warrant may be issued (unless you know that the district attorney would prefer to submit a bill of indictment). Five copies of the warrant will be needed eventually, so ask the magistrate for five copies, each one signed separately. If a warrant or indictment has already been issued (which is usually the case), have a copy available for reference when you talk with the district attorney. If the charging document is a warrant rather than an indictment, it must be accompanied by an affidavit (usually by the investigating officer or victim) that states the basis for issuing the warrant. This affidavit must be sworn to before a magistrate or judge and should have the same date as the warrant (or earlier). Some states will not extradite if the date of the affidavit (for example, January 25, 1987) is later than the date that the arrest warrant was issued (for example, January 20, 1987). Therefore, when a warrant was issued without an accompanying affidavit (oral sworn testimony is sufficient to support an arrest warrant in North Carolina), a new arrest warrant must be issued when the affidavit is prepared so that the dates of the arrest warrant and the affidavit will be the same.

C. Check the fugitive's criminal record. Check the fugitive's criminal record and have a copy of it with you when you talk with the district attorney.

D. Meet with the district attorney. Bring to this meeting with the district attorney or assistant district attorney all the information and documents discussed above. Be candid about any problems you foresee with witnesses or with the methods of investigation in the case and any other factor that might affect the outcome of the case. At this meeting the district attorney should decide whether to proceed with extradition. Usually an assistant district attorney will then take responsibility for preparing the proper papers, but he may well ask your help. If he does, review the section of this manual entitled Checklist of Documents Needed for an Extradition Request.

PART 4. DUTIES OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

A. Decide whether to seek extradition. After a law enforcement officer has been notified that a fugitive from North Carolina is in custody in another state and refuses to waive extradition, he should come to you with the relevant information (see the section of this manual on Duties of the Law Enforcement Officer). You must decide whether extradition should be sought. First, review the section of this manual entitled Crimes Subject to Extradition. If you are satisfied that extradition is appropriate for the kind of offense with which the fugitive has been charged, next consider the following factors:

- The seriousness of the offense.
- The evidence available to prove the crime.

—The challenges that might be mounted against the evidence or the methods of investigation.

—The defendant's character, including prior convictions.

—The probability that the defendant will commit similar crimes elsewhere.

—The probable length of time the defendant will be imprisoned if he is returned to North Carolina and convicted and the effect of that imprisonment on his conduct after he is released.

—The probability that the governor of the other state will grant extradition.

—The cost of having the defendant returned to North Carolina.

—The effect of not extraditing on others in the community who might consider committing similar crimes.

B. Prepare the proper papers for extradition. A separate section of this manual lists the documents that must be submitted to the Extradition Secretary in the Governor's office. An assistant district attorney or administrative assistant may prepare those documents, and a law enforcement officer may assist. The application for requisition may be signed by the district attorney or an assistant. If the fugitive has not yet been charged in North Carolina in an arrest warrant or indictment, the next step is to have such process issued. Although an arrest warrant is sufficient, usually the proceedings in the other state go faster when an indictment is used. For that reason an indictment should be sought if possible. If an arrest warrant is used, it must be accompanied by an affidavit (usually by the investigating officer or the victim) that states the grounds for charging the defendant. This affidavit must be sworn to before a magistrate or judge and should have the same date as the warrant (or earlier). Some states will not extradite if the date of the affidavit (for example, January 25, 1987) is later than the date of the arrest warrant (for example, January 20, 1987). Therefore, when a warrant was issued without an accompanying affidavit (oral sworn testimony is sufficient to support an arrest warrant in North Carolina), a new arrest warrant must be issued when the affidavit is prepared so that the dates of the arrest warrant and the affidavit will be the same.

C. Select the agents to go to the other state. The application for requisition is to include the names of the agents who will go to the other state to return the fugitive. It is best to have the investigating officers or other officers who are familiar with the case named as agents. It is required that an individual be named as an agent, and that person must have the option of naming someone else. For example, the appointment might read: "Sheriff W.C. Fain of Sampson County and/or his agent." The Governor's Extradition Office (and many states) requires that a female agent be named when the fugitive to be returned is a woman. Agents are expected to be ready at any time to travel to the other state when extradition has been granted by the other state or when a hearing is to be held there. The State does not pay travel expenses for a hearing unless the fugitive is returned on that trip.

PART 5. DUTIES OF THE CLERK OF COURT

The clerk of court has only a limited role in bringing a fugitive back to North Carolina. When the district attorney makes his request for extradition to the Governor of North Carolina (who will in turn make the same request to the governor of the state where the fugitive now is), he includes various documents, including a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment. Each document must be certified by the official who issued it or by the keeper of the original, the clerk of court. Also, the clerk must certify that the various other officials who certify the documents — the district attorney, magistrate, or judge — are indeed the officials they claim to be. In turn, a judge must certify that the clerk is indeed the clerk. A summary of the documents and certifications needed for the extradition request is included in the section of this manual entitled Checklist of Documents Needed for an Extradition Request. Otherwise, the clerk has no duties in connection with extradition of a North Carolina fugitive from another state.

PART 6. DUTIES OF THE AGENT SENT TO BRING THE FUGITIVE BACK

When the district attorney applies to the Governor of North Carolina to seek the extradition of a fugitive who is in another state, he names the law enforcement officers to be designated the Governor's agents for bringing the fugitive back. An officer who has been designated an agent should not go to the other state until he has been notified that the governor of that state has approved extradition and the authorities there are ready to hand over the fugitive. Also, when more than one agent is to make the trip, the North Carolina Extradition Secretary should be notified before they leave. Expenses will not be paid for any trip made before that notification (except possibly when the officer must attend a hearing before extradition is ordered).

Your commission as an agent of the Governor of North Carolina will be sent to the other state with the Governor's request for extradition and will be waiting for you there. When you return the fugitive to the North Carolina county where he is to be tried, the sheriff should complete the part of the commission form indicating that he has received the prisoner. You must complete the return portion of the commission and submit it to the Governor's office. If for some reason the fugitive could not be brought back, that fact must be stated on the return portion of the commission and an explanation given.

If the fugitive decided to waive extradition, the officer who brought the fugitive back must send a copy of that waiver to the Governor's office.

A copy of the form used for reimbursement of expenses appears in this manual's Forms section.

PART 7. CHECKLIST OF DOCUMENTS NEEDED FOR AN EXTRADITION REQUEST

Listed below are all the documents that might be needed when a request for extradition is sent to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. Usually an assistant district attorney is responsible for gathering the documents, though in some districts he may have substantial assistance from an administrative assistant, a law enforcement officer, or someone else. The list states when a document must be certified or signed by a particular person. Whoever gathers the documents should collect five complete sets, four to go to the Extradition Secretary and one to be retained in the district attorney's files.

When there is more than one charge, the person who prepares the request should base the request on the strongest charge. Once the fugitive is returned, he may be charged with any number of offenses. The fact that charges were not included in the request for extradition does not mean that they are waived.

Arrest warrant. Copies of the arrest warrant are needed if the fugitive has not yet been indicted. If he has been indicted, the arrest warrant is not needed; copies of the indictment will be used instead. The warrant or indictment should be reviewed to see that it properly charges the offense and cites the statute violated. Use of an indictment simplifies the process. An order for arrest is not sufficient by itself.

Affidavit supporting the warrant. When the charging document is an arrest warrant, it must be supported by an affidavit. The most likely person to write the affidavit is the investigating officer or the victim. The affidavit must state enough facts to establish probable cause for the issuance of the warrant. Also, to avoid questions in the other state concerning the authority of the official to issue the warrant, the affidavit must be sworn to before a magistrate or judge rather than a clerk. To show that the affidavit was the basis for issuing the warrant, the affidavit must have the same date as the warrant. Some states will not extradite if the date of the affidavit (for example, January 25, 1987) shows that it was issued after the date that arrest warrant was issued (for example, January 20, 1987). Therefore, when a warrant was issued without an accompanying affidavit (oral sworn testimony is sufficient to support an arrest warrant in North Carolina), a new arrest warrant must be issued so that the dates of the arrest warrant and the affidavit will be the same.

An affidavit is clearly not necessary when the charging document is an indictment, though a few other states prefer to have an affidavit then also.

Certification of documents. If a warrant and affidavit are submitted, they must be accompanied by a certification of the magistrate or judge who issued the warrant or took the affidavit. A clerk of court may certify copies of documents when he is the keeper of the original. Each copy must be certified.

Certifications of office. When a judge or magistrate certifies a document, the clerk of court must certify that person's official character. Then a district court or superior court judge must certify the official character of the clerk. And in turn the clerk must certify the official character of the judge who certified the clerk.

The indictment. If the fugitive has been indicted, the indictment should be submitted rather than the arrest warrant. The district attorney should make certain that the indictment properly charges the offense and has been signed by the foreman. He should also check to see that it cites the statute violated. The authenticity of each copy must be certified by the clerk of court, the official character of the clerk certified by the judge, and the official character of the judge certified by the clerk.

Application for a requisition. This form, included in this manual's Forms section, must be filled out in full. Note that it includes the following information:

- The fugitive's full name, properly spelled.
- A statement that in the district attorney's opinion the ends of public justice require that the fugitive be brought to North Carolina for trial.
- A statement that the district attorney believes that he has sufficient information to convict the fugitive.
- The names and addresses of the agents who are to bring the fugitive back to North Carolina from the other state and a statement that the persons recommended as agents are proper persons and have no private interest in the arrest or conviction of the fugitive.
- A statement whether there has been any earlier application for requisition of the same person for the same transaction, including the date of such request, and a statement of the reason for the present request if there was an earlier one.
- If the fugitive is under arrest in the other state, a statement that he is under arrest, the nature of the proceedings, and the place (with complete address) where he is in custody, if known. If the fugitive is out on bail, the date of his hearing should be stated. If the fugitive's home or business address is known, that should also be stated. The source of this information should be given.
- A statement that the application is not made for the purpose of enforcing the collection of a debt or for any private purpose whatever, and that if the requisition is granted, the criminal proceeding will not be used for any such purposes.
- A statement of the crime charged and the approximate time, date, places, and circumstances of its occurrence. This statement should include a citation to the statute violated.

—A statement that the person was in North Carolina when the crime was committed and has since fled. Or if the person committed an act in another state that intentionally resulted in the crime in North Carolina, that fact must be stated.

—If the crime did not occur recently, an explanation for the delay in making application.

The requisition form provides blanks for all this information or notes the need to include the information.

Certification of the district attorney. Again, the clerk must certify the official character of the district attorney who submits the application, and in turn the clerk must be certified by a judge, who must then be certified by the clerk. Note that only one such certification of official character per official is required, no matter how many documents that official has signed.

Special affidavits. In any case involving fraud, false pretense, embezzlement, or forgery, there must also be an affidavit of the principal complaining witness or informant that (a) the application is made in good faith for the sole purpose of criminal punishment, and (b) he does not desire or expect to use the prosecution for the purpose of collecting a debt or for any other private purpose, either directly or indirectly. If such an affidavit is not included, a good explanation for its absence must be given.

Photograph and fingerprints of the fugitive. Many states now require some identification of the fugitive. Therefore, a requisition request should be accompanied by fingerprints, a photograph, and/or a physical description. Although a photograph is not required, it can be very helpful in identification and should be included whenever possible. It should be accompanied by an affidavit to the effect that the person shown is the person charged with the crime. Nor are fingerprints required, but they should be provided for identification when available.

The statute. Copies of the statute the fugitive is charged with violating should be included.

PART 8. WHEN THE FUGITIVE HAS ESCAPED FROM CUSTODY OR VIOLATED PROBATION OR PAROLE

Extradition procedures are slightly different when the fugitive from North Carolina has already been convicted in this state and has escaped from custody or has left the state in violation of parole or probation conditions. A separate form (see this manual's Forms section) is used for requisition in these cases. The application is to be made by the district attorney or the sheriff if the person was in jail awaiting transfer to the Department of Correction or if he was out of jail pending appeal. If the person escaped from the Department of Correction's custody, the application is to be made by the Secretary of Correction or a properly designated official of the Department. For a fugitive who left the state in violation of probation conditions, the application may be made by the district attorney of the district where the person was serving probation (or it might be prepared for the district attorney's signature by the Division of Probation and Parole). If the person was on parole, the request may be made by either the district attorney or the Parole Commission. The application for requisition is to be accompanied by the following documents:

—The indictment (or the arrest warrant, if the person was tried on a warrant).

—The judgment of conviction and sentence on which the person was being held when he escaped.

—An affidavit of the officer from whose custody the person escaped, showing that an escape occurred and the circumstances of it.

—The record of escape, which includes the transcript and fingerprints.

Five copies of each document should be prepared; four are sent to the Governor's Extradition Secretary, and one is retained by the official who made the application. The clerk of court who holds the original must certify to the authenticity of the indictment (or warrant) and the judgment of conviction and sentence. The clerk must also certify the official character of the person who made the affidavit that describes the fugitive's escape. The official character of the clerk must be certified by a judge and vice versa.

PART 9. EXTRADITION OF MILITARY PERSONNEL

If extradition is requested for someone who is on active duty with the Air Force, Army, Marine Corps, or Navy, the application must be accompanied by an agreement by the appropriate authorities that:

—The fugitive's commanding officer will be informed of the outcome of any trial; and —If the military authorities desire his return, the fugitive will, if acquitted or when his sentence is completed, be returned to the military authorities at the place where he was taken into custody or taken to the nearest receiving ship, station, or barracks at the expense of the authority that seeks the requisition.

If the crime is a felony and the requisition is made through the Governor's office, this agreement will be prepared by the Governor's office and the State will pay the expenses. If the crime is a misdemeanor, so that the expenses of extradition are to be borne by the county, then the district attorney or other official who applies for the requisition must prepare and execute the agreement. The agreement may be in the form of a letter to the Secretary of the appropriate branch of the service, setting out the required promises. An example of such an agreement appears on the next page.

PART 10. OTHER SPECIAL CASES

Fugitives out of the United States. In cases of international extradition, the district attorney completes the same papers and sends his application to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. The Governor's office will process the request, add its endorsement, and send it to the Secretary of State in Washington.

Fugitives in United States possessions. If the fugitive is in a United States territory the district attorney completes the same papers and sends his application to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. The Governor's office will process the request, add its endorsement, and send it directly to the territorial governor.

Fugitives in the District of Columbia. If the fugitive is in the District of Columbia, the district attorney completes the same papers and sends his application to the Governor's Extradition Secretary. The Governor's office will process the request, add its endorsement, and send it to the Chief Judge of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. The District of Columbia has several special requirements for extradition. One requirement is that the fugitive must be identified by photograph or other description or by sending a witness who can identify him. The District of Columbia is also very strict in requiring a timely application; the application should not be delayed.

Renewal of the application. When an application must be renewed — for example, when the fugitive could not be found in the state from which requisition was first sought — new or recertified copies of the papers required for extradition must be furnished.

ARTICLE III. FUGITIVE FROM ANOTHER STATE FOUND IN NORTH CAROLINA

PART 1. DUTIES OF THE ARRESTING OFFICER

Section 1. Before an arrest is made.

A. Determine whether the person is a fugitive. The first thing the officer needs to know is whether the suspect is charged with a crime in another state (by warrant or indictment), or has escaped from imprisonment there (following a conviction), or has violated probation or parole by leaving that state. An officer usually learns that someone is a fugitive by receiving an NCIC message on the PIN terminal, less often by telephone, letter, or telegram from an officer in the other state. The PIN message by itself is sufficient to obtain a North Carolina arrest warrant for the fugitive, but the information should be verified by phone or otherwise if possible. As mentioned below, a copy of the other state's warrant or indictment should be obtained as soon as possible and attached to the North Carolina warrant.

B. Determine whether to arrest with or without a North Carolina warrant. If the fugitive has been formally charged with a crime in the other state and the crime is punishable in that state by death or imprisonment for more than one year, you may arrest him without a North Carolina warrant. Otherwise, an arrest may not be made until a North Carolina magistrate has issued a warrant. It is always preferable to obtain a warrant first if time allows.

Section 2. If the arrest is to be made without a warrant, follow these steps.

C. Arrest the fugitive. Follow the same procedure you use when arresting for a North Carolina crime. Tell the fugitive why he has been arrested.

D. Take the fugitive to a magistrate. This requirement is the same as when you arrest for a North Carolina crime.

E. Tell the magistrate the reason for the arrest. State why you believe the person has been charged with a crime in another state. If your reason is a PIN message or a letter or telegram, give that to the magistrate to be attached to the Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section). The magistrate is to determine only whether the person has been formally charged in the other state; he does not determine whether there is probable cause to believe the fugitive actually committed the crime. Is this case, since you arrested without a warrant, the magistrate must also determine that the crime is punishable by death or imprisonment for more than one year.

F. Take the fugitive to jail or release on bail as ordered by the magistrate. Unless the crime is punishable by death or life imprisonment, the magistrate may release a fugitive on bail just as if he were charged with a North Carolina crime.

G. Request a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. If this has not already been done, ask your contact in the other state for a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment charging the fugitive with the crime there. When the copy arrives, attach it to the Magistrate's Order (see AOC-CR-909M in this manual's Forms section).

EXTRADITION

Section 3. What happens when a fugitive from another state is found in North Carolina.

Section 4. If a warrant is to be obtained before you make the arrest, follow these steps instead.

C. Go to the magistrate and complete an affidavit for an arrest warrant. The Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section) contains instructions on what information is needed. Either you or the magistrate may fill out the form, but you must be certain it accurately reflects your information and you must sign it as the affiant.

D. Tell the magistrate your reasons for arresting the fugitive. If you have a PIN message, letter, telegram, or other written document showing that the fugitive has been charged with a crime in another state or has escaped from imprisonment there, show that document to the magistrate and help complete the affidavit. The magistrate is to determine only whether the fugitive has been charged with a crime in the other state or whether he has escaped from imprisonment or violated probation or parole. The magistrate is not trying to determine whether there was probable cause for the other state to make the charge. In this case it is not necessary to show what punishment the other state places on the crime.

E. Once the warrant is issued, arrest the fugitive. The warrant is executed the same as if the person were charged with a North Carolina crime. Tell the fugitive the reason for his arrest.

F. Take the fugitive to a magistrate. This is the same procedure you use when arresting with a warrant for a North Carolina crime. The magistrate is to decide whether to allow bail, except that bail is not allowed when the crime is punishable by death or life imprisonment.

G. Take the fugitive to jail or release on bail as ordered by the magistrate. The procedure is the same as when you arrest for a North Carolina crime.

H. Request a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. If this has not already been done, ask your contact in the other state for a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment charging the fugitive with the crime there. When the copy arrives, attach it to the arrest warrant issued in North Carolina.

Section 5. If the fugitive has not yet been charged in the other state.

The extradition statutes also allow you to arrest someone who has committed a crime in another state even if he has not yet been formally charged there. This situation should occur only rarely. It is most likely to happen when someone commits a crime in a neighboring state and immediately flees to North Carolina and you are contacted before a judicial official has been found in that other state to issue the warrant. Before making the arrest you must obtain a warrant for arrest from a magistrate. You may use a standard North Carolina arrest warrant form for this purpose, modifying it to allege (a) the name of the crime in the other state (without giving all the elements) and (b) the statute of the other state. Because the other state has not yet issued a warrant, you must show the magistrate probable cause to believe the fugitive committed the crime in the other state, just as if you were requesting a warrant to arrest for a crime committed in North Carolina. Your probable cause will be the information you received from the officers in the other state that links the person with the crime there. Once the arrest warrant is issued, proceed just as if it were a warrant charging a North Carolina crime. Ask the other state's officers for a copy of the warrant issued there when the defendant is charged in that state. When the copy arrives, attach it to the North Carolina arrest warrant.

PART 2. DUTIES OF THE MAGISTRATE

Section 1. If the officer comes to you before arresting the fugitive.

A. Determine whether there are grounds for an arrest. Place the officer under oath and ask his reasons for making an arrest. The three grounds that justify an arrest are (1) the person is charged with a crime in another state and fled, (2) he was convicted of a crime in another state and has escaped from imprisonment there, and (3) he was convicted of a crime in another state and violated the conditions of his probation or parole by fleeing. The officer's information must be reliable. Usually it will consist of a PIN message, but it could be a letter or telegram or phone call from an officer in the other state, or even a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. You are not to determine whether there is probable cause to believe the person committed the crime — only whether he is charged in the other state or has escaped and whether this is the person wanted by the other state.

B. Complete the affidavit and arrest warrant. It is necessary to complete both the Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section) and the Warrant for Arrest for Fugitive (see AOC-CR-910M in this manual's Forms section) and be certain that they are attached. Follow the usual procedure on the number of copies to be completed, sending the original to the clerk of court's office. Attach to the original the PIN message or any other document used to establish that the person is a fugitive. Remind the officer to obtain a copy of the arrest warrant or indictment in the other state as soon as possible and have it attached to the original copy of the warrant in the clerk's office.

Section 2. If the officer brings in the fugitive after arresting him without a warrant.

A. Determine whether the officer had adequate grounds for the arrest. Place the officer under oath and ask his reasons for making the arrest. An officer may arrest without a warrant only when the person has been charged with a crime in another state and that crime is punishable by death or by imprisonment for more than one year. The person might have been charged in the other state by the issuance of an arrest warrant there, by an indictment, or by information filed by a prosecutor in that state. You are to determine only whether the person has been charged in the other state, not whether there was probable cause for the charge. The officer's information that the person has been charged must be reliable. Usually it will be a PIN message, but it could be a letter, telegram, or telephone call from an officer in the other state. Sometimes the officer may even have a copy of the warrant or indictment from the other state. If his information is a PIN message, ask him whether he has phoned the other state to verify that the charge is still outstanding and they wish to extradite. This verification is not essential — the PIN message is sufficient justification for arresting the fugitive — but it is a highly recommended practice. Of course you must also determine that the person arrested is the person charged in the other state.

B. Complete a magistrate's order. Complete the Fugitive Affidavit (see AOC-CR-911M in this manual's Forms section) and the Magistrate's Order for Fugitive (see AOC-CR-909M in this manual's Forms section). Follow the usual procedure on the number of copies to be completed; the original goes to the clerk's office. Attach to the original the PIN message or other written document used to establish that the person is a fugitive. Remind the officer to obtain a copy of the other state's warrant or indictment as soon as possible and have it attached to the original copy of the magistrate's order in the clerk's office.

C. Inform the fugitive of the charges. Follow the same procedure you follow in any other case, informing the person of the charge against him, his right to communicate with counsel and friends, and whether he is entitled to bail. Also point out to him the information about his rights that appears on the reverse side of the magistrate's order form. You need not read all of that information to him, but at least tell him that he may ask the Governor's office for a hearing before the Governor grants extradition. The request must be in writing and must state the person's reasons for challenging his extradition.

D. Determine whether to allow bail. G.S. 15A-736 allows a fugitive to be given bail unless the offense with which he is charged in the other state is punishable by death or life imprisonment. Apparently the only form of pretrial release that may be used is a bail bond with sureties. The bail bond schedule given the magistrate by the senior resident superior court judge may include instructions on what bond to set for fugitives. Sometimes the same amount is required as for a similar North Carolina crime, and sometimes that amount is doubled or otherwise multiplied. If bail is not allowed, or if the defendant cannot meet the bail, he should be committed to the county jail. (Note: Bail is not allowed after a Governor's Warrant has been issued.)

E. Order the fugitive to appear in district court. Whether the fugitive is released on bond or cannot make bond or is ineligible for bail, the release or commitment order should direct that he appear before a district court judge at the earliest possible time. Although the statute does not require an immediate district court appearance for the fugitive who is released on bond, such an appearance will give the district judge an early opportunity to review the fugitive's bond, explain the extradition process, and appoint counsel if necessary. Fugitives often waive formal extradition once they are told about the process and have talked to a lawyer. If the chief district judge for your district prefers not to deal with the fugitive at this point, your release is on condition that the person either (a) return for a district court appearance at a specific time within 30 days or (b) surrender when a Governor's Warrant is issued. If the Governor's Warrant has not been issued by the time of that first district court appearance, the district judge can continue the case for additional 30-day periods.

Section 3. If the officer arrested the fugitive on the basis of a warrant and is now bringing him before you.

A. Inform the fugitive of the charges against him. The procedure is the same as if the person were charged with a North Carolina crime. He should be informed of the charge against him, the right to communicate with counsel and friends, and whether he is entitled to bail. Also point out to him the information about his rights that appears on the reverse side of the arrest warrant form. You need not read all of that information to the fugitive, but be sure to tell him that he may ask the Governor's office for a hearing before extradition is granted. The request must be in writing and must state the fugitive's reasons for challenging his extradition.

B. Determine whether to allow bail. G.S. 15A-736 allows bail for a fugitive unless the offense with which he is charged in the other state is punishable by death or life imprisonment. Apparently the only form of pretrial release that may be used is bail bond with sureties. The bail bond schedule given the magistrate by the senior resident superior court judge may include instructions on what bond to set for fugitives. Sometimes the same amount is required as for a similar North Carolina crime, and sometimes the amount is doubled or otherwise multiplied. If bail is not allowed, or if the defendant cannot meet the bail, he should be committed to the county jail. (Note: Bail is not allowed after a Governor's Warrant has been issued.)

C. Order the fugitive to appear in district court. Whether the fugitive is released on bond or cannot make bond or is ineligible for bail, the release or commitment order should direct that he appear before a district court judge at the earliest possible time. Although the statute does not require an immediate district court appearance for the fugitive who is released on bond, such an appearance will give the district judge an early opportunity to review the fugitive's bond, explain the extradition process, and appoint counsel if necessary. Fugitives often waive formal extradition once they are told about the process and have talked to a lawyer. If the chief district judge for your district prefers not to deal with the fugitive at this point, your release is on condition that the fugitive either return for a district court appearance at a specific time within 30 days or surrender when a Governor's Warrant is issued. If the Governor's Warrant has not been issued by the time of that first district court appearance, the district judge can continue the case for additional 30-day periods.

Section 4. If the fugitive has been arrested on a governor's warrant.

A. Inform the fugitive of the charges against him. Tell the fugitive what crime he is charged with in the other state (he was also given this information when he was first arrested in North Carolina) and that the Governor of North Carolina has issued a warrant for him to be taken into custody and returned to the state from which he fled. Also inform the fugitive of his right to communicate with counsel and friends. The Governor's Warrant requires that he be held without bond.

B. Commit the fugitive to jail. Commit the fugitive to jail to await his appearance before a district court judge.

C. Order the fugitive returned to district court at the earliest possible date. The order of commitment should specify the time and date that the fugitive is to appear before a district court judge, which should be as early as possible. At that time he will be informed of his right to apply for habeas corpus.

Section 5. When the fugitive has not yet been charged with a crime in the other state.

The extradition statutes also allow a fugitive to be arrested in North Carolina even though he has not yet been formally charged in the other state. This situation should occur only rarely. It is most likely to happen when the person commits a crime in a neighboring state and flees to North Carolina immediately, and then law enforcement officers in North Carolina are asked to arrest him before officers in the other state have found a judicial official to issue an arrest warrant in that state. Before a North Carolina officer may make an arrest in this situation, he must obtain an arrest warrant. The procedure you follow in issuing such a warrant is the same one used when the officer wants to charge someone with a North Carolina crime. That is, the officer must be placed under oath and must state facts from which you can independently determine that there is probable cause to believe the person committed the crime in another state. You cannot just accept the word of the officers from the other state that the person committed the crime; you must be told the reasons for reaching that conclusion. (This is different from other situations involving a fugitive in which you need only establish that the person has been charged in the other state and you may not inquire as to the probable cause for that charge.) If you determine that there is probable cause, complete an arrest warrant. The standard arrest warrant form will need to be modified to indicate that the crime is one committed against the law of another state. You need not spell out the elements of the offense but can simply state the name of the crime in the other state. Use the name of the crime given by the officers from that state, which may be different from the name used in North Carolina (for example, “second degree robbery”). After the warrant is issued, the case proceeds like any other involving a fugitive.

PART 3. DUTIES OF THE CLERK OF COURT

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

A. Assign a docket number and set a district court hearing. When the fugitive is arrested, he will be taken to a magistrate like anyone else arrested in North Carolina and will be either committed to jail or given pretrial release. In either case, the magistrate should have scheduled the person to appear in district court as soon as possible. (Although a fugitive released on bail need not be immediately scheduled for a district court appearance — he could simply be released on bond on the condition that he return at the end of 30 days or whenever a Governor’s Warrant is issued — the magistrate has been advised in this manual to set a district court appearance for the fugitive at the next session. An early appearance gives the judge an opportunity to explain the extradition process and to determine whether the fugitive needs an attorney, which may well result in an early waiver of the formal extradition procedures.) When the fugitive papers are received from the magistrate, the clerk should assign a docket number and set the case for the first possible district court session.

Section 2. If the fugitive waives extradition in district court, take these steps.

B. Accept the waiver and see that the file is complete. While he is in district court, the fugitive may decide to waive extradition. Either the judge or the clerk may take that waiver (not a magistrate). Use AOC-CR-912M (see this manual’s Forms section). Whoever accepts the waiver should explain the fugitive’s rights to him. The clerk is responsible for seeing that the papers are handled correctly. One copy of the waiver goes in the case file, one copy goes to the Governor’s office, and one copy goes to the jail with the fugitive (to be given to the officer from the other state when he takes custody). Generally the clerk is to see that copies of all correspondence involving the fugitive are kept in the case file. The sheriff is responsible for notifying the officers in the other state that the fugitive is ready for return.

Section 3. If the fugitive refuses to waive extradition, follow these steps instead.

B. Assign an attorney and set a new court date. If the fugitive does not waive extradition during his first appearance in district court, the clerk should determine indigency and assign an attorney to represent him. Although the statutes do not require appointment of counsel until later in the process, matters can be expedited if the fugitive has a lawyer. The attorney should be mailed a copy of the appointment, the refusal form, the warrant, and a notice of the next court date. It is likely that at the first appearance in district court, the judge will continue the case for 30 days. The defendant will be ordered to return on a given date to see whether the Governor of North Carolina has issued a Governor’s Warrant to have him returned to the other state. If the Governor’s Warrant is issued before then, a fugitive who is out on bail should be returned to custody and taken immediately before a district court judge. If no Governor’s Warrant is issued and the fugitive returns as scheduled in 30 days, the case can be continued and another appearance scheduled later. The statute allows the judge to continue the fugitive's bond or commitment for 60 additional days if the Governor's Warrant has not been issued by the end of the first 30-day period, but judges usually continue the case for two additional 30-day periods rather than one 60-day period. The judge will decide whether the fugitive is to be given bond during this time. The clerk's responsibility is to record the information on the commitment paper or release order. If the other state shows no urgency in carrying out formal extradition, the judge may simply release the fugitive after 60 days — not waiting the full 90 days. If the judge releases the fugitive because no Governor's Warrant has been issued, the clerk closes the case as a dismissal.

C. Prepare copies of the governor's warrant, have the defendant served, and set the court appearance. When a Governor's Warrant is issued, the original and one copy are sent to the clerk for the sheriff. The clerk should notify the sheriff that the warrant has been received and should make another copy for the fugitive, giving the Governor's Warrant the same docket number as the fugitive warrant used for the original arrest. In addition to the fugitive's copy, the original Governor's Warrant and one other copy are sent to the jail to be signed by the officers from the other state when they come. If the fugitive is not still in custody, the Governor's Warrant is given to an officer to bring him back into custody. The fugitive should be scheduled for the next session of district court. In district court the judge will tell the fugitive that he may apply for habeas corpus, will see that he gets a lawyer if he does not already have one, and will give him a certain amount of time (though still in custody) to decide whether to apply for habeas. The case is then continued for the period set by the district judge. If the fugitive does not apply for habeas corpus by the set time, the district judge orders him turned over to the agents from the other state. If the fugitive does apply for habeas corpus, the docket file is given to the superior court clerks and the case becomes a pending case in superior court to be set for hearing by the district attorney.

D. Place the original governor's warrant in the file and return the copy to the governor's office. Once the fugitive is turned over to the agents from the other state — either with or without a habeas corpus hearing in superior court — the original Governor's Warrant is returned to the Governor's office and one copy placed in the court record.

PART 4. DUTIES OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

When first arrested, the fugitive may be given bond by a magistrate unless the crime is one punishable by death or life imprisonment. Whether the defendant is held or released on bond, the magistrate should schedule him for the next session of district court. (If the fugitive is released on bail, the immediate appearance in district court is not required by the statute — the magistrate could schedule the district court appearance 30 days later — but an immediate appearance will usually expedite matters.) At the district court appearance the judge should inform the fugitive of the charge against him, see that he has a copy of the arrest warrant or magistrate's order, review the bail, and see whether it is necessary to appoint an attorney. The fugitive may waive extradition and be turned over to an agent from the other state, or he may be continued on bonded release or in commitment for up to 30 days (from the time of the initial arrest in North Carolina) to await issuance of a Governor's Warrant.

Section 2. When the fugitive appears in district court at the end of 30 days.

If the recommended procedure has been followed, the fugitive will have already appeared before a district judge once, when first arrested, although he could have been released by a magistrate for 30 days without having seen a judge. In either case, the only purpose of this district court appearance is to determine whether the Governor of North Carolina has issued a Governor's Warrant ordering the fugitive's return to the other state. Before the hearing, the district attorney should determine whether the Governor's Warrant has been issued. If the warrant has been issued, proceed as indicated below. If not, the fugitive may be held or released on bond for another 60 days to await issuance of the Governor's Warrant. Judges usually continue the case for 30 days at a time. Before he asks for another 30-day commitment, the district attorney should try to determine whether the other state is diligently pursuing extradition.

Section 3. When a governor's warrant is issued.

When a Governor's Warrant is issued, the fugitive is to be taken into custody (he may already be in custody if he was not given bail or could not make bail) and brought before a district court judge. The judge is to inform him of the other state's demand for his surrender, the crime he has been charged with, that he is entitled to counsel, and that he has a reasonable time, set by the judge, within which to apply for a writ of habeas corpus. The fugitive may not be turned over to the agent of the other state until this appearance has been held. Bail is not allowed once a Governor's Warrant has been issued.

Section 4. When the fugitive applies for the writ of habeas corpus.

The district attorney is to be notified if the fugitive applies for habeas corpus; the district attorney will represent the State of North Carolina at that hearing. As discussed in the section of this manual entitled Some Legal Issues in Extradition, the issues that may be raised at the habeas corpus hearing are limited to the following:

Whether the demand for extradition was made in the proper form. G.S. 15A-723 requires the demand for extradition to include a copy of the indictment, information, or warrant, plus supporting affidavits used to charge the defendant in the other state. If the fugitive is an escapee, the other state must send a copy of the judgment of conviction or the sentence imposed with a statement that the person has escaped or has broken the terms of his bail, probation, or parole. The indictment, information, or warrant and affidavit must substantially charge the person with a crime in the other state and must be authenticated by the governor of that state. Minor defects in the wording of the charge from the other state do not invalidate a charge, nor is there any particular form required for the authentication by the governor.

The identity of the fugitive. The defendant has the burden of showing that he is not the fugitive being sought. Identification is facilitated when photographs or fingerprints accompany the extradition papers. Sometimes an identifying witness must be brought from the other state. A determination that the defendant is not the fugitive does not prevent a subsequent extradition proceeding against the same person for a similar charge.

Whether the person is a fugitive from the other state. The recital in the Governor's Warrant that the defendant is a fugitive from the other state creates a presumption that he is, placing the burden on the defendant to show otherwise. If the charge is one that required his presence in the other state, he can meet the burden by showing that he was not there when the crime was committed. His reason for leaving the other state is irrelevant. The demand from the other state may omit a statement that the defendant was present when the crime was committed, if the nature of the crime is such that his presence is implicit in the commission.

Whether the defendant has been charged with a substantial crime. The defendant may show, by introducing the relevant statutes, that his acts do not amount to a crime in the other state.

The Governor's Warrant is presumed valid, and the burden is on the defendant to disprove its allegations. Unless the matter is related to one of the issues above, it is not relevant to consider the defendant's guilt or innocence, his alibi, the other state's motive in extraditing, the expiration of the statute of limitations, or any constitutional matter such as whether the defendant is likely to receive a fair trial. Nor are the prison conditions of the other state relevant, though there is some authority that the defendant should be allowed to show great likelihood of being lynched or being subjected to cruel and unusual punishment in the other state.

A judgment denying habeas corpus is a final judgment of the superior court for which the defendant may seek certiorari to the North Carolina Court of Appeals. (The State may seek certiorari to review a judgment granting habeas corpus.) The superior court judge or a Court of Appeals judge may issue a stay to allow the Court of Appeals to hear the defendant's appeal.

Section 5. If the fugitive is also charged with a crime in North Carolina.

G.S. 15A-739 allows the Governor of North Carolina to delay extradition if the person being sought by the other state has been charged with a crime in North Carolina. The Governor's Extradition Secretary should be notified that a North Carolina charge is pending before she issues the Governor's Warrant.

PART 5. DUTIES OF THE DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

Normally a district court judge will have no involvement in the initial arrest of a fugitive. The judge could be called on to issue an arrest warrant just as a magistrate would, but that should rarely happen.

Section 2. The first appearance before a district court judge.

G.S. 15A-601, the statute requiring a first appearance before a district court judge, refers to crimes "in the original jurisdiction of the superior court." Because the fugitive is charged with a crime in another state, it is probably not required under that statute that a first appearance be held, but magistrates are advised to schedule all fugitives, whether committed or released on bail, to appear at the next session of district court. This procedure can expedite matters considerably. At the first appearance, the judge can tell the fugitive the charge against him, see that he has a copy of the arrest warrant or magistrate's order, and review the bail set by the magistrate. The fugitive may waive extradition at this appearance (see the separate section on waiver below).

At the first appearance, the judge should also tell the fugitive that he may apply in writing for a Governor's hearing before a Governor's Warrant is issued. The request must state the grounds for opposing extradition. The only issues that will be considered are (1) whether the person has been charged in the other state, (2) whether the papers are in proper form, (3) whether the person demanded is the person charged, and (4) whether the accused is a fugitive. A Governor's hearing may be granted or denied at the Governor's discretion.

If the fugitive cannot make bail or if he is denied bail, he should be committed to jail to be returned to district court on a specific date within 30 days of his arrest. At that time there will be a determination whether a Governor's Warrant has been issued. If he is released on bond after the first appearance, his release should be conditioned on a return to district court on a specific date within 30 days to determine whether the Governor's Warrant has been issued, or to return whenever the warrant is issued if it is sooner than 30 days.

Usually the first appearance is used to determine whether counsel should be appointed. Although the extradition statutes, in particular G.S. 15A-730, provide for the fugitive to be notified of the right to counsel after the Governor's Warrant has been issued (when the fugitive is returned to custody and taken before a judge to be informed of his right to apply for habeas corpus), the need for counsel should be determined at the first appearance. Doing so often helps in informing the defendant of the extradition process and in helping him decide whether to waive formal extradition.

Section 3. When the fugitive returns to court after 30 days.

Whether the fugitive is out on bond or has been committed to the jail, he is to return to district court within 30 days of his arrest in North Carolina. This appearance is used to determine whether the Governor of North Carolina has issued a Governor's Warrant ordering that the fugitive be returned to the other state. If the warrant has been issued, proceed as indicated in the next section. If the Governor's Warrant has not been issued, the fugitive may be continued on bond or committed to jail for up to 60 additional days to await issuance of the Governor's Warrant. The usual practice is to continue the case for 30 days at a time. Before an additional 30-day custody is imposed, the district attorney or a law enforcement officer should be required to determine whether the other state is diligently pursuing extradition. Of course the fugitive may use this opportunity to waive extradition and return voluntarily to the other state.

Section 4. When a governor's warrant has been issued.

Once a Governor's Warrant is issued, G.S. 15A-730 requires that the fugitive be brought before a judge before he is delivered to the agent of the other state. At the district court appearance after the arrest on a Governor's Warrant, the judge is to inform the fugitive of the other state's demand for his return, the charge against him in that state, that he has the right to demand and procure counsel, and that he may challenge the legality of his arrest by applying for a writ of habeas corpus. If the fugitive wants counsel and is indigent, the judge should appoint counsel if that has not already been done. The statute also requires that the fugitive be given a reasonable time within which to apply for habeas corpus. The time limit is to be fixed by the district court judge. The judge should order the fugitive held in the county jail (or other place of confinement) until the time expires for applying for habeas corpus; the person is then to be turned over to the agent for the other state. Once a Governor's Warrant is issued, bail is not allowed.

Section 5. If the fugitive wishes to waive extradition.

At any time after he has been arrested, the fugitive may waive extradition and be delivered to an agent from the other state. G.S. 15A-746 allows the waiver to be made before a judge or a clerk of court. The waiver must be in writing; use AOC-CR-912M (see this manual's Forms section). Before the form is signed, the fugitive must be told that (a) he may refuse to waive extradition and may require the other state to make a formal request for extradition; and (b) if a Governor's Warrant is issued, he may apply for a writ of habeas corpus. When the waiver is signed, one copy is to be forwarded to the Governor's Extradition Secretary and one copy is to be given to the agent from the other state. The judge should order the fugitive released to that agent. If the agent is not present, the fugitive should be ordered held in jail until he arrives.

PART 6. DUTIES OF THE SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE

Section 1. When the fugitive is first arrested.

The superior court judge should have no direct involvement in the extradition case unless the fugitive applies for a writ of habeas corpus. The senior resident superior court judge is to issue a bail policy to be used by the magistrates in his district, and that policy should indicate what bond is to be required of a fugitive. The extradition statute on bail, G.S. 15A-736, allows bail unless the offense is punishable by death or life imprisonment, but only on a secured appearance bond. Once a Governor's Warrant is issued, bail is not allowed.

Section 2. When the fugitive applies for a writ of habeas corpus.

After the Governor's Warrant is issued, a fugitive may apply for a writ of habeas corpus. As discussed in greater detail in the section of this manual entitled Some Legal Issues in Extradition, the issues that may be raised at the habeas corpus hearing are limited to the following:

Whether the demand for extradition has been made in the proper form. G.S. 15A-723 requires the demand for extradition to include a copy of the indictment, information, or warrant — with supporting affidavits — used to charge the defendant in the other state. If the fugitive is an escapee, the other state must send a copy of the judgment of conviction or the sentence imposed with a statement that the person has escaped or has broken the terms of his bail, probation, or parole. The indictment, information, or warrant and supporting affidavit must substantially charge the person with a crime in the other state and must be authenticated by the governor of that state. Minor defects in the wording of the charge from the other state do not invalidate a charge, nor is there any particular form required for the authentication by the governor.

The identity of the fugitive. The defendant has the burden of showing that he is not the fugitive being sought. Identification can be facilitated by photographs or fingerprints accompanying the extradition papers. Sometimes an identifying witness must be brought from the other state. A determination that the defendant is not the fugitive does not prevent a subsequent extradition proceeding against the same person for a similar charge.

Whether the person is a fugitive from the other state. The recital in the Governor's Warrant that the defendant is a fugitive from the other state creates a presumption that he is, and the burden is on the defendant to show otherwise. If the charge is one that required his presence in the other state, he can meet that burden by showing that he was not there when the crime was committed. His reason for leaving the other state is irrelevant. The demand from the other state may omit a statement that the defendant was present when the crime was committed, if the nature of the crime is such that his presence is implicit in the commission.

Whether the defendant has been charged with substantial crime. The defendant may show, by introducing the relevant statutes, that his acts do not amount to a crime in the other state.

The Governor's Warrant is presumed valid and the burden is on the defendant to disprove the allegations. Unless the matter is related to one of the issues above, it is not relevant to consider the defendant's guilt or innocence, his alibi, the other state's motive in extraditing, the expiration of the statute of limitations, or any constitutional matter such as whether the defendant is likely to receive a fair trial. Nor are the prison conditions of the other state relevant, though there is some authority that the defendant should be allowed to show great likelihood of being lynched or being subjected to cruel and unusual punishment in the other state.

A judgment denying habeas corpus is a final judgment of the superior court for which the defendant may seek certiorari to the North Carolina Court of Appeals. (The State may seek certiorari to review a judgment granting habeas corpus.) The superior court judge or a Court of Appeals judge may issue a stay to allow the Court of Appeals to hear the defendant's appeal.

Section 3. If the fugitive wishes to waive extradition.

At any time after he has been arrested, the fugitive may waive extradition and be delivered to an agent from the other state. G.S. 15A-746 allows the waiver to be made before a judge or a clerk of court. The waiver must be in writing; use AOC-CR-912M (see this manual's Forms section). Before the form is signed, the fugitive must be told that (a) he may refuse to waive extradition and may require the other state to make a formal request for extradition; and (b) if a Governor's Warrant is issued, he may apply for a writ of habeas corpus. When the waiver is signed, one copy is to be forwarded to the Governor's Extradition Secretary and one copy is to be given to the agent from the other state. The judge should order the fugitive released to that agent. If the agent is not present, the fugitive should be ordered held in jail until he arrives.

Editor's note. — At this point, the Extradition Manual quotes the Uniform Criminal Extradition Act, Article 37, §§ 15A-721 to 15A-750, of G.S. Chapter 15A. The Article has been omitted here as it may be found in Volume 4 of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

ARTICLE IV. SOME LEGAL ISSUES IN EXTRADITION

1. Is the fugitive entitled to a hearing before a Governor's Warrant can be issued?

The general rule is that he is not. Application of Dugger, 17 Ariz. App. 297, 497 P.2d 413 (1972); Horne v. Wilson, 306 F. Supp. 753 (E.D. Tenn. 1969); Scheinfain v. Aldredge, 191 Ga. 479, 12 S.E.2d 868 (1941).

2. What issues may the Governor consider in deciding whether extradition is proper in a given case?

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that a Governor has a mandatory duty to comply with a proper demand for a fugitive, and a federal court has the authority to compel the Governor to perform this duty. Puerto Rico v. Branstad, 483 U.S. 219, 107 S. Ct. 2802, 97 L. Ed. 2d 187 (1987). A Governor may only consider the following issues when deciding whether extradition is proper: (1) whether the extradition documents on their face are in order; (2) whether the accused has been charged with a crime in the demanding state; (3) whether the accused is the person named in the request for extradition; and (4) whether the accused is a fugitive. Michigan v. Doran, 439 U.S. 282, 99 S. Ct. 530, 58 L. Ed. 2d 521 (1978); California v. Superior Court, 482 U.S. 342, 107 S. Ct. 2400, 96 L. Ed. 2d 282 (1987).

3. Is the fugitive entitled to be released on bail before the Governor's Warrant is issued?

G.S. 15A-736 says that the magistrate or judge "may admit the person arrested to bail by bond" unless the person is charged with a crime punishable by death or life imprisonment under the laws of the state in which it was committed. The statute mentions only release by bail with sufficient sureties.

4. Does a person held for extradition have a right to be released on bail after a Governor's Warrant has been issued?

The majority rule is that the Uniform Extradition Law does not grant a right to bail to a person held for extradition after a Governor's Warrant is issued. Emig v. Hayward, 703 P.2d 1043 (Utah 1985); In re Iverson, 135 Vt. 255, 376 A.2d 23 (1977); In re Lucas, 136 N.J. Super. 24, 343 A.2d 845 (1975), aff'd, 136 N.J. Super. 460, 346 A.2d 624 (1975); Balasco v. State, 52 Ala. App. 99, 289 So.2d 666 (1974); State ex rel. Howard v. St. Joseph Superior Court, 262 Ind. 367, 316 N.E.2d 356 (1974). Most courts have also held that judges have no common law or inherent power to grant release on bail in such circumstances (see the cases cited above). But see Carrio v. Watson, 171 Conn. 366, 370 A.2d 950 (1976), which ruled that releasing a fugitive on bail was proper, even after a Governor's Warrant had been served on the fugitive; the opinion was based on the court's common law power to allow bail "in all cases"; and Ex parte Quinn, 549 S.W.2d 198 (Tex. Crim. App. 1977), granting bail on the basis of state statute giving right to bail in "any habeas corpus proceeding" except capital cases.

The Office of the Governor agrees with the National Association of Extradition Officials' resolution (1986) opposing bail in all cases when a Governor's Warrant has been issued. It takes the position that the Governor's Warrant is an executive — not judicial — warrant and bail is not allowed.

5. Is a fugitive entitled to counsel at a habeas corpus hearing to contest the legality of an extradition proceeding?

Yes, pursuant to G.S. 15A-730, any accused is entitled to have counsel present at such hearings. Most courts have held that counsel in such cases is required solely by statute and is not constitutionally required under the Sixth Amendment. Hystad v. Rhay, 12 Wash. App. 872, 533 P.2d 409 (1975); Wertheimer v. State, 294 Minn. 293, 201 N.W.2d 383 (1972); Roberts v. Hocker, 85 Nev. 390, 456 P.2d 425 (1969). Nevertheless, courts have held that counsel must be appointed for indigents contesting extradition proceedings at habeas corpus proceedings. People v. Braziel, 17 Mich. App. 411, 169 N.W.2d 513 (1969); Ex parte Turner, 410 S.W.2d 639 (Tex. Crim. App. 1967). In North Carolina, G.S. 7A-451(a)(5) entitles an indigent held for extradition to appointed counsel. Appointed counsel is not required at an initial arraignment on a fugitive warrant or at a hearing before the Governor. Rutledge v. Preadmore, 21 Mich. App. 726, 176 N.W.2d 417 (1970).

6. On what grounds may a fugitive attack a Governor's Warrant in a habeas corpus proceeding?

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that a court may only consider the following issues when deciding whether extradition is proper: (1) whether the extradition documents on their face are in order; (2) whether the accused has been charged with a crime in the demanding state; (3) whether the accused is the person named in the request for extradition; and (4) whether the accused is a fugitive. California v. Superior Court, 482 U.S. 342, 107 S. Ct. 2400, 96 L. Ed. 2d 282 (1987). See also Michigan v. Doran, 439 U.S. 282, 99 S. Ct. 530, 58 L. Ed. 2d 521 (1978); Dodd v. State, 56 N.C. App. 214, 287 S.E.2d 435 (1982); In re Armstrong, 49 N.C. App. 175, 270 S.E.2d 619 (1980). The defendant's evidence must be conclusive; mere conflicting testimony as to an accused's absence from the demanding state at the time of the alleged crime will not support his release from custody at a habeas corpus proceeding. People ex rel. Garner v. Clutts, 20 Ill.2d 447, 170 N.E.2d 538 (1970); State ex rel. Zack v. Kriss, 195 Md. 559, 74 A.2d 25 (1952).

7. Must an indictment, information, or warrant from the demanding state be accompanied by affidavits or other documents showing the basis for the probable cause to arrest the fugitive?

Courts generally hold that an indictment carries with it a sufficient finding of probable cause so that an asylum state may not look behind the document to see for itself whether probable cause exists. U.S. ex rel. Davis v. Behagen, 436 F.2d 596 (2d Cir. 1970); People v. Jackson, 180 Colo. 135, 502 P.2d 1106 (1972).

If the documents sent by the demanding state do not contain an indictment, they must show that a detached and neutral judicial official in the demanding state has found probable cause in the case; if the Governor in the asylum state decides to issue a Governor's Warrant, the courts of that state may not review the documents to see whether they contain a showing of probable cause. Michigan v. Doran, 439 U.S. 282, 99 S. Ct. 530, 58 L. Ed. 2d 521 (1978); California v. Superior Court, 482 U.S. 342, 107 S. Ct. 2400, 96 L. Ed. 2d 282 (1987).

8. What is the standard of proof required for a fugitive who is attacking a Governor's Warrant in a habeas corpus proceeding? Does the state have the burden of producing evidence if a defendant introduces evidence contesting his status as a fugitive?

A Governor's Warrant creates a presumption of regularity in an extradition proceeding, and a fugitive who wishes to attack the warrant must show by clear and convincing evidence that the warrant is invalid. People ex rel. Harris v. Warden, 42 App. Div. 2d 549, 345 N.Y.S.2d 29 (1973); Stolz v. Miller, 190 Colo. 43, 543 P.2d 513 (1975); McCullough v. Darr, 219 Kan. 477, 548 P.2d 1245 (1976). Other cases have formulated the standard of proof as requiring "conclusive" evidence, People ex rel. Pirone v. Police Comm'r, 15 App. Div. 2d 509, 225 N.Y.S.2d 257 (1962); or as requiring "clear and satisfactory" evidence, State ex rel. Rhodes v. Omodt, 300 Minn. 129, 218 N.W.2d 461 (1974). In Dodd v. State, 56 N.C. App. 214, 287 S.E.2d 435 (1982), the North Carolina Court of Appeals ruled that the fugitive must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that he is not the person named in the extradition papers.

States differ on whether the prosecution must present evidence to rebut an alleged fugitive's evidence. In Rhodes, the court ruled that the state must present "minimal" evidence rebutting an alleged fugitive's evidence that he was not in the demanding state at the time of the crime; in Stolz, the court ruled that a statement by an alleged fugitive does not necessarily rebut the presumption of regularity created by the Governor's Warrant.

ARTICLE V. INTERSTATE AGREEMENT ON DETAINERS

Sometimes a person who is wanted for prosecution is already in prison. A prosecutor may lodge a "detainer" against the prisoner by notifying the prison authorities that the person has charges pending against him and thus prevent release of the prisoner without notice to the prosecutor. Virtually all the states, including North Carolina, have joined an Interstate Agreement on Detainers that establishes procedures for resolving pending charges against a prisoner early in his detention in another state. (The Agreement only applies to pending charges. The extradition process must be used to return a prisoner who is a probation or parole violator.) This section of the Extradition Manual briefly explains the detainer procedure.

The Interstate Agreement on Detainers appears in G.S. 15A-761. The Agreement allows both the prisoner and the prosecutor to request early resolution of charges outstanding against the prisoner. The prison officials who have custody of the prisoner are required to notify him of any detainers lodged against him. He may then request final disposition of the charges. When the prisoner makes such a request, the prison officials notify the prosecutor in the other state and offer him the opportunity to take custody of the prisoner. The prosecutor must try the case within 180 days after the prisoner is delivered. A judge may grant a delay in the trial deadline for good cause if either the prisoner or his lawyer is present.

If detainers have been lodged for other charges from the same state, the prosecutors responsible for the other charges are also notified of the prisoner's request for final disposition. His request is considered a request for disposition of all charges pending in that state. Failure to prosecute any of the charges pending against the prisoner in that state within the 180-day period, or the extended deadline, means dismissal of the charges with prejudice.

The prosecutor also can force an early trial. When a prosecutor has a charge against a prisoner in another state, he may request temporary custody for trial. The governor of the other state can refuse to grant that request, but if he agrees — or if he does not object within 30 days — the prisoner is turned over for prosecution. The trial must be held within 120 days after the prisoner is delivered — again with delays possible for good cause — or the charges must be dismissed with prejudice. All prosecutors in the state who have a detainer on the prisoner are notified that he is being returned for prosecution so that they may make their own requests for temporary custody.

After trial, the prisoner is returned to the state where he was serving his sentence. Once he completes his sentence in the state where he was originally in prison, he is given back to the other state to serve the sentence imposed there.

The Department of Correction employs an Administrator for the Interstate Agreement on Detainers. The Administrator (919-733-4926) can provide additional information about detainers and the forms to be used in the procedures described above.

ARTICLE VI. RETURN OF JUVENILES

North Carolina is a member of the Interstate Compact on Juveniles (G.S. 7A-684 through -712), which provides for the return of juveniles who have been charged with being delinquent, juvenile delinquents who have escaped from custody or absconded from probation or parole, juveniles who are runaways, and the like. The Compact Administrator, who is employed in the Division of Social Services of the Department of Human Resources (919-733-4622), can provide information about the Compact's procedures and the forms to be used to return a juvenile.

FORMS

The forms designated AOC-CR-909M through -912M and GOV. 1 through GOV. 2-F are not printed for distribution but are available from the clerk of superior court's office in each county for photocopying as necessary.

The last form, designated as Attachment No. 2, is available from the Department of Correction (919-733-3988).
